

Chapter 605

"You're not angry even when I called you a back-up? You really do live up to your name," Adriana taunted.

"Are you here just to tell me this?" What was there to be angry about?

She would not let her imagination run wild just because of Adriana's words.

Willa had Karen to thank for everything she had now. Without Karen, she wouldn't be where she was today. Karen had even tried to get both her and Chuck together, but she was the one who had missed out on the opportunity.

She was the one to blame.

"Yes, I'm here to tell you that you're just a back-up!" Adriana replied.

"Okay, I already know that. What else do you want?" Willa shrugged.

"No wonder Karen Lee trained you to be Chuck's back-up. You're still calm even after meeting me. Alright, I'll give you a chance to serve me. Be my personal maid," Adriana offered.

Willa finally understood why Karen had a strange expression on her face when she came back after seeing her last time.

"Thank you, but I don't like to serve others," Willa shook her head and refused calmly.

She found the whole thing ridiculous.

Willa knew about the secret families. She knew that they were strong and she could never compare to them - but asking her to become a maid? How ridiculous.

"If you don't like serving others, then why do you still follow Chuck's orders? You do whatever he asks from you. What a good back-up you are!" There was a cold glint in Adriana's eyes.

She hadn't wanted to come all the way here, but one of her men had told her that Willa had allowed Chuck to fall asleep on her thighs and even kissed him. Adriana had taken a liking to him, and she would definitely not allow something like this to happen.

Hence, she came all the way here.

"Are you done? Between us, there's no master and servant," Willa shook her head.

"What? Haha, I've investigated you myself. You are already 30 years old, but you still don't have a boyfriend. You don't have anyone in your life right now. If you allow Chuck to sleep on your thighs, would you not have agreed if he had asked for more?" Adriana narrowed her eyes.

Willa remained silent at the question.

She had also thought about what she would do had Chuck asked her for something more.

Would she have refused him?

She felt that she wouldn't have.

Though, would she have agreed to him?

She felt that it wasn't good to do that either.

Willa wouldn't know what she would've done until he really asked her. Well, it didn't matter anyway now because he wasn't interested in her.

"What, cat got your tongue? Do you dare deny that you don't follow his orders? I despise people like you. I will get rid of a back-up like you!" Adriana stated coldly.

Willa's expression did not change as she said, "Are you going to finish me off here?"

Adriana glanced at Willa as if she was a toy waiting to be destroyed.

"How could you be so calm being just a back-up? I really can't stand you. Get rid of her," Adriana ordered lazily, "Oh, by the way, do you think that they will find out that I was the one who killed you off?"

An unknown emotion flashed through Willa's eyes.

"Since you'll be gone anyways, just be obedient for now. Otherwise, I'll destroy everything that Karen has, understood?" Adriana smiled at her, as casual as she was just talking about the weather.

Willa was quiet.

"Don't worry. I will arrange everything for you. It'll just be another unfortunate plane accident. Aren't I so kind to you?" Adriana smiled.

Willa narrowed her eyes at her.

Nelson walked over and smirked, "It seems that you are very confident in your strength. Miss Adriana has said that she'll take care of you. If she wants something, it'll be done."

Willa took a breath and put down the things in her hand. She remembered Karen's words: when faced with Nelson, she had to find a way to escape.

However, how was she supposed to escape from a plane?

Willa did not panic. She had also encountered similar incidents, so there was nothing to be afraid of.

Nelson sneered and attacked her suddenly.

His punch was packed with force. He did not hesitate to use it on a woman since his only thought was to finish her off within a second.

He couldn't waste any more time.

After all, Miss Adriana's time was precious!

Willa could detect his incoming punch.

Without hesitation, she dodged his attack. Nelson raised an eyebrow and tried to kick her.

She continued to resist.

Adriana watched as everything unfolded before her eyes. She felt a slight sense of pity.

She had even agreed to let Willa become her personal maid, but she had refused her offer. If so, she was better off dead.

Not bad. She was able to dodge Nelson's attacks. She was pretty good.

All of a sudden, she heard a heavy thud.

Willa had taken one of his punches head on. She stumbled back, her face paling from the blow. The strength of his punches was too much for her to bear.

"Hmph, not bad, but I've only used a third of my strength so far. You can't even withstand it? If so, there's no need to continue. Die!" Nelson cackled and threw out a punch.

At his level of strength, there was no need for sneak attacks. He just had to attack her directly.

If he had enough strength, no one would be able to block his attacks!

Bang!

Willa could only block his attack, but there was a clear difference between their strengths. She coughed out a mouthful of blood as she stumbled back.

Her face was drained of color. She tried to summon her strength, but she felt as if her entire world was turning upside down.

"Cough!"

She spat out even more blood. Sweat adorned her face, making her look even paler.

However, there was no fear in her eyes as she stood up once again.

"What? You're still trying to go on even in this state? Don't worry, I'll put you out of your misery! Die now!" Nelson said with a sinister smile, his iron fist headed straight for Willa once again.

He really was going to kill her with one punch.

Willa was calm. She had always prepared herself for her imminent death.

Was today really going to be her last?

Willa only felt regret. She liked Chuck, but she couldn't manage to tell him in the end.

"Go to hell!"

Nelson's fist made contact with Willa's temple.

Chuck chugged down mug after mug of beer, but the sorrow never left his heart.

He could only feel sadness and regret.

Why hadn't he forced Willa to stay? She was so considerate, so she would've definitely stayed.

Black Rose watched him from a corner.

The men around her kept staring at her. She frowned. This was why she disliked these kind of places.

She despised being the object of men's fantasies.

She couldn't blame them. She wasn't wearing her leather suit. Instead, she had worn a pair of jeans and a white tee. Although this outfit was pretty common among locals here, it was a whole different story when it came to Black Rose.

She was used to being stared at in bars.

Black Rose grew annoyed as more and more people came over to her. She finally approached Chuck and scoffed, "Have you had enough?"

"What the hell, she has bad taste in men! Out of everyone, she chooses a weakling like him?"

"I'm jealous of him. She has a unique taste!"

In the bar, the men who had been staring at Black Rose saw that she had approached the drunken Chuck. They could only watch in envy!

They couldn't understand her thoughts.

"I just want to drink," Chuck shook his head and said. He was feeling down, and no amount of alcohol made him feel better.

"Can't we go back home to drink?" Black Rose was frustrated. Karen had a lot of alcohol back at home, so he could drink to his heart's content there.

"Drink with me, just a little," Chuck poured a glass for her.

"No! Not a chance!" Black Rose refused him immediately.

"We'll leave as soon as you drink it, okay?" Chuck sighed.

"Fine, you'd better keep your word," Black Rose grabbed the glass and finished it.

"Can we go now?" Black Rose was expressionless as she asked for the millionth time.

She found it annoying that men were constantly staring at her.

"Let's have another drink," Chuck poured another shot for her.

Black Rose grew furious and roared, "Are you kidding me? I'll leave by myself if you won't!"
