

Chapter 162

At first glance, people would think they're newlywed.

Cindy was stunned. She gently patted Randy, 'Okay, brother Randy, you can let me go now.'

After the two separated, Randy stared at Cindy with love.

Cindy's face turned red. She looked like a girl in love.

This made Jason even angrier. What the h*ll was this?

'How could my wife look at another man like she's in love?'

'Jason, you're here too?'

Cindy was shocked and see that Jason was standing in the kitchen. She quickly kept her distance from Randy and lowered her head, feeling very ashamed.

'Oh no!'

'What should I do? Was Jason angry because of what I did just now?'

08:39

'Oh, my god!'

Cindy was ashamed now.

Randy was stunned. Only then did he realize that Jason did not look like a male nanny. He asked, 'Cindy, who is he?'

Cindy hurriedly pushed her hair behind her ear. She walked to Jason and introduced him with a smile, 'Randy, this is my husband, Jason Smith.'

Husband?

Randy was stunned. How could have Cindy gotten married?

'How could it be?'

'Cindy had married such a loser.'

Randy was very angry. Angry at Jason!

This man looked useless. How could he have married Cindy?!

He had been waiting for six years. Now, he returned to marry Cindy. But he didn't expect this to happen.

Randy was going to explode with fury!

On the other hand, Cindy smiled and immediately pulled Jason into the bedroom.

As soon as they entered the bedroom, Jason shook off Cindy's hand angrily. He said weirdly, 'You seemed to enjoy the hug.'

Cindy was ashamed and explained, 'Jason, it's not what you think. He... he is...'

'What is it?' Jason crossed his arms and looked at Cindy coldly.

This woman actually hugged another man so enthusiastically.

Cindy gritted her teeth and explained, 'His name is Randy and he is my highschool boyfriend. But don't misunderstand. He means nothing to me. You should know that.'

'Oh really? Then what was that about? You think I'm blind?'

Jason was jealous. He stormed out of the bedroom unhappily.

Cindy didn't manage to explain herself. She was also very annoyed and followed him out.

In the living room, Amanda saw Jason and Cindy coming out. She clearly felt Jason's anger and was smug about it.

'The bigger the misunderstanding, the better.' She thought.

She wanted them to get a divorce as soon as possible. That would be the best outcome.

'Hey Cindy, where are you going?'

Seeing that Cindy was about to go out with Jason, Amanda immediately stood up and stopped her, 'Come back now. Randy is still here. You can talk to him.'

Cindy looked at Jason who was about to walk out of the door. She was very confused 'Mom, I'll go out with Jason for a bit. We'll come back soon.'

Amanda was angry. Cindy shouldn't miss this opportunity.

She immediately dragged Cindy to the sofa and shouted to Jason, 'You can go if you want. Don't make a fool of yourself here.'

When Jason heard this, he became even more annoyed.

He had endured Amanda for three years. Not today.

'Why aren't you leaving? What are you doing standing there? You don't have a spot at the dining table tonight.'

Seeing that Jason wasn't leaving, Amanda was unhappy. Displeasure was written on her face.

She glared at Jason in disgust.

Jason didn't say a word. It wasn't the first day his mother-in-law looked down on him. He was used to it.

Seeing her mother mocking Jason in front of an outsider, Cindy felt unhappy. She got up and pulled Jason to leave.

'Mom, we are going out and buy something. We'll be back soon.'

As she said this, Cindy looked at Jason and motioned him to go out with her.

However, Jason stood there, motionless.

Amanda loved to see the conflict happening between them. She suddenly said, 'Cindy, didn't you say that something happened to your company on the phone just now? Randy is the CEO of Healer Pharmaceutical. See if he can solve it for you.'

When Randy heard that Cindy had a problem with work, he immediately asked with great concern, 'Cindy, where do you work? Let me see if I can help you.'

'Bi Kang Pharmacy,' Amanda answered for her daughter quickly.

'I know Bi Kang Pharmacy and its CEO. It's just a small matter. I'll take care of it.' Randy smiled. He seemed to be very confident.

'That's great. Thank you Randy. You're an outstanding young man.'

Amanda smiled. She liked Randy very much.

'Unlike some people who can't help at all. They just know how to deliver food. Disgusting.'

Amanda looked at Jason with disdain. She was very dissatisfied.

Jason frowned. He looked at Cindy, 'Why didn't you tell me that you had a problem at work?'

Cindy felt very annoyed, especially with Jason's attitude just now. It made her very angry. She said coldly, 'You can't solve my company's problems.'

Jason frowned. He knew that Cindy was angry with him.

The two of them stood face to face. The temperature dropped ten degrees. Neither of them gave in to each other.

'Don't worry, I'll solve it for you.' After thinking for a while, Jason put aside his ego.

She was his wife after all.

However, as soon as she said this, Amanda laughed mockingly, 'Can you be quiet? What are you talking about? What can you do for Cindy's company? Who do you think you are?'

Randy shook his head helplessly and smiled. He had finally figured out what kind of person Cindy's husband was.

He liked to boast and was not liked by Auntie Amanda. He was just a loser.

How could such a loser marry Cindy?

Randy swore that he would take Cindy away from Jason and give her a good future.

Cindy could only belong to him, Randy He!

'Aunt Amanda, Jason is worried for Cindy. Don't scold him. How about this? Didn't you say that he works as a delivery guy just now? Our company is recruiting. Why don't I arrange a job for him?' Randy smiled generously.

'That's so kind of you, Randy. Sorry to trouble you.'

Amanda was very shocked and surprised.

Jason worked as a delivery guy. She had been ridiculed by her neighbors for this. It was the perfect opportunity for him to get a new job.

Cindy was stunned. She didn't expect that Randy would help Jason.

'Okay, then I'll call the human resources manager right now.' Randy took out his mobile phone and went out.

He knew he must thoroughly humiliate Jason, so Jason would know the gap between them.

That loser would leave Cindy on his own once that happened.

After a while, Randy reentered the house. He smiled, 'I've informed them. We can go and have a look today. How about it, Jason?'

'Of course he will go!'

Before Jason could answer, Amanda agreed for him.

'Sorry, I think being a delivery guy is quite nice. And I don't think the job you're giving me is any better than the one I have now.'

Jason said calmly.

He didn't need to work.

Nobody had the power to employ him.

Amanda's face sank. She said unpleasantly, 'Randy is kind enough to help you. What are you talking about?'

'I don't need his help.'

'You... you just know how to make me mad! Do you want to be a delivery guy your whole life? You're really useless! Get out of here and never come bac!'

Amanda was furious. She glared at Jason.

Jason felt helpless. He looked at Cindy beside him and see that she immediately turned her head and ignored him.

'Did I do something wrong?'

'Are all women so unreasonable?'

'Cindy did something wrong first, but why is it now my fault?'

Cindy knew that Jason didn't need any job. Him being able to buy Palace No. 1 in Dragon City was proof enough of that.

But Amanda didn't know. She gave an ultimatum, 'Jason, if you don't go today, you and Cindy must get a divorce.'

After that, Amanda angrily folded her arms and sat on the sofa.

The atmosphere in the house was very tense.

Randy didn't want to say anything. He sat on the opposite side and sipped his tea. He was very relaxed, 'Cindy, I didn't expect you to find such a loser as your husband in six years we didn't meet.'

'Cindy, you've changed. You married such a loser.' Randy thought.

'Where is your pride?'

Cindy frowned. She didn't like people talking bad about Jason in front of her.

Looking at Jason, Cindy advised, 'Go with him. To reassure my mother.'

Jason was very helpless. He glanced at Amanda and decided to tell the truth. He said, 'Mom, what if I tell you that I've already acquired the delivery company for more than ten million yuan?'
