

Unbreakable 2071

Chapter 2071

Still, Mitchel instinctively moved his wheelchair slightly forward to shield Raegan behind him.

In his mothers embrace, the chubby boy regained his arrogance. No matter how massive the trouble he had caused, his mother would cover for him. This indulgence reinforced his unruly disposition.

Pointing at Raegan, the chubby boy yelled, Mom! Look at her! It was this awful woman that hit me. Get her and this cripple! They were talking earlier. They must be plotting together!

With his mother by his side, his stutter vanished, and the chubby boy shouted with malice, Torture them! Kill them!

There was nothing but pure malice in his eyes.

Raegans expression turned icy, observing that the chubby boy showed no regret or shame while lying in his mothers arms, still so vicious.

It was clear this mother and son duo were alike, probably accustomed to tormenting others frequently!

The plump woman suddenly turned around to face them. You, cripple, dare defend this woman? Ill take you down along with her today! Ill have people blind you, and then youll truly be helpless!

The plump woman stood up swiftly, her movements sharp and threatening as she spoke.

Mitchel was not about to let the plump woman touch Raegan. He quickly swung his cane, hitting the woman on her leg.

Thud! The impact caused the womans knees to buckle, and due to her substantial size, she crashed to the ground with a loud noise.

Ouch Im going to die from this fall! the plump woman groaned in agony. You! How dare you attack me, you cripple!

Hearing the mother and son repeatedly use the term cripple, Raegan could no longer stay silent. She moved in front of Mitchel, placing him behind her. Why dont you look at your son for the cause of being taught a lesson? He was being disrespectful all this while, for crying out loud! And you are not anything better. Not even bothered to ask for what happened, you just start conflicts!

Raegan was furious. Is this your way of parenting? Is this how you guide your child?

Ill teach my son any way I please. Who are you to criticize, you Little wench! the woman snapped back sharply.

Raegans expression conveyed her disbelief. You earned that fall. As the twig is bent, so grows the tree. Parents like you ruin their children!

What foul Language you use, daring to talk about my son! The plump woman enraged like a fury, scolded, I think youre really looking for trouble, you little brat!

Raegan had seen all she needed to. The chubby boy clearly took after his mother. It was no surprise he seemed beyond reform. Years of his mothers influence had deeply embedded these traits in him.

The plump woman kept on ranting, You little siren, thinking you can lure a man with your pretty face. No wonder this cripple fancies you. Pah, you were born a seductress!

The womans rant was nonsensical, packed with wild accusations that lashed about aimlessly. Yet, she was quite observant. She noticed that despite Mitchel was crippled, his manners and clothes hinted at wealth.

As for Raegan, dressed in simple, loose, casual attire which the woman failed to recognize as high-end leisure wear, she mistook them for cheap outfits.

To the woman, Raegan was just a girl from a lower class trying to rise above her station, and she didnt think such individuals deserved her attention! She was intent on giving Raegan a severe reprimand!

The plump woman was unaware that Raegan wore loose clothing because she was still breastfeeding after recently giving birth. She innocently believed that Raegan, impoverished, would eagerly cling to a rich man like Mitchel, despite his limp.

Even in loose attire, Raegan managed to turn heads, which sparked intense jealousy in the plump woman. Thus, the plump woman was determined to undermine and malign Raegan with vicious words.

Chapter 2072

Raegan chuckled. Do you have trouble seeing? Cant you make out his face even if his leg is hurt? How many girls would vie for someone with a face like his? I happen to like him. Whats the issue?

The woman was taken aback. She hadnt expected Raegan to openly confess to such intentions. Honestly, Raegan spoke the truth. Mitchel, seated in his wheelchair, did possess a striking attractiveness she hadnt seen before. Yet, she wasnt ready to back down. She imagined clawing out Raegans charming eyes.

Ugh! You tramp! The woman retorted, To speak so freely of such disgraceful matters, you must truly lack any sense of decency!

What is so disgraceful about it? Raegan laughed at the plump womans ignorance. Since were both single, why shouldnt we be attracted to each other? Dont project your sordid thoughts onto us!

Raegan, letting her guard down, unintentionally let slip her single status, embellishing it with the element of mutual attraction. It was a minor blunder, driven by her irritation with the plump woman.

Before the plump woman could respond, Raegan added, People like you, who see and think with such filth, are truly repulsive!

Furious, the plump woman shot back, Just because youre beautiful, you think you can act so superior? Ill tear out your eyes!

Whats wrong with being pretty? Does it bother you that much? Did I harm you in any way? Raegan snapped back.

After a few exchanges, Raegan had figured out the plump womans strategy.

The woman would start with a barrage of curses, followed by groundless accusations, slandering and belittling her opponents to shatter their confidence and make them easy to manipulate. If someone was emotionally fragile or depressed, such baseless insults could provoke dark thoughts.

Luckily, Raegan was no longer in a vulnerable state and was mentally resilient, making her impervious to such manipulations.

Raegan responded with cutting sarcasm, My advice to you is not to lose weight. Right now, at least you can blame your weight. If you were thin, youd have no excuses to hide your inner ugliness.

She continued taunting, I believe everyone can see that your nasty personality is what makes you truly unattractive!

Normally, the plump woman used these tactics to infuriate others to the point of collapse, but today, she was the one nearly overcome with rage! You!

Struggling to breathe, she quickly pinched her chest, gasping for air.

Suddenly, a slender man rushed over, exclaiming, Honey! Whats wrong?

It was the plump womans husband. He immediately began patting her back until she could breathe normally again.

Pointing at Raegan and Mitchel, the plump woman shouted, These two jerks have been bullying me! Theyre the ones! You must have someone kill them, kill this pair of jerks!

Her tone was filled with entitlement. She spoke to her husband as if ordering him to crush a bug, revealing her disregard for human life and hinting at her habitual cruelty.

Her husband listened dutifully and replied, Alright, alright. Ill have someone deal with these two jerks right now!

Hey, you! Come here, he called out.

A middle-aged man with graying hair, a driver for this arrogant couple, approached respectfully and said, Sir, what do you need?

The plump womans husband frowned and asked, Where are the bodyguards?

The driver responded with deference, Theyre waiting by the car, following your earlier instructions. Should I call them over now?

Chapter 2073

No need! With a dismissive wave of his hand, the husband couldn't hide his impatience. You, come here and beat these two for me!

The driver, visibly taken aback, hesitated. Engaging in violence was new to him. Sir, this is a public place. Might there be some misunderstanding? Perhaps we should talk it over first

Before the driver could finish, a shoe struck his face with a loud smack!

Just do as you're told, you fool! Why the questions?

The force of the thick-soled shoe caused the driver's mouth to bleed.

Daddy! From a corner, previously unnoticed, Chasen rushed to the gray-haired driver and embraced him, crying. Dad, why is he hitting you? You always told me he respected you. Was that not true?

Despite facing beatings and harsh words just to get by, the driver was determined to sow seeds of virtue in his son's heart. Thus, he crafted tales of his superior who held him in high regard and a job that was a breeze, all to keep his son's mind free from worry. His efforts bore fruit, as his son grew up with a solid backbone of integrity and a compass that always pointed to what was right.

Raised with a strong moral compass, Chasen faced the husband with determined eyes and said, Sir, it's wrong to hit my dad without reason. He was right to question a wrong order.

Chasen stood firm and declared, I expect you to apologize for hitting him!

What met his request was a flying shoe, targeting Chasen's head.

Witnessing the threat, the driver instinctively shielded his son with his body, absorbing the brutal impact, yet he held his son close, ensuring his son's safety.

The plump woman's husband bellowed at Chasen, You impudent brat, how dare you rebuke me! Your plumper grovels at my feet for work. And you expect me to apologize? You're nothing but a rat from the gutter, unworthy of it. For Raegan, the scene unfolding was a stark revelation. The adage birds of a feather flock together couldn't be more apparent with this family. Not one showed a shred of decency. They revered the mighty and scorned the meek, failing to recognize their workers' humanity.

With no footwear left to hurl, the plump woman's husband grabbed a stone, aiming for the driver and his son.

Stop! Raegan's voice thundered with fury.

The husband halted and turned, Raegan's striking appearance momentarily capturing his attention.

Noticing her husband's gaze fixed on Raegan, the plump woman's irritation flared. She tugged his ear with force and hissed, What are you looking at?

The husband said in haste, Nothing. I swear I didn't see a thing!

Pushing her husband aside, the plump woman's stare bore into Raegan with poison. You little vixen, flirting shamelessly with any man!

Raegan was at a loss for words. She didn't do anything, and here came the baseless accusations her way.

The plump woman's husband ogled Raegan, remarking with a sneer, 'She's quite the looker, isn't she? Those loose clothes can't conceal her shape. Damn! She's quite curvy in all the right places!'

Incensed, the plump woman pinched her husband, rebuking, 'Are your eyes still on that temptress? Do you want me to blind you?'

No, no, you've got it all wrong, dear! Her husband quickly retorted, 'I was thinking she'd catch Korbin's eye. You remember him, don't you? He's always after women who are a blend of innocence and allure.'

Korbin was a partner in their less-than-reputable business ventures, where they shamelessly traded favors using unsuspecting women, even resorting to blackmail with secretly filmed videos.

Upon hearing her husband's suggestion, the plump woman's face split into a wicked grin. Perfect, we'll send her to Korbin.

Chapter 2074

Meanwhile, her husband looked around slyly, entertaining the vile thought of indulging himself before passing Raegan on to Korbin.

Mitchel's expression turned to one of revulsion at such repulsive thoughts. Without warning, his cane flew from his grasp!

Clang! The black custom-made cane struck the husband's head, blood instantly welling from the wound.

Ouch! He grasped his head, wailing in agony. Who the hell hit me! The cane had moved too swiftly. He was unprepared for the blow and staggered from the force.

The plump woman saw who had thrown the cane. It was the man they called the cripple. She barked orders, 'Darling, tie them up. Send this guy to the wild, and this lady to Korbin's pleasure. To hell with them!'

Her husband, excited to comply, barked at the driver, 'You useless, blind old man, what are you standing around for? Cuff the man first!'

Assuming Mitchel posed no threat, they expected the driver to easily restrain him. Then, they would summon the bodyguards to take both captives to their vehicle.

As the driver approached Mitchel, Raegan braced herself for disappointment, having thought the driver honorable. But the driver straightened up, gave her a respectful bow, and said, 'Chasen just told me of your kindness, that you've been good to him. Thank you, miss!'

Raegan, taken aback by the unexpected show of gratitude, quickly gestured in dismissal. 'I hardly did anything noteworthy. It's Chasen who has a keen sense of justice. He's the one who deserves praise.'

The plump womans husband, consumed by fury, bellowed, What are you thanking her for? I ordered you to hit them!

Facing the plump womans husband, the driver declared, Sir, I cant be a party to this. I must stand by this gentleman and this Lady!

The husband, accustomed to being in command, was livid. He should have been the one giving orders, and yet there he stood! He shouted in outrage, Whats gotten into you, you old coot? Thinking of quitting your job and begging in the streets?

With a defiant motion, the driver stripped off his tie, rolled up his sleeves to reveal a surprising muscular build, and announced, I quit!

The plump woman and her husband were rendered speechless. They had pegged Chasens father as feeble, ever the timid and aging figure.

His presence was never felt in their schemes. They relegated him to the car, deeming him too feeble to be of use.

Little did they know, Chasens father had been masking his true capabilities, choosing not to partake in their nefarious activities.

The husband threatened with a sneer, You quit? Well, better watch out. I could go after your boy.

He was cut short by a swift breeze.

Chasens fathers fist connected with the husbands face as he thundered, Lay a finger on my son, and itll be the last thing you do!

Shit! Ah! The plump womans husband let out a piercing scream.

Already reeling from the blow to his head, a punch to the face added insult to injury, turning his visage into a garish canvas, almost laughable in its absurdity.

At this scene, Chasen leaped up, his applause resonating through the air, Dad, youre a hero!

In his sons admiring gaze, Chasens father found renewed strength.

He turned to the husband decisively. Ill be turning the cars dashcam footage over to the Ambrosia police. You wont escape justice for your crimes here!

Chapter 2075

While Chasens father hadnt seen this couples misdeeds firsthand, he had overheard enough from their conversations in the car. He was confident the police could piece together the evidence.

The color drained from the plump womans husbands face. The idea that Chasens father had the foresight to install a dashcam had never crossed his mind. He had no idea when it was instilled! In their line of work, leaving no trace was imperative. A dashcam was the last thing they would want.

The husband hissed venomously, Youll regret this! His voice was a low growl as he clenched his teeth in fury.

It was at this moment Matteo made his entrance. However, he hadnt summoned bodyguards. Instead, he had brought the hospitals director to the scene.

s

Matteo reported to Mitchel that the couple was engaged in selling medical equipment to this very hospital. They had greased the palms of Auroras medical department heads, securing contracts for the hospitals medical supplies. Their profits had soared, padding their bank accounts and inflating their egos beyond measure.

The plump womans husband recognized the hospital director immediately. Upon the directors arrival, the husband called out desperately, Sir, we need your assistance. Weve been bullied in your hospital. Please, have these people removed!

The plump womans husband believed he had a foolproof strategy. Once Mitchel and Raegan were expelled, his bodyguards would take care of them discreetly. The driver, in particular, was a loose end that needed to be tied up, his silence purchased or enforced.

When the director heard the plea, he gestured for the hospital security to step in.

The hospital on Aurora was accustomed to clashes more than Ambrosia, where gun violence was common.

The hospital had dealt with aggressive parties before. Those whose loved ones werent saved often sought vengeance on the staff. As a result, the security team was always armed, ready to protect patients and staff alike.

A squad of imposing security guards advanced, guns at the ready, exuding an air of authority.

The director approached Mitchel, his apologies flowing. Im very sorry for this disturbance, Mr. Dixon.

The plump womans husband couldnt suppress his smirk. However, confusion marred his triumph. Mr. Dixon? In the realms of Ambrosia, the Dixons were a household name, boasting the wealthiest patriarch in Ardlens.

The husband considered the possibility of a mistake but shrugged it off. Perhaps the director had simply misspoken.

Brimming with confidence, the plump womans husband taunted, Feeling frightened now, are you? Just remember, any of you tries to fight back, then

Bang! With a snap of his fingers near his temple, he threatened, Itll be the end for all of you! He believed he had instilled fear in them.

However, to his shock, the security guards swiftly hoisted him off the floor the next moment and marched him out.

Hey, wait Have you made a mistake Youre taking the wrong person

His protestations echoed, his voice tinged with the shrillness of disbelief.

The plump woman started to shout, Cant you see? The ones who should be taken away are right over there!

Furious, the plump woman pointed at Mitchel in a wheelchair and Raegan, screaming, Take those two wretches away for me!

Almost immediately, she was hoisted up by the hospital directors security guards.

The director snapped at the plump woman, You and your husband have insulted our honored guests. I will truthfully report this incident as an interference with the harmony between the two countries!

What are you talking about? The plump womans eyes widened in surprise. She had not expected such a drastic consequence.

Chapter 2076

This year, Aurora introduced a new law against disrupting international relations to encourage local development. If found guilty, the offenders would be banned permanently from entering Aurora, and their passports would be marked to highlight their offenses, making any future international travel difficult.

Even up to this point, the plump woman still thought the director was wrong. Have you lost your mind? she shouted. Look at who I am! Im your business partner. Youre mistaken. Its those two over there who should be expelled!

Exactly! Her husband suddenly broke free and shouted at the director, I know the heads of your medical department. Youll regret this once they find out how youve treated us!

The security guards had been gentle with the couple because, just fifteen minutes earlier, they had been regarded as honored guests of the hospital. The sudden command from the director to remove the couple caused them to question whether the director had made a mistake.

The plump womans husband grabbed the directors arm desperately and hastily said, Look closely and recognize who I am. You should be dragging that damn cripple instead!

As soon as he finished speaking, he was met with a sharp response.

Slap! The director struck him across the face.

The husband of the plump woman had a bleeding corner of his mouth and stared bewilderedly at the director.

Without pausing, the director slapped the husband again, causing the other side of his mouth to also start bleeding.

After delivering the slaps, the director glanced over at Mitchel in the wheelchair, noting the latters furrowed brow and tense demeanor.

The director then kicked the plump womans husband again, hitting him hard in the torso.

Ouch! Ouch The husband clutched his stomach and collapsed to the ground. Sadly, he still hadn't grasped the situation yet. Sir, please look carefully It's me

The plump woman screamed, Sir, have you lost your senses!

The couple were bewildered by the director's sudden hostility, especially since the director himself had just recently treated them as distinguished guests. It seemed as if he had been seized by a sudden madness.

The director was boiling with rage. He delivered several more kicks.

These two fools were still completely unaware of whom they had insulted. Morons!

Mitchel, the arrogant couple had ridiculed, was the leader of the transportation project, a crucial diplomatic endeavor involving two countries. Anyone selected for such a project would have to maintain an unblemished political reputation and possess significant influence.

Gaining the trust of two national governments was not something the average person could achieve. How could these two morons dare to offend someone of such caliber? And they had the audacity to ridicule him for his disability?

Mitchel's ability to secure the project, despite his disability, showcased his extraordinary capabilities.

The director had no intention of explaining these matters to the ignorant couple. After all, fools would always be fools.

This couple assumed they could dominate simply because they had been treated well, failing to realize that such treatment was contingent on mutual interests. Relationships founded on these terms were inherently fragile.

Once those interests were threatened, partnerships would dissolve as quickly as they were established.

Now, by offending Mitchel, the hospital might face shutdown, or at the very least, the director would be promptly dismissed.

Furthermore, this plump woman and her husband were truly ignorant.

Chapter 2077

Even now, they failed to recognize the real influencer here, which was utterly ridiculous! Even the founder of Aurora would show respect to Mitchel, the man in the wheelchair they had mocked, not to mention insignificant individuals like themselves. They were simply out of their depth!

Since the director didn't work out regularly, he couldn't match the fitness level of his bodyguards. Just a few kicks had left him gasping for air. He turned to the bodyguards behind him and shouted, What are you waiting for? Get over here and help! Hit them!

At last, the bodyguards realized the gravity of the situation. The once esteemed guests had insulted someone far more significant. Now was not the time for courtesies. It was time to really lay into them.

Several bodyguards encircled the couple and started to assault them.

Meanwhile, the chubby boy, son of the couple, and his associates were escorted away.

This included Chasen, who was taken out on Raegans command by Matteo.

It was imperative that the children not be exposed to such violence, though the couple certainly deserved a harsh lesson and had Likely committed numerous wrongs before.

The director didnt call for a stop, focusing instead on ensuring Mitchel felt justified.

Mitchel, sensing the lesson was probably learned, tapped the armrest of his wheelchair and said, Take them out.

Ill have them removed right away, Mr. Dixon, the director eagerly said. If theres anything unsatisfactory, or if youre uncomfortable in any way, please inform me immediately!

The plump womans husband was severely beaten, his face a mess of blood and bruises. When he noticed the director respectfully nodding and bowing to Mitchel, calling the latter Mr. Dixon, realization belatedly dawned on him. Chances were that Mitchel belonged to the Dixon family from Ardlens, arguably the most powerful of them all.

The husband froze. My God, what had he done? He had mocked a man of such significance, even referring to the latter as a cripple! At that moment, he wished he could sever his own tongue. Particularly since he had been eyeing Mitchels woman! What he had done was utterly unforgiving.

s

Scraping the ground with both hands, the husband shouted, Mr. Dixon Please forgive me. I was blind to your greatness. Please have mercy

Tears streamed down his face as he pleaded, and the plump woman, taken aback, exclaimed, Honey! Whats happening? Have you lost your senses too?

Just as the director had suggested, the plump woman was ignorant enough not to realize the situation even now. Baffled, she wondered why her husband suddenly started acting like the director. She scrutinized Mitchel, wondering what kind of spell he cast. Yet, she noticed nothing out of the ordinary, except for him being strikingly handsome.

Meanwhile, her husband, while being pulled away, still managed to crawl over and slap his wife hard. Its all your fault, you blind old witch! Youve ruined our business!

The husband was devastated. Offending the wealthiest man in Ardlens and the authorities in Aurora, what prospects did their business still hold? They might as well brace for bankruptcy and face the music!

This prompted the director who immediately said, Dont let them leave. Take them to the enforcement office. We need to thoroughly investigate who theyve been paying off!

The plump womans husband felt his eyes roll back in despair.

Upon Matteos return, Mitchel ordered, The things he talked about, sending young girls to business partners, look into them deeply and then forward everything to the prosecutors office in Ardlens!

The plump womans husband was left dumbfounded. He froze, not sure how to react. A deep coldness washed over him. This meant a trial in Aurora followed by one in Ardlens. He and his wife was looking at a lifetime behind bars!

Meanwhile, the chubby boy was waiting impatiently. As he waited, he bragged to his associates. Just watch, my mom and dad are going to beat that cripple to death, and that woman who yelled at me, theyll leave her battered and sell her off!

Chasen scoffed. Keep dreaming. She wont go down that easily!

The chubby boy clenched his fists. Just wait and see. My parents can handle anyone. After theyre done with those two, theyll come for you and your dad, you two filthy dogs! Since you try to stand up to me, just wait for your downfall!

Chapter 2078

Chasen, though young, suddenly felt a wave of doubt upon hearing this.

He was concerned for Raegan and Mitchel. But he knew he couldnt let his fear show, or the chubby boy would only torment them more. He balled his little fists, staring defiantly at the chubby boy. Im not scared of you!

You Ill beat you to death! The chubby boy made a move to charge at Chasen, but a bodyguard held him back.

The bodyguard had been keeping an eye on the chubby boy and the shorter one. Otherwise, the chubby boy might have teamed up with the shorter one to attack Chasen earlier!

Damn it! Just wait till my parents come out, youre dead! the chubby boy yelled. He was used to hearing about the shady deeds his parents did. His parents never concealed their wrongdoings from him, openly discussing their nefarious activities even in his presence!

They even instilled in him that with money, one could wield power and trample over any land.

The chubby boy was convinced that no matter how reckless he was, his parents would always shield him. This was what fostered his devil-may-care attitude.

The plump womans husband, his face swollen and bruised from the assault, emerged and overheard his sons ranting, boiling with rage.

The root cause of todays debacle was his troublemaking son! Had it not been for the chaos his son had caused, they would not have antagonized Mitchel, the one they should have avoided.

Seeing his parents emerge, the chubby boy hurried over and asked, Dad, did you finish off that cripple?

The chubby boy was utterly spoiled, and supremely self-centered. He looked at his parents, all battered up, yet it seemed like he was staring at blank space, giving their injuries no mind, just worrying if his dad had given a beating to the one who ticked him off! After all, anyone who had ever crossed him had been severely beaten by his father.

Once, when a classmate accidentally stepped on the chubby boys shoe, the chubby boy refused the apology and retaliated by pinning that classmate down and beating the latter savagely!

Out of the blue, the classmate, pushed to the edge, hit back, and wrestled the chubby boy down instead.

s

The chubby boy, who rarely exercised and was physically frail, quickly found himself outmatched.

However, the classmate didnt actually want to fight. He was merely defending himself and stopped once he realized the chubby boy was no match.

The chubby boy immediately complained to his dad, who then had someone assault the classmate so severely after school, leaving the classmate brain-dead!

The classmates family wanted to protest but were hushed up with a payoff from the chubby boys father, leaving them no avenue for justice.

Thus, in the eyes of the chubby boy, human life held Little value.

With enough money, he believed anything could be resolved.

Upon hearing his sons question, the plump womans husband, boiling with fury, mustered all his strength and struck his son forcefully.

Slap!

The chubby boy was sent sprawling to the ground, wailing loudly. This was the first time his father had ever hit him.

The plump woman screamed and hurried to her sons side, staring at her husband and yelling, Have you lost your mind? Why are you hitting our son?

Is that what you call hitting? The plump womans husband, eyes wild with fury, replied, Ive worked my damned whole life to get where I am, and its all been destroyed by this disaster you brought into the world!

Chapter 2079

Cradling her son, the plump woman softly said, What do you mean?

You brought into the world? Isnt he your son too?

My son? The plump womans husband let out a chilling laugh. He really isnt!

The plump woman was taken aback. What are you saying? How is our child not your son?

I've been infertile all along. This child was actually conceived with a friend of mine at your request! The plump woman's husband revealed a shocking truth.

His only reason for wanting a child was to secure a tie to the plump woman's family, who were notably wealthy. He himself was just a man without a penny to his name at that time!

To elevate his status, he targeted the plump woman, knowing she was her family's sole heiress and would inherit a significant fortune.

Despite her unappealing looks, no man of his impoverished background would typically have a chance with her. He schemed a plan to have a friend impregnate her, and then use the child to force her into marriage.

His friend was initially reluctant to sleep with the plump woman because of her appearance, and it cost him a fair sum to convince his friend.

Using this marriage, he slowly built his wealth and status to reach his current position.

But just moments before, his entire world had crumbled. The crimes he committed might not warrant the death penalty in Aurora, but with the murder cases linked to him in Ardlens, execution was likely the outcome!

Overwhelmed by the prospect of his doomed future, he lost control, pulling out his belt and clenching it, furiously saying, This cursed child, I'm going to kill him now!

The plump woman dove to shield the chubby boy, but her husband began to attack them both.

Suddenly, the hospital entrance was overrun with screams and turmoil, utterly chaotic.

The plump woman was struck violently by her husband and could no longer protect the chubby boy.

The chubby boy couldn't figure out why his usually easygoing dad had become a raging beast, set on killing him. He was hit and tried to dodge, but a swinging punch from his father threw him off balance, and he tumbled down the high steps.

Thud! A dull thump resonated as the chubby boy hit the pavement, his head smacking the ground. Blood pooled around him.

The shorter boy peeked out and saw the chubby boy lying motionless, his eyes wide with confusion as though the fall had left him dazed.

This sight nearly terrified the shorter boy to death.

In anger, the plump woman shoved her husband, and just as he was about to fall down the steps, he grabbed her.

The two of them rolled down the steps like tumbling balls, ending at the bottom.

The plump woman's front teeth were shattered, and her husband's face was severely injured, both presenting a horrifying scene!

At that moment, the sound of police sirens pierced the air.

Law enforcement arrived at the scene to find the couple and the chubby boy sprawled on the ground and immediately called for an ambulance.

Chapter 2080

What a scene to the onlookers.

The small garden had regained its usual tranquility.

However, an undeniable awkwardness still lingered.

Raegan cringed as she recalled her bold declaration to the plump woman, professing her attraction to Mitchel and her intent to seduce him, alongside a comment on the freedom of unmarried people to love.

She felt she was impulsive. In a desperate attempt to defend Mitchel, she had spoken without thinking much. Looking back, it was downright embarrassing.

Concerned that Mitchel might be upset, Raegan took the initiative to apologize. Im really sorry. I got carried away just now and spouted some nonsense. Please dont mind it. If you need me to clarify anything Raegans thoughts then shifted to Eloise, uncertain of Eloises relationship with Mitchel. Did Mitchel know what Eloise had said to Bryce? Did Mitchel realize that Eloise was actually interested in Bryce?

Raegans gaze darkened. I can help clarify if needed.

After Raegans lengthy apology, Mitchel responded in a low voice, Its fine. I dont mind.

Since he appeared unconcerned, Raegan found herself at a loss for words. Looking at him, she remembered the times she had secretly watched him practicing, trying to stand without the cane. Her nose tingled, and her heart twisted in pain. What was the issue with his legs?

Raegan had a myriad of questions yet struggled to find the words to ask them. But then she considered that perhaps she had no right to be concerned. To others, it seemed they both had significant others.

Showing concern now might only make her seem Like a jealous busybody.

She had no desire to foster any ambiguous relationships.

Rest well and recover your health. After saying this, Raegan turned to leave.

Raegan! Mitchel called out, stopping her in her tracks.

How are the babies doing? he asked.

Raegan turned back, her voice slightly choked. The babies are doing great. Theyre so cute. You should come and play with them once youre feeling better.

Im sure youve been taking good care of them, Mitchel replied, his voice filled with appreciation. He had glimpsed their babies once when Erick brought them over, an act hoping to lift his spirits after seeing his despondent mood.

Realizing the possibility of permanent disability had nearly driven Mitchel to despair. It wasnt until Erick visited, commenting on how much the babies resembled him, that he felt a renewed sense of responsibility. He felt he had to stand strong for his children and the childrens mother, Raegan.

Yet, Mitchel gave a bitter smile. Could he really still protect Raegan now?

With Raegan turning to leave, he maneuvered his wheelchair, saying, Let me see you off.

Raegan paused, surprised he wanted to accompany her.

They made their way back into their respective wards together. Raegan couldnt extend an invitation to visit their babies as they had already been discreetly moved to Ardlens to prepare for their upcoming celebration.

Moreover, mounting evidence suggested that Davey was secretly hiding Casey away. Plans were in place to confront Davey during the celebration and, if necessary, to detain him directly.