Married At First Sight Chapter 3546

Married At First Sight Chapter 3546-Serenity and Camryn were sisters-in-law and friends, but each had her own life and business.

No matter how good her relationship with Camryn was, it couldn't surpass the bond she had with Jasmine. She was aware of every significant event in Jasmine's life. After all, they had been best friends for over ten years, as close as if they were one person.

“Well, I'm certain. Even my master has examined Camryn. I'm not sure if he prescribed any additional medicine for her; I didn't ask. It's fine. I'll just stick to what I sent last time and bring her some more.”

Camryn's eyesight had recovered to some extent, but it would take time for the coldness in her body to be completely eliminated.

Every time Lilian prepared medicine for Camryn, she felt sorry for her.

Mrs. Newman was quite cruel. Even if she didn't love her ex-husband, Camryn was still her biological child, the flesh and blood of a ten-month pregnancy.

Lilian had heard that Camryn bore a striking resemblance to her mother, while Carrie didn't resemble her mother as much.

But Mrs. Newman just didn't like Camryn. Not only did she dislike her, but she also held deep resentment towards her. She wanted to kill Camryn and cause her ex-husband's death as well.

To say that her marriage to her ex-husband wasn't her fault—it was a marriage arranged by her elders, one she couldn't resist—so she turned her anger on her husband. She even conspired with her eldest brother to kill her husband, and then turned around and married Mr. Newman.

At its peak, the Newman family's assets exceeded one billion, making it a truly wealthy family.

However, Mrs. Newman was disliked in Wiltspoon's upper-class society.

This was due to her relationship with Mr. Newman. She had been involved with Mr. Newman before marriage, yet ended up marrying his brother, becoming Mr. Newman's sister-in-law.

After Mr. Newman's brother died, she couldn't wait to marry Mr. Newman, and eventually, everything in the Newman family gradually fell into Mr. Newman's hands.

Are there any secrets that ladies well-versed in the ways of wealthy families can't uncover?

They sneered at Mrs. Newman's actions. Except for those who wanted to curry favor with her, other high-status ladies did not wish to associate with Mrs. Newman. She had long dreamed of marrying her beloved daughter, Carrie, into the York family as a young mistress. With this plan in mind, she acted on it.

Every time she attended a banquet where the wives of the York family were present, she would go out of her way to get close to them, hoping to establish friendships.

Unfortunately, she never succeeded.

Among wealthy ladies, there were always social hierarchies. The wives of the York family always took center stage in group photos.

Everyone wanted to be close to them, to flatter and please them.

The assets of the Newman family were insignificant compared to the York family. The wives of the York family would only politely nod at her greetings without engaging further.

After Camryn's ordeal with the Newman family was exposed, everyone criticized Mrs. Newman even more.

It was no wonder Camryn hated her mother and stepfather so much. Now that Newman Enterprises had fallen into Camryn's hands, it was like returning the property to its rightful owner.

No matter how much Mr. Newman and his wife resented it, there was nothing they could do.

They couldn't reach out from behind bars, nor could they control Camryn.

Moreover, Camryn was no longer the person she once was. She had regained her sight, and with Dalton and her husband's family standing firmly behind her, she had support.

Lilian wondered if Mrs. Newman regretted her actions now.

Thinking about it, she probably did regret it—but likely regretted not strangling Camryn to death earlier, before giving her the chance to rise again.
