

Married At First Sight Chapter 3503

Married At First Sight Chapter 3503-However, it was too late in terms of timing. Mr. Labbe also knew that he couldn't rush things.

Serenity and the others were too guarded.

Carrie had arranged an early encounter to get to know Serenity and the others, but Serenity remained wary of her.

The main reason was that Carrie had not learned to change her voice, which made Serenity suspect she was the second Miss Newman. As a result, Serenity was always on guard, and there had been no progress.

Mr. Labbe wanted to vent his frustration on Carrie, thinking she was useless.

On reflection, it wasn't entirely her fault.

Carrie lacked ability from the start. She was a child spoiled by her parents, ignorant of the world's harsh realities. She caused a major disaster, implicating her parents and leading to the Newman family returning to Camryn's control. Carrie herself was imprisoned for a period, and upon her release, she became a target for Mr. Labbe.

He had someone train her for a while, and she had improved somewhat. Her IQ had increased a bit, which was already a significant achievement.

"Yes, it will succeed this time. I heard the York family seems to have a few distinguished guests, but I don't know who they are. In the past two days, all the young masters of the York family have returned whenever they could. Wildridge Manor is as lively as a banquet, but only certain families are invited—the Lewis family, the Stone family, and the Bucham family. Others haven't been invited and can't enter."

Mr. Labbe hummed, "I know this. It's good that you found out. If your abilities have improved, keep working hard. As long as you improve, I will reward you. When my plan is completed, I will give you whatever you desire. Marrying into the York family as a young lady is not a problem. You can choose any of the nine young masters of the York family. The Newman family's property will be yours. You can do whatever you want with those you hate."

Mr. Labbe painted a rosy picture for Carrie again.

Without this vision, Carrie would have no ambition.

Carrie said stubbornly, "I only want Callum, the second young master of the York family. I want everything Camryn has now. Making her lose everything she has is the most brutal revenge."

She also wanted Callum to compare whether she was better than Camryn.

That blind woman didn't even graduate from high school. How could she compare with Carrie? Although she didn't finish college, she attended for two years, which was much better than Camryn.

She had also seen the world. Camryn had never experienced it.

Before Camryn was blind, their mother would only take Carrie out for social events, not Camryn.

Now that Camryn had regained her sight, so what?

She still rarely attended banquets. The last time she finally went to a banquet with her mother-in-law, she was ridiculed and mocked.

Although her in-laws all protected her, it must have been a big blow.

"Callum has been used by Camryn, and you still like him so much. It seems you really love him."

Mr. Labbe laughed, without any jealousy. He didn't like Carrie in the first place, but he slept with her to use and control her, making it difficult for her to escape him.

Carrie said, "I am Mr. Labbe's woman now, and Callum is my sister's man. We are in a complicated relationship."

Mr. Labbe said, "Okay, whatever you want, I will give it to you when the time comes. Work hard, and call me if you have any new information."

With that, Mr. Labbe hung up.

The car quickly took Carrie back to the Labbe family villa.

The fake Carrie had arrived first but couldn't get in without a key, so she waited at the villa door.
