Married At First Sight Chapter 3611-3615

Married At First Sight Chapter 3611 – Silver Fox looked at Kevin and smiled at Donald. “Yes, Kevin is impressive, a good match for your daughter, Hayden.”

Donald responded, “Your sons-in-law are all outstanding. I’ve heard you have many talented female apprentices too. Maybe one of them could be a match for one of your sons-in-law.”

Zachary and Kevin remained silent.

Dakota, a friend of Silver Fox, joined the conversation. “His female apprentices listen to him about everything except marriage. When he pushes them to get married, they remind him that he never married and has lived a good life without worries in his old age. They argue that they’re starting to train young apprentices as their own children. When these apprentices grow up and are independent, they can support them in their old age, so they don’t see the need for marriage and children.”

Silver Fox shot Dakota a look. “Your precious apprentice is married, so you feel relieved and think your job is done. But when Sariyah wasn’t married yet, you were just as worried about her.”

Dakota laughed. “Now that I’ve fulfilled my duty, I’m just waiting to become a grandparent.”

When older folks gather, they often talk about the younger generation and their hopes for grandchildren.

Just then, the butler approached Donald respectfully. “Sir, Madam, Miss Hunt, and others have arrived.”

Liberty was on her way to pick up Audrey and the others.

The original plan was to welcome Audrey and Old Mr. Jimenez at the hotel, but Donald personally invited everyone to the Queen family’s home. Even though Liberty didn’t live with the Queen family, she often came over for meals.

“Big Brother Jimenez is finally here.”

Silver Fox, Dakota, and the others said a few words to Donald, then headed to the mansion’s entrance.

Donald, who had known Old Mr. Jimenez for a long time, went out with his wife, sons, and daughters to greet them. As hosts, they believed in personally welcoming their guests.

A few minutes later, everyone entered the luxurious hall, chatting and laughing.

The Queen family had prepared a meal in advance. Knowing that Audrey and her group hadn't eaten yet, Donald invited everyone to the dining room to continue their conversation over dinner.

After dinner, Liberty took a walk with Audrey.

"Is Clarissa waiting for you at the cemetery?"

Liberty had only learned later that Clarissa had gone to the Farrell family cemetery early to wait for Audrey and the others.

Thankfully, they had help from Silver Fox, whose skilled apprentice, Finnegan, was even more powerful than Julian. As Silver Fox said, if Finnegan couldn't uncover the information they needed, it would be difficult for anyone else to do so.

After receiving the news, they discussed their strategy and planned how to respond.

Zachary guessed that Clarissa wouldn't make a move at the cemetery. She wanted to trap them all at once.

Knowing that Clarissa was plotting to eliminate them in one fell swoop, they rushed to Jensburg to create the illusion that her plan was about to succeed. In reality, even if Clarissa managed to lure them into the Farrell family mansion and set it on fire, they had a way to escape.

Old Mr. Jimenez revealed that there was a secret underground passage in the Farrell family mansion, built by the previous matriarch, Liberty's grandmother. Only her grandmother and Old Mr. Jimenez knew about it.

Married At First Sight Chapter 3612

Married At First Sight Chapter 3612— The previous matriarch had the underground passage built as an emergency escape route in case of extreme danger. The passage had three entrances—inside the house, in the front yard, and in the backyard—greatly increasing their chances of escape.

Even without the passage, they had secretly gathered many people to be ready. If Clarissa tried to set the mansion on fire, their team would quickly take control of Mr. Dunn and his men, preventing them from pouring gasoline or starting the fire.

No matter how skilled Mr. Dunn was, he wasn't as formidable as the Five Emperors who had ruled the world decades ago. Though retired, their disciples now held powerful positions in various fields, with connections across major cities.

They were just letting Clarissa believe her plan was working, keeping her confident.

"Yes, Clarissa is waiting there and won't even let us visit my mother's grave. How dare she go there? If my mother knew how cold-hearted she's become, she'd rather have raised a dog than her. What an ungrateful person!"

Audrey despised Clarissa. Clarissa had torn her family apart.

Audrey lost her parents at a young age and was separated from her only sibling. When she finally found her sister, they were torn apart again—all because of Clarissa.

Clarissa ruined Audrey's family, yet Clarissa herself lived a comfortable life. Despite marrying a man she didn't love, Clarissa had four children. Except for her daughter being switched at birth, she had lived well.

Clarissa's comfort came at the expense of Audrey's family.

How could Audrey not be bitter?

Even the issue of Clarissa's daughter being switched wasn't entirely bad for her. Kathryn, Clarissa's switched daughter, wasn't aligned with her mother and wouldn't continue the family's grudges. Even if Clarissa died, Kathryn could still thrive.

Kathryn was capable and had Pedro, a powerful assistant, by her side. Even if she left the Farrell family and Jensburg, she would do well.

Although Audrey resented Clarissa, she didn't hold it against Kathryn.

Kathryn had long ago told Audrey that she didn't want the position of family head.

Her actions backed up her words.

At least when Clarissa tried to harm Liberty, Kathryn warned Liberty in time, foiling Clarissa's plot.

"Aunt, didn't you teach her a lesson?"

Liberty was furious. She regretted not learning martial arts, which would've allowed her to fight back against people like Clarissa.

If she had learned martial arts like Titus, she wouldn't need bodyguards—she could protect herself.

“I didn’t, but Dr. Carden did. Liberty, Dr. Carden is amazing. Thankfully, we’re not her enemies. We really can’t afford to offend her. If you can’t befriend her, at least don’t cross her. Otherwise, you won’t even know what hit you.”

Lilian’s skills not only shocked Clarissa and her group but also surprised Audrey and Darrell.

Liberty added, “Dr. Carden is the fourth daughter of the Johnson family. The Johnson and York families are connected—Jane and Serenity are good friends. Now, Sonny and Titus are friends too. They meet several times a year and stay in touch. At least for the next generation, the relationship between the two families is strong. With these ties, how could we offend Dr. Carden?”

Even without that connection, knowing Lilian was a highly skilled doctor, they would avoid offending her at all costs.

Married At First Sight Chapter 3613 – Liberty asked, “Aunt, how was Dr. Carden’s attack? Were you surprised too?”

Liberty knew Lilian was skilled in medicine but had no idea about her martial arts abilities. She imagined Lilian as a character from a martial arts novel, able to fly, grab things from afar, and even harm people with leaves.

Audrey replied, “I couldn’t see how Dr. Carden attacked, but suddenly, Clarissa and her bodyguards were on the ground. Dr. Carden mentioned she used a poison needle. I have no idea how it worked.”

Liberty responded, “A poison needle?”

It reminded her of something from a martial arts story.

“Uncle Jimenez said Dr. Carden is not only skilled in medicine but also in creating poisons. Thankfully, she doesn’t use them to harm people; otherwise, she’d be truly terrifying,” Audrey said, feeling a bit uneasy about Lilian’s abilities. “Uncle Jimenez also said she’s even better than her master. It’s a relief that she’s not our enemy.”

Liberty agreed, “That’s true.”

They were all on good terms, largely thanks to the connections of the older generation. The relationships built by Old Mr. Jimenez helped them forge alliances with powerful people they hadn’t even met before.

“Grandpa Jimenez met with Clarissa,” Liberty said before pausing.

Audrey continued, “After their meeting, Uncle Jimenez accused Clarissa of killing my mother. She denied it, of course, and asked for proof. We didn’t show any evidence at the cemetery to avoid it being stolen or destroyed.

My goal is to ruin her reputation first, and then take her life in revenge for my mother’s death. Even after forty or fifty years, I can’t forgive her for killing my mother and letting her continue to live.”

Clarissa seemed prepared to die with Audrey.

Audrey was waiting for Clarissa to make her move, knowing that if she did, it would end in tragedy for Clarissa and her children. Years ago, Clarissa had tried to eliminate every threat.

Audrey and Harlow were fortunate to escape with their nanny. Although separated from the nanny and sent to an orphanage, they survived.

Harlow passed away in middle age, but she left behind two daughters, Serenity and Liberty, which brought Audrey some comfort. Now that it was Audrey’s turn to seek revenge, she wanted Clarissa and her children to pay the price.

However, Audrey wouldn’t strike first. She planned to let Clarissa’s actions lead her to her own downfall, taking her children with her.

As for Kathryn...

“Liberty, how is Kathryn?” Audrey asked.

Liberty replied, “Kathryn has recovered and been discharged from the hospital, but she hasn’t returned to the company yet. Clarissa told her to rest at home, likely to keep her from finding out about her plans and warning me.

Clarissa also asked Pedro to drug Kathryn, so she would fall asleep, and Pedro could take her out of Jensburg.

But Kathryn refused, and Pedro, who is loyal to Kathryn, didn’t follow through. After leaving the hospital, Kathryn handed the drug over to me, and I had it tested.”

Married At First Sight Chapter 3614

Married At First Sight Chapter 3614 – After a pause, Liberty said, “Kathryn is still okay. She didn’t grow up with Clarissa, and her values are quite positive. If possible, I don’t want her to die.”

Audrey was silent for a long time, then said, "Whether now or in the future, as long as Kathryn doesn't take the initiative to become our enemy, we will not touch her. Her values are still positive now, but it's hard to say what will happen in the future.

Liberty, people will change. After all, Kathryn is Clarissa's biological daughter. She has the blood of Clarissa and Holden in her veins and has inherited their genes."

Liberty stopped talking.

According to Audrey, as long as Kathryn didn't take the initiative to become their enemy, they wouldn't do anything to her.

People will change. Not to mention anyone else, even Liberty herself felt that she had changed a lot.

After walking for a long time, Liberty spoke again, "Kathryn said that if my grandmother was really killed by her mother, she would never take over the Farrell family, and she wouldn't take anything that doesn't belong to her.

She also said that after everything settled, she would leave Jensburg and only needed to take Pedro with her.

Before being brought back, she had already opened several small companies with a high annual income, which was considered a successful business.

I still believe that Kathryn will do what she says. Although she is Clarissa's biological daughter, she did not grow up with her, and their mother-daughter relationship is not deep. She wouldn't seek revenge for Clarissa if Clarissa really died. She knows that even if her mother died, she deserved it.

Everyone must pay the price for the wrong things they've done and take responsibility.

Pedro is a very smart and capable person. He and Kathryn are together, and they can live a good life even without the Feng family. Pedro has fallen in love with Kathryn, and Kathryn also has feelings for him. From what I know about Kathryn, she may not want to take over the Farrell family."

Audrey said, "I hope she can do what she says. I don't want to be her enemy. Of Clarissa's children, I only like Kathryn."

Audrey looked down on Clarissa's three sons, saying they were useless.

Even Shiloh, whom Clarissa had trained as her successor for more than 20 years, was looked down upon by Audrey after she met her. She felt that Shiloh was not even as good as Elisa.

Elisa: ...Mom, do you think your daughter is that bad?

In the past, Elisa just didn't involve herself in the business world.

Born into the Stone family, she had a natural talent for business.

Liberty asked, "Seren doesn't suspect anything, right?"

Audrey thought for a moment and said, "I think Seren knows something, but she just won't say it."

"She knows that we all hid it from her for her own good. It's really not appropriate for her to come here while pregnant. We can't all come here. If our escape route and plan go wrong, at least there will be someone to collect our bodies. I won't let Leland and Elisa come here. I have to leave a legacy for them and the Stone family."

Liberty said, "Aunt, I believe that evil cannot prevail over good. It's not 40 or 50 years ago. It's a society ruled by law. The influence of the Farrell family in Jensburg has seriously declined. Clarissa's conspiracy to deal with us, any plan, as long as it's caught by the police, will be enough to ruin them.

Our goal is to seek justice for my grandmother and others and take back the position of head of the family that should have been inherited by you."

Audrey and Liberty shared the same idea as Kathryn.

If it was their own, they would definitely find a way to take it back.

If it didn't belong to them, they didn't want it.

Married At First Sight Chapter 3615

Married At First Sight Chapter 3615 – Audrey nodded and said, "Liberty, you've already taken care of everything, and that puts my mind at ease. I just hope we all get home safely.

Seren mentioned that Zachary would pick her and Sonny up from FC Manor. Duncan also made it clear that you must return to Wiltspoon safely. He's waiting for you to get the marriage certificate so you can celebrate the New Year together."

Audrey held Liberty's hand, smiling as she talked about Liberty and Duncan's marriage. "I'm thrilled to see you and Duncan getting married, planning your wedding, and watching Seren have her baby. I'm happy for your mother too."

Blushing, Liberty asked, "Isn't it too rushed to get the certificate during the New Year?"

Audrey replied, "Getting a marriage certificate isn't the same as having a wedding, so there's no rush. Just like Zachary and Seren, they got their certificate first and then took their time planning the wedding. Duncan promised you a grand wedding and won't disappoint you.

It brings me peace knowing you and your sister have found good partners and are living happy lives. The men you both chose are responsible, so I don't worry about you being mistreated.

Elisa and Remy are also doing well. Now, I'm only concerned about Leland's marriage. He's the same age as you but a couple of months older, and while Sonny is already in kindergarten, Leland doesn't even have a girlfriend.

We spoiled him too much, letting him do as he pleased, which led to him being away from home all the time. Now, he's in his early thirties and still single."

Audrey continued with concern, "Liberty, when you get back to Wiltspoon, you should help Leland find someone so he can settle down."

Liberty shared her concern, "Aunt, I don't know many girls. The good ones are already taken, and I wouldn't introduce anyone unsuitable to Leland. It's hard for me to find someone for him.

But there are plenty of young women at the company. If Leland is serious, he won't have trouble finding someone who meets his standards."

Liberty put the responsibility back on Leland.

Audrey sighed, "That's true. If he wants to find someone, we don't need to push him; he'll do it himself. But if he's not interested, pushing him every day won't help. Let's just leave it be. When the time is right, it will happen naturally."

If Leland really doesn't want to get married, Audrey, as his mother, will have to accept it. Luckily, Clive has given her a grandson.

And with Elisa marrying into the Johnson family, it brings some comfort to Audrey as she grows older.

"Aunt, if I do end up taking care of things in Jensburg, should I change my last name to Farrell? Duncan will come live with us, and any daughter we have will carry my surname. Will the Lewis family be okay with that?"

Audrey and Serenity had already discussed this with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis.

The Lewis family said that as long as Liberty and Duncan are happy, nothing else matters.

With four sons in the Lewis family, if Duncan is willing to live with Liberty's family, that's his choice. If they have a daughter in the future, whether her last name is Farrell or Lewis, she'll still be Duncan and Liberty's child.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were very open-minded. Their youngest son loved Liberty, and as long as they were happy, that was all that mattered. Even if Duncan lived with Liberty's family, he would still be their son.
