

My Accidental Husband is a Billionaire

#Chapter 471 - Read My Accidental Husband is a Billionaire Chapter 471

471 Chapter 470

Upon hearing this, Keira immediately breathed a sigh of relief.

She had thought of this possibility at the Gill residence but wasn't sure since she hadn't seen Nara's jade pendant.

Therefore, she had hurried over here.

She hadn't expected that it was indeed Nara's...

So, Nara was the daughter Lady Gill had been searching for.

Keira suddenly felt it laughable.

Lady Gill favored Jackson because of her missing daughter and even clashed with the Olsen family for his sake, but maybe she had no idea what Jackson had done to Nara.

How ironic! How laughable!

Keira took a deep breath.

Matias then asked, "What's wrong? Do you know where Nara's family is? Nara took the jade pendant last time to find them, but it seems it didn't go well... She doesn't even want to mention them now..."

Keira sighed upon hearing this.

She said, "The people posting this advertisement are the Gill family."

Matias was stunned. "What? Which Gill family?"

He didn't dare assume it to be Austin's family.

Keira didn't say a word.

Matias slowly realized something. "You mean... that Gill family?"

Keira nodded.

Matias was stupefied.

He stared at Keira blankly, "Keera, don't joke with me about this! How could Nara... How could she be the missing daughter of the Gill family?"

As a distant member of the Gill family, Matias had also heard that the cherished young daughter of the first branch had been kidnapped.

And their lives had been affected because of this.

They were a collateral branch of the Gill family, originally living off the main branch. The main branch even established basic living allowances for the collateral branches.

After several divisions in the family, many distant relatives could barely maintain a living.

But ever since that little girl went missing, the allowance was canceled because Lady Gill spread the word that despite doing so many good deeds, no one was protecting her daughter!

Low-income people should strive to be self-reliant and not live like beggars!

After losing the allowance, Matias's family's life became more challenging because of his parents' low income.

After adopting Nara, they struggled to put food on the table. Later on, when both parents fell severely ill, Matias and Nara went to seek help from the head of the Gill family.

There used to be a subsidy for illnesses in the clan, and members could even take out loans and repay them later.

But when they went there, the clan head looked at them with an unspeakable expression and said, "The subsidy is also canceled. You have to figure it out for yourselves."

Without the money for surgery, the parents could only go home to await death.

After both parents passed away, Matias and Nara depended on each other even more; Matias dropped out of school early to work just to earn tuition and living expenses for Nara...

Suddenly, Matias felt like laughing.

In the mysterious workings of fate, he and Nara were brought together.

He chuckled softly and then looked up at Keira, wanting to say something but not knowing how to speak...

He suddenly understood Nara's guilt toward him and why she remained silent about knowing who her family was after finding out the truth.

Nara must feel she owed it to him!

Matias had tears in his eyes, and he held Keira's arm. "Come on, let's go to the market to find Nara!"

Nara was born a little princess in the Gill family, so she shouldn't have to suffer with him here.

Seeing Matias's reaction, Keira nodded and set out for the market with him.

But after a few steps, they ran into a neighbor rushing back quickly.

Upon seeing them, the neighbor shouted, "Matias, hurry up! Nara is in trouble!!"

...

The market.

Nara was shopping.

Being able to work for Nora and receive such a high internship salary was beyond her expectations, so she was delighted, and even her steps felt lighter.

But unexpectedly, she ran into an unwelcome visitor just as she approached the meat stall... Austin.

Austin, with a few thugs, was watching her from a distance while sucking on a lollipop with a smirk on his face.

Sensing his gaze, Nara instinctively stepped back and turned to leave.

But Austin gestured, and the little punks following him immediately rushed forward, blocking her path!

Nara turned stubbornly, glaring fiercely at the brother she didn't recognize.

Austin stared at her, sneering. "Nara, come with me!"

Nara immediately shook her head.

Austin said, "If you don't come quietly, I'll have to force you!"

After that, Austin gestured to the people around him. "Grab her for me!"

The bodyguards on either side immediately grabbed Nara's arms and dragged her toward a van parked nearby.

Nara struggled forcefully but couldn't break free.

The vendors around couldn't help but point and gossip. Intimidated by Austin's presence, no one dared to intervene.

Nara glared fiercely at Austin, unable to use sign language with her arms restrained. She spoke dryly, each word deliberate, "Why... are... you... doing... this?"

Austin scoffed.

Why?

Of course, it was because Jackson had received news about his sister!

But Jackson claimed he felt aggrieved and wanted to vent his frustrations on Nara. Only then would he tell Austin the information about his sister!

So, Nara would have to bear the torment for his sister's sake!

472 Chapter 471

But Austin couldn't explain and just looked down at Nara disdainfully. "Want to know why? You're not worthy!"

He got into the car, took his place in the passenger seat, and said, "Let's go!"

Meanwhile.

Keira and Matias arrived in a hurry!

They anxiously made their way to where Nara usually bought her groceries...

But they didn't notice that Austin's car had already driven past them...

As the car passed by, Nara saw the two of them. She desperately struggled to get their attention by banging on the window...

But as soon as she struggled, she was pinned down by someone's arm, and then a fierce slap landed squarely on her face!

"Move again, and I won't be so gentle!"

The slap was so hard that Nara's mind went blank, and she collapsed weakly into the seat.

Austin sneered, and the car drove off.

After Keira and Matias arrived at the grocery stall, they found chaos, and Nara's shopping basket was still on the ground.

Matias's pupils shrank, and he picked up the basket, asking, "Where's the young lady carrying this basket? Where is she?!"

A kind passerby said, "It seemed like she offended someone. She was just stuffed into a car and taken away!"

Just taken away...

Matias's legs went soft, and he almost collapsed to the ground!

He quickly turned to Keira. "Keira, help her!"

Keira looked at the people around her. "Who took her? Is she injured?"

"No, she looks fine!"

"Then it must be Austin! Not Jackson!" Keira realized something and looked directly at Matias. "Austin normally wouldn't target Nara. Jackson must have sent him, so they must have gone to the hospital now. Let's go there immediately!"

Matias nodded, "Okay!"

The two left the market, and only then did Keira realize how annoying it was that she hadn't brought Lewis with her today.

She didn't have a car ready!

They could only hail a taxi and rush to the hospital!

On the way, Matias said anxiously, "Who knows what they will do to Nara? What if she gets hurt? They dared to abduct someone in broad daylight so brazenly. It's as if they have no bottom line! Keira, what should we do?"

Keira took a deep breath. "Now I'll call Lady Gill to explain Nara's identity. She should be safe!"

She took out her phone and called Lady Gill, but the other party wouldn't pick up...

...

On the hospital rooftop.

Lady Gill was sitting in front of Jackson. "Have you found Barbara?"

Jackson stared at Lady Gill with a dark look. "Yes, I found her. Aunt, as long as you take care of Nara for me today, I will tell you where your daughter is!"

Jackson was furious.

After Nara was accepted into Nora Research Institute, Jackson became the butt of the joke!

He went online today and saw people mocking him.

—After all, he's from the second branch of the family. If it were a ban from the first branch, even the Nora Research Institute would probably have to give the Gill family that respect!

—Just a few days ago, he was bragging about making it impossible for Nara to make it in the medical field, and now he's been slapped in the face!

—King of Boasting! He bullied Nara back in the hospital! Now see? The truly capable don't fear such evil forces!

...

...

Each comment stabbed at Jackson's eyes, driving him nearly insane!

Why?

Why did Nara manage to get into Nora Research Institute?!

Today, he wanted to show these people what would happen when they offended him!

Jackson's eyes were frantic as he looked toward the entrance.

Austin had already gone to fetch Nara; soon, he would bring Nara back, and then, he would torment her!

After all, he had already found an impostor to replace Lady Gill's daughter...

By the time he was finished with Nara, Lady Gill would have to clean up the mess for him!

While he was thinking, Lady Gill's phone started ringing. It was a call from "Keera".

Lady Gill looked at her phone and remembered how "Keera" had left her house without a word earlier that day. She couldn't help but sneer and then rudely hung up.

No matter what "Keera" wanted to say, she was no longer willing to listen!

Just then, there was a noise at the entrance to the rooftop; everyone turned to see Austin striding in.

Behind him, Nara was dragged in by two bodyguards, who then threw her viciously in front of Jackson!

Nara looked at them in terror.

Her face still bore the mark of the slap. After being thrown down, she scrambled up, trying to run back the way she came.

Unfortunately, the entrance was blocked by the bodyguards.

Austin smiled. "Want to leave, huh?"

Nara immediately nodded.

Austin then said, "The entrance is blocked by the bodyguards, so you can't leave from there. We're not heartless people. We'll give you another way out. Want to know where it is?"

Nara was taken aback but nodded.

The next moment, Austin pointed to the rooftop. "You can jump off the roof! No one will stop you!"

473 Chapter 472

Nara's pupils shrank at those words.

She looked at Austin in disbelief before her gaze fell on Lady Gill. She knelt before the lady, crying and shaking her head pleadingly.

Nara was no fool.

At this life-or-death moment, she wouldn't continue to fight with them, so she stretched out her hands, gesturing, "I am your daughter! I am your daughter!"

Unfortunately, Lady Gill couldn't understand sign language.

She looked down at Nara, watching her frantically point at the two of them in turn, not knowing what she was trying to say.

For some reason, a sentence Helen said earlier flashed through Lady Gill's mind, "... Have you ever thought about the possibility that Barbara might have encountered people like you?"

Lady Gill hesitated a little in confronting this girl of her daughter's age.

She clenched her jaw and turned to Jackson, "... What exactly do you want to do with her?"

Jackson started speaking with a whimper. "Aunt, what can I do? I just called her over to have her apologize properly to me and let out this pent-up anger. That's all!"

He looked at Nara, suddenly laughing. "Aunt, I helped you find your Barbara. Surely, this request isn't too much, is it?"

Barbara...

Nara suddenly realized something and looked at Jackson!

He knew everything!

From the moment he stole her jade pendant, he had known everything!

And when he spoke those words, he looked directly at her, which meant he knew what was happening. He was doing it on purpose...

Nara trembled with rage and gestured, "I am Barbara! I am the one!"

Regrettably, Lady Gill and Austin couldn't understand her at all.

Lady Gill was about to say something, but Austin stepped forward, kicking Nara in the back, making her fall flat.

Her hands could no longer gesture anything.

Austin said, "Mom, we'll know my sister's whereabouts soon. Don't go soft now!"

Upon hearing this, Lady Gill withdrew her gaze and said fiercely, "Don't worry. I won't."

Nara fell into despair.

She opened her mouth, wanting to say something, but couldn't speak. She only struggled helplessly, pointing at herself, trying to tell them she was Barbara!

Jackson had long known what she was trying to say and even seemed to have understood her sign language. He curled his lips into a smile and said, "Nara, do you have something you want to say? What is it?"

Nara glared at him.

Austin, impatient, spoke again. "Jackson, just get on with what you want to do to her! After that, tell us about Barbara's news!"

When Nara heard this, she looked at Austin in shock, her eyes filled with fear and despair.

Seeing her expression, Austin stared at her. "Do you want to tell us to let you go? Forget it. That's impossible."

He crouched down and grabbed Nara's hair. "You'd better be a good girl and obey Jackson. Make him happy! That way, he will tell us the news about my sister, and you can leave... Otherwise, don't blame me for joining him against you!"

After saying this, he let go of Nara's head, letting her fall to the ground. Her forehead hit the cement floor, leaving a fresh bruise.

Stunned, she looked at Austin, then turned to Lady Gill.

Lady Gill said coldly, "Young lady, you better do as you're told. Make Jackson happy, get this ordeal over, and help us find our daughter!"

Austin nodded. "Exactly, for a lowly woman like you to have any connection with my sister is your good fortune! Hurry up... Jackson, what do you want to do?!"

Jackson laughed, "What do I want to do? I have been ruined because of her, so today, I'll ruin her too!"

After finishing his declaration, he pointed at Nara and demanded, "I want her to strip naked and stand right here! Let me have a good look!!"

At these words, Nara's pupils shrank!

Lady Gill frowned slightly, about to say something, but Austin held her shoulder. "Mom, I know you can't bear it, just don't look..."

Lady Gill stared at Nara.

She was indeed the same age as her daughter, and if it weren't for her daughter, she would never treat another girl like this...

But thinking of Barbara...

She turned around abruptly and commanded coldly, "Make it quick! Keep her alive."
novelbin

"Yes."

Upon hearing that, Jackson smiled.

He ordered the bodyguards, "What are you standing around for? Do it! Strip her naked! Tear all her clothes!"

With that command, several bodyguards immediately moved forward.

Nara shook all over, frightened by their appearance, yet desperately tried to move away.

She looked at them in terror, her eyes brimming with tears.

No, don't treat her like this...

No!

Nara sobbed inconsolably while waving her hands frantically but to no avail.

Her sign language and pleas for help to Austin and Lady Gill were completely ignored...

At that moment, she somewhat regretted it.

She didn't dare to acknowledge them out of stubbornness and had gotten herself into this situation...

As she retreated, she bumped into the wall behind her.

Bodyguards approached with lustful smiles, each one touching their chins while staring at her.

Nara crouched in horror, trying to push these people away, but it was useless!

Someone grabbed her arm and yanked her up forcefully while other hands began to touch her.

Nara struggled violently.

But she was no match for their strength...

She wept in despair, her mouth opening and closing, tasting what seemed like the flavor of rust in her throat...

Don't!

Mom! Brother!

Don't!

As those words rushed into Nara's head, she heard a "snap" as her sleeve was torn off. She finally cried out.

"Mom, I, I am Barbara!"

474 Chapter 473

As soon as she said that, the entire rooftop fell silent momentarily.

Even the bodyguards were stunned.

Lady Gill turned around sharply and looked at Nara, "What did you say?"

Austin also frowned and looked at her. "What 'Barbara'?"

Nara's voice was hoarse, and she felt a tearing pain. She opened her mouth and began speaking again, "Brother, I am..."

Unfortunately, she couldn't finish her sentence before Jackson loudly interjected, "I know you are from a side branch of the Gill family, but don't just casually claim someone as your brother! You don't deserve to address us that way!"

Those words stopped what Nara was going to say next.

She looked at him with anger...

Lady Gill frowned. "Enough, Jackson. It's indeed too much to ask someone to strip. Find another way!"

Displeasure flashed across Jackson's face, and although he wanted to say something, in the end, he lowered his eyes and said, "Aunt, I just want to vent my anger! You know, I have lost my ability to have children. That day, in the operating room, being gawked at by so many people, I was utterly humiliated! I want her to taste what it's like to be stripped bare for all to see!"

Lady Gill frowned again, about to say something, but Austin said, "Mom, let him be; don't interfere."

After that, he looked at the bodyguards and scolded them. "Are you guys going to do your job or not? Can you hurry up? Does the Gill family pay you to slack off? Or have you not practiced enough? You can't even restrain a girl! Put some muscle into it, strip her clothes off quickly, and don't delay my search for my sister!"

The bodyguards immediately stood straight and replied, "Yes, Mr. Gill!"

Austin's word was law to them.

A group of bodyguards once again turned their gaze toward Nara.

Seeing this, Nara closed her eyes in despair, knowing she couldn't escape this time.

Suddenly, she stood straight, took off her coat, and fiercely threw it on the ground.

Seeing this, the bodyguards didn't approach her and immediately announced, "Sir, look, she's stripping herself!"

Jackson's gaze lingered on her with lewdness, and a smile spread across his face.

Austin said disdainfully, "Wouldn't it have been better to do this earlier? You would have been more comfortable working with us, and you would have saved us so much effort! Hurry up and strip! Don't waste our time!"

Jackson also added with a laugh. "Yeah, hurry up and strip!"

He picked up his mobile phone, trying to take photos of Nara once she was undressed...

Nara clenched her fists tightly.

She placed her hands on the short-sleeve shirt, looking as though she was about to take it off any moment...

Underneath the short-sleeve, there must be only her underwear left...

Everyone laughed lewdly, visibly relaxing for a moment.

Just then!

Nara suddenly pushed the person before her and dashed to the side.

With a darkened face, Austin cursed, "Fuck! She's playing us, go get her!"

The men snapped back to reality and immediately gave chase, but the next moment, they were stunned.

Nara picked up a rusty iron rod and waved it at them, screaming, "Aaah! Aaah! Aaah!"

The bodyguards didn't dare to approach.

The iron rod was rusty, and a scratch might lead to tetanus. Moreover, the rod looked very heavy, and a blow from it was sure to hurt!

Nara's hands were quivering slightly...

Jackson couldn't help but curse, "Useless, all of you are useless!"

Austin then said, "Don't worry. I'm here, aren't I? You can be assured. I'll let you have your revenge today!"

After that, he pushed through the crowd and stepped forward, getting right in front of Nara.

He stared at Nara determinedly, his eyes filled with resolve. "That rod is heavy, isn't it? But let me tell you, I'm not afraid! If you dare to hit me, then aim right here!"

Austin pointed at his forehead. "If you're not afraid of taking a life, aim right here and hit. I think one swing will be enough to send my brains flying!"

Nara's eyes widened in shock, seemingly not expecting Austin to be so fearless.

She held the rod, still aiming it at Austin...

Courage grew in the face of desperation, and right now, she could land a blow on anyone who rushed up to her!

Even if the Gill family sought retribution later, she was ready to face it!

And she would not be butchered here without a fight!

Nara swung the iron rod and struck it squarely on Austin's arm, the pain changing his expression.

But he didn't stop.

He couldn't wait any longer; he must subdue Nara to satisfy Jackson.

He was determined to see his sister today...

Thinking of this, Austin took another step forward. "Hit me then. Don't hit my arm. You hit my arm, and at most, it'll hurt for a moment. If you have the guts, hit me here!"

He tapped his head again!

Seeing this, Lady Gill couldn't help but yell, "Austin, don't act rashly!"

"I'm not acting rashly! I think she doesn't dare! Nara, if you don't dare to hit me, just undress obediently. Don't fucking waste our time here!"

After saying that, Austin took another step forward.

Nara retreated in terror and, without hesitation, swung the rod hard toward Austin's head!

She thought Austin would dodge. She merely wanted to force him to back off, not expecting him to stand still and hold his ground.

"Bang!"

The rod struck Austin's head.

Nara was dumbfounded.

She slowly opened her eyes, only to see blood trickling down from Austin's head...

Nara's pupils shrank. At the last moment, she just couldn't bring herself to strike down hard...

But no sooner had this thought crossed her mind than she heard Lady Gill roar furiously, "How dare you!"

475 Chapter 474

Nara's eyes bulged.

She wanted to hold onto the iron rod, but before she made any move, Austin had already swiftly reached out to grab it. He then glared at her fiercely and with one forceful tug, snatched the rod away!

Immediately after that, Austin threw the rod to the bodyguards behind him.

With no weapon in her hands, Nara was surrounded by the other bodyguards, trapped in their midst. She tried to escape, but the bodyguards caught her again. novelbin

Lady Gill also rushed in front of Austin, looking at him anxiously. "Are you alright?"

Austin nodded. "Mom, I'm fine."

Lady Gill immediately glared at Nara. "You dared to lay a hand on my Austin?!"

Nara bit her lips hard.

Couldn't Lady Gill tell why she attacked him? She was just defending herself!

Even in the last moment, she had loosened her grip; otherwise, that blow would have definitely cracked Austin's skull, and he would have lost his life!

Nara crouched down painfully, covering her head with her hands.

She didn't understand why she had softened at the last moment...

Even though her mother and brother had been so cruel to her, so cruel... yet she still couldn't bring herself to seriously harm her brother...

At this moment, Nara was utterly despondent.

Seeing her like this only fueled the fury in Lady Gill's eyes. She immediately looked at Austin. "Go get someone to bandage your wound."

Austin shook his head. "That can wait, Mom. Just deal with this woman quickly."

Lady Gill took a deep breath.

Suddenly she stepped forward and gestured with a wave of her hand to the two bodyguards holding Nara. "You two, stand back!"

The two bodyguards stepped aside.

Lady Gill then coldly looked at Nara.

Nara slowly raised her head to look at her, her eyes filled with hatred.

Lady Gill didn't care what she was thinking. She simply pointed to the rooftop side and said in a cold and heartless tone. "You now only have two choices. One, take off your clothes willingly. Two, jump off this roof!"

Nara's eyes widened, looking incredulously at her.

Lady Gill glared at her. "You dared to attack my son. I won't let you off today! Nara, I'll give you ten seconds to think. If you don't make a decision by the time I finish counting, don't blame me for not being courteous!"

After saying that, she began to count down while looking at Nara.

"Ten..."

"Nine..."

...

Downstairs at the hospital.

Keira and Matias arrived in a taxi.

After getting out of the car, Matias yelled, "You go first! Don't worry about me. I can't run fast enough!"

His leg was injured, and he obviously couldn't move quickly.

Hearing this, Keira didn't hesitate and ran straight toward the inpatient department.

She charged into Jackson's hospital room but didn't see Jackson there. She quickly grabbed a passing doctor. "Where did Jackson go?"

The doctor was slightly stunned. "I think he's on the rooftop."

The rooftop...

Keira's pupils shrank.

She immediately ran toward the stairwell and began to climb the stairs as fast as she could.

"Nara, you must hold on!"

"Wait for me!"

On the rooftop.

Lady Gill was still glaring at Nara, continuing the countdown

"Five..."

"Four..."

In the stairwell, Keira was running hard, hearing the countdown from Lady Gill, but not knowing what was happening.

But it definitely wasn't anything good!

There was a hint of panic in her head as she rushed to the stairwell entrance, just in time to hear Lady Gill continue the countdown.

"Two..."

"One!"

Keira felt a jolt of panic.

At the rooftop.

Nara looked at Lady Gill.

Her eyes held not a single ripple; she was just quietly staring at her mother.

This woman, blinded by hatred, was no longer the same kind and gentle mother from her childhood memories...

Her gaze was full of resentment, carrying an unresolvable fury.

Nara's jaw tensed. Her gaze fell on Austin once again, then she swept her gaze over the bodyguards, and finally, she looked at Jackson.

Jackson was staring at her with a smirk, his face full of smug triumph.

Nara closed her eyes in despair.

How could she... have a mother and brother like this...

To force a young woman to strip in front of an audience...

She wouldn't do it.

As Nara thought of this, she let out a miserable chuckle.

She heard Lady Gill's voice as if it was coming from a faraway place and yet as if it was right next to her ear. "The countdown is over, Nara. Since you didn't choose, the bodyguards won't have to hold back anymore. Strip her clothes off right now, immediately!"

In Nara's mind, it was as if a gentle conversation flashed by, still Lady Gill's voice, "My precious Barbara, all the most beautiful clothes in the world are yours..."

Nara let out a miserable smile.

Suddenly, she broke free from the bodyguards on both sides and rushed to the edge of the rooftop!

She took one last look at Lady Gill and Austin.

"Mom, brother, goodbye!"

"I never want to see you again!"

With that thought, she leaped forward and jumped over the edge.

Lady Gill, upon seeing that last glance, felt an inexplicable panic in her chest, but she quickly calmed down.

Austin said in a panic, "Mom, she jumped!"

Lady Gill's gaze turned ice-cold as she said, "This is only the fourth floor; she'll live. What's there to be afraid of?!"

Then she turned to Jackson. "There, are you happy now?"

Jackson nodded.

Lady Gill then demanded, "So now you can tell me where my daughter is, right?"

Austin also shouted, "Right, she's already jumped; tell us, where's my sister?"

Almost as soon as they said those words, Keira's cry came from the rooftop entrance. "Lady Gill, have mercy! Nara is your biological daughter!!"