

My Accidental Husband is a Billionaire !

594 Chapter 593

Susan's eyes widened in shock as she realized she had been tricked!

Like a madwoman, she leaped up from the ground and charged toward Keira, reaching out to strangle the latter, "Liar, you deceived me!"

Just as her hand was about to touch Keira, two feet suddenly kicked out, one from the left and one from the right, sending Susan flying!

Keira looked to her left and saw Lewis.

She then looked to the right and saw Holly.

She coughed.

Holly didn't look at her but waved to the people outside, "Take her away!"

Immediately, someone came and dragged Susan out. VlssiT n0(v)eL/b(i)(n).com for the best novel reading experience

Holly then turned to Keira. "Do you have anything to say to me?"

Keira hadn't expected Holly to be so direct and sighed slightly, "Holly, I..."

Before she could finish, Holly cut her off. "Who else do you want to arrest?"

Keira was taken aback. "What?"

"I'm asking, who is Fox? Don't we need to arrest them as well?"

"..."

Keira stared at Holly, and as their eyes met, she understood Holly's intentions.

Holly knew that Keira was now disguised as someone else and didn't ask for reasons—she simply played along.

Keira suddenly smiled. "Of course, we need to. We're law-abiding citizens, after all!"

After that, she took out Susan's phone. "This has all the evidence of Fox leading people to commit crimes. With this, we can definitely catch them!"

"Alright, let's go!"

A large group of people marched out in a grand procession.

Holly got into the same car as Keira.

Once the car started moving, Holly finally looked over at her. "You're not hurt, are you?"

"No, I'm fine."

Keira replied, "And you? What brings you to Clance?"

"My dad transferred me here. He said it's not good for a girl to be around corpses all the time and told me to change the environment and clear my head."

As to why she needed to clear her head, Holly didn't say, but Keira immediately understood.

It was because of her "death", wasn't it?

The death of her best friend at sea must have been very hard for Holly.

Keira had thought that her life was tough and that she had few friends. Even when living under her sister's identity, not many people cared about her.

But unexpectedly, there were so many people who remembered her.

She felt a sudden emotion welling up inside of her.

As she pondered, her phone buzzed with a message.

She took it out and saw a message from Matthew.

Ever since the last time she had exposed his identity as Keira's Guardian, Matthew no longer contacted her in secret. He sent her a message. "It seems you already find a way to complete the third task!"

Keira knew that, somehow, he was always monitoring her.

She frowned her brow and replied, "Yes. After it's completed, can we then rescue my mom from the South family?"

Matthew wrote, "I think so."

Keira let out a slight sigh of relief, then looked back at Holly.

To rescue her mother, she had to remain incognito and let "Keira" remain dead, but once her mother was rescued, she could come back to life...

After all, Keira also had many good friends waiting for her return.

Thinking of this, Keira took Holly's hand.

The car soon arrived at the Martin residence.

Upon seeing Keira entering with a group of special division agents, the people of the Martin family fell into a panic, and Scott frowned. "Miss Olsen, what's the meaning of this?"

Old Mr. Martin also frowned. "Miss Keera, are you trying to sever all your ties with the Martin family?"

Vera, who had followed out to enjoy the commotion, couldn't help but snicker. "This is really interesting... Keera, just how foolish can you be? Do you have evidence that the Martin family poisoned your father? Are you here to search the house?"

She stepped forward toward Keira. "You even dared to call the police, which is utterly unreasonable! Do you think you'll get the antidote by arresting everyone from the Martin family?"

She took a step back and burst into loud laughter. "Did you know? The Martin family's house in Clance has a room specifically for collecting medicine. The medicine you're looking for is in a little compartment with a thousand bottles! Can you accurately find the antidote you need from those bottles?"

She had a smug look in her eyes. "I didn't expect you to be so dumb. Calling the police... That move really makes me laugh my head off!"

Vera spoke arrogantly.

Then she turned to old Mr. Martin and said, "Look at this foolish act. You still want to align with her? What good end can you expect from that? Mr. Martin, you should know how to choose now, right?"

Keira looked steadily at her. "Are you done talking? Then it's time to make arrests!"

As she spoke, she pointed at Vera. "She's the one known as Fox on the internet!"

No sooner had the words left her lips than Vera's pupils suddenly shrank!

Vera stared at Keira, the smile on her face freezing instantly.

She asked in disbelief, "Keera, do you think I'm going to admit it just because you say that? You can't possibly have evidence!"

Keira narrowed her eyes and let out a cold laugh. "Susan has already betrayed you. Do you think she's that foolish? Do you think she left no evidence every time you gave her a task?"

At this point, Keira took Susan's phone out and showed it to Vera. "Everything is here—all your chat records and messages, and even the transaction records. Vera, you won't get away with it this time!"

Vera clenched her jaw. "That bitch!"

Keira immediately looked at Holly.

Holly stepped forward. "Miss Vera, we suspect you're involved in a premeditated murder case. Please come back with us for an investigation!"

Vera clenched her fists, shaking with rage, and then sneered. "Keera, you think you can arrest me with just that bit of evidence? Let me tell you, you are too optimistic!"

Without waiting for Keira to speak, Holly said, "Miss Vera, you're coming with us! If you dare resist, we can arrest you immediately!"

Vera took a deep breath before extending her hands, and Holly cuffed her without hesitation.

Then, she looked at Keira.

Keira said, "Go ahead and take her outside. Wait for me there."

Holly nodded and pushed Vera. "Out you go."

Vera's gaze slid from Holly to Keira. She then realized something. "You're all in this together?"

Holly said coldly, "Move it!"

Struggling, but with her hands cuffed, Vera seemed to understand something and shouted, "Fine, I didn't expect you to be in cahoots! Don't touch me! I'm telling you, I don't know any Fox! I'm not that Fox!"

Holly said, "Miss Vera, in our recent conversation, it seems we never mentioned that we would arrest Fox. How would you know we're after them?"

Vera was speechless.

Holly sneered and said to someone beside her, "Take note of this. It can also serve as evidence!"

"Yes."

As they talked, Holly pushed Vera out the door.

Only then did Keira turn to look at the already shocked old Mr. Martin. She stepped forward and said, "Mr. Martin, Vera has been arrested. She's finished, so are you sure you still want to hold onto the antidote?"

Old Mr. Martin's complexion changed several times before he finally said calmly, "I need to think about it."

"All right."

Keira said, "The poison in my father will take effect in six days. You have five days to consider."

The frown returned to old Mr. Martin's brow. "Tonight, my testing equipment will arrive. Miss Keira, I hope you can come tomorrow so we can verify the DNA."

Upon hearing this, Keira paused for a moment, then looked at old Mr. Martin. "Okay."

After all, she had to explain to him why she had assumed the identity of his granddaughter.

Tonight, she would interrogate Vera with Holly overnight to confirm her crimes. That way, even if tomorrow's test results were false, the Martin family would have no other choice but to cooperate with her!

Thinking of this, Keira walked out the door and indeed saw Holly and Vera standing off in the distance.

With her emotions running high, Vera was saying something while Holly laughed coldly and dismissively without a word.

When Keira approached, Holly said, "Let's head back. According to Crera's laws, we can't resolve justice in our own hands."

Keira knew Holly was always strict about following the rules, so she nodded.

She had no intention of doing anything unlawful either.

With quite a few people around, Vera was placed in a vehicle at the front by other police forces from the special department. Keira said, "I'll ride in the same car as her."

Vera sneered. "What? Afraid I'm going to run away?"

Keira replied, "You're skilled, so that's indeed a possibility. Also, I'm worried someone might come to rescue you."

If Vera escaped and left Crera, they'd never catch her, considering the South family's secretive nature.

Having caught her with difficulty, Keira certainly didn't want to let her slip away.

Holly also said, "Then I'll ride with you guys, too."

Keira nodded and then got into the car.

Exiting the doorway, she saw Lewis's car waiting nearby as if escorting them. The corners of Keira's mouth slightly curled up.

Once again, he knew exactly what she needed.

The group remained vigilant until, half an hour later, the car stopped outside the special department.

Keira received a call from Lewis, "Vera indeed has some influence. There were several attempts to hijack the vehicle and rescue her during the escort, all thwarted by our people."

At those words, Keira immediately looked at Vera.

If Vera tried to hijack a vehicle in Crera, she must be at her wits' end.

Good, the upcoming interrogation session would be her stage!

Keira had to find out what precisely the South family did and peel back the mysterious veil of the South family!

The Novel will be updated first on this website. Come back and continue reading tomorrow, everyone!