

Chapter 2359

"Edwin Mendoza, make a call!

"Let Elder Mendoza bring the team to the pier!

"And call some reporters to come over!

"Just say that St. Hope, the gambling cruise of the Yates family of America, isn't willing to lose, and even framing the gamblers by saying that they cheated!

"If they failed to frame them, then they will forcefully suppress the gamblers!

"Expose this scene. We'll see if anyone is willing to come to play at the Casino Palace under the Yates family of America from today onward!

"Since Young Master Yates wants to act ruthlessly, then we'll play along with him!"

Harvey York scolded while giving out a dozen slaps, hitting Harrison Yates until his face was swollen, looking hideous.

He was not afraid of death, but if the reputation of the Yates family of America had plummeted internationally because of this, how could they still make money in Night City?

Edwin was stunned for a moment. He quickly took out his mobile phone after that and made a call because he could also feel that the gambling cruise had started moving.

Although he didn't know who controlled the gambling cruise since it had entered the waters of the great Country H, the jurisdiction of this place was now in Las Vegas.

After being slapped by Harvey several times, Harrison became angry and was full of killing intent toward Harvey. He was even prepared to kill Harvey at any cost.

His heart unconsciously sank after hearing Harvey's orders.

It was true that the Yates family of America was hawkish. They had always been powerful and could crush anyone. They didn't have much problem oppressing others globally.

However, there was one thing that must never happen, letting a scandal that could affect the gambling business be spread out.

As long as the words "Isn't willing to lose" became a piece of news and was spread to the global community, the competitors of the Yates family of America in Las Vegas would certainly hype it and even took this opportunity to reap the profits gained by them in Night City.

In short, what Harvey did was more terrifying than killing Harrison or using a powerful benefactor to suppress them.

This was because once the benefits of Night City were compromised, it might also affect the status of the Yates family in America.

The wealthy ones had no attachment, and they only looked into benefits.

Moreover, Christian Hamilton naturally knew the repercussions of this incident, and he was from the Hamiltons of Las Vegas. If this matter were spread out, the status of the Hamiltons in Las Vegas would also be shaken.

At this moment, Christian swiftly retorted, "York, stop persisting with these outrageous accusations. You're the ones who cheated, and we were just forced to hit back at you. Stop trying to make us guilty with some false accusations!

"I'm just doing things according to the law of the streets when I hit you back!

"Even Paul Mendoza is here. He can't say that we're wrong, let alone the media!"

"Really?" Harvey looked indifferent, "While we were fighting against each other, I have already asked one of my men to go to the monitoring room to retrieve the surveillance video.

"This subordinate of mine has no other skills, but he's very good at engaging with intel.

"As long as he is willing, he could just spread out the truth of what happened today to the nobles worldwide with just a single phone call.

"If you aren't afraid, just let Paul come over. Also, you can even call over the police of Las Vegas and the reporters!

"You can also call Interpol here! We won't have a problem with that!

"Let's all witness the truth of this incident together!"

Harvey took out his mobile phone while speaking. He then played a video sent by George in front of Harrison.

Harrison's expression slightly changed.

As for Christian, his face instantly became dark and horrible, as if he had eaten sh*t.

"Why? Do you still want us to rally people?"

Chapter 2360

The atmosphere was tense. Harrison Yates took a deep breath while looking at Harvey York's noncommittal smile and forced himself to calm down.

"Brat, you are so relentless. You really got me there!"

Both Yoana Mendoza and Edwin Mendoza looked at him coldly after he said this.

Harrison was obviously unwilling, but still, he took a deep breath. He then looked at the group of subordinates and coldly gave out an order, "Get out of the way. Let them go. No one is allowed to stop them!"

He was hesitant to let Harvey go, but he also knew the consequences if he continued to meddle in this matter.

Slap! Harvey then slapped Harrison again and replied coldly, "You want us to leave. Why should we listen to you?"

"Who do you think you are?"

"Showing me your attitude!"

Harrison's eyelids twitched. After a while, he spoke to Yoana, "Miss Yoana, I'm sorry, everything is a misunderstanding.

"I sincerely apologize for what happened today. You can also take the three hundred million with you.

"Then we get an end to this."

Harvey said indifferently, "That's not enough."

Harrison's eyes flickered. His eyes then fell on Falcon after a while. He gritted his teeth and said, "Destroy him!"

Falcon had a ferocious look on his face. However, he still walked before Christian Hamilton. Falcon then twisted both of Christian's hands while still in disbelief.

Crack.

With a crisp sound, both of Christian's hands were broken. He instantly collapsed on the ground and wailed incessantly.

This was the rule of the streets. Whoever framed others up by cheating would have their hands destroyed!

"Also, another small matter needs your help, Young Master Yates."

Harvey took out a stack of chips from his pocket and threw them on the ground.

"The general gambling chip in the casino is fifty billion yen. Please help me cash it in for me, Young Master Yates."

Harrison glanced at it and gritted his teeth. He said, "Harvey, don't joke about this. These chips are the ones from Shindan Way. They have long lost their value..."

"I've already told you to please help cash them in for me. Are you unwilling to help, Young Master Yates?" asked Harvey coldly.

Harrison's eyelids twitched while looking at Harvey's expression. After a while, he took out a check and signed his name on it.

He had repeatedly made concessions today. Since things had reached this point, how could he let all his work be in vain? So, he could only do it.

"Young Master Yates is indeed very open-minded. These fifty billion yen, just take it as a lesson for you, letting you know that there are some people that you, the Yates family of America, can't offend!"

Slap!

Harvey slapped Harrison after he finished speaking, making him fly off instantly. Harvey then casually turned around and left the scene.

A yacht was docked at the pier of Las Vegas.

Harvey didn't leave in a hurry. Instead, he took out a bottle of soda and drank it after reaching ashore.

Yoana and Edwin got off the yacht together. They looked at Harvey with a complicated expression at the moment.

Yoana never expected that Harvey, a man who needed to butter up the Mendoza family, would be so domineering.

He had no intention of backing away even while facing Christian and Harrison.

At least in Yoana's perception, even the Four Young Masters of Hong Kong might not dare to do such things.

After staring at Harvey for a long time, Yoana said, "Young Master York, thank you. Also, I apologize for what happened at the police station."

Harvey shook his head and said indifferently, "Edwin is with me. So, your business is also mine. There's no need for apologies."

Yoana sighed and said, "If it weren't for you tonight, I'm afraid the Mendoza family would be in big trouble."

Yoana had a look of fear while she said this.

She was not afraid of scum like Christian, but the horrifying one was actually Harrison.

Chapter 2361

After a slight hesitation, Harvey York asked, "What's the situation tonight? Logically speaking, even if there is a so-called credit note, you still wouldn't go to the gambling cruise and play, right? Moreover, you even have to play billions in one go?"

Harvey already knew the whole story, but he had not quite figured out Yoana Mendoza's purpose for doing all this.

Yoana glanced at Edwin Mendoza and then said solemnly, "There are two purposes.

"One is to settle Edwin's debt completely. In Las Vegas, reputation is critical. You must repay it as long as you owe a debt."

"So, I want to take advantage of tonight to find out how deep Edwin is in debt and then solve this problem completely.

"Second, the sudden appearance of this credit note that had Edwin's name on is deliberately arranged by someone else. I want to see who wants to attack the Mendoza family.

"After all, the Mendoza family has been walking on eggshells over the years. It is even riskier since my father has taken over the position of the first-in-command of Las Vegas.

"It's a good thing to use some crafty means sometimes to snuff out the enemy in the dark.

"Originally, these two things went quite well. Unexpectedly, on the gambling cruise, Christian refused to admit defeat, disgracing the Hamiltons of Las Vegas."

Yoana sighed when she said this with an inexplicable look.

Harvey thought for a while and then said, "Miss Mendoza, have you thought about a crucial question here?"

"That is, why did the credit note coincidentally appear?"

"As soon as the credit note appeared, St. Hope appeared.

"Moreover, there are so many casino palaces in Las Vegas. You can just simply bet at any casino palace, and your safety is ensured.

"But, why must you board on St. Hope and put yourself in danger?"

This was Harvey's biggest doubt. This was because everything was coincidental, whether it was Yoana boarding onto the gambling cruise or Edwin asking him for help.

Harvey believed that someone might be setting up those scenarios.

Yoana and Edwin exchanged glances. Edwin said softly after a while, "CEO York, it's my fault.

"I met a socialite during a business dinner three days ago, and she would send me messages daily.

"Today, it was she who told me that a gambling cruise called St. Hope would be docked in Macao. She said if I'm interested, I could go and have a look.

"She also mentioned that although the Hamiltons held the shares of St. Hope, the true owner is actually the Yates family of America.

"Even if I go there, no one will know me.

"So, when my sister was looking for a casino, I inadvertently brought her here.

"It's just that we never expected we would meet Christian Hamilton here."

Yoana took a deep breath and said, "I know Christian's behavior very well. Thus, I tried luring him while playing cards, wanting to settle Edwin's debt all at once. Who knows..."

Yoana sighed when she said this. She could only say that both sides were setting each other up.

If Harvey had not taken action this time, the Mendoza family would have suffered a big loss.

Harvey thought for a while and said, "Edwin, what's the name of that socialite?"

"Freya Goddard..." replied Edwin softly.

Harvey then unconsciously frowned. He felt an air of familiarity with that name, but it seemed that he had never met with such a person.

Chapter 2362

Early morning the following day, Harvey York, who was sleeping in the villa, was woken up.

Edwin Mendoza waited anxiously in the living room. He instantly stood up as Harvey came out and exclaimed, "CEO York, something has happened."

Harvey was slightly taken aback. He then asked, "What happened?"

"Anything else about what happened last night?"

Edwin gave out a bitter smile and said, "Just half an hour ago. St Hope, which was docked at the pier of Las Vegas, was busted.

"Not only did they close down tens of billions of chips at the scene, but they also arrested Christian Hamilton, Harrison Yates, and others.

"The entire upper class of Las Vegas is in a total mess right now!

"This is because the identities of these two people are exceptional."

Harvey slightly frowned and said solemnly, "What's the reason for the shutdown?"

"It's illegal to open a casino without the casino license in Las Vegas.

"However, in the past, when the gambling cruise came, the police station would turn a blind eye as long as they didn't do any business because this was already the common rule.

"But this time, someone certainly broke this rule. Things have gotten all complicated..."

Edwin had a horrible look on his face.

Harvey slightly frowned. He had thought of an idea last night and was going to take advantage of this incident to teach the Yates family of America a lesson.

However, he still had not decided whether to do it or not. It turned out that someone had already done it before him. Not only was St. Hope closed, but both Christian and Harrison were also arrested.

"Interesting..."

Harvey said indifferently.

"Someone is trying to set me up to take the fall. Harrison will certainly blame me for this."

"This is the most troublesome thing." Edwin nodded. "CEO York, the conflict between us was too great last night. The matter was just resolved, and when they thought they could relax, they were already seized.

"Everyone will think that we are the ones behind this.

"Moreover, wanting to raid St. Hope, this isn't something that ordinary nobles could do.

"The ones who raided are from Las Vegas Police Station. In the end, they would eventually be suspicious of you, CEO York."

Harvey thought for a while and inquired, "Did your sister go to the police station? Did she find out who was leading the team?"

Edwin nodded and said, "The person who took action was the first-in-command of Las Vegas Police Station. He has always been neutral, and he doesn't favor anyone.

"According to him, a small team under Las Vegas Police Station got a report, saying that someone illegally set up a private casino, violating the law of Las Vegas.

"After receiving the report, the squad leader contacts the first-in-command of Las Vegas Police Station at night. However, the first-in-command didn't ask about many details since it was already late at night and immediately signed a search warrant.

"Then, there was this scene of raiding the gambling cruise, St. Hope."

"Moreover, it was a successful raid. Not only did they find enough evidence, but also because there were reporters at the scene when they were handling the case..."

"This case has been confirmed, and no one can retract it!"

Harvey smiled lightly, "The search warrant was issued in the middle of the night? The reporters even filmed the whole thing when they took action?"

"I'm guessing that the media in Hong Kong and Las Vegas has also exposed this major case this morning, and they even praised the security of Las Vegas."

Edwin was stunned for a moment and said, "CEO York, how did you know?"

Harvey said indifferently, "It's straightforward. All these are interlinked, and the steps are cautiously executed just to ruin St. Hope.

"On the bright side, the one who did it is indeed very powerful in Las Vegas, and he is seeking justice!

"If I hadn't known that I slept all night yesterday, I would have suspected that I was the one behind the scenes."
