Chapter 21 Pierce Isn't the Father

People looked over.

Derick stood there with a sneer on his cold face. He held a mobile phone, which was recording. It had lasted for a while.

Emelia immediately dropped to the ground again. Her face was ghastly pale. Emelia grabbed her clothes tight with her hands.

Then, Emelia closed her eyes and fainted.

The minute Pierce raised his head and saw Derick, the look on his face was stiff. Pierce squinted his eyes, looking at Derick sharply.

“Derick?”

It looked like Pierce knew about Derick's whereabouts.

“Long time no see, Mr. Clement. No, we haven't met before.”

A deep look flashed through Derick's eyes. With a polite smile, Derick deliberately acted not so cold and looked gentle.

Derick's and Pierce's eyes looked alike. But at that moment, it was very easy to tell their big difference.

Pierce looked indifferent and cold.

Derick was mysterious and deep. People couldn't see him through or get close to him.

The next second, Derick put his phone down and strode over to Sophia. He directly handed his phone to Sophia.

Chapter 21 Pierce Isn't the Father

"I recorded it all. I think you need this."

Derick had no intention of saying more to Pierce.

Sophia paused and was a little surprised. Then, she smiled at Derick gratefully.

"Thank you, but no. I don't need to explain to anyone."

Sophia chuckled. Then, she turned around and left, not even taking a look at Pierce.

Derick raised a slight smile and then followed her.

The next second.

Derick suddenly held Sophia's shoulders. Sophia's body turned stiff. When she wanted to stay away, Derick said in a low voice.

"Don't you want to get rid of that woman?"

Sophia paused for a moment.

She tilted her head, gazing at Derick coolly with her bright eyes.

Derick seemed to know something.

He raised a grin casually. His eyes were so deep that Sophia couldn't figure out what he was thinking.

"Let me help you."

After getting out, Sophia stood there still, and Derick let go of her shoulders. They were distant and polite again.

Sophia looked at Derick with a faint smile.

"Mr. Woodward, you must have done a lot of research before you came

Chapter 21 Pierce Isn't the Father

to Zennland.”

Otherwise, Derick wouldn't have recorded everything with his phone.

Derick stroked his eyebrow. His eyes were as deep as the sea.

“I want to protect you.”

Derick suddenly said that. Sophia wasn't moved. She just looked at his face.

There seemed to be deep affection in Derick's eyes. But it looked deliberate. Sophia chuckled and looked away.

“Mr. Woodward, I can deal with my own stuff. You don't need to worry.”

Then, Sophia turned around and was about to leave.

Derick followed her, speaking in a gentle and deep voice.

“Pierce isn't the father of Emelia's son.”

Sophia suddenly stopped. Her expression changed a little. Sophia looked back at Derick in shock.

Derick walked to Sophia and stood in front of her calmly. His tall figure cast a shadow over her. Derick raised a sneer.

“They are all lying to you. Only you got hurt because of the lies. Ms. Cruise, I really want to help you.”

“What do you know?”

Sophia was trembling all over slightly. She calmed down and looked at Derick.

Sophia wondered, “Pierce isn't the father of Emelia's kid?”

Chapter 21 Pierce isn't the father

“How is that possible?”

“Why would Pierce raise another man’s kid?”

“How ridiculous!”

Derick seemed to have a lot of secrets. Sophia felt like he was a dangerous man, but she really wanted to know the truth.

Derick laughed. It seemed that he knew how Sophia would react.

“I know a lot, Ms. Cruise. If you don’t believe me, you can find a chance to verify the fact.”

Derick looked back at the hospital’s gate with a smile. His eyelashes cast shadows over his eyes. Sophia couldn’t tell what Derick was thinking.

Derick’s driver happened to come to pick Derick up. Derick nodded, got into the car, and then left.

Sophia stood there still for a while. When she was about to get into her car, Pierce’s cold voice came behind her.

“Why were you with Derick?”

Emelia was injured. Pierce asked Devan to send her to the ward and didn’t listen to Sophia’s extra explanation.

Thinking of how Derick held Sophia’s shoulders and left with her just now, Pierce wondered when they had become so close.

He thought, “Maybe they did it on purpose to irritate me.”

Pierce had mixed feelings. He was anxious and upset, but he couldn’t vent them

Chapter 21 Pierce isn’t the Father

Sophia’s face was a little pale. She didn’t want to talk to Derick.

What Derick said just now was shocking.

Sophia wanted to know if it was true.

She

restrained her emotions. Sophia opened the door. But before she got into the car, the door was held by Pierce.

“He isn’t a good person. You’d better stay away from him.”

Pierce’s voice was deep. It sounded like he was warning Sophia.

Sophia glanced at him expressionlessly and replied in a cold tone.

“It’s none of your business.”

With some strength, Sophia closed the door directly. Without taking another look at Pierce, she started the car.

Sophia had no feelings for Pierce, but she wanted to know the truth. What was real?

Besides, Sophia wouldn’t let them live easily.

Sophia went back to the company. After a while of hesitation, she called the director of the hospital.

Luke was in the hospital. It was easy to get his blood and hair.

But it was tough to get Pierce’s. Pierce got bodyguards around him and had a personal doctor. Sophia had to figure out a way.

While Sophia was thinking, someone knocked on the door.

Before Sophia answered the door, the person directly came in.

It was George Cooper, a golden agent in the company with long hair.

Gogo was very famous in the fashion business and had helped many big celebrities grow. So, he was certainly arrogant

Sophia was a little surprised. She looked up at George.

George suid sorry to interrupt Sophia, but he didn't look sorry at all. Instead, he didn't ev en look at Sophia. George was impatient and impolite. His voice was sharp and effèmin ate.

“This is the name list of the show that is coming. The TV station gave us four parts. Ms. Cruise, please sign it quickly. I need to take it to the s tation.”

George threw the file on Sophia's desk and sat in the chair opposite her. He said no mo re and obviously wanted Sophia to sign it quickly.

It seemed that George didn't respect Sophia at all.

After a pause. Sophia opened the list with a smile.

She saw Emelia's name. However, Monica's name wasn't on it. Monica was the girl who posted the video online.

Sophia squinted her eyes and closed the list calmly.

“Why is Emelia's name on the list? Why isn't there Monica's name?”

Sophia was very dissatisfied.

Emelia almost ruined the whole showbiz. If Eagle Entertainment still gave her work, the company would be everyone's target.

George played with his phone and took an impatient look at Sophia. He touched his big floral earring casually and spoke in a flat tone. George sounded anxious and seemed to be complaining.

“Monica recorded the party secretly. It’s a taboo in this business. Besides, she is just normal and doesn’t have a promising future.

“On the contrary, a lot of people pay attention to Emelia now. If she is on the show, the show’s ratings will skyrocket.”

Sophia withdrew her gaze coolly.

“I asked Monica to post the video. I don’t think she is just normal. Kick Emelia out, and let Monica in. Otherwise, I won’t sign my name.”

Sophia closed the file indifferently.

George banged his phone on the table impatiently and couldn’t contain his anger anymore. His effeminate voice became sharp and harsh. George banged the table heavily.

“Ms. Cruise, who do you think you are? You know nothing about showbiz and don’t give me stupid orders.”

Sophia raised a sneer.

“I’m in charge, so you must obey my orders.”

The look on George’s face instantly became ugly. George quickly twisted his waist and stood up. He held his waist with one hand and

- fanned himself with the other. It looked like Sophia made him furious. George said sarcastically with his unpleasant voice.

“The fact is Emelia has the president of the Clement Group at her back. We can’t afford to offend her.

Chapter 23 Emelia Is Out

George thought Sophia was like those useless women he had met and that Sophia took his place. Of course, he wouldn't obey Sophia's orders.

Sophia frowned and raised her eyes to look at George coldly.

"You can say that when Eagle Entertainment is Pierce's company. Now, I am in charge."

George was pissed off. He walked around, twisting his waist. His face twitched, and his voice was higher. George directly threatened Sophia.

“I’m telling you. I quit! Screw you and your orders!”

George was a golden agent in the company and respectful in showbiz. Eagle Entertainment had made a great offer to keep him.

If shortly after Sophia was in charge, George quit, people in this business would have some bad guesses about Sophia.

That was why George dared to threaten Sophia in this way.

He wanted her to know that she couldn’t afford to offend him.

Sophia lifted an eyebrow and took a scornful look at George. She raised a sneer.

“Okay. Hand in your resignation, and I will approve it. You don’t need to come to work tomorrow.

George opened his eyes wide in shock and glared at Sophia. He pointed at himself in disbelief.

“Sophia, how dare you fire me?”

Sophia didn’t answer that. She snorted.

“If you want to be Pierce’s puppet, I can write a recommendation letter for you.”

Eagle Entertainment had different shareholders. Pierce didn’t hold many shares, so Sophia wasn’t worried at all.

Since George wanted to flatter Pierce, Sophia didn’t mind letting him

1. go.

Anyway, if George stayed, he would only annoy Sophia.

George didn’t hear the answer he wanted from Sophia. Sophia didn’t try to let him stay or compromise. George stared at Sophia with shock in his wide-open eyes.

He thought, “How dare she?”

George’s soft body became stiff. He pointed at Sophia with his index finger resentfully.

“Sophia, do you know what will happen if I leave? Do you know how much loss Eagle Entertainment will suffer?”

“If I leave, the company’s employees and resources will also leave with me, and you will have to be responsible for that. By then, even if you get on your knees and beg me, I won’t come back. You’d better not regret it!”

Sophia lifted a smile. Her expression didn’t change at all.

“Goodbye, George.

Sophia raised her eyes and looked at George disdainfully.

Chapter 23 Emelia is Out

George shivered in anger. He could barely maintain his gesture.

“Fine. Just wait and see!”

George’s sharp voice made unpleasant sounds, and his tone was harsh. George directly turned around and left.

Then, there was a loud sound.

George slammed the office door and left.

Sophia looked at the door coolly. She didn’t want to make moves so soon.

But there were always arrogant people making her angry.

If Sophia didn’t fight back, they pushed it further, and Sophia had to keep compromising

Monica spoke for the company. If Monica wasn’t treated fairly, Sophia would cause trouble to herself.

Her people should be treated well.

Sophia soon knew what George did.

Aylen knocked on the door and came in with a serious look on his face.

“Ms. Cruise, I heard George trying to persuade the actors in the company to quit with him and. He even wanted to take the fashion resources with him. If he leaves, will it affect us?”

Sophia chuckled and stood up to make coffee.

“Don’t worry. The big stars won’t leave. They won’t want to pay liquidated damages or work in small companies.

“Only those who aren’t famous and want to fawn on George will leave. I don’t care about those people. George helps us clear the useless away.”

Aylen now understood and was relieved. He looked at Sophia and smiled.

“I see. No wonder you are not anxious at all.”

Sophia lifted an eyebrow and took a sip of her coffee leisurely. She let out a sigh and handed the list on her table to Aylen.

“Kick Emelia out, and let Monica in.”

Sophia never wanted to let Emelia stay in Eagle Entertainment.

Trash should be thrown into the trash can.

Aylen nodded, took over the list, turned around, and went out to work.

That night.

When George handed in his resignation, Sophia immediately approved

1. it.

It didn’t even take a minute.

In the end, two new actors left with George. The others didn’t agree to leave so quickly.

Sophia heard that the look on George’s face was funny and that George accused them of being ungrateful in the company.

Nonetheless, George decisively took some resources with him. There were some full dress and jewelry brands that were on good terms with George.

Chapter 23 Emelia is Out

When Sophia knew that, she didn't say anything and just asked the lawyer to let them pay liquidated damages.

It was money. Of course, Sophia wouldn't let it go.

George left. And he wanted to give Sophia a lecture.

That night, George posted something online.

"Why does the kind person always get bullied? I'm going to start my own company."

Because of George's influence in showbiz, a lot of celebrities commented on his post.

"Congratulations. My poor George, I feel sorry for you."

"George, keep fighting!"

"You are too kind, George. Don't get yourself hurt."

There were a lot of such comments.

Sophia took a rough look at home. She couldn't help but shake her head.

George posted two sentences, making Sophia the mean and evil boss who fired her good employee.

People commented on the post to indirectly show their dissatisfaction.

The stars valued their reputation, so they wouldn't directly scold Sophia.

But they knew how to defend George and mock and accuse Sophia in an indirect way.

They showed their anger at Sophia because Sophia made George leave.

In four hours, almost half of the showbiz commented on George's post.

It was quite a big scene.

But Sophia didn't take it seriously at all.

She took a shower and came out of the bathroom. Her phone rang. It was Cecilia.

Sophia picked it up happily.

“Mommy, did you finish your scenes?”

Cecilia’s voice was as calm as usual. She answered with a smile.

“No. I saw the news online and called you. Do you need my help?”

Sophia lifted an eyebrow and didn’t refuse.

“If you have something on him, can I use it?”

Cecilia chuckled. Her voice was tender and loving.

“I knew you wouldn’t refuse. Okay. I’ll let people deal with it.”

After a few more sweet words, they hung up.

Sophia knew that if Cecilia didn’t have something on George, she wouldn’t keep such an arrogant person in the company.

Sophia slept soundly.

The next morning.

Sophia was woken up by her mobile phone ringtone.

She picked up and heard Sandra’s voice.

Chapter 23 Emelia is Out

“Sophia, did you see the news on the Internet? George, the guy who indirectly insulted you yesterday, is in trouble.”

Sophia paused and opened her eyes slowly. Her mind gradually became clear.

“My dear Ms. Clayton, I’m not up yet.”

Sandra pretended that she didn’t hear Sophia mumbling. She continued to gossip with Sophia.

“Last night, they cursed you like they were righteous. Now, the whole showbiz doesn’t dare to say anything.

“There is a video. At a party, George asked a new actor to kneel down and clean shoes for him. He was unhappy that the newcomer did it too slowly, so he poured wine onto the newcomer’s head and threatened that the newcomer would get no work.

“George was so arrogant and looked like a bully in the video. But he called himself a kind person.”

Chapter 24 A Mystery Guest

When Sophia was in love, her love was deep and intense. But when she quit, she could be very decisive.

Sophia collected her emotions, sent the hair to the hospital, and then drove to Eagle Entertainment.

The minute she got out of the car, she saw George, who wore green floral pants and a yellow shirt. George stood at the entrance, looking gaunt. The security guards stopped him from going in. George made wild gestures excitedly.

He didn't wear lipstick but had thick foundation makeup on his face. George looked pale. He stood there with his hands on his waist, cursing the security guards. His unpleasant voice was as hoarse as the duck's.

“I've only been gone for one day. How dare you stop me? I can fire you all. Aren't you afraid of losing your jobs?”

The security guards stood there seriously and replied very calmly.

“Please show me your employee card. Only staff can enter.”

George was pissed off. He walked around with his hands on his waist, gnashing his teeth.

“You are just watchdogs. You'll regret offending me. I...”

George didn't finish his words. The security guards stood there respectfully and nodded at the person behind George.

“Ms. Cruise.”

Sophia also nodded and responded in a gentle voice.

“Good morning.”

Sophia walked in, pretending that she didn't see George. But George stopped her.

George was nervous and flattering. His smile was stiff and fake. There were even wrinkles around his eyes.

“Good morning, Ms. Cruise. I have been waiting for you on purpose the whole morning.”

Sophia smiled casually and stopped walking. Her bright and beautiful eyes were icy.

“Why? Didn't people who you flattered help you?”

Sophia spoke directly. George's expression was stiff for a second. But then immediately, he continued to smile flatteringly.

“A friend in need is a friend indeed. Showbiz is cruel. Only Eagle Entertainment can save me now. I want to get my job back. The company and I need each other.”

People cursed George online. George was hated by everyone. His home address was found. George had to sleep in the hotel.

As for his work, companies that had wanted to invite him all abandoned him, and George couldn't get in touch with brands that were close to him. People who used to flatter George all left him.

The small actors that had left Eagle Entertainment with George also left him.

So, George had to come back to beg Sophia.

Sophia chuckled and looked at him indifferently.

“The company doesn't need you. Your resignation formalities were already done. Go find another job.”

Hearing that, George was anxious.

“Ms. Cruise, I apologize for what I said earlier. I’m sorry. But I have worked at Eagle Entertainment for a long time. Mr. Brant won’t casually fire me.”

George thought that hearing Mike’s name, Sophia would be hesitant.

However, Sophia glanced at him, took out her phone impatiently, and called Mike.

Mike went to the hospital. To recover, he went to have a vacation in Sweetland and let Sophia deal with the company stuff.

Mike answered the phone and mumbled unhappily.

“Sophia, you said that you wouldn’t disturb my vacation...”

Sophia chuckled, “Are you okay with me firing George?”

George paused and wanted to say something. But at that moment, Mike said in an impatient tone.

“Yeah. You are in charge of the company. The signal is bad here. I have to hang up.”

Mike directly hung up.

George’s face was ghastly. It looked like George had lost all his spirits.

Sophia lifted an eyebrow. “Did you hear that? You made the wrong decision. We just did what we should do. Don’t feel so great about yourself.”

Then, Sophia went into the building. Being stopped by the security guards, George couldn’t get in.

He gritted his teeth and started yelling and cursing with his sharp voice.

“Sophia, what are you so proud of? You are just a woman abandoned by your husband. Don’t you think that I know you manipulated the news and trending topics yesterday? You lost your man and vented your anger on others. No wonder no man wants you!”

George didn’t know the news yesterday had something to do with Pierce. He thought that Sophia paid someone to expose the video to get back at him.

Sophia didn’t bother to talk to idiots like George.

She directly told the security guards that if George kept making a scene, they should call the police.

The TV show went on well.

The four interns were polite and learned hard. They had pleasing characters and different styles, especially Monica.

When the show started recording, Sophia especially came to attend the start-up ceremony.

Everyone was there. But the staff said there was a mystery guest not here yet.

They said the mystery guest was a professional dancer in the famous dance theater, Wingley Arts. The guest would be the judge and wear a mask all the time because she didn’t want people to see her face.

The staff worked busily. Seeing that, Sophia walked to sit in the chair aside and waited.

Sounds of high heels came from behind and were getting closer.

Not far away, the director came over and praised the woman.

“It’s our honor that you came. I heard that you dance in Wingley Arts. It’s a world–class dance theater.”

The guest lifted her long hair with a smile. Sophia heard her gentle voice.

“I have been gone for three years. But I like my homeland better.”

Sophia listened seriously. The voice...

She looked back. With no surprise, Sophia saw Emelia, who stood there with a grin and was chatting with the director.

Sophia froze for a moment. Emelia was really everywhere.

Emelia looked over and saw Sophia. Maybe she wanted to disgust Sophia. Emelia walked over and raised a smile. Her voice was tender

“Ms. Cruise, what a coincidence. You actually sent your interns to the show in person.” –

Sophia sat there expressionlessly, tilted her head, and sized Emelia up. She raised a meaningful cold smile.

“Ms. Wilson, I thought you wanted to hide from people. But you actually dare to show up.

The director just came back to the country and didn’t know what had happened between them. He walked over and spoke.

“Ms. Cruise, this is Ms. Emelia Wilson, the mystery guest recommended by Mr. Morrison. She will be the judge of this competition.”

Sophia thought, “Mr. Morrison? Is it Nolan?”

Nolan's mother was Alaina Mckay. Sophia remembered that Alaina's family ran the Mckay Group. Nolan's father was a famous director, Warren Morrison. Warren was influential in showbiz.

Sophia took a scornful look. "So, the intern who got fired became the judge. Your show seems to be casual."

The director paused and blinked his eyes blankly.

Emelia looked at Sophia, gloating. She explained with a smile.

"Well, I said I wanted to start as an intern. But it is too much work. I have to take care of the baby, and he doesn't want me to be tired. So, I'm the judge."

Emelia covered her mouth and chuckled complacently.

Emelia thought public opinion had ruined her career. But she got a better opportunity.

"Ms. Cruise, don't worry. Unlike you, I will be fair and treat the participants the same way."

Emelia took a meaningful look at her acquaintances on the stage, especially Monica. She squinted her eyes. A malicious look flashed through her eyes.

Sophia immediately knew who helped Emelia.

With a smile, she stood up and didn't even look at Emelia.

Emelia's face turned pale, her chest heaving with anger.

But she did not dare to be so cross with Sophia. With the current public opinion, it was no good for her to make a scene.

The director was still in shock, but Sophia had already left.

But she didn't leave. Instead, she went to the producer's office.

Things turned out to be exactly as she had expected.

Plenty of people were having a heated discussion in the office, even including the head of the station.

“I know you’re pissed and don’t want Emelia on the show. But Mr. Clement has just invested in our show, and how can we make him look bad?”

The producer gritted his teeth and said.

“That woman harbors evil intentions, and it almost cost me my career last time. It was a relief for me that Eagle Entertainment fired her directly.

“But you... You even asked her to be one of the judges!

“Are you deliberately giving me a hard time?

“There’s no way I would ever work with someone like that!”

The head of the station heaved a sigh and said helplessly.

“This time, Nolan asked me to get Emelia in our show, and he’s still in my office now, so how can I say no? Next time, if Pierce shows up in person, am I supposed to say no too?”

They couldn’t afford to offend a big shot like Pierce.

The producer was too furious to say anything.

Sophia paused, turned, and went downstairs to leave.

She had just arrived downstairs when she saw Nolan standing there in his white shirt, talking to Emelia.

Emelia was standing there with a bright smile and it was clear she was in a good mood.

“Thank you for your help, Nolan. Thank you for standing beside Pierce and me. We will treat you to dinner someday.”

Nolan loosened his neckline, and his cold eyes softened a little.

“You’re welcome. You’re just too kind, and that was why you’ve been bullied all the time. You don’t have to be afraid of Sophia. If she keeps picking on you, you just need to knock out all her interns.”

Hearing what Nolan said, Sophia snorted and walked slowly down the last step.

Nolan and Emelia were stunned.

Emelia immediately calmed down and gave Nolan a flustered look. Then she shook her head, hinting at him to lower his voice.

An arrogant playboy from a wealthy family like Nolan didn’t feel apologetic or flustered at all.

He arranged his clothes slowly, glanced sideways at Sophia, and spoke in a bad tone.

Chapter 25 Mis Intention

“What are you afraid of? If it wasn’t for Pierce, she wouldn’t be able to still stay in this circle.

“Some people just think too much of themselves!”

Of course, Sophia sensed his plain mockery of her.

From the time she married Pierce, Nolan was the most hostile to her, and she didn’t even know why.

But after thinking for a moment, she felt she had no reason to pretend that she didn’t hear anything.

So she turned around, with a cool and indifferent look on her face and her eyes shining brightly. Then she said lightly with a smile.

“Are you talking about me?”

“Yes!”

To stand up for Emelia, he retorted.

Sophia folded her arms, lowered her head, and grinned.

“Don’t you think you are just too meddlesome?”

“I think you may just mind your own business!”

Nolan was so furious that he wanted to go argue with her. However, Emelia quickly stopped him.

“Forget about it! Nolan, don’t be mad. What if others see it?”

“Do you think she cares? How could you still think of her after being bullied by her like this? Why doesn’t someone like her get the punishment she deserves yet?”

Nolan said in a bad tone.

Sophia’s smile faded, and she looked at him with a straight face.

“Yes! Retribution is a matter of time, but we never know who’s gonna get it.”

She glanced at Emelia, who was standing next to him, and then turned to leave.

That glance made Emelia panic.

Sophia turned to leave while he flew in a rage.

“This woman is so arrogant! Don’t worry, Emelia. I’ve already talked with the guys in the TV station, she won’t dare to bully you.”

Although Warren, Nolan’s father, was only a director, he had won numerous awards and was very famous.

Warren had a very high position in the circle.

Emelia smiled and nodded.

As soon as Sophia left the station, she called the producer.

He answered it immediately and was too angry to talk normally.

“Ms. Cruise, I was just about to call you. I have something to tell you...”

“I know all about it. Emelia’s on the judging panel.”

She interrupted him and said in a soft, calm voice.

“Don’t worry. Just let her be! If others find out she doesn’t deserve it, she’s gonna be in bigger trouble.”

The producer was stunned and silent for a moment.

Chapter 25 Ms intention

“OK.”

He owed Sophia a huge favor. Thanks to the proof she provided, he could clear his name.

At noon.

Sophia got a call from the hospital.

“No paternity...”

Those words stuck in her ears. She felt like a dream, and she just could not believe it or understand it.

“Luke isn’t Pierce’s son?”

There’s no way Pierce doesn’t know that.

So, he just loves Emelia so much that he treats her son like his own?

He gave all his love and tolerance to her, so he didn’t care about me or our unborn child.

He just said he would make up for me, and that’s all!”

Tears welled up in her eyes and she felt heart–broken.

The sun was burning.

She suddenly felt very tired and seemed to have been drained of all her strength in an instant..

She didn’t know why.

Perhaps this incident made her feel really ridiculous and pathetic to herself.

She thought, “I didn’t lose to a bastard.

Chapter 25 His intention

“But to the great love between Pierce and Emelia?”

She was lost in grief.

And after a long time, she finally came back to her senses.

She did not go to the company but directly went back to the Cruise's place, lying in her room.

Everything quieted down, and she finally felt a sense of security.

She took a light sleep.

The phone rang suddenly.

It was a strange number. She felt familiar, but she couldn't remember where she had seen it.

She picked up the phone. The voice of the man on the other side of the line was clear.

"Hello, Ms. Cruise."

Sophia slightly pursed her lips. "Derick?"

"Yes, it's me. Did you get the result, Ms. Cruise?"

He spoke with confidence as if he knew everything.

She felt resistant in her heart, suspecting he had someone following her everywhere.

She couldn't figure out what he was up to.

So she just kept silent.

He laughed and explained in a low and hoarse voice.

Chapter 25 His intention

"I went to Eagle Entertainment at noon today, and they told me you did not go to work this afternoon, so I guess you may know the result now. Are you in a bad mood?"

She breathed a sigh of relief and her voice softened.

"Yes, I got the result, and it surprised me. You wanted to see me, Mr. Woodward?"

His voice deepened a little.

"Aren't you curious, Ms. Cruise? Pierce knew Luke wasn't his son, but why would he keep it from everyone?"

His voice was mellow and he seemed to be explaining to her in detail.

"If you want to know the answer, you may take advantage of Pierce's mother to find it for you."

Sophia slightly frowned. "Why are you telling me this?"

She always felt that Derick was very mysterious, and it seemed as if he deliberately approached her with some purpose.

Derick sighed lightly.

"Because I don't want to see you sad or live in hate..."

She hung up before he could finish his words.

"How gross!" She thought.

He chuckled and shook his head.

Then the smile on his face was replaced by a vicious and cold expression.

Derick thought, "Pierce, I can't wait to watch a good show!"

Chapter 26 Bar Fight

Sophia went for a bath. By the time she got out, it was getting dark.

She came downstairs with her hair down, slouched on her slippers, and muttered.

"Is dinner ready? I'm hungry."

Brycen put away his newspaper and looked up at Sophia upstairs. Then he said with some complaint.

"You haven't been back in a while, and you only care about dinner?"

Sophia had always been very spoiled at home. She went over and sat down beside Brycen, leaning on his shoulder.

“Your little princess is back now. What’s there to complain about? Mommy’s out filming. Why aren’t you with her this time, Dad?”

Sophia knew Brycen and Cecilia were very much in love and inseparable.

After he handed over the affairs of the company to Kylan, he circled around Cecilia every day and insisted on following her whenever she went to film.

With a chuckle, he reached out and tapped her forehead.

“Because your mom’s worried about you and asked me to come back and look after you, but she’ll be back soon.

Sophia grinned in delight and thought, “It feels so good to be home.”

During dinner, she thought of something.

Chapter 26 Bar Fight

“Dad, I heard that when you were chasing my mother, there were a lot of people chasing her as well. If my mother had someone else’s child at that time, would you still have married her?”

Brycen’s eyes widened, and he was about to scold her for talking nonsense when he looked at her face, which resembled Cecilia’s, and suddenly became softhearted.

“Yes. I would love her kid as much as I love her.”

Then he paused. Something suddenly occurred to him, and he raised his head gravely.

“But I don’t want that for you. Don’t hurt yourself because of anyone. I’ll leave you all my money!”

Sophia suddenly had an urge to cry and immediately lowered her head, taking a mouthful of soup with a smile to cover it up.

“Don’t worry, Dad. I won’t do a foolish thing again!”

She thought, “Of course, I won’t hurt myself for anyone!

But now Pierce must be in such unconditional deep love for Emelia, right ?

Otherwise, how can it be explained?”

At dusk.

Sandra asked Sophia to go to the bar for fun. Sophia wanted to refuse, but Sandra insisted, so she could only change her clothes and went over.

Sophia thought she indeed had been out of touch with her old friends for a long time, and it was good to go out and relax.

Chapter 16 Mar Fight

She wore a black slip dress, outlining her slender. Her slightly curly hair was scattered behind her ears, and she had wonderful features and a cold temperament, which made her look both pure and seductive.

The bar was buzzing with activities.

As soon as she entered, she instantly attracted a lot of people’s attention.

She glanced over and saw that Sandra was not in the box but dancing on the dance floor devotedly.

She shook her head helplessly and went to the bar to sit down.

“A beer, please...”

“Beer is not good enough for a girl like you. My treat, Miss. Are you alone here?”

Suddenly, there was a man beside her with a smile that made her sick. And he was looking at her as if she was his prey.

He snapped his fingers.

“Get her the most expensive one, on me.”

His move made him look like a seasoned lover.

Sophia pursed her lips. “No, thanks.”

It was a rule not to drink from strangers in a bar.

With that, she was about to leave and go to Sandra.

Then the man narrowed his eyes, unwilling to give up, and grabbed her arm.

“You don’t know me, but I know you. You are Pierce’s ex–wife. Why are you making me look bad? You are not leaving without this drink!”

Sophia impatiently shrugged off his hand as casually and nobly as usual and said in an extremely indifferent tone.

“Who do you think you are? Why should I listen to you?”

What she said pissed the man off,

“Who do you think you are then? You are nothing after leaving the Clement family!”

“I’m telling you, you have to drink this wine whether you want it or not!”

Hector had long heard from Nolan, his cousin, that Sophia would do anything for money

Hector thought, “She is just nothing after leaving the Clement family!

She must be anxious to hook up with someone else, isn’t she?

She’s just better looking. If I pay a little more, she will do what I want.

If that doesn’t work, I’ll simply force her to!

After all, she used to be Pierce’s woman, and I want to have a try.”

He beckoned, and immediately four or five strong men gathered around him.

Hector then moved the glass of wine towards Sophia. Then, right in front of her, he took a small tablet out of his pocket and put it right into the wine.

Soon, it disappeared in the wine.

Sophia narrowed her eyes, her face darkened, and her eyes turned extremely cold.

She thought, “I am so unlucky to run into something this disgusting as soon as I enter the bar!”

“Drink it and I’ll let you go. If not, I’ll let my men feed you!”

Hector thought, “She’s just an unwanted bitch, and it’s easy to deal with her.”

He held his glass to her mouth.

Everything seemed to freeze.

She took the glass, looked down, and smiled. Then she said in a soft and meek voice.

“OK...”

His eyes gleamed with satisfaction.

But the next second, something unexpected happened.

Her smile faded, and suddenly, she threw the wine in his face. Then she quickly dropped the glass directly on his head.

After a loud bang, the glass broke and dark red liquid ran down his forehead.

Her movements were sharp and swift, without any hesitation.

Her beautiful face looked somewhat cool without the slightest fear but with a little disdain and indifference.

He touched the liquid, froze in shock, and swore.

“Fuck you, bitch, how dare you hit me?”

Chapter 27 Apology

“What? Should she feel honored since Hector invited her to a drink? Is the Morrison family so powerful?”

“You have those dirty thoughts in your mind, so you bullied a woman? How could you? And how dare you make a fuss here?”

“Bah! You and Hector are really true cousins. You are the same type of people.”

Nolan’s face and eyes were cold.

“Ms. Clayton, I don’t think that I’ve ever offended you. Watch your words, please.”

Sandra’s identity wasn’t a secret in the bar. Nobody dared to offend her easily.

Usually, her circle was different from theirs, so they didn't have many connections with her.

"You offended me just now. You said those disgusting things first. Why can't I scold you?"

"You..."

Nolan was so angry that his face turned pale.

"Pierce, there must be a misunderstanding. How can there be such a coincidence that he happened to meet Ms. Cruise? Don't fall for the trick."

Beside them, Sophia couldn't help but snort. She walked forward and looked at Nolan up and down.

"Trick? Do you mean that I seduced him deliberately?"

"He brought those big guys to hit me. I don't think there's a misunderstanding. It seemed that it wasn't the first time. I wondered whether the surveillance camera captured the scene."

She slightly smiled as she looked at the person in charge of the bar.

Then the person in charge froze. He had a fine sweat on his forehead. He didn't know how to answer the question at all.

He couldn't afford to offend the Morrison family. The surveillance footage was against them, he wouldn't offer the footage.

On the side, Pierce was angry and domineering. He pulled his collar.

"If the surveillance camera is broken, just close the bar. Reopen the bar when the surveillance camera is back to normal."

The person in charge of the bar panicked when hearing this. He didn't know what to do.

"Mr. Mr. Clement."

Compared with the Morrison family, he was more afraid of Pierce.

"It's normal. It's working!"

Pierce looked at Sophia deeply.

"How do you want to end this?"

Sophia didn't show respect to anyone. "Call the police. What he had done was terrible. The police won't let him off."

As Sophia said that, she took her phone out and called the police.

Nolan slightly frowned. He took a step forward, looking nervous.

"Pierce, Hector is still young. It's normal for him to make mistakes. I apologize on his behalf.

Chapter 27 Apology

"I will teach him a lesson later. We don't need to call the police.

"It will bring shame to the Morrison family."

Pierce glanced at Nolan coldly and said with indifference.

"Nolan, you seemed to apologize to the wrong person."

Nolan froze and then understood what Pierce meant.

He looked at Sophia with a frozen face. His eyes were filled with unwillingness as he gritted his teeth.

"Ms. Cruise, I apologize on Hector's behalf, okay?"

He thought that he was humble enough to apologize to her like that.

The apology made Nolan feel embarrassed.

Sophia chuckled. It was obvious that he was forced to apologize. How ridiculous.

“Your apology isn’t that valuable. I don’t accept it.”

Nolan’s eyes instantly turned cold. He was overwhelmed by anger. He blurted out.

“I have apologized. What else do you want? Do you think you are still Mrs. Clement and everyone respects you?”

Pierce’s eyes were cold.

He said in a cold tone, “Nolan, you have no right to judge the relationship between Sophia and me. You can’t smear her.

“You know the best what kind of person Hector is. Since his elders can’t discipline him, let the police do the job.”

Sophia slightly frowned.

“You didn’t go last night?”

She remembered that Emelia appeared and asked to go to the hospital with him.

Pierce snorted and said in a deep voice.

“You ran quite fast last night. You wanted me to go alone?”

He looked at his watch and raised his brows.

“Just go now.”

Sophia looked at the time and refused directly.

“Sorry, I have an appointment. You can go with someone. I will pay.”

Pierce stopped there. The veins on his forehead jumped. His face sank.

“You...”

Before he could finish his words, his face went pale, and he fell toward Sophia.

Sophia didn't expect this at all. She couldn't help but scream out in shock.

Pierce just passed out like this...

Then the police left.

Sophia was speechless as she watched the doctors be busy in the ward.

She couldn't help but sneer. Pierce deserved this!

A nurse came over to remind her to pay. Sophia turned around and left with the nurse.

She didn't want to stay here for a second longer.

After she left, the man on the bed woke up.

He wasn't totally unconscious when he passed out.

Sophia screamed at that time. She should be quite worried. So, he lost his consciousness totally with relief.

He glanced around and asked in a hoarse voice, “Where's that woman?”

The doctor said after a pause, “She went to pay for your medical expenses.”

“She must be afraid, right?”

Hearing that she was still here, Pierce breathed a sigh of relief.

She must be worried that there might be anything wrong with him. She must regret divorcing him!

The doctor looked at Pierce. He wanted to say something but didn't.

For the better recovery of the patient, he didn't tell Pierce Sophia's real reactions just now.

Actually, Sophia didn't ask anything about Pierce at all.

After the police left, she turned colder.

She didn't even pretend to care about him.

The doctors and nurses were worried that she would leave without paying.

Less than one hour after Pierce went to the hospital, the Clement family knew about that.

Ava hurried over with her beloved grandson, Luke.

Sophia made a call after paying, so she went back to the ward a little while later.

Then she found that the ward had become crowded.

Luke was less than two years old. He liked to cry and cause trouble.

Ava loved him very much. She carried him to Pierce's side and coaxed him to call Pierce "Daddy".

Pierce's face turned gentle. He reached out to hold Luke's face and then said to Ava.

"How did you know that I was hospitalized?"

"We have shares in this hospital. Why couldn't I know?"

After Ava said that, she raised her head and saw the woman at the door.

She said with anger, "How dare you show up here? I know that Pierce was hospitalized because of you! You damn poor jinx! Get out of here!"

Whenever Ava saw Sophia, she would remember how Sophia exposed her secret in the dining room.

She couldn't get along well with Sophia at all.

On the side, Pierce frowned. He was about to say something to stop Ava.

But he found that Sophia took action first. She indifferently chuckled, went forward, put the payment bills on the desk on the side, and tapped the bills with her fingertips.

"Mr. Clement, we are even now.

She sounded cold and indifferent. She didn't give Ava one extra look.

She appeared that Ava was transparent.

She turned around and left.

"Sophia..."

Pierce's voice leaked his emotions, but nobody noticed that.

She didn't turn around at all.

He helped her, and she had paid him back, so she said that they were even.

But the scene of Pierce being together with Luke flashed across Sophia's mind.

Her heart trembled in pain.

She felt that her heart was stabbed by dense needles.

She quickened her steps.

He had forgotten about the unborn child. He didn't have many feelings

113400 for it.

Only she had felt its existence.

The pain of losing the child took her breath and almost cocked her to death.

Her gratitude for Pierce since he saved her was also gone.

He always owed her!

Sophia went on the elevator.

As soon as she went in, Ava hurriedly followed, not wanting to let go of the chance to embarrass her.

“Sophia, if you still have any self-respect, stay away from us. Don’t try to get close to Pierce again.

“Pierce already has a son, Luke. I can choose a suitable wife for him slowly. I won’t let him marry a lowly poor bitch again!”

Sophia pulled her lips. She slightly raised her eyes full of coldness.

“You really love that child.”

Ava sneered. “Yes, he’s my eldest grandson. In the future, I will find him a mother with a suitable background. But it will never be you!”

Sophia slowly smiled and looked at her meaningfully.

“Wish you good luck then.”

She suddenly had a dirty thought.

Derick’s words echoed in her ears.

He said that she could let Pierce’s mother ask some of the questions for her.

How would Ava appear when she knew about the truth?

The doors to the elevator closed.

Sophia left the hospital.

As soon as she left, she received a call from Sandra.

“Sophia, that bastard, Nolan, got someone to help. They said that Hector fell ill and couldn’t be questioned. They wanted to bail him out immediately. My lawyer said that we might not be able to stop them.”

Sophia stopped for a while, raised her eyebrows, and chuckled.

Sandra was anxious. “You are still chuckling?”

Sophia’s tone turned gentle.

“They are anxious because they are guilty. They must have bullied girls like this many times. Then they felt anxious.”

Sandra stopped for a while and snorted.

“There’s no doubt Hector and Nolan were cousins. They were both bad guys. We have to teach Hector a lesson this time.”

“Relax, this is on me this time. Hector wouldn’t be willing to leave alone.”

After Sophia hung up, she called Kylan.

She told Kylan the whole thing.

On the other end of the call, Kylan fell silent for one minute.

Kylan sounded angry.

“This is a big thing. And you hid it from me all the time?”

Sophia was a little guilty.

“I’m okay now. They are about to suffer. They began to use tricks. My dear brother, can you help me?”

Kylan sneered and said slowly.

“Hector had offended many people in the circle. It was easy to get something on him.

“You can’t go out alone then. I’m afraid that the Morrison family would do anything extreme after that. How about you move back?”

Sophia pursed her lips. Kylan was determined. She couldn’t persuade him.

“Okay, Kylan. Understood, Kylan. Thank you, Kylan.”

Kylan said, “Being honey-tongued didn’t help. Be more careful in the future.”

Then he hung up.

In the evening.

Sophia received Sandra’s call.

It could be heard that she was excited.

“Do you know that? Just five minutes ago, the result was out. He drugged you!

Pierce and Nolan were close. It was reasonable for Nolan to ask the Clement family for help.

Sophia pulled her lips and smiled indifferently.

“Don’t think too much. Everything will be okay.”

Sandra breathed a long sigh of relief. “Temporary victory is still a victory. I will go have a drink to celebrate.”

After that, she hung up.

Sophia couldn’t help but smile. Her mood wasn’t affected.

For the next few days...

Everything went well with the police. Nolan asked many people for help but still couldn’t bail Hector out.

It seemed that someone was blocking him secretly.

He contacted Pierce several times, but Pierce always avoided him.

He didn’t want to dote on Hector like this at all. Hector was totally good-for-nothing. But his aunt, Selena McKay, only had one son. How could Selena bear to see Hector imprisoned?

Nolan's mother, Alaina, had to go to the Clement's house to beg Ava.

But Ava knew that it was troublesome, so she refused tactfully again and again.

Finally, Alaina chose to meet Sophia.

Alaina walked into the office in a fancy noble suit. She looked with disdain.

Sophia signaled Aylen to get Alaina some water. As soon as Aylen put the cup on the table, Alaina took a look and suddenly said with a smile.

"When you still lived in the Clement's place, you always served us, preparing tea or something like that. Now that you are out to work, someone else does it for you."

Sophia threw a casual look at Aylen and smiled.

"This is my assistant. We are in a company, not the Clement's place."

She sounded quite gentle since she didn't hold any grudge against Alaina.

They had met several times at Ava's tea parties before. Ava would order Sophia around to prepare tea for her so as to let the guests respect her.

Alaina could hear that Sophia was no longer humble. Her face froze.

But she still remembered why she came here, so she still remained polite on the surface.

"Sophia, I need your help actually."

Sophia took the cup in front of her and had a drink. Then she said unhurriedly.

“He didn’t really hurt you. Why should he be imprisoned?”

“Just dismiss the case for my sake. If you have any conditions, just tell me. I will satisfy you as much as I can.”

Sophia smiled. Actually, she had long known why Alaina came.

She put down the cup and smiled to refuse.

“Yes, he didn’t really hurt me, but that doesn’t mean that he’s innocent. I was lucky enough to escape. What about other girls?”

Alaina lost all her patience as she heard this. She heavily put down the cup on the table.

“Let’s have a deal. You dismiss the case and I will persuade Pierce’s mother to accept you again.”

She no longer hid her arrogant attitude.

She appeared that Sophia should be grateful because of this deal.

Sophia looked at Alaina for a few seconds with a smile in her eyes.<

Why did they think that Sophia would regret it after getting divorced?

“Ms. Mckay, no need for that. Thanks for your kindness, but I’m no longer interested in the Clement family.

Alaina felt embarrassed since she was refused by Sophia. She immediately stood up to warn Sophia.

“I'm giving you an opportunity. Sophia, don't regret it.”

Sophia didn't know where Alaina got the confidence to say this.

She didn't even want to talk to Ava, not to mention others.

But she still stood up with a smile and looked at Aylen.

“Send the guest away.”

Aylen nodded. “Please...”

Alaina's chest puffed. She pointed at Sophia with a trembling finger.

“You...”

Her face suddenly paled and she was out of breath. She fell backward.

Aylen quickly ran over.

Why was Alaina so fragile?

Soon, Sophia let Aylen inform Nolan to go to the hospital.

When he saw Sophia, he scolded her.

“Woman, you are simply a jinx. What did you do to my mother?”

“Let me tell you. If anything happens to her, I will kill you.”

After that, he reached out to push Sophia hard.

Sophia was caught out of the blue and hit the wall. She felt a pain in her arm.

Her eyes instantly turned cold. Her bright facial features also turned cold.

“Nolan, is there anything wrong with you?”

Nolan said coldly with hatred in his eyes.

“I know you hate me. You hate me because I helped Emelia, so you refused to show mercy to Hector. But let me tell you. I won’t give in! And I won’t forgive you for what you’ve done to my mother!”

After he said those harsh words, the door to the operation room was open.

Nolan walked to the doctor. The doctor said calmly.

63.76%

“The patient passed out because of low blood sugar. She’s already awake.”

Nolan was relieved to hear that.

Sophia rolled her eyes speechlessly.

What bad luck?

Why did they always pretend to pass out in front of her?

On the bed, Alaina weakly held Nolan's hand.

"Son, it was her..."

She pointed at Sophia. Sophia looked over and slightly frowned.

Alaina paused for a while and asked a question.

"Sophia, do you agree with my condition?" Actually, it sounded more like a threat.

She appeared that if Sophia refused, she would cause trouble and accuse Sophia.

Sophia chuckled. Aylen ran from outside.

"The procedures are over. Right, Ms. Cruise, this is the recording."

As soon as Alaina came, Sophia was well prepared.

Since Alaina was close to Ava, how could she be a good person?

Sophia had to be prepared.

Sophia threw the recording over and looked at Alaina, whose face turned paler.

"Not"

After that, she smiled smugly and left with Aylen

Alaina's chest went up and down. She fiercely grabbed her son's hand but couldn't say anything.

Sophia always seemed to be an obedient daughter-in-law in front of Ava. She was like a maid in the Clement's place. Alaina never expected that Sophia would dare to plot against her.

Nolan slightly frowned and looked at Alaina with complex emotions in his eyes.

"Mom, did you plan to blackmail her just now?"
