

Chapter 31 - Wild Love With My Triplet Mates

Stella and Rose took the kids to the playroom while everyone gathered in one of Raphael's secured large conference halls. Good thing too because not all of us would have fitted in his office. It was Raphael, Odette, Ryan, Jorge, Roy, Alex, Selena, Sasha, Rico, Sophie, my triplets, and me right now. We were still waiting on Nathan and Brandon to show up before I summoned Sabrina. Zero wanted his two top warriors to be in the loop since they were the main ones that did the security around the pack's territory. Sasha was kicked back with her feet up on the table until she jerked straight up and started sniffing the air. Just then the door flew open.

Nathan's POV

"Come on dude. Alpha Zero wanted us in for this important meeting. We are already late." I holler at Brandon that was taking his time using the bathroom. He finally came out drying off his hands. "Sorry bro. I just had to take a massive dump. The food was awesome, but went through me faster than a snake striking its prey." I rolled my eyes. This man could eat and eat and then crap it all out in one go. Sometimes he spends more time in the bathroom than anything.

"I don't need to know about that. Come on we need to get going." I said and stormed out of the room. Brandon followed me close behind. "You know it's kind of a shame. We were here with females from three other packs and we still didn't find our mates." Brandon said while catching up to me. I sighed "Yea, there is nothing more stressful for a male wolf then not finding his mate. Especially the older we get. We are going to be 21 next month and still havent found them." Brandon nudged me a bit. "Hey word through the grapevine is that Sasha is back at Raven Moon. i know you always had a thing for her growing up."

I rolled my eyes. yes I liked Sasha back then and still do, but Sasha never seemed to like me much and I never knew why. I even tried to get her attention by dating other girls, but she never seemed to get jealous. We get to the floor the meeting is on and I start smelling the very intoxicating scent. It was a sweet and spicy kind of smell. I sniffed the air some more and it smelled like cinnamon and crisp apples. My wolf Rex, was going crazy in my head. I could literally picture him jumping up and down wagging his tail at this scent. "Bro you ok?" Bradon asks while I sniff around some more. "Mate" was all I said back. I zoom pass Brandon and follow it. I didn't pay attention where I was goin and flew open the door that the scent was coming from and bursted inside. I finally found her.

Sasha's POV

After lunch we all gathered in a secured conference room for this meeting. Zero wants Nathan and Brandon here too since they are the main ones that deal with the pack land security, even more so since Rico and I have been gone the last few years in Spain. I sign and kick my feet up on the table and shove a lollipop in my mouth. I felt Rico and Sophie reach out to me in our mind link.

(Mind link Conversation.)

Sas: Yes?

R: What are you 10? Get your feet off the table and sit up straight.

S: Hahaha Leave her be Rico. She is just relaxing before she has to pay up on our bet.

Sas: Like hell that would happen. You seem confident that you will win Sophie.

S: Because I have seen how you look at Nathan, even your big tomboy ways can't hide the fact that you like him.

R: Yea, but I still think Brandon cause you would hang out with him a lot when we were kids.

Sas: Oh fuck off you two.

I cut the mind link short before I start really getting mad. Then my wolf Ruby started in on the teasing, and I couldn't hide anything from her.

(Conversation between Ruby and Sasha)

R: You know that Sophie is right. You have always liked Nathan. Why do you still try to deny what your heart wants?

S: Ruby, I didn't want to get my hopes up for if he wasn't my mate. If people are going to sleep around or casually date someone, then it is better off done with strangers you don't have real feelings for. I could never be with Nathan casually only to think that we are not each other's mates.

R: Wow such wisdom from a tomboy that always plays rough. I think hell will freeze over next hahaha.

S: Oh bite me you overgrown pup. You can be just as bad as the other two.

R: I think I can be worse because you can't hide your true feelings from the other side of your soul, but no matter how much of a pain I am...

S: Ruby? You ok?

R: Mate! Mate is near!

I bolt up right in my seat and start sniffing the air. I smell a faint scent that made me hooked on it, like it was my own drug, and Ruby started to purr. It smelled of winter pine and cedar. “Sasha? Are you ok?” I heard Jess asked. Before I could answer her, then the door flew open and there I saw who my mate was... Nathan Stone. Ruby snickered “Looks like you owe Sophie $50”

A Wolf and A Witch

Chapter 32 - Wild Love With My Triplet Mates

Brandon's POV

Man Nathan finally found his mate. I feel happy and jealous at the same time. I am happy he finally found his mate, but jealous that I still haven't found mine yet. I start wondering if my mate is even a wolf. If my mate was a human it would take forever to court them. The mate relationship moves so much faster for wolves than humans. Wolves could literally meet their mate for the first time, in their lives, in the morning, and by night time the pair would have already mated and marked each other.

I followed him to the conference room and was shocked as hell at who he was staring at. The tomboy beta herself. Sasha Delgado. Boy Nathan has had the hots for her since we were kids, but she would never give him the time of day. He would even get jealous of me when I hung out with her alone.

Sasha stood up from her chair and Nathan took three strides over to her and wrapped her up in his arms. “Mine!” he said. She stiffened a bit and looked confused. Rico and Sophie were grinning and started laughing their asses off. Sasha shot them a look practically screaming ‘you better shut the hell up or else’. I started chuckling myself, along with our triplet alphas who knew us all so well. “Well looks like another match was made, but you will have to wait until later to catch up. We have important matters to discuss before we all leave for home tonight.” Leo said.

Nathan sat down and pulled Sasha into his lap and wrapped his arms around her waist. She tried to get up, but he wouldn't let her. After about five minutes of Sasha squirming in Nathan's arms she finally gave up and leaned her back on his chest. “Let's get this over with. Otherwise I will be stuck here on his lap forever.” She cried out, Nathan chuckled and whispered something in her ear. Sasha's face flushed a bright red and she elbowed him in the ribs.

He groaned and everyone laughed. Then Miss Jessabelle stood up and said “Alright. Now that everyone else is here, I will call the last person. Now this person is a dear friend to me and Raphael and is to come to no harm. Understand me?” she said sternly. Making sure to look at every single person in the room. We all nodded. Then she pulled out what looked like a glowstick, and snapped in half and threw it into the corner of the room. Dam our new luna was a bad ass. Purple smoke swirled around the corner, and a figure started to appear.

Before the smoke even started to clear I started smelling a sweet scent of lemonade with freshly baked cookies. Hunter, my wolf, started going crazy in my head. Running around in circles and wagging his tail looking for his treat. “Dam dude, knock it off before you give me a headache.” I yelled over our mind link. He growled at me “Our mate is finally her dumb ass.” He said and I snapped my head towards the corner. The smoke had finally cleared and I saw the most gorgeous creature to ever walk in this world. She was a tiny woman with sea blue hair and yellow eyes that shined like the stars in the midnight sky. Hunter was howling while I stood there dumb founded.

I heard Nathan growl a bit aggressively at her. “A WITCH?!” I jumped up and wrapped my arms around her protectively and growled back at him. “Mine!” I yelled at him. I finally found my mate and I wasn’t going to let anyone touch her, even if I had to go up against one of my alphas. For my beautiful mate, witch or not, I would die for her.

Sabrina’s POV

I just finished packing up everything in a couple hours after Jess and Sophie left my house. I felt Jess snap the summoning stick I gave her. I chant a teleport spell so I can travel from my old cottage to where Jess is. As soon as the smoke clears I come face to face in a room full of wolves. One of them as soon as he sees me growls at me because I am a witch. The next thing I knew I was wrapped in the arms of another wolf that growled back at the first one. “Mine!” he said with a deep husky voice that sent a shiver down my spine.

Everywhere the wolf was making contact with my skin, I felt tingling sparks. My heart was racing and not because I was a witch in a wolf’s den, but because I was a woman pressed up against a man that growled to protect me from one of his own kind. I was confused and looked to Jess and Raphael for an explanation. Jess not being mated or marked yet I knew she couldn’t growl at them into submission. Jess whispered into the ear of the male next to her. He nodded at her and let out a fearsome growl that even I, a witch, wanted to submit to.

“Nathan back down. Your Luna commanded that this person is not to be harmed in any way. Besides it looks like she will be around a lot more often, now that Brandon has claimed her as his mate.” The male said in a voice full of authority. Mate? If that is what this was all about then I would need to look into his eyes to see if it was true. “Jess told me how wolves find their mates, but for us witches we need to make direct eye contact with someone to see if they are our mates. Witches can be a mated pair to any creature, supernatural or human.

I placed both hands on either side of the man's face and gently turned him towards me so I could see his eyes. His eyes were a lovely deep brown, but growing darker. I sensed his wolf was trying to come to the surface since another male growled at me. I stared into his eyes and felt a connection to him immediately. The pull was strong and I leaned into him. He buried his face into my neck and inhaled deeply and started to relax. I smiled, feeling finally happy to find someone to spend my life with. This must how Tasha must have felt when she found her mate. I heard a light wolf whistle and looked at Jess with a big smirk on her face. I snapped my fingers and a small wash bin appeared above her head and dropped on her.

“Owww, God dammit Angel. That hurt.” She crouches rubbing her head. Raphael started laughing. “You were asking for it Jess. You know Sabrina doesn’t like being teased.” He said. I guess it was so the males in the room would know that this was a normal thing between us. I didn’t even realize they had tensed up when I used my magic. I pulled away from Brandon, as that is what one of the triplets had called him, and turned towards the triplets. “My apologies alphas. Jess and I banter around like this pretty often. I would never do anything to harm her permanently. Just a lite love tap from time to time.” I smirk at Jess when I talk about the love tap. She glared at me. I turned back to the triplets and two seem to kind of stare at me, and one smiled and offered me his hand.

“I’m Hero Jackman, the youngest out of the triplets. These are my older brothers Zero and Leo.” He pointed to each one when he said their name. “I will apologize in advance, but I am afraid it will take a while before I can tell you apart. So for this meeting I am going to do some color coding so I don’t get confused.” With that said I snapped my fingers and placed a different color shirt on each triplet, with their names on them.

Blue for Leo, red for Zero, and green for Hero. They looked shocked at their shirts.

I heard someone laughing behind me and turned. “Oh man, where was this trick when we were all kids? Hahaha.” the woman next to Raphael said and Sophie was laughing with a couple other people next to her. “There now I can tell who is who. Don’t worry I only need it for the meeting, but Jess before we start. Would you mind introducing me to everyone please?”

The Meeting

Chapter 33 - Wild Love With My Triplet Mates

Jess’s POV

After I finished introducing everyone to Sabrina and how Raphael and I know her. Everyone seemed to settle down. Nathan still seemed a bit tense around a witch, but I convinced him to give her a chance. “So Angel, what information was so important that you couldn’t tell me and Sophie earlier?” I asked, getting this meeting started. Sabrina took a deep breath and looked at me with a sad look in her eyes. “I personally know the man that is hunting you Jess. He is my brother.” I was floored.

Raphael jumped up. “Your brother?! You told us that your whole family died years ago.” Sabrina nodded. “I thought they did die that day.” I cut her off a bit “They?” She looked back at me. “Yes ‘they’. William was mated to my younger sister, Tasha. He was nothing like the monster he has come to be. He was as sweet and kind as Raphael back then, but that changed after he had gotten hurt badly.” She paused and pulled out her locket she always wore. She opened his and showed us an old picture of two women, one had sea blue hair and the other had flaming red hair and both had yellow eyes, and a young wolf with silver hair and silver eyes.

“This was taken a few days after William and Tasha met and found out they were mated. He protected us and we lived in harmony with his pack. The Nightmare Pack.” She said. Ryan then started to speak. “The Nightmare pack was destroyed by a witch years ago.” Sabrina nodded “Yes. After William had gotten hurt and had very little chance of surviving. Tasha made a choice that changed both of them forever. She found a gifted wolf within the pack and used blood magic to transfer that wolf’s soul and gift into William.” Sabrina stopped and took a some deep breaths.

“It saved his life at the cost of the young wolf, but what she didn’t know is that it had changed both her and William forever. She became a witch of darkness for using blood magic, and William had become a power hungry psychopath wanting more and more power to sustain his lifeforce. To better understand I was hoping to do a memory mind share with everyone here.” She said. Nathan asked “What’s a memory mind share?” I knew so I answered to save Sabrina some time.

“It basically means that Angel will share her memory with us. Our minds will be sent to a different time and space and we will see and hear everything she did. It is a great way to gather information because the person’s mind will only show the truth, and even if we watch her whole life it will only feel like a few minutes have gone by in real time.” Alex looked at me. “How do you know about this Jess?” I looked down. “The first time I ran into Angel she did one on me. She saw my whole life in just a few moments. Then she gave me a potion for my nightmares.”

Hero reached for my hand and squeezed it to make me feel comfortable. Sabrina nodded and turned to Roy and Alex. “Speaking of which I want to do something for Jess, since I saw EVERYTHING!!” She snapped her fingers and both Alex and Roy got a wash bin dropped on their head. “Owww. Dammit!” Alex yelled. “Son of a bitch! That hurt.” Roy cried. I giggled. “No one hurts my sweet girl without a least one hit from my wash bins.” Sabrina said with a smile. Ryan and Jorge looked at each other and then snapped their heads to Sabrina.

“That means that it was you all those times before?!” Jorge called. Sabrina didn’t answer, she just smirked their way. I was confused. “What are you guys talking about?” “A tale for another time, we have to get back on track and do the memory share.” Sabrina said before Jorge or Ryan could say anything more. “All right let’s get started.” I said. Time to see what happened in the past.

Memory Mind Share

Chapter 34 - Wild Love With My Triplet Mates

Sabrina’s POV

All right, Jess helped me convince them to do the memory mind share. That will speed things up. “Angel, will you be able to do the mind share with so many people? I know magic like that takes a lot out of you.” Jess asked with worry in her voice. I smiled. “Yes I can. With a little help from you and the other two gifted wolves here.” I saw Nathan tighten his hold on the girl named Sasha sitting on his lap. “What do you mean you need their help?” I could feel the distrust and anger in his voice. He must really hate witches for some reason or another.

Brandon started to growl and wrap me in his arms. “Well why don’t you let her explain before you jump the gun and growl at her man. Whether you’re my best friend or not, I won’t let anyone growl at my mate.” Leo and Zero stepped between the two men, without growling they used their alpha aura to make them both submit and bare their necks. “No more interruptions. Let Sabrina speak.” Leo said. I nodded to the two alphas. “Thank you, now as Jess has said. Magic like this takes a lot and for this many people I will need to borrow some energy and strength from the gifted wolves in this room. I will need just 3 drops of blood from each and it will only work with their consent.” Jess nodded and looked to the other two.

“Sasha. Rico. Will you be ok in helping Angel with this spell? I promise you that it won’t harm anyone. It will be like we are reliving her memory.” Jess said to the beta twins. Rico and Sasha looked at each other and nodded. I pulled out a vial of witch’s essence to collect their blood in. “Wait doesn’t this count as blood magic?” Nathan asked before I brought the vial to Sasha. I shook my head.

“No blood magic is if I was to forcibly take their blood and mix it with my own, and that would allow me to take their powers for myself permanently. This here is my witch essence. Mixing their blood with it will allow me to borrow them temporarily and it would only work with their full permission to do so.” Once I opened the vial, Sasha bit her finger and allowed three drops to fall in. Rico did the same. I walked over to Jess and she stared back at me. “Are three drops really all you need for this?” I smiled and nodded. Jess then bit her finger, but she put four drops instead of three.

I raised an eyebrow looking at her. “Midnight said one more to be safe.” I smiled and shook my head. I then closed the vial and shook it. Mixing the contents thoroughly while chanting a spell. I drew a magic circle on the table and sat in the center. “Now everyone hold hands, and make sure everyone is connected like in a chain.” Raphael placed a hand on my left shoulder and Brandon placed his on my right. I made sure everyone was holding hands. When all was ready. I opened the vial and downed the contents. My vision then turned pure white.

Jess’s POV

The spell worked. We were transported to the same black space that I saw when Sabrina did this with my past. “You guys can let go now, but stay close to Angel.” I said to everyone. “Why is it black? Did something go wrong?” Sophie asked, hugging close to Roy. I shook my head. “No think of this as the main menu on a DVD, in a moment or two we will start seeing everything Angel did, but remember the things we are about to see and hear have already happened and no one will be able to hear or see us, and we will be able to hear Angel’s thoughts when she thinks to herself. Everyone in the memory will just walk through us like we aren’t even here.” They all nodded and then the darkness started to lift and we could see what Sabrina lived through.

The Painful Truth

Chapter 35 - Wild Love With My Triplet Mates

(This is the past they are seeing in the memory mind share.)

Sabrina's POV

"Come on sis, get out of that bed, or you and your wolf are not getting breakfast!" I called up the stairs. I am so happy my little sister found her mate. It is rare for a witch to find their true mate because we can not be killed by time. Witches were like vampires on that note. We could live for centuries and centuries. The only way to kill a witch is either using witch hunting tools or killing our mate with magic. I was pulled from my thoughts at the thunderous footsteps coming down the stairs. I turn around and start laughing.

"Willy put me down. Hahaha." My little sister, Tasha, said while being over her mate's shoulder like a sack of flour. He laughs but still does not put her down. I roll my eyes at their love bird antics. It had officially been two years since they found each other. I am honestly surprised that they haven't had a child yet. "I guess a wolf's hunger for food can rival that of cuddling with his mate. Huh Tasha?" She glared at me when William finally let her down, but he still had her in his lap. "Nothing will override my need to be with her. That is why I take her everywhere I go." William said as he nuzzled his pouting mate. She rolled her eyes and giggled at his antics. "OK, ok hurry up before you too give me diabetes with all this sweetnest."

They both laughed and the three of us enjoyed our family breakfast together. William had to go on patrol with the other pack warriors, so Tasha decided to stay home while I went to the pack hospital as I normally did with my day. "Hello Sabrina. How are you today?" One of the nurses asked as I walked in. I smile at all of them. "I'm doing good. A little lonely but still as happy as can be." The nurses all nodded.

"I can understand that. I feel happy my sister has her mate, but sad I haven't found mine yet. I think all of us feel that way one way or another." one said. Then another spoke up. "I can't imagine how you must feel, especially since you told us that witches sometimes never find their mates."

She got up to get me a quick hug. Even though wolves were known for not getting along with other creatures, it made me happy to see that the ones in the Nightmare pack were open to the idea. "Hey we are going out with some of the single warriors tonight for some drinks. Why don't you come with us. Even if you can't find your true mate yet, you could still live a bit and have some fun with the singles." She said, while nudging me and wiggling her eyebrows. We all burst out laughing. "I think I might, but make sure to tell Lucy. No playing matchmaker tonight.

They all nodded and I went on with my day. Helping the doctors and nurses with natural remedies and slaves that helped the wolves heal a bit faster and made the old one more comfortable. Even with magic you can't completely cure someone's illness, but the next best thing was to make them live as comfortably as possible. Then there was a rush of emergency. Some of the pack warriors were brought in on stretchers. William being one of them.

Since I was his sister in law, I couldn't be there when they treated him. So I helped with the others. They had some cuts and wounds that were laced with silver and wolf's bane. There would be some sacring, but nothing life threatening. Tasha burst in the doors wanting to see William immediately. I grew scared she was losing it so I used my magic to bind her so she would listen. "William is still in surgery Tasha. You need to calm down. You are in a hospital." I whispered trying my best to calm her. She snapped her head at me with rage in her eye. She was not thinking clearly as she normally would.

"Calm down?! Calm down!?! How the hell can I be calm when my mate is in pain and you are not in there to treat him?! What kind of sister are you to let him be treated by others?!" I was hurt by her words, but she was so distraught I knew she would lash out at anyone. I rather take her scorn than let the others here feel it. A witch's magic is solely connected to their emotions. If directed this scorn and anger to any of these wolves she could have killed them. Me being her elder sister and stronger than her, they were nothing but hurtful words.

I gently placed both hands on her face and looked her dead in the eyes and said "I am sorry Tasha." I put a sleeping charm on her. She fell into my arms and with the help of one of the pack warriors next to me we placed her on an empty bed in another room. I stayed next to her until Doctor Roland came over. He looked between her and me with a pain expression. I knew that was not good.

"We did all we could. The most we can do is make him comfortable. He is a strong hybrid, so we think he will last maybe three days with the silver dust in his system. Please try and prepare your sister for the worst outcome." he said then left. Some nurses brought William into the same room we brought Tasha in. I will stay until they wake up.

It was around two in the morning when William groaned awake. "Owww I feel like I was hit with you stupid wash bins all over Sabrina." he said with a strained laugh. I chuckled and walked over to him. "I am so glad that you feel yourself to be honored by my punishments." He grinned, and looked over at his mate in the next bed, then back to me. "I take it that I don't have much time, do I?" I took a deep breath and shook my head. "The doctor said that you would be lucky to last the next three days, but there is silver dust in your system that they could not extract, and all I can do is keep you comfortable until the end."

William rached for my hand and gripped it tight. "I will accept my fate Sabrina, but please take care of your sister for me. You are the only one able to keep her from the darkness." I nodded with tears in my eyes. "I will protect her the best I can, William, but you and I both know that if she gives into her grief and sorrow, even I can not save her. You have to convince her to let you go." Since he was not dying of magic, but the natural way to kill werewolves. Tasha would not die. She could live on and maybe find him again in another life, but she would have to let him go and move on with her life.

Tasha started to groan and turn over. My charm had worn off. She woke up to see William next her. She jumped up and clung to him. "You can not leave me like that. I was so scared you would not make it." she said and her tears came rolling down her cheeks. William grabbed her and set her on his lap. "I will give you two some alone time." I said as I left the room. I walked to the nurses station and they all ran to me and gave me a big group hug.

"We heard what the Doctor said. Is there any way to help Tasha?" the head nurse asked. I shook my head. "No. All I can do is use my magic to keep her under control. The rest will be up to Tasha." Another nurse asked "What if she doesn't take it so well? I know you can't control her forever." I took a deep breath. "I would have to use belladonna on her." I said in a whisper, but them being wolves they heard me perfectly clear. "Isn't that extremely poisonous for witches?!" one of them exclaimed.

I nodded. "Yes, but I swore to protect this pack. This pack gave me a purpose in my long life and a place to call my home. I need to do what must be done to insure it is safe." A scornful witch would destroy this pack in minutes. I would use the belladonna on both Tasha and myself.

I returned to the room and Tasha was still clinging and crying on William's chest. "Sabrina?!" she screamed as she saw me. "You have the magic to fix this, you could save him." She pleaded with me. "No Tasha. Blood magic would not save him. It would turn your sweet kind William into something completely unnatural and unholy. He would become a monster and we would lose our souls to the darkness. Please little sister. Let him go and rest in peace?" I begged as I clung to her in a tight hug. She shoved me away with such force that threw me into a wall.

"Tasha!? Calm down please!?" William cried out. Tasha looked at her mate with wide eyes. "I will be back, my love, and you will be good as new." she smiled and snapped her fingers to disappear. William tried to get up. "Where is she going? Sabrina are you alright?" I nodded my head "I need to follow her. Rest up William." I snap my fingers and try to find my sister. It had been a week and a half since Tasha left the hospital room like that. William would have gone heartbroken not seeing her in his final hours, if I didn't use a spell to take her form for it. I checked our home, the pack house, the falls, I looked everywhere for her. She stole our grandmother's ancient spell book. She is nowhere near the level to be using it. If she tries what I think she is planning. Not only will she damn her soul, but William's as well.

I grab the belladonna pellet in my hand. I placed it in my pouch since Tasha disappeared. Then all of a sudden I got a message from Alpha Romeo, he was summoning me to his office at once. I teleported to him in seconds. "Yes alpha, what has happened?" I asked as I bow. "Have you seen my son, Alex? No one can seem to find him anywhere. He has not been seen since he left for his mates house in town." I shook my head. "No sir, I have been searching day and night for Tasha. I have not really seen anything out of the ordinary." I said then Luna Cathrine spoke. "Sabrina, when was the last time you ate or slept?"

I know I looked like a ragged mess, but I shook my head. "There is no time for rest luna. I need to find Tasha before she does something to harm this pack or herself. I will do a tracking spell to try and find Alex." I take out a small pocket map and prick my finger. I chant a spell as my blood drops onto the map. The blood should make a path and stop at the location Alex is at. The blood does nothing. My heart sinks. I try again another three times. The result is the same.

“I can’t find him. Either someone is blocking me or he is no longer of this world.” I said with a grim panic in my voice and looked at the alpha and luna. She gasps and the alpha roars in sadness and anger. “What happened Sabrina? How could this happen?” the alpha roared at me. “I don’t know. Only a witch or warlock stronger than me could block me.” “And that is exactly what happened dear sister.” I turned around and there stood Tasha. She had Alex tied up on her left and William’s dead body on her right.

“Tasha! Realise Alex now!!” I demand. Standing and protecting the alpha and luna from my sister. She sneered and said “I’m the stronger one now big sister. This book has given me the knowledge and power far greater than I could imagine.” She cackled evilly like some cartoon villain. “I need this boy’s gift in order to bring my sweet mate back to me. Then we can live together again.” She said and I shook my head “NO!! Doing that will turn you and William into monsters. You can still choose the right thing. Let Alex go and return William to his resting place. You can still come back and be our sweet Tasha. The Tasha that William loved so much in life and still loves even in death.”

She turned her eyes to me and screamed. She waved her hand and I was flung to the wall. Magical chain appeared and bond me to the wall. “Says the one willing to use belladonna on her own sister. You would kill your blood to protect this pack?!”

I cried at the pain, and also at the truth. “Yes, because as a witch we must keep the world in balance. You can’t just use your magic to fix everything. Everything has a cost. If you kill Alex to bring William back it will be a never ending cycle, and everytime you bring him back he will become more and more of a monster. The same with you Tasha. Please. Let me help you. Don’t be swallowed up by the dark magic.” I sobbed as she just stared at me with cold lifeless eyes. She kicked Alex in the gut and woke him up. “Give me your gifts young wolf or suffer.” She spat towards him. He looked from her to me crying on the wall and then to his parents.

Tasha was not like waiting for an answer so she shot a fire ball from her hand and hit the luna in the stomach. “Mother!!” Alex cried out, the alpha roared and tried to charge at Tasha. She snapped her fingers and silver chains appeared on him dragging him to the ground. “Tasha please stop this!?” I begged. She glared at me “Not until I get my William back.”

Alex started to shake with anger and growled. Tasha smirked. My eyes widened when I figured out what she was doing. “Alex please calm down. She is trying to turn you feral. If you do then she can take your gift and your life. Please hear me. Calm down!!” I yell so much I feel like I am losing my voice, but I have to stop this. Alpha Romeo hears me and tries to help calm his son by using his alpha voice. “ALEXANDER CALM DOWN!!” he bellowed, but nothing was working. Tasha smirked. “Those silver chains are enchanted. It makes the big bad alpha voice seem like a whimpering puppy.” she laughed. I had to stop this.

I take a deep breath to calm myself. Then I blast the chains away with my energy. I fall to my knees panting. I was not ready for a fight, I haven’t slept in over a week trying to find her, but I will die before I let her do this without a goddamn fight about it. I tried to steady myself, but Tasha blasted her energy at me.

I was knocked down while Alex was starting to shift. No, I had to hurry. I grabbed the belladonna potion from my satchel and smashed it on the ground. The smell filled the room and Tasha growled at me like a beast. She didn't wait for Alex to fully shift, she plunged a silver dagger into his heart and started chanting the spell. "NO!!" the alpha and I yelled. I could see the life from Alex's eye leave and his soul being sucked up into the knife. Once his soul was in the knife she turned around and plunged it into William's body.

William's body began to shake and jerk as if he was having a seizure. Then his eyes opened. His once silver eyes had become a blood red. I was becoming very weak with the belladonna fumes filling the room, but so was Tasha. The chains that were once around the alpha disappeared and he gathered his only child along with his mate by his side. Both dead. Tasha laughed weakly as she looked at me.

"I have my William back. Now you and this pack can die together." She snapped her fingers and her and William were gone, but she placed a bomb with a 30 second countdown on it. I was too weak to move. The next thing I know Alpha Romeo is next to me. He picked me up and said "You must live. Live and kill those monsters once and for all. Bring their souls peace Sabrina and remember that none of this was your fault." As he said that the alpha threw me out the window just as the bomb went off. I heard multiple explosions around me but I couldn't stay awake. everything went black.

"Apparently Midnight's blue eye allows us to move objects with our mind and her green one allows us to make others see what we want. I can use them to an extent in my human form, but they are most powerful in Midnight's form." Sasha and Rico looked at each other then back at me. "Telekinesis and illusions? Looks like training is going to be fun." Sasha said with a huge grin. Rico smiled while nodding to agree with his sister. I suddenly had a bad feeling. Next thing I knew, Sasha had thrown something at me. I shut my eyes tight, but I didn't feel anything. I slowly opened one eye and saw that it was an eraser floating right in front of me. "Good reflex, but we will have to work on you keeping your eyes open." Sasha said with a grin. I roll my eyes at her and placed the eraser on the table. Then I turn to my alphas. "Well, let's go home."

Wrapping up and Starting Fresh

Chapter 36 - Wild Love With My Triplet Mates

Jess’s POV

I bolted out of the mind share gasping for air. Hero gently grabbed me and guided me to a chair behind me. Zero placed a hand on my back and rubbed circles to try and calm me down. Leo bent me over. “Place your head between your knees princess. Take deep breaths slowly.” I tried to breath slowly like he said to but it was getting difficult to do. Then I heard a voice in my head. One that I had never heard before. “Jess, breath with me in and out.” I felt this voice gently help me control my breathing. When I calmed down I looked around the room. “Jess you ok?” Alex. “Yeah. Who was that?” I asked while rubbing my head.

Alex smiled. That was Spike, my wolf. He got worried that you and Midnight were having trouble breathing, so he used the bond to help ease your breathing.” I have never heard of the wolves between siblings, even twins, being able to speak to each other. “It is normally not possible, but your and Alex made a blood bond. The blood bond made it stronger between the four of us. No matter how far you are from us little sister. I will be able to find you.” Spike said. I looked at Alex and he seemed to hear it too. I smiled at him then I turned to check on Sabrina.

“Angel, Are you ok?” I asked her. She was looking downward. “I’ll live, but I still feel so helpless that I couldn’t stop her all those years ago. I thought she inhaled enough of the belladonna gas to kill her even if she ran away, and that William would not survive long without Tasha to perform the spell. I didn’t even recognize the wolf that bit you, Jess, as William. His wolf was beautiful with light gray fur like his hair and eyes, but the one that bit you when you were 13 was a reddish brown color.”

Sabrina took a small orb out of her pocket and placed it on the table. She sprinkled some dust on it while saying a spell. It started to glow and then it was like watching it on a 60 inch TV. She showed everyone there what happened the day the luna died. She freezed it when the wolf latched onto my arm. She was right. The wolf that bit me was a reddish brown color, but I looked closer at its eyes. “Angel, those eyes are the same as the ones William had when Tasha brought him back.” She looked closer as well and then nodded.

“Could you finish this please?” Roy asked before Sabrina could cut the image. She looked at me as if asking for permission. I looked to Roy, Alex, and Selena. Then I nodded to Sabrina. Roy and Alex must want closer from the past. Besides, I have seen this play in my head every night since that day, before Sabrina gave me the potion to help my nightmares. Sabrina waved her hand over it and it resumed playing. I watched the wolf that grabbed the luna by her neck and snap it like it was nothing, when she was distracted and turned to help me. Wait a minute.

“Angel play that part again and when the wolf grabs Lady Isabella please freeze it.” She did what I asked and I looked closer at the wolf. “Angel, look at that wolf’s eyes. Do you see what I see?” I asked with a shaken breath. Sabrina leaned in closer and then let out a gasp. The wolf had one silver eye and one yellow eye. The wolf had the same color eyes Tasha and William had before they fell into darkness. “William and Tasha had a child!?” Sabrina cried as she fell to the floor sobbing. Brandon crouched beside her to comfort her.

So now we were looking for a whole family of murders. I pray to the Moon Goddess that Sabrina would be able to handle this lost over again. Roy, seeming to feel the same way I did, came around the table and took Sabrina’s hand in his. “Sabrina. As alpha of the Red Moon pack, if your niece or nephew can be reformed, I will release them into your care.” he said to her. She looked up at him in tears. “Thank you Roy.” she replied. Roy nodded “But if they can not, please find it in your heart to forgive me for carrying out judgment.” He bowed his head. Sabrina knew us wolves were all about our laws. With tears in her eyes she hugged Roy. He was still giving her a chance to have some family left and that was all she wanted. “Thank you, Alpha Roy”

Roy helped Sabrina stand and then she turned to my alphas. “Alpha Leo, Alpha Zero, and Alpha Hero. I would like to bind myself to your pack and serve and protect it like I did at the Nightmare pack. I failed once and I will die this time before I failed again.” She said with tears and determination in her eyes. My alphas didn’t even take long to decide. “We would be honored to have you join our pack, Sabrina. We will wait until you're ready to go. We already have Jess all packed up.” Leo said. Sabrina smiled and laughed “I already packed up. I did that as soon as Jess and Sophie left my place earlier.” She snapped her fingers and a bag appeared on the table.

“One bag? Don't you women always have a bunch of stuff to pack and bring with you?” Hero asked. I shot him a light glare. “What is that supposed to mean mister?” He raised his hands in defeat. “Sorry honey I meant nothing by it.” Everyone started laughing at Hero being in the hot seat. “Conveniently for a witch I can use magic to pack up my whole cottage in this one little bag.” Sabrina said. While Hero was hugging me trying to earn my forgiveness for his ‘woman’ comment, Raphael asked me “So Jess what are your ture gifts?” I almost forgot about telling them about that.

“Apparently Midnight’s blue eye allows us to move objects with our mind and her green one allows us to make others see what we want. I can use them to an extent in my human form, but they are most powerful in Midnight’s form.” Sasha and Rico looked at each other then back at me. “Telekinesis and illusions? Leaving Home Again

Chapter 37 - Wild Love With My Triplet Mates

After we wrapped up our meeting, we met Stella, Rose, and the kids out front. “Wow that has to be the quickest meeting you guys ever had.” Stella said, handing Star to Jorge so she could give me a big bear hug. “I know right. Last time you guys had a meeting about this jerkwad you spent an entire night talking about how to handle this.” Rose commented also giving me the biggest and tightest hug she could muster. “Yea well a good friend made the meeting go a lot smoother than normal plus we got a lot more information out of it.” I said while turning to Sabrina. Sabrina was still a bit nervous being around all these wolves, but if I said she was a friend then Stella and Rose wouldn’t think twice of it.

They both smiled at Sabrina and then Star that was in Jorge’s arms reached out for Sabrina. She looked a bit panicked and she didn’t know what to do. Jorge just smiled and placed Star into Sabrina’s arms. Star’s sweet giggles filled the air as she sat in Sabrina’s arms, then all of a sudden Ryan got doused with water. “What the hell?!” He yelped as he wiped the water from his face. Star started giggling more. Sabrina looked at Star closely and then towards Stella and Jorge. “I think you have a gifted child. She is an Arctic Wolf. They can control water and ice.” Sabrina said. Jorge and Stella looked shocked.

“She will be very strong as she grows older. Normally gifted wolves don’t get their gifts until they are 10, she looks like she is only a bit older than one.” Sabrina continued. “What would cause the gift to come early?” I asked, Sabrina shrugged but then it seemed like an idea hit her. “Jess you said the Moon Goddess unlocked your gifts early right?” I nodded “Well since I used yours and Midnight’s hair in her protection charm, it could have unlocked her gifts early as well.” “So how do we keep it under control until she gets older?” Jorge said looking between his little girl and Ryan still soaking wet while he was wringing out his wet shirt.

Sabrina used magic to make Star float, which made her giggle more, and started looking through her bag. She took out a light pink potion and handed it over to Stella. “Put just one drop in her bottle three times a day. That should help control it until she is old enough to train with me. I can always make more and here is this.” She handed Jorge a few of those summoning sticks she had given me earlier. “If it comes to a point where the potion isn’t working and she is losing control of her gifts, call me right away and I will come check on her.” Jorge and Stella were very happy to have Sabrina’s help. I finished giving everyone hugs. Even Ryan, who was still not too pleased about being soaked by a one year old, but Sabrina dried him off quickly.

I hold Wilson and Maria tight and kiss their heads. “Don’t worry I will still come back for your birthday next month.” Maria held out her pinkie finger and I took it with mine. Then she looked at Wilson that was embarrassed but still put his pinkie in the group too. “Pinkie Promise” the three of us said together. Raphael and the others started laughing. Roy hugged Sophie and promised her that once he got ahead of his pack duties he would be over to Raven Moon and help her pack her stuff to come to Red Moon. Alex hugged me and told me next I see him he will be with our parents. I smiled and we loaded up into the vehicles.

Nathan, Sasha, and Sophie were driving the big SUV that had the trailer attached to it. Brandon, Sabrina, and Rico were in a bright red jeep, that Sasha told them if they wrecked it their asses were hers. I hopped in the driver seat of my truck, Zero hopped in the passenger seat. Leo and Hero hopped in the backseat of my truck. They were surprised because they were 6'7 and they had plenty of legroom in the back. "I like big things." I said with a smirk to the triplets. Zero playfully growled and said "We got some pretty big things that you are gonna love when we get you home tonight."

I smirked while putting my shades on trying to play it cool, but my body was betraying me as moisture started to pool between my legs. "We can smell you honey." Hero whispered in my ear from behind me. It sent a shiver down my spine and made me more aroused than before. "You boys better behave yourselves, or I am going to kick you out of the truck and you can ride with Rico or Nathan." I told them. I may be horny for my three sexy alphas, but I was not going to have my very first time in my goddam truck. Damn it why did Raven Moon have to be three hours away. "This is gonna be torture." Midnight whined. She was just as turned on as I was and it was our alpha mates' fault.

I turned the truck over and it roared to life. "Purring like a kitten." I said. Leo shook his head and replied to my comment with one of his own. "I would hate to see the kind of kitten that purrs like this." Hero, Zero, and I laugh at him and I reach for the radio. I pushed the power and it started blaring "Hips Don't Lie" by, Shakira. I pulled away from Thunder Mountain while wiggling my hips and singing to the song. Nathan and Rico followed me.

"What kind of work does your family do?" My princess asked. "Believe it or not we are in the childrens toys and candy business." I told her. Her eyes sparkled. "What's the company name?" She asked, sounding excited. "The name is under our mother's family name since it was her family that started it. It is Hawkins Toys and Treats." I told her. Her eyes lit up like a kid at christmas time. "That is my and the kid's favorite brand!!" She was so overjoyed it was adorable. "Could we please surprise the kids next month with their own special candies or something for their birthday?" She asked with some of the most adorable puppy dog eyes. "We can see what we can do." I said. She nodded with a smile. Accepting it without a bitch fit, like other girls would when we gave them answers like that. Our mate was perfect for us.

Traveling with Horndog Alphas

Zero's POV

Damn my sweetheart has some moves. I watch Jess as she wiggles her hips and sings the different songs that some on the radio. "I would like to see those moves in the bedroom when we get home" Lucifer said in my head. "I am with you there pal, though I also want to snap that son of a bitch's neck for biting Jess when she was a kid." Lucifer growled in agreement. It was one thing when Jess told us about it, but it felt completely different seeing it happen on Sabrina's little glass orb thing. "Once we get her to Raven Moon, she will be loved and pampered." Lucifer said. I looked at Jess still wiggling and singing and felt nothing but love for her. I couldn't wait to see her round with our pup.

I put my hand on Jess's thigh as she was doing her cute little wiggling dance. She jumped a bit. She reached over and turned the radio off. "Is there something you need Mr. Alpha?" She asked with a smirk on her full lips and raised one of her eyebrows. I couldn't see her beautiful eyes because of the damn sunglasses, but I knew they were darting between me and the road. "Yea sweetheart. I need something really bad." I said. "Oh and what might that be?" she asked back with a sassy attitude. I leaned over and growled lowly in her ear. I saw her shiver.

"I need you to be rounded with our pup and soon." I whispered in her ear with a purr. I heard Leo and Hero softly growl at that. "That is something I need to honey." Hero said while reaching around the seat to rub her sides. It made my lower region hard at the smell of her being turned on. I couldn't wait to get her home. Tonight will be the night we have our luna fully. She playfully smack mine and Hero's hands away. "You boys keep this up and you won't get anything until my birthday in three months." I would love to see her and Midnight resits us for that long.

Hero's POV

An hour into the trip and Jess is making a pit stop to fill up the tank and use the restroom. She gets out to stretch and her shirt lifts up slightly showing the tip top of her panties. Loki starts purring in my head and he starts flashing different pictures in my mind on what we could do to her in bed. "Hey don't make this harder than it already is dude. I want her just as bad, but we got to make her first time special." I said to my horny wolf counterpart. "Well I can't help it. I want my mate too, but I can't do anything with Midnight until you three knuckle heads complete the bond with Jessabella first." Loki snorted out towards me. I roll my eyes at my wolf. I know he wants his mate too. Trust me seeing how other guys just turn to look at our little warrior mate burns me up.

"Loki giving you an earful too little bro?" Zero said from the front. I nodded and then turned to Leo. "What about you Leo? Fang giving you trouble?" I asked. He shrugged his shoulders. "Fang is trying to be a calm as he can be, but seeing another male put his teeth on his mate has made him want to mark her even more." Zero and I nod at that remark. Even if it was just us seeing a memory from her past. Us alphas are very possessive over what is ours. No other male should be touching what belongs to my brothers and I.

Jess is coming back from the restroom when some ass whole wolf decides he wants to smack her ass right in front of all of us. Jess stopped dead in her tracks. My brothers and I were about to rip open the doors and kill this son of a bitch, but our sexy little mate handled it for us. She spun around and nailed the bastard in the head with her boot. Then she walked back to the truck like nothing happened. “Dammit I hate it when bastards like that think I am just some booty prized they can grab and touch all they want.” She spat out as she started the truck again. I wrapped my arms around the seat to rub her little round ass and she gasped.

“Hero, what did I say about behaving until we get home?” she cried out. I could already smell her arousal just from my touch. “I just don’t like that we saw another man touch you like that. You belong to me and my brothers.” I said in a deep husky voice right in her ear. She shivered and smelled even more mouth watering than before. Her smell alone made me hard as a fucking rock. She playful smacked my hands away from her ass and gave me a light glare through the rearview mirror. Zero and Leo started laughing that I had put myself in the hot seat once again, but I don’t care. My honey is going to know no matter how mad she is. She will crave for me and my brothers in the bedroom every night.

Leo’s POV

I wish Hero would learn to keep his mouth shut sometimes. “You know he is only telling the truth Leo. She and Midnight belong to us and only us.” Fang says with pride. “That is not what I am talking about Fang. It is that fact that my brothers are making her so turned on that it fills the whole cab of the truck, and we can’t release it anytime soon. Just her smell alone makes us hard and being too hard can be very painful.” I throw back at him. Fang just snickers at me. “Why are you laughing at me?” I ask him. “No you know how I feel knowing that Midnight is close but I can’t do anything either.”

I roll my eyes at my wolf. “You ok their Leo?” I hear my princess ask me as she drives down the freeway. “I will be much better once I can have you in my arms later tonight. Your smell is making it hard to remain a gentleman.” I wink at her and she blushes. “It is so cute to see our warrior luna blush like a teenage girl when we tease her.” Zero said. She rolled her eyes at him. “This warrior luna is still a girl and even a blind girl would blush with everything you three say. Your daddy must have taught you all how to sweet talk a girl.”

An idea popped into my head just then when she mentioned our father. “Princess you said you speak french and japanese right?” I asked her. She just smirked at me through the rearview mirror and said “Oui, mon alpha sexy. Je peux parler français et japonais” (Yes, my sexy alpha. I can speak French and Japanese) The way she sounds with those accents sets a fire in me. Fang starts purring along. “Alright little miss smart ass. Now say something in japanese.” I ordered. Even though my luna wouldn’t feel compelled to follow my orders my sassy princess decided to show me some more. “Sono arufatōnmisutā de watashi o chūmon shinaide kudasai,-sa mo nai to kon'ya hottoshīto de hīrō ni sankashimasu” (Don’t you order me in that alpha tone mister, or you will join Hero in the hot seat tonight.)

“Alright, alright my little princess. I was just teasing, but since you are multilingual I was wondering if you could help us and get some contracts from overseas.” Zero nodded. “Yea he started talking to some of his friends in France a bit, but they all spoke English the people we need only speak French. They are the kind of people that get upset when people can not speak French properly.” Zero said. “Dad’s French is the best out of all of us and that wasn’t good enough for them, maybe you can convince them honey. I mean who could deny such a sexy, sassy, sexy she-wolf like you?” Hero added. Though I think the compliments were meant to get him out of the hot seat.

“What kind of work does your family do?” My princess asked. “Believe it or not we are in the children’s toys and candy business.” I told her. Her eyes sparkled. “What’s the company name?” She asked, sounding excited. “The name is under our mother’s family name since it was her family that started it. She nodded with a smile. Accepting it without a bitch fit, like other girls would when we gave them answers like that. Our mate was perfect for us.

“I never thought of that, but maybe I should try it out. Especially since I’m not in my little cottage anymore. Thank you Hero.” Sabrina said, looking calmer. I looked out the window and saw a beautiful mansion come into view. It had to be at least 5 stories high. It almost looked like a hotel in the middle of the woods. It was mostly white marble with black and gray accents. There was a raven, with a full wing span, overlapping a full moon carved into the front of the whole mansion. “Whoa. This place is beautiful.” I said. Sabrina nodded in agreement admiring the decor too much to speak. The triplets smiled. “Welcome to your new home ladies. This is the Raven Moon pack house.” Leo said with a smile.

Drunken Trouble

Chapter 39 - Wild Love With My Triplet Mates

Jess’s POV

After three hours of driving we finally made it to Raven Moon territory. I pull over to fill the tank and stretch my legs a bit. "Hey sweetheart since it is around dinner time would you like me to drive the rest of the way? We can show you around the town this weekend." I thought about it and I was a bit tired of driving and I didn't know these woods like I did back at Thunder Mountain. "Sure baby, you can take over. I'm ready for some food and a bath." I saw Hero's eyes flash black for a minute.

"Down boy or you will be getting a cold shower tonight." Sabrina came over stretching too. "That was a long drive. I hate long distance trips." I could see that. She barely left her cottage back at Thunder Mountain, so she really never got out much. "Jess, could you crack my back for me? I am really stiff." She asked while rubbing her lower back. "Sure Angel. Turn around." Sabrina turned around and folded her arms across her chest in an 'X' shape. I wrapped my arms around her and lifted her up, stretching her back backwards and hearing it crack all down her spine. "Oh my goodness. That feels so much better. Thanks Jess." She said while stretching her arms. "No problem Angel." I said as I started walking to the cashier to pay.

Sabrina comes with me. She wanted to check how much things have changed since the last time she was out in a town full of people. I pay for my gas and some sweets that Sabrina wanted to try. On the way out we run into a couple of drunk human men, a tall brown haired man, a short brown haired man, and a blonde haired man, that stumbled into the gas station for something or another. They reeked of booze and I mean they must have just dumped the bottles on themselves instead of drinking it. "Well, well, well. We don't see many pretty little things like you around here often." The tall brown haired man slurred.

Oh moon goddess I wish I had a gas mask. Their breath was worse than the outside B.O. Sabrina grabbed my head. She couldn't mind link like us wolves, but with contact or a special bond she could talk with her mind. "Jess, what do we do? They are humans. I can't use my magic on them." She was scared. Sabrina was known as a white witch. White witches could never harm humans, even if they deserve it. I never understood why, but I didn't blame her for being a bit scared. I was scared a bit too, with me being in a new territory I couldn't mind link anyone either and I didn't want to cause trouble for my alphas in their territory. "I am sorry but we need to go. Our husbands are out in the vehicles waiting for us. We were just stopping for some gas and snacks." I tried to be as polite as possible.

Fighting against a vampire or another wolf would be one thing, but things were completely different when dealing with humans that were weaker than supernatural creatures. They were not bound by the same laws that we were. I tried to walk past the men with Sabrina behind me, keeping myself between the men and Sabrina, but the blonde hair man stepped in my way and grabbed me by the shoulder. "Now don't be so cold, lovely. We don't see no wedding bands on your fingers. We can show you girls a real good time." Ugh I felt like I was going to be sick to my stomach. He pressed up against me and I felt the bulge in his pants. Midnight was cridging and wanted a bath right now.

Holding back as best I could. I kned the blonde guy in his family jewels and he let out a painful scream. "Oh you little bitch!!" I pushed Sabrina out the door and keeping myself between her and the other two. She runs to the car and I go to follow, but the tall brown haired man grabbed a handful of my hair and yanked me backwards. “You little bitch. We are gonna teach you how a woman should please a man.” He whispered in my ear while still holding onto my hair. He sniffed my neck and it made my skin crawl. If they had been anything but humans I would have no problem knocking them out, but humans were too fragile and I wasn’t a senseless killer.

Then there was a fearsome roar that shook the whole little store. My three alphas had busted in and they looked murderous. Sasha and Rico came in and stood between them. “It would be in your best interest to let my friend go sir. Her husbands are very protective over her and they will kill you here and now if you don’t drop her right now.” Sasha said, keeping her eyes on me. “Oh so she likes more than one cock in her huh. She sounds like the perfect little playmate for me and my buddies. We all like to share.” I felt so gross I couldn’t take it no more. Human or not, I stamped on this mother fucker’s foot so hard I heard some bones snap. He howled in pain and released my hair. I dashed for Zero as fast as I could.

Zero wrapped me in his arms and the men were pissed. “You fucking bitch! I’ll fucking kill you!” The man spat in a rage. My alphas were about to kill these men, human or not. Then a flash of red and blue surrounded us. “What seems to be the issue here fellas?” A stern voice called out. I could really see who it was because the light was so bright. “Officer Black.” I heard Zero say. Then I saw a large man with hazel eyes, light brown hair, and wide shoulders come into view. Leo stepped in to explain. “These drunkards were harassing our wife while she was paying for gas and snacks. She merely did self defence to get out of their hold.”

Officer Black nodded and turned to the drunk men. “How about you come with me down to the station boys? Give you some time to sober up before I question you.” Zero led me outside to the truck without waiting to hear anything else. Sabrina was also in the truck too. Without waiting for anything else to happen the triplets hopped in and drove off. “Don’t we need to wait, Zero?” Zero shook his head. “No princess. That officer is Brandon’s father, Lucas Black. He is a member of our pack and he will take care of anything for us with this issue. He is the main member of our pack that deals with the human's laws with him being the sheriff” Hero was pissed. “We should have killed those bastards.” he said looking out the window. Leo shook his head. “They were humans. Now if they were wolves, vampires, or any other kind of supernatural creature then we could have their heads, but humans are not bound by the same kind of laws we are. Killing them would have just made a huge mess of things.”

I cuddled up close to Hero, who was next to me, to try and calm him down. Hero turned towards me and embraced me tightly. I guess he and Loki needed to make sure I was safe and close. “So Jess is that why you didn’t just kick him like the last guy that slapped your ass?” Sabrina asked me. I smiled at her. “Yea. The last guy was a wolf, but because I was unmarked he assumed I was fair game or something. These guys were human and I could have easily killed them with a single hit. I'm not that good at holding back, but I'm also not the kind of person that likes taking a life, wolf or human. That is something I would only do if there was no other choice.” Leo turned to look at me. “Well princess, as long as long as my brothers and I can help it, you will never be in the position to take another life.”

I nodded and smiled. “Why didn’t Sabrina use her washbins on them?” Zero asked, still driving through the woods. “I’m a white witch, I can never use my magic on a human, even if they deserve it. Using it on a human would either drain me of all my magic or kill me outright.” The two older ones nodded, but Hero looked over at Sabrina. “Sabrina, what about if you learn self defence? That kind of stuff wouldn’t happen if you use your physical strength to defend yourself right?” he asked.

“I never thought of that, but maybe I should try it out. Especially since I’m not in my little cottage anymore. Thank you Hero.” Sabrina said, looking calmer. I looked out the window and saw a beautiful mansion come into view. It had to be at least 5 stories high. It almost looked like a hotel in the middle of the woods. It was mostly white marble with black and gray accents. There was a raven, with a full wing span, overlapping a full moon carved into the front of the whole mansion. “Whoa. This place is beautiful.” I said. Sabrina nodded in agreement admiring the decor to much to speak. The triplets smiled. “Welcome to your new home ladies. This is the Raven Moon pack house.” Leo said with a smile.

Chapter 40 - Wild Love With My Triplet Mates

Zero pulls up to the front and we all jump out. “Wow and I thought the Thunder Mountain pack house was big.” Sabrina nodded. “Well come on in. We can unpack your stuff tomorrow. We can have dinner with our parents and then relax tonight.” Hero said, taking me by the hand to lead me inside. The inside was just as beautiful as the outside. “Oh my boys are home!!” I heard a gentle voice say with excitement. I turned to the stairs and saw a beautiful woman about my height coming down the stairs. She had baby blue eyes and snow white hair.

Once she was down the steps he hugged each of the triplets until she got to me. “Oh my goodness. Is this who I think it is?” She asked, looking towards her sons. They just smiled. She gripped me in a death hug and squeezed as hard as she could. Whoa this woman was strong. “Oh I am so excited that my boys finally found their mate, and look how beautiful you are sweetie. I say you were well worth the wait.” Then a deep voice cut her off. “Layla if you don’t let her go, you are going to squeeze the life out of your daughter in law.” The triplets mom finally realized and loosened her grip so I could gasp for some air. “Oh my goodness. I’m so sorry dear. I was just so excited and...” she trailed off as I looked up and saw that she was looking behind me. “Sabrina?” she said as she let go of me.

Sabrina’s POV

This pack house was truly wonderful. Something in the air seemed familiar, but I haven’t left my little cottage for a long time. “Sabrina?” I heard a gentle voice call out to me. ‘Huh, that wasn’t Jessabelle’s voice. Who would be calling by name if I was new here?’ I thought to myself. I turned and there stood another familiar face. “Layla? Layla Hakins?” I was surprised. She let Jess go and ran to give me one of her famous death hugs. Though she ran so fast that she practically tackled me to the ground.

“Oh Sabrina, where in the world have you been?! Mother and father have been looking for you everywhere. Where have you been all these years?” she asked while sobbing into my shoulder. “Mom, you know her?” one of the triplets asked. Layla was their mother? What a small world this truly is. She turned and smiled with tears in her eyes. “Yes Leo, I do know her. This person was the one that saved my life when I was just a small child. She was the reason I was able to survive and meet my mate, your father, and have you three wonderful boys.” Layla said, still clinging to me.

“Wow, I guess it is a small world after all huh Angel?” Jess said with a grin. I smiled back and helped Layla stand up. I noticed a man that looked like an older mature version of the triplets. He must be Layla’s mate. Layla walked over to him and hugged his side. “Hello sir, I’m Sabrina. It’s nice to meet you.” I said with a bow. “Hello Sabrina. Layla has told me a lot about you and what you did for her when she was a little girl. My name is Felix Jackman, Layla’s mate.” I am glad she was able to survive the treatment. The last time I saw her was before Tasha went insane. “What do you mean she saved you?” another triplet asked. Damn I really need to learn to tell these three apart better. I snapped my fingers and each triplet was back in a different color shirt again. Jess giggled as if she read my mind. She pointed to each one and said their names for me.

“Leo, Zero, and Hero. Hahaha this is going to be fun seeing you try to tell them apart.” Jess started laughing. I snapped my fingers and names appeared on the triplet’s shirts and I dropped a wash bin on Jess’s head. “Owww son of a bitch, Angel!!” she cursed out while rubbing her head. Layla was wide eyed at Jess’s potty mouth. “Well my children’s mate sure does have a mouth.” she said. The triplets laughed. “That’s not the only thing she has mom.” Hero said, pulling Jess close and kissing her head. Leo and Zero nodded. “Yup our mate is almost exactly like Sasha, and she has a bad habit of climbing up and jumping down from high places.” Leo said. Felix started busting out laughing while Layla placed her head in her hands. “One Sasha was bad enough, now there are two?!” Jess looked a bit nervous and started to hide behind Hero.

Layla noticed and corrected herself. “Oh honey I didn’t mean it in a bad way. I was just thinking that I was going to have to worry about you getting hurt a lot too. That’s what I meant.” Jess lifted her head and shook it. “Oh you don’t have to fuss over me ma’am. I can take care of myself. I have been on my own for a long time.” Jess said, waving her hands in front of her. Felix didn’t let that slip by him. “What do you mean you have been on your own for a long time? Were you a rouge for a while?” he asked. Before Jess could answer, her stomach growled. She turned red as a tomato while everyone else laughed. “How about we talk more while we eat some dinner.” Layla said while leading us to the dining room.

Jess’s POV

The triplet’s mother grabbed my arm and brought us to a beautiful dining room. It had a long table big enough to fit about 50 people at once. The table was a nice dark wood. Mrs. Jackman sat me down next to her, ignoring her son’s complaints that only one could sit next to me now, and fixed me a plate. She piled a lot of everything onto the plate. There was roast beef, mashed potatoes with gravy, green beans, corn on the cob, and in another small dish she served me some salad.

“Ummm, Mrs. Jackman, this all looks good, but I don’t think I can eat all of this.” She smiled at me and said “Well one missy, do not speak so formal to me now that we are family. You can call me either mom or Layla, whichever makes you comfortable. Two for your tummy to growl so loudly you must be starving and I will not have my new daughter going hungry.” I looked to the triplets and their father for help. The triplets all shook their heads as if saying ‘Sorry, we can’t do anything.’ but the triplet’s father then began to speak. “I’m sorry dear. My wife can be overbearing and very over protective of her children and now that you are mated to the triplets you are one of our children.” He smiled kindly at me. I couldn’t remember the last time I was called someone’s child. I felt like a dam broke inside and before I realized it, I was crying.

“Oh dear what’s wrong? Is there something wrong with the food? We can make something else if you want.” Layla said. I shook my head and as I tried to wipe the tears away, but they just kept flowing. “There is nothing wrong with the food ma’am. It has just been a really long time since someone called me their child. I haven’t felt a parent’s love in so long. I feel silly for crying like a young pup for hearing you two call me your daughter.” I laughed a bit as I cried even more. The triplets parents looked at each other then their father came over to me and hugged me just like Layla had done. “You can cry all you want here. No one would judge you.” he said in a very kind voice. His aura was not of an alpha, but of a father and Midnight encouraged me to cling to it. She saw how alone I was for 5 long years before she came to me.

I wrapped my arms around Felix and clung to him and cried like a young pup. I felt so at home here. Even more than Thunder Mountain. I was where I truly belonged. Once I calmed down a bit I told Felix and Layla all about what happened at Red Moon, how I ran into the triplets during the luna ceremony after party, how I made up with Roy and Alex over at Thunder Mountain, and how I also am a special wolf with three gifts. Layla went berserk when she heard what happened at Red Moon and the day the Luna died.

“Alex said he would be bringing our parents with him the next time he came to visit me. I am pretty nervous.” I told them. Hero looked as if a thought just hit him. “Honey you said you forgave Roy and Alex years before we met, right?” I nodded. “So why don’t you just forgive your parents, like you did for Alex?” he asked. I didn’t know how to answer him. I looked down and fiddled with my hands. Layla stepped in for me. “Hero sweetheart. Think of it this way. If you were Jessabelle’s position and Leo, Zero, your father and I turned our backs on you, how would you feel towards your father and I as your parents?”

Hero thought for a moment and then it seemed to hit him. “I would feel absolutely betrayed, because you guys are my parents and you are supposed to love me, care for me, and protect me no matter what.” Layla nodded.

“It is easy to forgive the children that wronged her, because they copied what they saw the adults do. Whether it was wrong or right, but her parents should have gone against a heart broken alpha and still loved their daughter and protected her. Her parents went along with the shunning, Even if they didn’t do any name calling or take part in any of the beatings. They still did nothing at all to help her.” Layla said looking at her sons. Felix nodded and said “That is why she acts so tough. She is so used to being on her own and as you saw earlier. Just hearing how someone cares enough to call her their own child hit her heart so hard she had to cry.” The triplets nodded to what their parents were saying. After dinner Leo wanted to change the mood, so he stood up and walked straight over to me.

“Well Princess, I think it is time we take you to our room and take care of one of the things we talked about in the truck.” Leo said as he lifted me up and out of my seat with a big smirk on his face. I blushed beet red and Layla calls out to us as Leo is carrying my bridal style out of the dining room. “Oh make sure you make us plenty of grandchildren. We are not getting any younger here.” She yelled. I heard Sabrina start laughing as I got redder. Though I would be lying if I said I wasn’t excited to become one with each of my alphas.
