

The Almighty Lord Caspian Chapter 621

The Archers were horrified when the sound of gunfire resumed.

“What’s going on? I thought they had already ceased fire?”

“Didn’t Viktor already surrender? Why are they fighting again?”

“Could it be that Viktor feigned surrender and then attacked Caspian?”

“He must be an idiot! He only has a few thousand men left. How is he going to win against Caspian’s 200 thousand men?”

The Archers began to discuss the battle raging outside.

Suddenly, Kenzie ran into the room in a hurry,

He had wanted to join Viktor in surrendering.

When Caspian refused to spare them, Kenzie immediately ran back inside the house.

Nicholas asked, “What happened, Mr. Kenzie?”

Kenzie explained, “Caspian refused our surrender and opened fire at us!!

The Archers were horrified.

“I can’t believe Caspian is actually going to kill us all!”

“We’re all dead once Caspian manages to find us!”

“We’re not getting out of here alive...”

The Archers were so paralyzed with fear that they could no longer think straight.

“This is all your fault, Nicholas! You forced us all into this! Now none of us is getting out alive!”

Nicholas complained, “Why are you pinning everything on me? I only gave a suggestion, and all of you agreed to it!”

“We wouldn’t be here if not for you!”

Nicholas fell silent as he also felt guilty about it.

He then turned toward Kenzie. “Mr. Kenzie, you promised that we’d be safe as long as we worked for you! You have to keep us safe!”

Kenzie sounded helpless. “Who would’ve known that Caspian was so powerful? I thought that the combined force of Astronia and Vadesia could defeat Diatoran easily. I can’t even guarantee my own safety now, let alone yours!”

Lawrence spoke up, “What’s the point of talking about this now? We should look for a place to hide.”

“It’s useless! We won’t be getting out once Diatoran troops manage to enter the house!”

Lawrence complained, “Mr. Kenzie, I hope that you remember that you promised us guaranteed victory, only for the Vadesian troops to be eliminated within two days.”

“Who would’ve known that Diatoran had such a powerful weapon like the hurricane missiles? The entire bulk of the army at sea was annihilated in an instant! We wouldn’t have lost otherwise!

Viktor had no other choice but to give Ted another ca

It was truly the last resort.

“Your Majesty, Caspian just refused our surrender. What do we do now?”

Ted was flabbergasted. “What did you say?”

Viktor explained, “Our men threw down their weapons and surrendered, but Caspian still opened fire at us!”

“Is he crazy? I’ve never seen such a cruel God of War!”

“It’s over. Caspian will be breaking into the house anytime soon. There’s nothing left that we can do.”

Chapter 621 Viktor Was Killed

“Are you going to just sit around and resign yourself to fate?” the King asked

“We’ve arrived at a dead end. We’re getting ready to gather all the grenades and die together with the Diatoranian troops!” Viktor said.

“Champion Obrien, you’re Astronia’s war hero. Astronia can’t afford to lose you Is there really no other way out?” the King asked.

“There’s no other way. I just hope that I can die a heroic death. I don’t want everyone to say that I’m a war hero who’s afraid of dying and who knows nothing other than to surrender,” Viktor said.

“Don’t worry. I’ll definitely lead Astronia to avenge you!” the King said

“Thank you, Your Majesty!” Viktor said before hanging up the phone immediately.

All the Astronian soldiers outside had been killed.

Is everyone ready? When the Diatoranian troops storm in, we’ll die with them!! Viktor said.

“Yes, sir!”

“Roger that!” the deputy generals said in fear.

They were in despair, but there was nothing they could do.

The Diatoranian troops had already rushed in. Viktor and his men were prepared to die together.

Suddenly, gunshots could be heard outside the window.

Several deputy generals were shot directly in the head.

This sudden event brought great shock to Viktor.

All of them looked out the window.

When Viktor looked outside, he noticed someone standing there—it was Laina Barnes!

It turned out that she had been hiding in the residence this entire time!

She was now holding a pistol and pointing it at Viktor's head!

She had been in the residence this whole time and heard the order given by Viktor.

““Laina Barnes! It's you!” Viktor gritted his teeth in hatred.

““Bet you didn’t see this coming! I’m still here!” Laina guffawed while pointing the pistol at Viktor’s head.

“Were you the one who eavesdropped on our plan and told your team about it?” Viktor asked.

““That’s right. I was right next door at the time,” Laina answered.

“Laina, it’s all because of you that I’m suffering this absurd defeat!” Viktor dumdbounded.

If his plan had not been leaked, how would Caspian have known about the plan to capture Willow? This costed Viktor the chance of a final counter-attack.

Laina was surprised as well. She was about to leave the Archer residence when she happened to hear a meeting between Viktor and his subordinates. It was she picked up on a very important piece of information!

“Your failure has little to do with me. If you go up against Lord Caspian, you’ll definitely lose!” Laina said furiously.

“If it weren’t for you, I would’ve still had the chance of making a comeback!” Viktor gritted his teeth in hatred.

Immediately, he was prepared to detonate the grenades.

Nevertheless, he was still a little too slow.

With a loud bang, Laina opened fire immediately and shot Viktor to death.

After getting shot, Viktor collapsed to the ground.

Heaven imagined that his ending would be so tragic.

He had planned to die together with the Diatoranian troops. That way, he had at least left a lasting legacy.

In the end even this chance was not given to him.

Laina let out a sigh of relief after seeing Viktor was shot and killed.

She had killed Viktor with her own hands. This was considered a great achievement/

She had stumbled to the Archer's residence by mistake, but ultimately, she made it to 2000 plus big!

It was at that moment when a group of Diatoranian soldiers rushed in.

They were stunned when they saw Viktor and his men dead on the ground.

Moreover, all of them were covered in explosives. There were many grenades on the ground as well.

"How could Viktor and his men have all been killed?"

"Who did this? Did they commit suicide?"

"I don't think that's the case. It seems like they were planning a suicide attack on us." Everyone began discussing.

Then, from the window, they saw a beautiful figure.

"I was the one who killed them!" Laina smiled.

"Who are you?"

As Laina was from Task Force Rose, the privates had never seen her before.

"I'm Laina Barnes, the captain of Task Force Rose!"

When they heard this, everyone exchanged glances. Task Force Rose was a very powerful league in the South Aridlands War Zone. Many had heard of Laina's name.

Once everyone knew of Laina's identity, they immediately showed deference to her.

"Sir, I have a report to make! Viktor and his men have all been killed!" A soldier came to Caspian and reported.

"Good!" Caspian said as he walked into the residence.

Sylvia and Desmond followed Caspian into the residence.

Caspian saw that Viktor and his men had indeed been shot dead when he entered.

"Who did this?" Caspian asked.

"It's me, Lord Caspian!" Laina came forward to respond.

When Caspian saw Laina walk out, he was stunned and asked, "Why are you here, Laina?"

"I've been lurking in the Archer residence and dealing with them, sir. Earlier, I saw that they were preparing a suicide attack against the Diatoranian troops. I then found the perfect opportunity to kill them all," Laina reported to Caspian.

"Well done! You've done a great job! Laina Barnes, you've made great achievements in the battles.

+15 BONUS

"Even when isolated, you managed to kill Viktor and avoided the casualties of our soldiers. I must reward you!" Caspian said excitedly.

"I just did my job, sir. I wouldn't say that it's a significantly commendable act," Laina answered humbly even though she was overjoyed from hearing Caspian praise her.

“Even a powerful war hero died in your hands. If you hadn’t killed them and the grenades detonated, I don’t know how many soldiers would have suffered,” Caspian said.

“Sir, if it wasn’t for your strategies, I’m afraid this battle wouldn’t have ended so seamlessly. After this battle, you’ll definitely be able to have a powerful and far- reaching dominance!” Laina said.

“It’s all thanks to the soldiers who fought bravely to kill the enemy, enabling us to achieve this result. The contribution of Task Force Rose can’t be forgotten as well! This victory belongs to everyone!” Caspian said.

He was not the kind of person to want all the credit for himself. Besides, he was already the Diatoranian God of War. He no longer had any pursuit for fame and fortune.

With Viktor’s death, the war in which Diatoran was besieged by the four countries finally ended.

“Lord Caspian! How should we deal with the Archer family?” a soldier asked.

“Let’s have them arrested first!” Caspian ordered.

“Yes, sir!”

Caspian left the place where Viktor was.

The moment he walked out, Caspian suddenly felt a sense of emptiness in his heart.

Being invincible felt so lonely.

The two formidable opponents had been killed. Now, there was no worthy adversary who could stand equal against himself.

The Almighty Lord Caspian Chapter 622

Chapter 622 The King Goes to Southlake City in Person

“Have the battlefield cleared immediately. Be sure to pay the death gratuity to the families of the fallen soldiers. In addition, set up a monument in Southlake City and make sure it’s grand so that everyone remembers that Diatoran’s peace did not come easily,” Caspian said.

“Yes, sir!” the soldiers replied.

When the Archer family saw Diatoranian soldiers rushing in, they became frightened.

“What do you want?” Lawrence asked fearfully.

“As the Archer family renegaded, Lord Caspian has given us orders to arrest you!” the leading general said.

The soldiers rushed over immediately and had all the Archer family members arrested.

They became so frightened that their legs gave out. They slumped to the ground.

Kenzie knew that he had nowhere to go as well. He was also arrested.

When Lawrence saw Caspian standing there with his dominating presence, he asked in fear, “What do you want, Caspian?”

“The entire Archer family is made up of traitors. You deserve to be killed!” Caspian said directly.

When they heard this, the members of the Archer family almost passed out from fright.

“You can’t kill us! We were wronged!” Lawrence was still trying to argue.

“Kenzie’s a spy, and he’s in your house. What more do you have to say?” Caspian asked coldly.

“They forced their way in. What choice did we have?” Lawrence argued.

“That’s right. They were the ones who wanted to enter our house. We were unarmed and couldn’t stop them,” Nicholas chimed in.

“Yeah! Our family members are all natives of Diatoran. How could we commit treason?”

“You can’t falsely accuse and slander me like this,” Lawrence added.

+15 BONUS

“Shut it! Do you think you can just deny everything and not admit to your wrongdoings? I’m the Diatoranian God of War, not a fool!” Caspian fumed.

“Do you have any evidence, Caspian? How could you accuse us of treason?” Lawrence suddenly spoke up in a bold manner.

He could only pretend to be calm now. Otherwise, he would be dead.

“I’ve known about your treason since long ago, and I have a witness!” Caspian said.

“A witness?” Nicholas asked, confused.

“Stop denying it, Nicholas. I know all about your defection!” Laina came forward to say.

Nicholas became very frightened when he saw Laina.

Even though Laina was a beautiful lady with a great physique, all Nicholas could feel was fear when he saw her.

“Why are you still here, Laina?” Nicholas asked in fear.

“That’s none of your business at all. When you and Kenzie tied me up, the two of you had already joined hands,” Laina said coldly.

“...” Nicholas was suddenly at a loss for words.

“You’re a piece of shit. You even tried to force yourself on me. What’s the use of denying it now?” Laina said angrily.

“I was wrong. Really, I was wrong. Please give me a chance.” Nicholas also knew that there was no longer any use in denying it.

When Casplan heard that Nicholas had tried to force himself on Laina, he suddenly became very angry.

“What’s the use in letting a scumbag like you stay?” Laina said.

“If you hadn’t allowed the enemy’s troops to enter Southlake City, would we have chosen to defect? It’s all your fault!” Lawrence shifted the responsibility to Caspian and the soldiers of Diatoran.

When Caspian heard Lawrence’s words, he became infuriated. He raised his pistol and pulled the trigger.

With a loud bang, a bullet penetrated Lawrence’s chest.

This sudden sequence of events caught the people off guard.

“The soldiers of Diatoran fought bravely and competently in order to protect their hometown and motherland. When did you earn the right to denigrate their hard work?” Caspian said coldly.

Lawrence regretted his actions, but it was all too late. He kept bleeding from his wound and collapsed to the ground.

“Grandfather!” Nicholas cried out loudly.

However, Lawrence had already stopped breathing.

“You renegades will end up like this sooner or later,” Caspian said.

“Caspian, you devil! I hope you die a horrible death!” Nicholas spat.

“Take these traitors away!” Caspian could not even be bothered to waste any more time on these people.

The news of Caspian’s annihilation of the troops from Vadesia and Astronia has spread across the world.

The war of Southlake City had frightened the other nations. Caspian’s name, as well as his title of the Diatoranian God of War, had spread completely.

The International Alliance was even more afraid now. They were thankful that they did not take any action.

Vadesia and Astronia lost hundreds of thousands of troops. Even their war heroes were killed. The kings from the two countries were tormented.

Filren and Estrya were now extremely frightened after learning about Caspian’s victory.

The Diatoranian God of War victoriously defeated Robert and Viktor by himself. Who would dare to offend him now?

When the people of Diatoran learned about Caspian’s victory, the entire nation was in a state of excitement.

The King, who was still at the headquarters in West Aridlands, was jubilant after hearing about Caspian’s victory.

“Caspian fought with high spirits in this battle and defeated all the enemies! Our nation has nothing to worry about!” Balthazar said excitedly.

“Your Majesty, I’ve known for a long time that as long as Lord Caspian is in charge, there wouldn’t be any problems in Diatoran.”

“That’s right! Four countries attacked our nation this time. Lord Caspian fought everywhere and obtained great achievements.

“With Lord Caspian here, I can just sit back and relax.”

“Yeah, if it weren’t for Lord Caspian, Diatoran would definitely have been in great danger.”

Many senior officials of Diatoran were full of praise for Caspian.

“Everyone has seen Caspian’s commendable achievements. I plan to go to Southlake City in person,” Balthazar said.

A lot of the senior officials were very surprised when they heard what Balthazar said.

“Your Majesty, may I humbly inquire about the purpose of your journey to Southlake City?” a senior official asked.

“During the chaotic war this time, the soldiers fought bravely on the frontlines to defend Southlake City. I must go to Southlake City for the awards ceremony!” Balthazar said.

“Your Majesty, you mustn’t!” a senior official said.

“Why not?” Balthazar asked.

“Southlake City has just settled down. If there happens to be enemy troops still lurking in the city, you’ll be in danger!” the senior officer replied.

“Caspian has all the enemy troops wiped out, including the spies. How can there be any enemies left?” Balthazar asked calmly.

“The enemy’s spies are everywhere. This time, four countries entered Diatoran. They must have planned it.

“We may have achieved complete victory on the surface, but there could still be spies lurking in the dark. If you go to Southlake City, you’ll definitely be targeted,” the senior officer said with some concern.

“Your Majesty, it really is not suitable for you to go to Southlake City this time.”

“Your Majesty, you’re the backbone of Diatoran. You must not get yourself into any danger as Southlake City has just settled down!” a few of the senior officers. came forward to say.

However, since Balthazar had already made up his mind, he became furious when he was stopped by the officers.

“Look at all your groundless worries. I wasn’t even afraid when I visited West Aridlands in person. Do you think I’d be afraid to go to Southlake City?” Balthazar asked impatiently.

Chapter 623 Victorious Return

“Your Majesty, your situation at West Aridlands was very dangerous. You were hijacked by Quinton. Southlake City has just settled down. I think you should reconsider it,” a senior officer said.

“With Caspian at Southlake City, you can all stop being so concerned!”
Balthazar

said.

“But you have to be in charge of West Aridlands! What if Filren attacks us again?” another senior officer came forward to say.

“This battle prompted Caspian’s formidable influence to spread far and wide. Which country would dare to attack us now? I’m going to Southlake City as I have something I need to discuss with Caspian,” Balthazar said.

“Your Majesty, what do you have to discuss with Lord Caspian?” the senior officer asked.

“That’s not something you should know,” Balthazar said.

A lot of the senior officers nodded. They did not dare to question further.

These senior officers came from Dhord City to assist Balthazar.

“When are you planning on leaving, Your Majesty?” the senior officers asked. They had stopped trying to dissuade him.

“Tomorrow morning. Have a chartered plane send me there,” Balthazar said.

“Since Your Majesty has already made a decision, we’re willing to follow you to Southlake City,” many senior officers said.

“You may come with us, but you must keep it a secret! You mustn’t let the news of me going to Southlake City be leaked,” Balthazar said.

“As you command, Your Majesty,” everyone replied in unison.

They knew very well that the King’s whereabouts could not be disclosed.

If the enemy’s spies found out that the King was going to Southlake City, there might be danger lurking along the way.

Meanwhile, almost everyone was at Riverside Villa.

Macy and Phoenix Vanguard, as well as Joey and the others, all knew that Caspian had annihilated Viktor. They were all very excited.

+15 BONUS

The victory of this battle did not come easy. Many soldiers had died in this battle.

The victory this time around had also positioned Diatoran on a more stable foothold internationally.

Willow and Zoey, who were in the villa, were also very excited when they heard about the news of the victory.

“Southlake City’s enemies have been wiped out, Willow. Diatoran is really strong!” Zoey said emotionally.

“Yeah! I didn’t expect him to tear Viktor and Robert to shreds,” Willow said in disbelief.

“I told you. Caspian’s the Diatoranian God of War. No one’s a match for him,” Zoey said.

“Why do I feel like you know him better than I do?” Willow asked.

“You don’t say! You spend the whole day with him and yet you never realize how great your husband is!” Zoey said.

“I know now. He had kept his identity hidden. I can’t believe he would marry me. Now that I think about it, it’s pretty unbelievable!” Willow said with a smile.

Before this, she had even thought that Caspian was useless. Now, she knew that she had misjudged him.

“Even with such a prominent status, he’s willing to be a matrilocal son-in-law just for you. This just goes to show that he treats you very well!” Zoey said.

Willow felt happy after hearing what Zoey said.

Her husband was the Diatoranian God of War. Just thinking about it made her feel happy.

Willow had decided. She had to give Caspian a healthy baby.

Otherwise, they would be ridiculed. They had already been married for a long time but did not have any children yet.

It was at this time that Willow’s phone rang.

She realized the person calling was Melinda.

“What’s the matter, Melinda?” Willow asked.

“I’m calling to congratulate you, Willow. Caspian has annihilated the you have to do is look forward to the glorious days ahead,” Melinda said with a

“Thanks. Please just get straight to the point,” Willow said coldly.

“I do have something I’d like to ask you about. I wonder if Casplan has rescued Henry and Allela?” Melinda asked.

The news of Caspian obliterating the enemy’s troops had long been malding the rounds. The Stewart family understood this much.

When the Stewart family heard that Casplan had defeated Robert and Viktor, they felt very excited. However, they were also regretful.

If Willow and Casplan had not severed ties with the Stewart family, they would definitely be very noble now.

The reason Melinda called Willow was to curry favor with her.

“You have nothing to worry about. Casplan has already rescued them,” Willow said.

She had also heard about this from Macy.

“That’s good, that’s good. We regret it so much now. We shouldn’t have severed. our ties,” Melinda said.

“I still have work to do, so I’ll be hanging up now. Talk again soon,” Willow said before hanging up the phone immediately.

Willow knew what Melinda was thinking, but she did not want to talk with her.

After hanging up the phone, Willow kept waiting for Caspian outside the villa.

She waited for a very long time before Caspian finally returned to Riverside Villa with some armored soldiers.

Laina was also following the team.

Macy and the members of Phoenix Vanguard, Joey, as well as the members of Task Force Rose, saw Caspian return.

They stood on both sides of the road to greet Caspian.

“Welcome, Lord Caspian!” the people shouted in unison.

“There’s no need to be so uptight, everyone. Be more natural,” Caspian said.

Macy and the members of Phoenix Vanguard wanted to know about everything that went down at the Archer residence.

All of the people began talking to each other.

Caspian spotted Willow easily. He missed Willow a little as well. However, he was

He was slightly speechless. These people kept questioning him.

“Attention! Stand at attention!” Caspian suddenly ordered.

If they kept on questioning him, it would never end.

When Caspian shouted his orders, they dared not disobey.

The members of Phoenix Vanguard immediately stood in formation.

“What happened at the Archer residence was nothing much. It was just a war. Viktor wanted to surrender with his men, but I directly ordered them to be destroyed!

“In the end, Viktor chickened out and planned a suicide attack on us. However, Laina got Viktor and the rest killed,”

“And that is the story. Don’t come to me if you have any other questions. Please go look for Laina. I’m very tired now and need to go get some rest,” Caspian said, rather frustrated.

Then, he walked toward Willow.

When Willow saw Caspian approaching, she felt very happy.

“You’re back, hubby,” Willow said as she scampered toward Caspian.

Her husband was the Diatoranian God of War. When Willow saw that Caspian had returned safe and sound, she became very emotional.

She had been worried about his safety. She could finally let go of her worries.

“The war’s finally over,” Caspian said calmly.

Caspian had already grown accustomed to matters like these.

Willow immediately jumped and wrapped her legs around Caspian.

She couldn’t care less about what other people would think of them. All she wanted to do was take in his scent.

The Almighty Lord Caspian Chapter 624

Chapter 624 Let's Take a Shower Together

Caspian did not expect Willow to be so proactive. He was still feeling slightly awkward.

“There are a lot of people here, Willow. Please be more restrained. The others are all watching you throw yourself at me” Caspian whispered in Willow’s ear.

“I don’t care. Am I not allowed to embrace my husband?” Willow asked with a smile.

Then, before Caspian could say anything, Willow leaned in and kissed Caspian.

Caspian was stunned. Willow kissed him in front of everyone as they watched.

The reason Willow did this was to show the female soldiers that Caspian was her husband and that he belonged to her alone.

Even Zoey was surprised to see Willow being so bold.

“It’s not good to do this in front of everyone, Willow. Let us head back to the villa,

Caspian looked at Willow and said.

“Okay!” Willow nodded shyly. She was also feeling a little embarrassed.

After all, there were many eyes on them.

Caspian led Willow into the villa.

Zoey did not know what to do. If she followed them into the villa, she might interrupt their passionate evening.

Once they were inside the villa, Willow said gently to Caspian, "I'm sure you must be exhausted from all the battles and traveling, hubby. Take a hot shower and have a good rest for the night."

"I am a little tired. The war's finally over. I'd like to have some homemade juice," Caspian said.

"I'll make it for you," Willow said with a smile.

"Thanks, honey." Caspian nodded.

Willow immediately went and made some juice for Caspian.

"How are Alicia and Henry, honey?" Willow asked.

"Alicia was beaten up to the point where she has injuries all over her body. She's being treated now," Caspian said calmly.

+15 BONUS

As for Henry, Caspian did not even feel like mentioning him.

"What about Henry? Why aren't you saying anything about him?" Willow asked. "Henry's safe now," Caspian said nonchalantly.

"How is he currently doing?" Willow asked as she saw how nonchalant Caspian was being.

"Stop asking, Willow. Henry's fine. I don't want to talk about him anymore," Caspian said.

He knew very well that if he were to tell her the truth, she would surely plead on behalf of him again.

"Okay. Go and take a hot shower, then." Willow did not press further.

For now, all she wanted was to conceive a child with Caspian.

"Alright!" Caspian nodded and walked into the bedroom.

"I'll fetch you a set of fresh clothes," Willow offered.

Caspian did not continue answering and walked into the bathroom.

Halfway through his shower, Willow walked to the bathroom door.

“Are you done, honey? I brought your clothes,” Willow said coquettishly.

“Okay! Just hand me the clothes.” Caspian gently cracked open the bathroom door.

Unexpectedly, Willow pushed open the door and barged in.

Caspian was stunned. He quickly picked up a white bath towel and wrapped himself in it.

“What are you doing, Willow? Why did you suddenly barge in here?” Caspian asked in surprise.

Willow’s cheeks turned as red as a tomato.

She had to muster up great determination to do this.

She was doing this because she felt like they needed a little excitement.

“My foot slipped and I lost my balance. Next thing I knew, I was in here.” Willow scrambled for an excuse.

“Just pass me the clothes and you can leave. I still have to take a shower,” Caspian said.

+15 BONUS

“I’ve been waiting for you all night without resting. I’m tired and would like to take a shower as well,” Willow said as her heart started racing.

She had never taken a shower with Caspian yet.

Moreover, being in a confined space like this made it even more exhilarating.

Willow wanted to have a child with Caspian as soon as possible. She did not want to wait any longer.

As the Diatoranian God of War, there might be many more battles Caspian needed to fight in. What if he had to leave again?

That was why she wanted to conceive a child with Caspian as soon as possible. It just so happened that no one would come to disturb them now.

“Wait for me, then. You can come in after I’m done,” Caspian said in a casual tone.

“I don’t care. I want to take a shower now,” Willow countered.

“Why don’t the two of us just take a shower together, honey? We’ve been married for a long time. I’d also like to take a shower with you.” Willow had expected that Caspian would refuse.

She had to convince Caspian to take a shower with her.

Caspian was stunned to hear this. Willow had become increasingly bolder. She even wanted to take a shower with him now.

“Is this okay?” Caspian asked rather awkwardly.

“What would be the problem? We’ve already shown ourselves to each other. What else have we not seen?” Willow said straightforwardly.

Caspian was at a loss for words when he heard Willow.

“What? You’re the Diatoranian God of War. What’s there to be embarrassed about?”

“Why would you feel shy about taking a shower with me? You’re the Diatoranian God of War. How are you so impressive when we’re in bed, then?”

Seeing how embarrassed Caspian was made Willow want to tease him even more. “Fine, then. Let’s take a shower together,” Caspian nodded and said.

He felt that it was time for him to loosen up as well. After all, he had been worn out physically and mentally after fighting this battle for such a long time. Now

He wanted Willow to bear his child as well.

“Look away. I’ll take off my clothes,” Willow said nervously.

Her heart was pounding.

The atmosphere in the bathroom was different from that of the bedroom. It was really exciting here.

“Why would I need to look away? What’s the difference when I’m going to see everything anyway?” Caspian asked.

“Of course, it’s different. I’m going to feel shy if you stare at me like this,” Willow said.

“Fine.” Caspian nodded his head, not knowing what else to say.

Then, he turned around to face the wall.

Willow

removed her clothes one by one.

Caspian couldn’t help gulping when he heard the sound of her clothes hitting the ground.

The atmosphere in the bathroom was different, indeed. Even Caspian could feel that his heart was starting to race.

Eventually, Caspian could no longer hold it in and turned around.

The suppleness of Willow’s skin with its porcelain-like smoothness made Caspian’s blood surge.

Willow's beautiful figure was fully exposed in front of Caspian.

He directly hugged her from behind.

Willow was taken by surprise.

"Let's not shower first and do something else," Caspian said softly.

"Ah! Where are your hands touching?" Willow said as her heart started beating rapidly.

The Almighty Lord Caspian Chapter 625

Chapter 625 Eavesdropping

As of this moment, Caspian and Willow were going at it in the bathroom.

Zoey, who was outside the villa, also knew that the married couple must be doing the deed.

Nevertheless, this was expected as they were a married couple.

She did not want to go to the villa, lest she interrupt their session.

Macy and the members of Phoenix Vanguard, as well as Laina and the members of Task Force Rose, saw Caspian and Willow enter the villa. They knew that the two must be having an intimate moment now.

When the female soldiers pictured how their dreamy and domineering war hero was being intimate with his wife, they felt like they had just gotten their hearts broken.

Nevertheless, they had no say in what the couple could or could not do as they were just his subordinates.

It was at that moment that Macy's phone rang. It was a call from the South Aridlands War Zone.

"This is Macy. What are your orders?"

“This is Benjamin,” the person on the other end said as soon as she finished her sentence.

Macy was extremely surprised. She did not expect Benjamin to call her.

“Champion Hart, what orders do you have for me?” Macy asked.

“Where’s Lord Caspian? I’m looking for him,” Benjamin said.

“He’s in the villa. What happened?” Macy asked, confused.

“Is that so? Why isn’t he answering my call, then?” Benjamin asked.

Macy was very surprised to hear this. It seemed like Caspian and Willow were so completely engrossed in their activity that they became oblivious to reality.

They did not even hear the phone call.

It was obvious that Caspian was having an intimate session with Willow.

“Lord Caspian might have fallen asleep. He hasn’t slept a wink in days,” Macy said.

+15 BONUS

It was not like she could reveal what Caspian and Willow were doing. “Go and get Lord Caspian. I have something important that I need to discuss with him,” Benjamin said.

“I don’t think that’s appropriate, Champion Hart. He hasn’t rested for a long time. He’s just finished fighting in the war and can finally get a good night’s rest.

“I don’t dare to disturb him,” Macy said.

If she were to go and get Caspian now, would she not be interfering with the couple’s intimate session?

In any case, she was Caspian's subordinate and only obeyed him.

"I know that too, but I have something urgent to discuss with him," Benjamin said.

"What's the urgent matter, Champion Hart? I'll pass on the message to Lord Caspian," Macy asked.

"This is classified information, so I can't tell you. You must wake Lord Caspian up. Will you take responsibility for this if something were to happen?" Benjamin urged.

"Yes, sir!" Macy answered.

Judging from the urgency of Benjamin's words, Macy knew that this was not a simple matter.

Benjamin would not keep pressing if it was not an important matter.

"Just take the phone with you and go look for him," Benjamin said.

"Yes, sir," Macy said. She took the phone and wanted to head inside the villa.

"What are you doing, Macy?" Zoey asked when she saw Macy.

"I'm going to look for Lord Caspian," Macy said.

"Don't go in now. Caspian and Willow are having their intimate moment," Zoey said as she stopped Macy from going in.

She was trying to buy time for Caspian and Willow. They were in the process of making a baby, and it must not be delayed.

"I have something urgent to inform Caspian. Nobody can afford to delay it," Macy said.

"What could it be? The enemy's troops have all been repelled from Southlake to interrupt the couple from sharing an intimate moment?” Zoey asked. In fact, she could see that Macy had feelings for Caspian and was a little jealous of Willow.

“Champion Hart gave me a call saying that there’s an urgent matter he needs to inform Caspian. Are you trying to have a say in this matter as well?” Macy asked coldly.

When Zoey heard the word “Champion“, she got scared. It seemed like Macy was speaking the truth.

She was just a commoner. She would not dare to interfere with important military affairs.

“Go ahead, then.” Zoey could only let Macy go in.

If anything happened because of her, she would be a sinner.

Macy ignored Zoey and went inside.

As Zoey wanted to know what was happening inside the villa, she followed behind Macy.

Macy did not know which room was Caspian’s. When she noticed that Zoey had followed her inside, she asked, “Where’s Lord Caspian’s room?”

“It’s the first one on the second floor,” Zoey said.

“Go knock on the door and have him come outside,” Macy said.

“Okay.” Zoey nodded. Then, she came to the door of Caspian and Willow’s bedroom.

The door of the bedroom stood ajar. The two women were surprised.

“Ah! It hurts a little. Please be gentle!” Suddenly, Willow’s coquettish voice could be heard from inside the room.

Macy and Zoey exchanged glances. Their cheeks flushed from embarrassment.

Macy immediately hung up the phone. It would be embarrassing if Benjamin heard that.

As Caspian's subordinate, Macy had to help cover for him.

Benjamin was waiting for Caspian to reply when the call suddenly ended. He was so angry that Macy had hung up on him.

How dare Macy not give him the respect he deserved?

"Bear with me, I'm almost done." Caspian's voice could be heard coming from inside the room.

When Zoey heard that odd sound, she blushed again.

Even though Macy had never been in a relationship before, she could guess what Caspian and Willow were doing.

Macy was torn. On one hand, there was Benjamin, who was expecting to get on the phone with Caspian. On the other hand, Caspian and Willow were having an intimate moment.

"I can't, I can't do this anymore! It's too much! Please stop!" Willow cried out again.

"I haven't tried it before. Are you sure you want me to stop?" Caspian asked.

Macy and Zoey blushed really hard when they heard the sounds coming from inside the room.

Macy did not dare to enter, lest she interrupt the two and frighten Caspian.

“Try it again. I’m sure you can. We’ll be done after one or two more tries,” Willow said.

“Okay, I’m going to give it a go,” Caspian responded.

Caspian and Willow were so engrossed in their little activity that they did not realize there were two people standing outside the room.

Suddenly, Macy’s phone rang!

Macy, who was eavesdropping, was startled by the phone’s ringing!

She wanted to hang up, but it was too late.

The married couple inside the room heard the ringing and stopped what they were doing.

Willow felt embarrassed. Whoever was out there must have heard everything that was going on inside. What should she do if they misunderstood the situation?

Willow undoubtedly knew that the person standing outside was Zoey, because only she would pull something like this..

“Who’s there?” Caspian asked irritably.

He just realized that there were actually people eavesdropping outside their bedroom..

Zoey and Macy were startled by Caspian’s yelling.

The two women looked at each other. They were at a loss for what to do.

Macy’s phone kept on ringing.

She was also annoyed. Who could have chosen this exact moment to call her, alerting Caspian?

Macy took a closer look. It was Benjamin who called.

When she saw that it was him, she had nothing to say. He was a war hero. How would she dare to lash out at him?

Benjamin was expectedly angry after having been hung up on. He called again. Macy was frozen. Should she answer the phone, or should she not? It was a no- win situation for her.

“Who is it? Speak!” Caspian barked again.

Caspian’s yelling frightened Macy.

Macy was not afraid of anything. The only thing she feared was Caspian getting angry.

“Lord... Lord Caspian. It’s me, Macy,” Macy said fearfully.

When Willow heard that Macy was on the other side, she was in disbelief. How could Macy be the kind of person to eavesdrop on things like these as well?

“Macy Osborne! How fearless of you! What are you doing sneaking around outside my bedroom?” Caspian rebuked when he heard that it was Macy.

Macy’s behavior had become more and more bizarre.

“You’ve misunderstood me, Lord Caspian. I wasn’t sneaking around,” Macy said hurriedly.

“What are you doing outside my bedroom, then?” Caspian prodded.

“Champion Hart is looking for you,” Macy replied.

“Have him call me directly. Why did you have to come here yourself?” Caspian asked.

“Champion Hart said he couldn’t reach you. That’s why I came to get you,” Macy said.

Caspian suddenly recalled that his mobile phone was in silent mode. That was why he did not notice that someone had called as

Caspian wished he could just teach Benjamin a lesson now.

How dared he interrupt him at such a critical moment?

“What’s the matter? Why the rush?” Caspian asked irritably.

“Champion Hart said that it’s classified information and only wished to speak to you alone,” Macy said.

“I’ll pass the phone to you, Lord Caspian. You may speak with him yourself,” Macy said as he held the phone.

Caspian and Willow had not changed their positions. They were naked and were not in a position to answer the phone.

“Tell him to call me later,” Caspian said.

He could not answer the phone now.

“How long would it take?” Macy asked.

Macy had no idea how long it would take, so she could only ask him to clarify. She needed to know how long it would take before Benjamin could make the phone. call.

Caspian was the Diatoranian God of War. He must have a lot of energy. He would need at least an hour.

“Five more minutes,” Caspian said.

“Five minutes? That fast? Are you sure, Lord Caspian?” Macy asked.

As soon as Caspian heard this, he knew Macy was having improper thoughts.

He was in the middle of “serious business” with Willow, but Benjamin sounded really urgent. Caspian was no longer in the mood to continue. What if it disrupted his official duties?

He felt that it was better for him to hear Benjamin out first.

“That’s enough. Go wait for me at the hall,” Casplan said angrily.

“Yes, Lord Caspian!” Macy said with a nod.

Zoey followed Macy and left with light steps.

When he heard two sets of footsteps, Caspian knew there was someone else other than Macy. It must have been Zoey. Only she would be such a busybody.

Nonetheless, it did not matter anymore. They knew it anyway. Caspian did not care.

Macy came to the hall and answered Benjamin’s call.

“Macy Osborne! What on earth are you doing? Why have you just answered my call?” Benjamin fumed.

“I was just having a conversation with Lord Caspian, Champion Hart. That’s why I couldn’t answer the phone,” Macy said.

“Didn’t I ask you to pass the phone to him? How dare you hang up on me? Did you ignore my words?” Benjamin asked.

“I’m really sorry, Champion Hart. I touched my phone by accident. That’s why it got cut off midway,” Macy said.

“Where’s Lord Caspian? Why has he not answered the phone yet?” Benjamin did not want to waste any more time on Macy. He wanted to discuss important matters with Caspian.

“Lord Caspian said that you can just call him in five minutes,” Macy said.

“Why do I have to wait for five more minutes?” Benjamin asked.

“It’s not my place to disclose it. You can just ask Lord Caspian later.” It was not like Macy could just tell the world what the couple was occupied with.

“I got it,” Benjamin said.

He could not ask further. He could only wait patiently.

Meanwhile, Caspian and Willow were still inside the room.

“They’ve left, hubby. Should we continue?” Willow asked.

“It seems like Benjamin has something to discuss with me. I’d better go and hear him out first.” It was not like he could answer the phone while doing it.

“Okay. Go and answer the phone, then. Let’s carry on later,” Willow said, nodding.

“Okay. I hope there’s nothing going on.” Caspian wanted to carry on with their activity as well.

This kind of activity was the best way to relax the body and mind.

“Mm-hmm, just go. I’ll wait for you,” Willow said.

“Okay!” Caspian nodded and straightened himself out.

Five minutes later, Benjamin called.

“Hey! What’s the matter?” Caspian said in an annoyed tone.

“I’m really sorry, sir. But it’s really urgent,” Benjamin apologized swiftly.

“Stop wasting time and just tell me. What is it?” Caspian suddenly felt a little irritable.

“The King sent a secret message. He’s about to come to Southlake City for a visit and asked me to notify you,” Benjamin said,

“What? The King is coming to Southlake City?” Caspian was extremely surprised, “That’s right! His Majesty is already on the plane and should arrive soon.!! Benjamin was a little excited.

Caspian felt a little frustrated. He didn’t expect that Balthazar had come.

“Why’s the King suddenly coming to Southlake City?” Caspian asked.

“His Majesty is coming to Southlake City to commend the soldiers!” Benjamin replied.

Caspian felt very frustrated. It seemed like there were endless duties for him in that position.

“Sir, now that things in Southlake City have just settled down, there might still be enemy troops lurking in the city. It could be very dangerous for His Majesty when he comes. You should still take precautions!” Benjamin advised.

“Is His Majesty coming straight to Southlake City? Or is he going back to the South Aridlands War Zone?” Caspian asked.

Hearing that Balthazar was coming, he dared not risk anything. He would be the one to blame if something were to happen to Balthazar in South Aridlands.

“Why didn’t His Majesty notify me in advance that he was coming to Southlake City?” Caspian asked.

“His Majesty had only sent me a secret report and asked me to deliver the message to you, which is already considered an advance notice. I kept calling you but couldn’t get through,” Benjamin explained.

The matter that Benjamin wanted to discuss with Caspian was the one about Balthazar.

Balthazar’s visit to Southlake City was not an everyday occurrence.

Should anything happen to Balthazar while he was in Southlake City, Benjamin might be held responsible as well if he had failed to notify Caspian of Balthazar’s arrival beforehand.

Now that Balthazar was already on the plane, he would be arriving very soon. Benjamin needed Caspian to be fully prepared.

“I got it. I will handle this matter,” Caspian said.

“I’ll also head down to Southlake City to welcome the King,” Benjamin said.

Even though he was far away at North Aridlands, the matter concerning Balthazar’s visit, as well as the battle in Southlake City, was inextricably related to him.

“Is there anything else?” Caspian asked.

“That is all. I just wanted to notify you about the King’s visit,” Benjamin said. “Great. I’ll hang up the phone now,” Caspian said before hanging up.

Afterward, Caspian looked at Willow, who was in the bathroom. He walked over to her.

“Are you done, honey?” Willow was becoming excited again when she saw Caspian approaching.

“Yep. It’s all done,” Caspian said.

He was planning to carry on with their activity as well.

“Let’s get back to it, then.” Willow only had a bath towel on. She had been waiting for Casplan.

“I’m sorry, Willow. I have something urgent to deal with. Let’s just do it another

“Is there anything else that’s more important than us trying for a baby?” Willow suddenly asked in a displeased tone.

“This is not a trivial matter. It’s classified information. I can’t tell you.” Caspian beat around the bush.

It was a matter concerning Balthazar. He had to be tight-lipped about it.

“Didn’t you say that Southlake City is safe now? What else could be important?” Willow whined.

“This matter important than the previous war. Even I had not seen it coming,” Caspian said.

“Can’t you wait a little while longer? Just hold on and leave when we’re done,” Willow said irritably.

Willow did not expect that Caspian would take so much time.

“I really can’t. It’s really urgent. I must go.” Caspian knew what he had to prioritize.

He had to arrange the matters concerning Balthazar well. He could not afford to let anything happen to him. Caspian could not put Balthazar in danger for his selfish desires.

“Fine. Do what you have to.” Even though Willow was a little bit reluctant, she knew Caspian’s dilemma.

Caspian was the Diatoranian God of War. There were a lot of things he had to do. As his wife, she should be tolerant.

Willow also knew that something very important must have come up for Caspian to leave at such an important time.

Caspian straightened himself out before heading out of the villa swiftly.

“Let’s gather, everyone!” Caspian ordered.

Phoenix Vanguard, Task Force Rose, and the others immediately gathered.

Even the people from the Inspector General’s office immediately stood in a line.

Even though they were not Casplan’s subordinates, he was the Diatoranian God of War. This meant that they had to obey his orders, was going on.

“Armored Battalion, leave a team here. The rest of you, come with me to Southlake Airport!” Caspian ordered.

Caspian had to have some armored soldiers stay behind to protect Willow.

“Yes, sir!” everyone replied in unison.

They obeyed Caspian's orders even though they did not know why they were going to the airport.

As this was sudden, there had to be something important going on.

"Let's move out!" Caspian said with a wave of his hand.

Macy, Laina, and the others all got on the SUVs with Caspian.

Macy felt a little embarrassed when she thought about what happened between Caspian and Willow.

Caspian was feeling a little awkward as well. After all, they heard him and Willow

"Sir, why are we suddenly going to Southlake Airport?" Laina asked.

"The King is coming to Southlake City." Caspian revealed the information about Balthazar's visit to Southlake City.

"His Majesty is coming? Are you serious?" Laina and Macy were very surprised to know that Balthazar would come to Southlake City.

"That's right. His Majesty is already on the way," Caspian said.

"Things have just quieted down in the city. If any remaining enemies are in the city, His Majesty might be in danger!" Laina said.

"I know. That is why we must make some arrangements now," Caspian said.

"What should we do, sir?" Laina asked.

"His Majesty's visit to Southlake City is an important matter. The safety of the King must be guaranteed. Task Force Rose, your team must do a good job in intelligence work," Caspian said.

"Yes, sir!" Laina answered resolutely.

“How’s your injury?” Caspian asked.

“I’m fine now.” Laina shook her head.

She suffered some minor injuries on her arm before. Nonetheless, they were much better now as they had been treated promptly.

“You have made great achievements in the battles. I will definitely reward you,” Caspian said.

“It’s my duty,” Laina answered.

“Do you have any instructions for me, Lord Caspian? What should I do?” Macy asked.

“Your job will be to lead Phoenix Vanguard to guard, ensure the airport is safe, and then welcome the King, that’s all,” Caspian said.

“Yes, sir!” Macy nodded.

Laina immediately gave an order to Task Force Rose, asking them to monitor Southlake City to prevent any mishaps from happening.

Now that Southlake City was safe, those who left the city had all returned.

The Stewart family had also rushed back from Garthram.

Instantly, the entire city started becoming congested.

The Kings of Vadesia and Astronia had also heard from the intelligence department that the King of Diatoran was going to Southlake City.

The two Kings immediately held a conference call.

They felt that they should take this opportunity to assassinate Balthazar.

Diatoran might just attack the two countries next if its King wasn’t dead.

They were hoping to avenge the war heroes, Robert and Viktor.

As long as they could assassinate the King of Diatoran, they could attack Diatoran again.

At last, the two Kings made a plan to assassinate Balthazar.

They had also arranged for the spies to lie in wait in Southlake City and wait for the right opportunity to assassinate Balthazar.

These spies happened to blend in with the commoners as they entered Southlake City.

Chapter 628 Rushing to the Airport

At Riverside Duplex Villa, Zoey turned around and entered the villa after seeing Caspian and the others leave.

Then, she went into Willow's room and saw that Willow's face was flushed.

It was apparent that Willow had not recovered from the session earlier.

"Zoey, where have you been?" Willow asked as she looked at Zoey.

Willow asked this question deliberately. She really wanted to know whether Zoey and Macy were eavesdropping earlier.

"I've been talking to Joey outside the villa the entire time," Zoey said with a smile. She knew what Willow meant, but she would not admit it directly.

"Where's Caspian? Have they left?" Willow asked.

"Yes. They've all left," Zoey said.

"Where are they going in such a hurry?" Willow asked.

She wanted to know what was actually going on.

“I think they went to Southlake Airport,” Zoey said.

“The airport? Why are they going to the airport?” Willow asked, puzzled. “I’m not sure. If I must say, he should be at home accompanying you,” Zoey said. “Let’s not talk about this for now. Did the two of you do ‘that’ earlier?” Zoey then asked.

Willow’s face flushed when she heard this. She said shyly, “Why are you asking this again? Stop asking.”

“I’d just like to know when the two of you will have a child,” Zoey said.

“That’s enough. Stop asking.” Willow did not wish to continue with this conversation anymore.

“Why are you still denying it? I heard everything clearly when I was outside,” Zoey said.

However, as soon as she finished speaking, she realized she had let it slip.

“What? Why would you hear it? Were you eavesdropping outside the door just now?” Willow asked.

, so she could only admit,

Just now, and I did hear something.”

Suddenly, Willow felt embarrassed. Just the thought that someone had heard their intimate activity made her blush.

“Don’t overthink. It’s not like that,” Willow explained.

“What is it, then?” Zoey asked, curious.

“I can’t explain it to you,” Willow said in an annoyed tone.

How could she even explain something like this?

“I beg you, Willow. Just tell me. How does it feel to do that ‘thing’? I’m very curious,” Zoey asked curiously.

She was getting more and more curious now.

“Just hurry up and find a boyfriend already, and you’ll know how it feels. I can’t get myself to say it,” Willow said.

She really couldn’t get into the details of it with Zoey.

“Where can I find myself a boyfriend? I’m home the entire day. I beg you, please just tell me. I really want to know.” Zoey remained adamant about wanting to know what the feeling was like.

Willow was truly speechless. She did not want to talk to her anymore.

Caspian was on his way to the airport.

Sylvia, Desmond, and the others had also received the news from Caspian and were heading to Southlake City.

Sylvia followed Caspian’s instruction and built a monument in the center of Southlake City. She brought thousands of soldiers to Southlake Airport.

The remaining soldiers were still occupied in Southlake City.

Desmond was disposing of the bodies of the soldiers. After he learned of the news, he quickly led the soldiers to Southlake Airport as well.

Benjamin also led his men to Southlake Airport.

At the airport, people kept pouring in from all directions.

Half an hour later, Caspian led Phoenix Vanguard, and they were the ones to arrive at Southlake Airport first.

The team immediately began to set up defenses at the airport.

Laina was also mobilizing Task Force Rose.

Sylvia and Desmond had also led their teams and arrived at Southlake Airport.

A few dozen minutes later, Benjamin, John, and the others had also arrived at the airport, waiting for Balthazar's arrival.

After all, Balthazar's visit to Southlake City was a big deal!

More than ten minutes later, a military aircraft, which was surrounded by many escort aircraft, appeared in the airspace of the airport.

Everyone had already figured out that the military aircraft was Balthazar's chartered plane.

The plane had just landed at the airport.

Sylvia, Benjamin, Desmon, and the others immediately went forward to welcome Balthazar.

The arrival of Balthazar was met with great fanfare and pomp.

"We humbly welcome the King!" Caspian and the others cried out in unison.

"No need to be so formal, everyone," Balthazar said as he waved his hand.

Caspian and the others immediately protected Balthazar by his side.

"Caspian, you've contributed so much in repelling the enemies! You've also saved Diatoran!" Balthazar praised.

"Your Majesty, this is my duty. Moreover, I didn't fend off the enemy alone. All the soldiers should be rewarded for their bravery in eliminating the enemy," Caspian said.

"Everyone has worked hard. I will definitely reward all of you," Balthazar said.

“Your Majesty, many soldiers died in the war in Southlake City. I’ve already had Sylvia build a martyrs’ memorial to commemorate them,” Caspian said.

“Well done, Caspian. This matter ought to be materialized promptly!” Balthazar said.

“Your Majesty’s right. We must let future generations remember these brave and capable soldiers!” Caspian said.

“Death Gratuity must be paid to the families of the martyrs,” Balthazar said.

“Thank you, Your Majesty!” everyone shouted in unison.

“Your Majesty is so understanding. Diatoran will definitely become more and more influential internationally,” Caspian said.

“With a brave God of War like Caspian as well as so many valorous soldiers in Diatoran, this nation undoubtedly will become more and more powerful! Balthazar said.

“How long does Your Majesty plan to stay in Southlake City this time?” Caspian asked.

“I plan to leave after the memorial is erected. I’d like to award the brave soldiers who killed the enemies as well!” Balthazar said.

“Understood. I’ll have a resting place prepared for you immediately,” Caspian said.

“Where do you plan to let me stay, Caspian?” Balthazar asked.

“Southlake City is in ruins after the war. It seems like there is no decent place for Your Majesty to stay,” Caspian said.

At first, Caspian planned to let Balthazar stay at the official posthouse. However, those places had already been destroyed. They were no longer fit for living.

“It’s alright. I don’t mind that. I’m fine as long as there is a place to stay,” Balthazar said.

“Your Majesty, you can stay at the villa with us if you don’t mind,” Caspian said.

Caspian felt that he could ensure Balthazar’s safety if the latter were to stay at their villa.

“I’d feel very bad if I were to stay with you, Caspian. Let’s reconsider. I would surely bother you and your wife with my presence there,” Balthazar said with a smile.

He also knew that it was not easy for Caspian and his wife to reunite. If he were to go to Riverside Duplex Villa, many soldiers would definitely follow.

“That wouldn’t be a problem. If Your Majesty were to come to our villa, I’d be welcoming you with open arms,” Caspian said.

“Southlake City has just settled down. Moreover, I have a very confidential matter to tell everyone. I must find a tightly guarded place. It’s not appropriate for me to stay at your place,” Balthazar said.

“How about I arrange for Your Majesty to stay at Jade Dragon Grand Hotel?” Caspian said after deciding.

The Almighty Lord Caspian Chapter 629

Jade Dragon Grand Hotel was located in the west of Southlake City. It was not affected by the war in any way.

Therefore, Caspian planned to let Balthazar stay at the hotel. He could then send powerful troops to guard the hotel to protect Balthazar.

Jade Dragon Grand Hotel was the most luxurious hotel in the entire Southlake. City. It would not be bad for Balthazar to stay there.

Moreover, the hotel had very high standards. It even had a dedicated conference.

room.

“Let’s just go with that. I heard that you had your wedding ceremony in this hotel. I’ll stay at Jade Dragon Grand Hotel, then,” Balthazar said.

Seeing Balthazar nod, Caspian instructed Sylvia again, “Sylvia, have the people cleared out from Jade Dragon Grand Hotel immediately and let His Majesty move in.”

“Yes, sir!” Sylvia nodded.

“Wait!” Balthazar said.

“What other instructions does Your Majesty have?” Sylvia asked.

“I may be the King, but there’s no need to go over the top. Let’s just lay a low profile. You can just arrange me and other senior officers a room each,” Balthazar said.

“That’s absolutely not possible, Your Majesty!” Caspian said urgently.

“Why not?” Balthazar asked.

“You’re the backbone of Diatoran. Only by clearing out the entire hotel can we avoid any unwanted troubles. What if a spy happened to sneak inside?” Caspian said.

He was actually worried about Balthazar’s safety.

“Why don’t we just book the entire top floor? That should be enough,” Balthazar said.

“Let’s just go with this, then,” Caspian nodded. He would not dare to go against Balthazar’s wishes.

Caspian did not want it to be conspicuous either. If it was not to prevent any

The next thing they should focus on was to impose strict security on the hotel to ensure Balthazar’s safety.

“Yes, sir!” Sylvia nodded. Then, she immediately got down to it.

“Laina!” Caspian yelled again.

“Sir!” Laina stepped forward.

“Lead Task Force Rose and head to Jade Dragon Grand Hotel. Ensure that there are no hidden dangers within the hotel. There must not be any loophole for the enemies to take advantage of,” Caspian said.

“Yes, sir!” Laina made sure not to take this lightly.

“You must be Laina Barnes?” Balthazar asked.

He had never seen Laina before. Nonetheless, he had heard many people talk about her before.

Laina played a key role in the battle in Southlake City. She fought alone, penetrated deep into the enemy’s camp, and even killed Viktor Obrien—the war hero of Astronia.

If it was not for Laina, Southlake City might still be at war now.

“Yes, Your Majesty. I am Laina Barnes from Task Force Rose,” Laina answered deferentially.

“I know all about your herole deeds. You have contributed greatly to driving the enemy out so quickly. I will definitely reward you and Task Force Rose when the time comes,” Balthazar said.

“This is our duty, Your Majesty. The defeat of the enemy is everyone’s joint efforts,” Laina sald.

“Your efforts working underground cannot be overlooked. I hope you can keep up with the good work,” Balthazar sald.

“Yes, sir!” Laina saluted.

“You’re excused,” Balthazar sald.

Sylvia took his men to Jade Dragon Grand Hotel and had the entire top floor booked.

The owner of the hotel knew who Sylvia was. Previously, when Caspian got married, it was Sylvia who arranged everything.

When he saw Sylvia, he attended to them immediately.

“General Frost, if it weren’t for your team’s bravery in eliminating the enemy, our hotel would have already been occupied by the enemy by now.

“I’d gladly have the entire hotel reserved for you, not just the top floor. I can’t charge you for your stay here!” the owner of the hotel said excitedly.

He had already known who Sylvia really was for a long time. If it were not for Sylvia and the other soldiers, Jade Dragon Grand Hotel would not have been left unharmed.

“There’s no need to. Only the top floor is enough. How much would it be?” Sylvia said, shaking her head.

“General Frost, you and your men have sacrificed your life for Southlake City. There’s no way I can make you pay for this. You’ll only make me feel bad,” the hotel owner said.

“Let’s keep things separate and straightforward. Just tell me, how much is it?” Sylvia did not want this matter to be dragged on any longer. She still had to make arrangements for the deployment of defense.

Even though Southlake City had already settled down, there might still be spies lurking in the city. They had to be extra cautious.

Moreover, the arrival of Balthazar at Jade Dragon Grand Hotel should not be disclosed to anyone else, even more so to the hotel owner.

“I really cannot accept your money. I don’t care who you’re reserving the top floor for, but I cannot accept the money. Promise me, General Frost.

“I’d like to make some contributions as well!” the owner said.

Surely, Sylvia had not/reserved the whole floor for herself.

Nonetheless, considering that it was Sylvia’s friend, it must have been someone prominent.

Previously, when she helped Caspian with his wedding, she had also booked an entire floor.

The hotel owner would have never expected that Balthazar would be staying at his hotel.

“Fine. Since you’re so fervently sincere about it, I won’t turn down your offer,” Sylvia said with a smile.

Since the hotel owner was being so hospitable, she could not bring herself to turn him down.

“I’ll go arrange it now,” the hotel owner said happily.

“By the way, have the reception room reserved for me. I’ll be needing it,” Sylvia instructed.

“Okay. Just let me know if you have any requests.” The hotel owner nodded.

Then, he had his employees start the work, and they had the customers on the top floor cleared out.

Sylvia began making the arrangements for the troops and placed guards in the hotel.

The stronger soldiers were placed on the top floor.

Laina led the members of Task Force Rose into the reception room. They began their operation by checking the room for bugs and bombs.

After checking, no problems were found. Laina and her subordinates stayed in the reception room.

Moreover, there were people observing the situation from hidden spots in the hotel.

Caspian and Balthazar rode the armored cars and headed toward Jade Dragon Grand Hotel.

There were many soldiers and tracked vehicles protecting them.

This spectacle shocked many people.

However, as Balthazar and Caspian were inside the armored car, nobody could see their faces.

Sylvia had Joey bring her men from the Inspector General's office to maintain public order lest there was any upheaval.

The Stewart family had also returned to Southlake City.

"Home is still the best! It's really God's blessing that our family is safe and sound,

Marilyn emotionally said as she looked at their old house.

"Mother, if it weren't for the brave soldiers of Diatoran fighting the enemies, our old house would have definitely been destroyed," Carl said.

"That's right! Caspian was the chief commander for this battle. He's really great!

Melinda said.

"You'd better call Willow and ask about Alicia and Henry," Marilyn said.

She was deeply regretful of the fact that she had severed ties with Caspian. Nonetheless, there was no use crying over spilled milk. It was too late now.

Chapter 630 The Stewart Family Was in Shambles

"I'll ask her now." Melinda was planning to call Willow up to ask about the situation.

Alicia was in a coma for a long time due to excessive bleeding. When she woke up, she was in a state of confusion.

When she became more sober, she suddenly recalled the incident where Henry was taken away.

She was about to tell the Stewart family about this matter when Melinda called.

“Mom! Something happened!” Alicia shouted.

“What’s the matter, Alicia? What happened? Aren’t you safe now?” Melinda asked, confused.

“Casplan took Henry away!” Alicia said urgently.

“What? Why did he take Henry away?” Melinda asked in shock.

“Henry...” Allela did not know how to continue.

She was afraid that her family would not be able to accept it if she were to reveal Henry’s defection.

“Say it now! You’re killing me here!” Melinda prodded.

“Mom, I’m going to need you to find something to hold on to in case you fall down,” Alicia said.

“Hurry up and just say it already.” Melinda was even more anxious.

“Henry had defected.” Alicia knew very well that she would not be able to keep it to herself for long. The Stewart family would find out sooner or later.

Hearing this, Melinda was stunned.

“What? How could Henry suddenly become a defector?” Melinda asked in disbelief.

In her mind, Henry would never do such a thing.

“Mom, Henry and the Hudson family colluded and joined sides with the Vadeslans. That’s why they were arrested by Casplan,” Alicia said.

“Didn’t Henry go to the Hudson residence to look for you? So how did he defect?” Melinda asked, puzzled.

“He was just saying that. The reason he came over was to join hands with the Hudson family to commit treason!” Alicia said.

“No! No! Henry wouldn’t do something like this. Logically speaking, the enemy’s soldiers wouldn’t beat him up if he had defected.” Melinda was becoming increasingly confused about everything.

“This isn’t something that can be explained in a word or two. Anyway, it’s a fact that Henry had defected. Caspian had planned to execute him and the Hudson family by firing squad!” Alicia said in a panic.

“Please don’t

Hearing this, Melinda was so shocked to her core. She asked in fear, scare me, Alicia. I’m going to ask you again. Is everything you said true?”
“Why would I lie about this? Let’s all come up with a way to save Henry. If we don’t hurry, Henry might die,” Alicia urged.

“Okay. I will discuss it with your father immediately.” Melinda no longer doubted Alicia’s words.

It seemed like Henry was really in danger.

Melinda hung up the phone. She was just standing there, dazed.

The Stewart family also knew that Melinda was on the phone with Alicia. They wanted to know what the two were talking about.

“Melinda, what happened? What did you talk about with Alicia?” Donald prodded.

‘Alicia said that Henry had been arrested by Caspian,’ Melinda said.

“What? Didn’t he save Henry and Alicia? Why did he arrest Henry?” Donald asked. “What on earth happened? You’d better explain! You’re making me anxious!” Marilyn asked, feeling somewhat unsettled.

“Henry and the Hudson family defected, so Caspian had them arrested,” Melinda said.

All the Stewart family members were stunned.

“Why would something like this happen? Didn’t Henry go there to look for Alicia? “Donald was now at a loss for what to do.

How did his son become a defector?

“I don’t know what’s going on either! What should we do now?” Melinda was utterly shocked that she could no longer come up with a plan.

“Henry, that useless piece of scum. He had mentioned defecting back when we family!” Marilyn said angrily.

“Mother, let’s not talk about this now. It’s better for us to think of a way to save Henry!” Melinda said.

“He’s already become a defector. How can we save him?” Marilyn fumed.

The crime of treason is punishable by capital punishment. They feared that nobody could save him.

“Caspian is Willow’s husband. We might be able to save Henry by begging Caspian,” Melinda said.

“Caspian is the Diatoranian God of War. He would never abuse his authority to manipulate the legal process for personal gain. He’d surely punish Henry by firing squad.

“Besides, we’re no longer related to Willow. Why would he help us?” Marilyn said anxiously.

She’d seen for herself how ruthless Caspian could be. It would be close to impossible for Caspian to release him.

“Isn’t Caspian really good to Willow? He listens to her well, too. Let’s ask her to relay it to Caspian,” Melinda said.

“Yeah! We’re left with this option. Let’s have Willow plead on behalf of us,” Donald said again.

“Henry, that bastard. How dare he betray the country! He deserves to die.

“Let us not trouble

Willow. We’ll just let Henry pay for what he’s done.”

Marilyn finally vented her pent-up anger. She really didn’t want to bother herself with Henry.

“Mother! Henry is the sole surviving bloodline to carry our family’s legacy into the next generation. Do you really want to see him get killed?” Melinda asked.

Marilyn only regained her composure upon hearing this. Her adopted grandson had been killed. Henry was the only one who could continue the Stewart family’s lineage now.

“You should ask Willow and see what she says,” Marilyn said after calming herself down.

At this moment, Balthazar and the others arrived at Jade Dragon Grand Hotel.

There were soldiers everywhere around the hotel. Unauthorized persons could not get close to it at all.

Even the people who had originally stayed in the hotel were not allowed to go in and out as they wanted.

Sylvia brought her men and stood outside the hotel to greet Balthazar.

None of the hotel staff were allowed to leak whatever was going on at the hotel.

Caspian, Benjamin, John, and the others followed Balthazar to Jade Dragon Grand Hotel.

Nobody stayed in the lobby for too long. They took the elevator and headed to the top floor.

The entrance of the elevator on the top floor was guarded. No unauthorized person could come up.

Everyone went directly to the banquet hall on the top floor.

There were also soldiers patrolling around the banquet hall.

After entering the banquet hall, everyone sat down in order.

“The reason I have gathered everyone here so urgently today is because I have a very important matter to discuss with you,” Balthazar said while looking at everyone.

Everyone waited eagerly. Since Balthazar had spoken, this was no trivial matter. “The four countries—Astronia, Vadesia, Filren, and Estrya attacked us this time but were all repelled by us. Should we take this opportunity to expand our territory and then further expand our country’s influence?” Balthazar said sternly.
