

The Almighty Lord Caspian by Cath Niffisch

#Chapter 281 – 290

Read The Almighty Lord Caspian by Cath Niffisch

Chapter 281

Chapter 281 The Kane Family of Dhord City

Willow had just entered the villa when an SUV drove in.

“Caspian, you’re finally back! Everyone missed you!” Macy winked at Caspian as she said.

“Don’t joke around!” Caspian frowned and said coldly.

He then entered the SUV.

“What’s with the outburst?” Macy asked.

She was only joking around with Caspian. After all, he was still the Diatoran God of War. She would not dare to go too far with her jokes.

Macy brought Caspian to a café.

Both of them took a seat.

“How’s everything going?” Caspian asked.

“It’s done. Billy managed to escape, but the rest were completely obliterated,” Macy replied with a nod.

“Well done. I’ll make sure that Southlake City becomes a safer place in the future. We must not let anyone like Billy come in and wreak havoc,” Caspian said to Macy as he looked at her.

Macy nodded and replied, “Yes, sir!”

Macy fully obliged Caspian’s wishes. The fact that she could stay in Southlake City for such a long time was because of Caspian.

If he had sent her back to South Aridlands, she might have died from boredom by now. Being in Southlake City meant she had things to do.

It was at this moment that a car pulled up in front of the café.

Sylvia got out of her car hastily and walked into the café.

After finishing up the task in Naporja, Sylvia took the first flight back to Southlake City.

Although she was a general officer, she wanted to be more respectful in front of Caspian.

“We’ve successfully eradicated the Four Noble Lineages as instructed. Melvin of Celestial Sanctum no longer dares to return to Easton,” Sylvia said.

“Well done. There are many forces in Naporja anyway. Melvin wouldn’t dare to act rashly. Both of you have done a great job this time around,” Caspian nodded and said.

“Thank you, Caspian!” Sylvia and Macy said simultaneously.

+15 BONUS

“By the way, I’ve been busy for too long. I need a rest. I’d like the both of you to handle whatever that comes up in Southlake City,” Caspian said.

He then rose from his seat and was prepared to leave.

“Yes, Caspian!” Sylvia and Macy replied.

They had become accustomed to serving Caspian as he needed.

Caspian was their role model.

Meanwhile, at York Residence, Celestia was having a breakdown.

“Dad! When do you plan on avenging me? My face has been ruined by Caspian! Nobody will want me anymore. I don’t want to live anymore!” Celestia cried as she covered her face with her hands. She had a veil on her face.

She had been depressed after returning from Southlake City:

She had vowed to make Caspian pay for what he had done to her.

Nobody expected that Caspian would be so powerful. Not only did he kill the strongest person in the York family, but he even disfigured Celestia’s face.

She had sought the finest doctor in Dhord City, but her face was now covered in scars. She no longer dared to let others see her bare face.

How could Wendell just sit there without an ounce of anger in him?

However, now that Ivan had been killed, the York family had lost their greatest support.

They failed to obtain the resources in Southlake City as well.

The York family was in a precarious position now. They were already considered the more fortunate ones.

Wendell could only lament upon seeing his dispirited daughter.

“My daughter! I wish I could avenge you too, but Caspian’s much too mysterious. Haven’t heard about the recent incident?

Caspian went to Naporja and destroyed Galecrest. Do you think we’re any greater than Galecrest?” Wendell sighed.

“What?

Celestia was utterly shocked.

you

She had been locking herself up inside York Residence without going anywhere. How could she have known about the things that had been happening outside?

+15 BONUS

She was surprised when she heard about the news from her father.

Who was Caspian? How could he have destroyed Galecrest?

Galecrest was qualified to be considered a second-rate force in Dhord City.

Nonetheless, even such a powerful organization was not able to escape Caspian's clutches.

It was truly inconceivable.

Wendell was not surprised by Celestia's shock

When he first heard about it, he could not believe it either.

However, once he had confirmed that the rumors were true, he could only accept it.

To seek revenge against Caspian now would merely be wishful thinking.

Wendell did not dare to act recklessly.

"Celestia, I know that it's hard to believe, but it's all true!" Wendell said as he looked at Celestia.

"It's impossible! There's no way! Caspian's merely a pathetic matrilocal son-in-law who had to submit to his wife's family.

"There's no fucking way that he's capable of such a feat!" Celestia yelled hysterically as she shook her head.

She could not accept it.

She was already disfigured. If she could not seek revenge on Caspian, she would be better off dead.

"Dad! So you're telling me there's no other way? I can't just let this go without making him pay for what he has done to me!"

Celestia said as she glared at Wendell.

"Well, it's not entirely impossible..." Wendell said thoughtfully.

"Tell me, Dad! What options do we have? Celestia demanded eagerly.

"Galecrest of Naporria has a close relationship with the Kane family of Dhord City. Caspian's destruction of Galecrest is practically a declaration of war against the Kane family because it was a stronghold for the Kane family to expand their powers.

"The Kane family will definitely not spare Caspian for what he has done.

"If we could ally ourselves with the Kane family, we might have a chance at getting back at Caspian!” Wendell said.

This was the only solution he could think of.
Upon hearing this, Celestia’s hope was rekindled.
+15 BONUS

The reason for this was because she knew very well that the Kane family of Dhord City was much more powerful than the York family.

Although they were all part of the same tier, the Kane family was considered to be in the topmost position.

It should be easy for them to deal with Caspian.

“Dad, why don’t we go look for the Kane family to discuss our collaboration now?” Celestia asked impatiently.

“But once we approach them for help, they’ll definitely ask for something in return...” Wendell said hesitantly.

With the current situation, it would not be as simple as merely asking for a collaboration. They might even have to become vassals of the Kane family and obey their orders in the future.

“Dad, stop hesitating! Caspian has already killed our strongest eternal grandmaster. We can’t afford to sit back and wait for death to come!

“We need to find someone to help us. Otherwise, someone else might start targeting us soon!” Celestia said impatiently.

“Alright, let’s look for them now to discuss this matter!” Wendell gritted his teeth and said. They really had no other options left.

They could only rely on the Kane family now.

Wendell brought Celestia along with him and headed to Kane Residence. Meanwhile, tension was rising at Kane Residence.

1

Inside the reception hall, Cole was kneeling on the ground. His knees had begun to become numb.

Nevertheless, he did not dare to move an inch. He could only continue kneeling where he was.

The reason for this was because the person sitting in front of him was the head of the Kane family, Chandler Kane.

Chandler Kane was almost 70 years old. He had been the head of the Kane family for decades.

Chapter 282 Top Secret Identity

After being silent for a long period of time, Chandler shouted in a piercing voice, “Cole Wilson! Do you admit your wrongdoings?”

Chandler demanded. He was filled with malevolence.

When Cole felt Chandler's malice, he trembled with fear. He began feeling extremely uneasy.

"I do! Please spare me, Mr. Kane!" Cole pleaded with utmost urgency.

Chandler slammed the table beside him and roared, "Because of your recklessness, my decades-long plan has completely been ruined! Now you're telling me that you still want to live?"

Chandler became the leader of the Kane family more than 30 years ago.

At that time, he was someone strong-willed and high-spirited.

He had even planned to promote the Kane family to become an elite family in Dhord city.

This led to him stationing Cole in Naporla. With the support of the Kane family, Cole gradually became the master of Galecrest.

With Galecrest establishing a firm foothold in Naporla, it seemed like Chandler was about to harvest the fruits of his decades-long plan.

Alas, Galecrest was destroyed at such a crucial moment! A plan that had been in motion for decades was completely ruined in the blink of an eye!

How could Chandler not be angry? His hard work of more than a decade went down the drain in an instant. Nobody would be able to accept this.

Cole became frightened upon seeing Chandler's wrath.

He could only kneel on the ground and plead over and over again.

"Please, have mercy on me! Please give me one more chance. It's all because of Caspian!

"If it isn't for the fact that he holds the majority of the control over the forces in the southern part of Diatoran..." Cole begged incessantly.

In the entire hall, not one person dared to make a sound.

Only the sound of Cole's pleading could be heard throughout the entire hall.

Cole was extremely worried. He could already imagine his ending.

He feared the power of the Kane family. He did not dare to resist in any way.

He could only kneel on the ground and acquiesce in the decision to punish him.

"In consideration of your loyalty to the Kane family over the past few decades.

I can spare you

+15 BONUS

"I'm beyond grateful, Mr. Kane! Thank you so much, Mr. Kane!" Cole thanked Chandler profusely.

"I can choose not to kill you, but you must atone for your sins."

"Yes, sir!"

Cole nodded his head profusely. He was now fully subservient to Chandler.

Chandler recovered his composure.

"Who is Caspian?" Chandler asked.

"He's just the matrilocal son-in-law of the Stewart family. He was also a soldier for several years. I'm just not sure how he can be so powerful.

"He has defeated Leonardo Xanthos of the Two Lakes area, Mahayan Pavilion of Easton, and Galecrest," Cole said.

Chandler frowned upon hearing this.

Was Caspian an average matrilocal son-in-law? The fact that he could defeat all three forces. meant that he had to be someone extraordinary.

"Mr. Alfred, do you know Caspian's real identity?" Chandler asked as he looked at Alfred.

"I've done some investigation on Caspian's background, sir. He really is the matrilocal son-in-law of the Stewart family.

However, what's strange is that all the information about his identity seems to have been hidden.

"I've tried digging around, but the only information I got is that he was once a soldier. As for any other detail, I found nothing," Alfred said.

This was surprising.

Chandler was slightly taken aback upon hearing this.

His details had been hidden?

How could the Kane family not get their hands on any information? This was a first for them.

"Could it be that he's from one of the elite families of Dhord City?" Cole asked.

"That's impossible. It seems like Caspian was taken in. He might not even know who his biological parents are," Alfred said.

"There's another possibility. He might have a very high position within the military. Even John Anderson, the high-ranking general of South Aridlands, attended his wedding.

"I suspect that his identity is not as simple as we think!" Cole continued.

+15 BONUS

He had also done a background check on Caspian before. This was all he could find out as well.

If Caspian was really the highest-ranking officer in the military, the Kane family must think twice before offending him.

“Enough. Since we’re not clear about the entire situation, let’s not fear-monger and scare ourselves. We must not act rashly either,” Chandler said.

“Yes, sir!” Cole and Alfred nodded.

It was at this moment that a domestic helper of the Kane family suddenly ran over to them. and said, “Mr. Kane Senior, Wendell York, the head of the York family, is here to see you.”

“The York family?”

Chandler and the others looked at each other.

They had never had much interaction with the York family of Dhord City.

“Let him in first,” Chandler said as he waved his hand.

“Yes, sir!” the helper said and retreated.

The York family was one of the lesser-known elite families in Dhord City, and their status was in the lowest-ranking position.

Half a minute later, Wendell and Celestia walked in hastily.

“Greetings, Mr. Kane Senior. I’m Wendell of the York family,” Wendell greeted.

“Pleasure is mine. May I know the purpose of your visitation today?” Chandler asked.

“The York family has heard about the destruction of Galecrest by Caspian.

This must have dealt a blow to the Kane family,”

Wendell said as he raised his head.

Chandler’s expression immediately darkened.

Cole’s face was ashen white. Galecrest had become the bane of his life.

If Caspian had not shown up, he would still be thriving in Naporla. However, everything had been ruined by Caspian.

Wendell noticed that Cole was present as well. However, now that Cole had fallen from grace, he no longer had power or status.

Wendell did not even bother to pay much attention to Cole.

“The York family and Caspian are sworn enemies!” Wendell continued.

Chandler nodded. In fact, he knew about the conflict between Caspian and the York family. After all, the Kane family was an elite family in Dhord City. They had a reliable source of

+15 BONUS

“The damage Caspian has brought upon our family can never be erased. Not only did he kill our eternal grandmaster, but he also scarred my face with a knife. He disfigured me!” Celestia cried out as she knelt on the ground and unveiled her face.

The next moment, what everyone saw was a grotesque face.

Several of the people present were utterly horrified. How could Caspian so cruelly deform a young lady's face that she no longer resembled a human?

A woman's appearance was the most important thing to her.

"I'd like to ask for Mr. Kane Senior's help. Please avenge us," Celestia pleaded with tears in her eyes.

Celestia was no longer the arrogant and domineering Ms. York that she was before.

She looked more like a resentful woman who had been abandoned.

A smile appeared on Chandler's face as he said, "That's enough. You may rise. Caspian's too vicious. He must be killed!"

"Thank you so much, Mr. Kane Senior!" Celestia said. She felt like there was still hope.

With his head lowered, Wendell presented a gift box to Chandler and respectfully said, "Mr.

Kane Senior, this is a symbol of appreciation from the York family. I hope you'll accept it." When Chandler opened the box, his eyes lit up.

Today's Bonus Offer

GET IT NOW.

+15 BONUS

Chapter 283 Stunning Beauty

Wendell bowed before Chandler and said, "Mr. Kane Senior, these are all the assets the York family owns in cities other than Dhord City. I hope you can accept them."

There was only silence in the hall.

Wendell was ready to take a gamble. Ever since the York family lost Ivan, the York family had no way to contend with other noble families.

Their properties outside Dhord City were also in jeopardy.

As Chandler remained silent, Wendell began to get worried.

Why hadn't Chandler said anything? Did Chandler think that he was not sincere?

Thinking of this, Wendell grew uneasy.

After a moment, Chandler placed the gift box on the table and said, "Wendell, this is very considerate of you. It's indeed a wise choice to obey. I'll accept the gift. From now on, no one in the Dhord City will dare to bully the York family!

Hearing this, Wendell was overjoyed.

"Thank you, Chandler! From now on, the York family will unquestionably follow your orders!"

"Wendell said with his head lowered.

"That's enough. If there's nothing else, you may leave." Chandler waved his hand.

"Of course!" Wendell raised his head, ready to leave.

"Mr. Kane, may I ask when you plan to deal with Caspian?" Celestia asked anxiously.

"Regarding Caspian, I'll need to consider a few things first. If there's any progress, I'll inform you," Chandler said calmly.

"But..." Celestia seemed to want to say something more.

However, Wendell quickly pulled her aside and said, "Celestia, let's go." Wendell was afraid that Celestia might say something that angered Chandler.

After Wendell and his daughter left, Alfred asked, "Mr. Kane Senior, are you really is to help the York family deal with Caspian?"

"The York family may have lost an eternal grandmaster, but they're still powerful. We can use them for our own benefit," Chandler said with a smile.

As for dealing with Caspian, it was too early to make any rash moves.

1/4

+15 BONUS

"Cole!" Chandler called loudly.

He looked into Cole's eyes firmly and said, "I command you to do everything you can to find out Caspian's true identity."

At Riverside Villa, Caspian spent the next few days in leisure.

He was extremely busy when he was in Naporla and Easton previously.

"Hubby, I have a gathering tonight. Would you like to come? It's with some of my high school classmates and friends," Willow said to Caspian after she returned from work.

She had been busy with work lately, and many of her friends wanted to treat her to a meal.

Willow naturally understood their intentions. She was now the CEO of Southlake Corporation, so many wanted to curry favor with her.

Before she became the CEO of Southlake Corporation, no one was ever so enthusiastic toward her.

“Another gathering? Sure. I’m not busy anyway,” Caspian replied with a smile. “Great! Wait for me while I go change my clothes. Love you, Hubby!” Willow said, gently kissing Caspian’s cheek.

She then went to her room to get dressed.

Caspian didn’t really care about these gatherings. He would just wear his most ordinary clothes.

The previous gathering Willow had with her college classmates had already left a bad impression on him.

Her classmates treated her to a meal only to flatter her. After all, there was a huge difference in her current status compared to before.

Ten minutes later, Willow came out donning a white fringed dress and a pair of blue high heels. It accentuated her already stunning beauty.

At this moment, Willow was almost indistinguishable from an A-list celebrity.

“Hubby, do you think I’m pretty?” Willow asked shyly, looking at Caspian’s mesmerized expression.

“You’re beautiful! My wife is the most beautiful woman in the world, without a doubt!” Caspian said with a smile.

“You’re such a sweet-talker!” Willow couldn’t stop smiling.

+15 BONUS

“It’s time to go,” Caspian said.

Afterward, they left Riverside Villa in a Rolls-Royce.

They didn’t want to be so ostentatious, but there were no cheaper cars in the garage.

They soon arrived at a five-star hotel in Southlake City.

Ordinary people couldn’t afford to dine here at all.

“Fritz, you just came back from overseas and you’re already being so extravagant, bringing us to such a luxurious restaurant?”

Hahaha! Who would’ve t a few years overs

that after spending Fritz would come back to become a high-ranking executive in a famous company? That’s so impressive!”

“Fritz, the perks and benefits at your company must be great, right? I heard that people who work there earn several million dollars a year! Don’t forget about us when you become rich and successful, old classmate!”

In the hotel lobby, Fritz was dressed in designer clothes and wore a Patek Philippe watch. He was enjoying the praise of his friends while looking proud of himself.

“That’s easy. We’re all old classmates, so if you have any difficulties, just let me know,” Fritz said with a smug smile.

He loved the feeling of being praised by his classmates, which was why he wanted to organize a class reunion.

After returning from abroad, he immediately called of his former classmates for no un some other reason but to show off in front of them.

“I wonder if Willow will come this time?” a woman suddenly spoke up.

The lively conversation among the group instantly quieted down.

Willow had always been the center of attention among the group.

Every time they gathered, they were sure to talk about her.

In the beginning, many of them found it somewhat regretful when they learned that Willow had married a good–for–nothing.

However, among the people who attended the reunion, a few had actually been to Willow’s wedding. They completely dispelled the idea that Caspian was a good–for–nothing.

It was just that many others had not attended Willow’s wedding and still believed that she had married a loser.

“I don’t think she’ll come.”

+15 BONUS

“Who knows? If I had a husband who’s nothing but trash, I wouldn’t have the courage to go out either!”

“Actually, Willow’s husband, Caspian ...”

Just as someone wanted to clarify the situation between Willow and Caspian, Fritz interrupted them, “Let’s stop discussing this.

We’re all old classmates; let’s not ruin our relationship.”

“Fritz, look at what a gentleman you are. It’s just a pity, though. When we were in school, all of us thought you and Willow were the perfect match. Who would’ve thought that Willow would marry a good–for–nothing?”

“If she finds out that you now earn several million dollars a year, she’ll probably regret it,” one of the women said sarcastically.

A few of the women present had always been interested in Fritz.

Unfortunately, he completely ignored them.

After Fritz returned from overseas, his first thought was to win over Willow’s heart.

But since Willow was married and had become another man's wife, it wouldn't be a bad thing for the two of them to simply have a fling as well.

Whenever Fritz thought about Willow's stunning face and her attractive figure, his heart raced.

"Look, Willow is here!" someone suddenly pointed outside the hotel and shouted loudly. Upon hearing this, everyone turned to look.

Chapter 284 I'll Let You Win This Time

Not far from the hotel, Caspian and Willow were riding on bicycles. They soon stopped outside the hotel.

"Hubby! How did such an expensive car like that break down? I'm so pissed!" Willow said with a pout.

"I didn't expect it either. I'll get someone to check the car before I leave the house next time, Caspian replied.

They had been driving to the hotel, but halfway there, their car suddenly had some issues.

Caspian had no choice but to get Sylvia to fix the car. In order not to be late for the gathering, he and Willow each bought a bike and rode to the hotel. Fortunately, the hotel wasn't too far from where their car had broken down.

After Willow entered the hotel, she said somewhat embarrassedly to her classmates, "I'm sorry. Our car broke down on the way, so we're a bit late." really Caspian followed closely behind Willow and walked in as well.

When they saw Caspian and Willow, many couldn't help but smile with disdain.

All the others had achieved success in their careers, and almost everyone had a car. Yet, Caspian and Willow came to the gathering riding bikes.

It was truly unexpected.

However, Willow's makeup was exquisite today, leaving everyone amazed.

The presence of a beautiful woman shifted the mood in the lobby.

The moment Fritz saw Willow, his gaze remained fixed on her.

He had already begun imagining the scene of Willow moaning beneath him.. Several guys also stared at Willow without blinking.

As for the women, they seemed somewhat unhappy. The moment Willow appeared, they all paled in comparison.

“Willow, Fritz just returned from overseas and invited us to this fancy hotel for dinner. If you were just late, it would’ve been fine.

But you came here on a bike and not even in a car?

“Some of our classmates said your wedding was grand, but it just sounds like nonsense to me right now,” a woman with seductive looks swayed her body as she said disdainfully.

The other classmates couldn’t help but chuckle.

1/4

+15 BONUS

Willow was momentarily stunned. The woman who spoke was called Kelsie Poole. They were in the same class back then.

However, Kelsie had always been overshadowed by Willow, so their relationship was quite tense.

“There was a problem with our car when we were on the road, so that delayed us for a bit,” Willow quickly explained.

“Stop talking nonsense here. Do you really think you look like someone who owns a car? Look at yourself now. And as for your useless husband, he doesn’t seem like he can afford a car either!” Kelsie mocked.

At this moment, the people around them also started laughing.

Willow frowned slightly. Kelsie was indeed taking things a bit too far. Willow had always been targeted by her in the past.

Although she was annoyed, she couldn’t find the right words to retort to Kelsie at that moment.

“Apologize to my wife right now!” Caspian took two steps forward as he spoke fiercely.

“What? Apologize? What are you on about?” Kelsie continued to laugh.

“You’re Willow’s husband, right? I heard you’re a good—for–nothing!”

Now, everyone’s attention fell on Caspian.

Caspian looked handsome and refined. He was definitely as good–looking as models, but unfortunately, he was dressed quite plainly.

The gazes from the others were not friendly.

Only two or three people nodded at Caspian with smiles on their faces. They had attended Caspian and Willow's wedding, and they would forever remember the scene.

"Apologize to my wife right now. I don't like repeating my words," Caspian said coldly.

"Apologize? Not a chance! You good-for-nothing, you're just a parasite. Why should I apologize..." Kelsie said disdainfully.

Suddenly, a crisp sound echoed as Caspian raised his hand to give Kelsie a slap.

Instantly, everyone was flabbergasted!

They didn't expect that Caspian would react physically.

Fritz was also extremely surprised. He was startled by Caspian's sudden reaction and thought he seemed a bit full of himself.

+15 BONUS

"How dare you hit me? You useless piece of trash! You're nothing more than a parasite! How dare you lay a hand on me? I won't let this slide easily!" Kelsie yelled while rubbing her sore cheek, utterly infuriated.

Waving her hands, she ran toward Caspian.

"If that wasn't enough for you, I can teach you a real lesson!" Caspian said with a cold gaze, making Kelsie freeze in place.

She believed that Caspian was just bluffing, but she couldn't take a step forward.

Then, Kelsie clung to Fritz's arm and coquettishly said, "Fritz, you have to help me! He's bullying me!"

Looking at Kelsie's flirtatious display, Fritz couldn't help but feel disgusted. During this time, Kelsie had been shooting him flirtatious glances. Fritz wasn't oblivious to her intentions.

But he had zero interest in Kelsie. He only had his eyes on Willow.

Even so, there wasn't much Fritz could do in front of so many people. He could only step forward and say, "Hello, I'm Fritz, Willow's high school classmate. I just returned from studying overseas and now work for a famous company in Southlake City.

"Please do me a favor and don't make a big deal out of this."

However, Caspian was not buying it.

"Who do you think you are? You're just someone who studied abroad and gets bedazzled by anything foreign. What gives you the right to be so arrogant?" Caspian said angrily.

The more he spoke, the angrier he became. This was a common occurrence in Diatoran.

Many students who graduated from prestigious universities overseas would choose to live abroad and serve another country.

Fritz was dumbfounded by what he heard.

How could Caspian be so arrogant and even insult him?

However, he wanted to leave a good impression in front of his former classmates, so he didn't lose his temper.

Fritz adjusted his attitude and smiled at Willow, saying, "Willow, why is your husband so arrogant? I spoke to him kindly, but he shot back with insults.

"We were classmates before, and if it weren't for your sake, I wouldn't let this go so easily."

Caspian frowned, wanting to say something more, but Willow patted his back.

+15 BONUS

He could only remain silent for Willow's sake.

Anyone could disparage him, but no one could disparage his wife.

"Fritz, since you've said so, let's just move past this. We're here for a reunion, so let's keep our spirits up," Willow said with a smile.

Hearing Willow speak up, a smug smile appeared on Fritz's face.

It seemed he still had some influence, seeing as Willow was willing to listen to him.

"Everyone is here. Let's go inside," Fritz cheerfully said.

"Let's go, let's go!"

"It's my first time eating at a five-star hotel!"

"I'm definitely going to eat a lot later."

The group followed Fritz as they made their way to the dining area.

Looking at Fritz's triumphant expression, Caspian sneered disdainfully.

He and Willow walked at the back.

"Willow, are these your high school classmates? They seem even more uncivilized than your college classmates!" Caspian said to Willow, who was walking by his side.

Willow hadn't expected her high school classmates to turn out like this either.

Today's Bonus Offer

Chapter 285 Looking Down on Her

After graduating from high school, it seemed that Willow's classmates had all become materialistic.

Willow regretted coming to this gathering. She wouldn't have come if she had known it would turn out this way.

Kelsie, who was following Fritz, looked resentful. When no one was watching, she walked into the restroom and made a call.

"Darling, I'm at the Golden Palace Hotel, and someone just hit me! You have to help me get revenge!" Kelsie coquettishly pleaded.

"What? Which idiot dares to lay a hand on my woman! I'll bring my people over right now!" a vicious voice said.

Kelsie walked out of the restroom after hanging up. There was a wicked smile on her face.

Inside the private dining room, it was lively with voices.

"What do you guys want to eat today? You can order anything you like. I'll foot the bill!" Fritz said with pride.

At this moment, he seemed to be the center of everyone's attention.

In reality, he wasn't as wealthy as everyone believed him to be. Even if he earned a million dollars a year, so what?

A meal in a high-end hotel like this would cost him nearly a month of his salary.

But for the sake of putting up appearances, he could only bite the bullet and pay for it.

Everyone exclaimed in awe once again.

Caspian, watching Fritz's smug appearance, felt like he was looking at a fool.

Willow looked upset too. She didn't like such gatherings.

The two or three classmates who had attended Willow and Caspian's wedding remained silent.

Kelsie walked into the private room from the restroom and sat down without saying a word.

However, her gaze toward Willow became increasingly sharp.

It didn't take long before a number of beautifully presented dishes were brought out.

Everyone raised their glasses and cheered.

+15 BONUS

"Come, everyone, let's give a toast to Fritz!"

"Yes! We must do it for Fritz. If not for him, how could we afford to dine in such a classy hotel?"

Everyone raised their glasses, except for Caspian, who simply remained seated with a calm expression on his face.

He couldn't be bothered with someone like Fritz.

“Thank you all for coming tonight,” Fritz smiled.

Immediately, everyone began praising Fritz once again.

“Fritz, we heard that you’re already a C–suite executive at a subsidiary of Southlake Corporation. That’s incredible! As expected of someone who studied abroad!” someone among them stood up and exclaimed.

“A senior executive at Southlake Corporation’s subsidiary?”

Hearing this, everyone was shocked and astonished.

Southlake Corporation had recently been developing rapidly. They had become the largest conglomerate in Southlake City.

Anyone who worked there had a bright future ahead of them!

“I joined Southlake Corporation after returning from my studies abroad. I’m just a department supervisor and make only a few million dollars a year.” Fritz revealed the details. with a sense of pride.

He seemed to be downplaying it, but deep inside, he was extremely proud of his own.

achievement.

He was able to become a senior executive at Southlake Corporation largely thanks to his cousin. His cousin held a managerial position at one of Southlake Corporation’s subsidiaries.

“My goodness! A few million in just a year!”

Hearing this, everyone was extremely surprised.

They had just graduated from university, and many of them were struggling in small companies. A monthly salary of over ten grand was already considered good.

After Fritz returned from overseas, he unexpectedly became a senior executive at Southlake Corporation. He earned hundreds of thousands a month and a few million dollars a year.

This made many of them dispirited when they reflected on their own situations.

“Fritz, you’re so outstanding!”

+15 BONUS

“If Southlake Corporation has any vacancies in the future, could you help us pull some strings?”

“Yeah, that’s right!”

Several of them started to flatter Fritz. If they could enter Southlake Corporation, their future would definitely be brighter.

“That’s easy. If there’s any news, I’ll be sure to give you first–hand information. After all, we Fritz said. en to be classmates,” These people knew that Southlake Corporation was very powerful, but they had no idea who the CEO of Southlake Corporation was.

Most of them didn't work in Southlake City. As for Fritz, he had just returned from overseas and knew nothing about the situation in Southlake City.

“I met the CEO of Southlake Corporation once when I was at the subsidiary.
She had a good impression of me and even said she wanted to promote me!”

Fritz started to make up stories.

“Your road to success is here!” one classmate exclaimed.

Upon hearing this, Willow and Caspian exchanged glances.

What nonsense was Fritz talking about?

Willow had never seen Fritz at the subsidiary office, let alone form a good impression of him. He was simply talking nonsense.

“Fritz, why didn't I know about the CEO of Southlake Corporation meeting you at the subsidiary office previously?” Willow asked.

“Willow? Are you also working at Southlake Corporation's subsidiary office?”

Fritz suddenly asked nervously.

He was afraid that his lies would be exposed.

“Yes, but I've never seen you there,” Willow said.

She had been to Southlake Corporation's subsidiary office before and had never seen Fritz.

“What position do you hold in the company? I'm in the office all day, but I can't possibly meet everyone!” Fritz proudly said.

Even if Willow worked at Southlake Corporation's subsidiary office, she was probably just an insignificant employee.

Willow couldn't help but laugh. Fritz was so full of himself, wasn't he?

+15 BONUS

“Willow, are you perhaps a janitor at the company?” Kelsie mocked with a laugh.

Everyone was stunned as Kelsie's words seemed plausible. Their gazes toward Willow were suddenly filled with disdain.

“Willow, don't worry. I'll find a way for you to get promoted when the opportunity arises!” Fritz said with a smile.

At this moment, he was still thinking about how to take advantage of Willow.

Willow rolled her eyes. She was the CEO of Southlake Corporation, yet this insignificant supervisor dared to make fun of her?

“This is hilarious. I didn’t want to get involved in your conversation, but it’s just so funny. How could someone like you work at the subsidiary office of Southlake Corporation? It seems like I should hold the person in charge of the subsidiary office accountable!”

Caspian suddenly burst into laughter.

“You...” Fritz became furious.

How dare a good-for-nothing make fun of him?

“Who do you think you are? How dare you say that about me? You’re just a freeloading matrilocal son-in-law, a good-for-nothing! I studied abroad and earn a six-figure salary now.

“What about you? You don’t even have a decent car!” Fritz sneered.

Seeing that Fritz had gotten angry, the others didn’t say anything. They were waiting to watch the drama as it unfolded.

Among the crowd, there were two or three who kept silent because they knew that Caspian couldn’t possibly be a loser. Caspian and Willow’s wedding was too grand and exceptional.

“Hahaha! Fritz, you idiot. What a pity!” Caspian said as he laughed.

“What do you mean by that? I’ll give you two options. Either explain yourself clearly or apologize to me immediately! Otherwise, I won’t let this slide!” Fritz said angrily.

He had initially wanted to put on appearances in front of his former classmates, but Caspian had been undermining him all evening. He couldn’t bear it anymore.

He thought that a good-for-nothing like Caspian would be humbled upon being taught a lesson.

“I just think that you keep looking down on people. Do you know Willow’s position?” Caspian said disdainfully.

“She’s just an ordinary employee at Southlake Corporation’s subsidiary office.”

“Yes! What’s so special about her?”

Several classmates also chimed in.

“You guys sure know how to look down on people. Willow is now the CEO of Southlake Corporation,” Caspian said with a laugh.

Chapter 286 Slapped Again

All was silent.

After hearing what Caspian said, everyone was dumbstruck. Moments later, they began to roar with laughter.

“Hahaha! That’s the funniest joke I’ve ever heard!”

“Did you hear what he said?”

“Willow’s the CEO of Southlake Corporation? Is he joking?”

“I bet that she’s just a clerk in the branch office at most!”

Willow’s former high school classmates could not stop laughing

“If Willow’s the CEO of Southlake Corporation, who are you?” Fritz pointed at Caspian and asked with a chuckle.

“I’m Lord Caspian, the Diatoranian God of War,” Caspian solemnly replied. Everyone was stupefied.

What did Caspian just call himself? The Diatoranian God of War?

What a joke! How could Caspian be Lord Caspian, the powerful figure who conquered battlefields?

They thought he should have chosen a more believable lie.

Willow was also started as well, but she did not make any comments. Since she knew Caspian was a military officer, she thought he was just lying to scare Fritz.

“Hahaha! The CEO of Southlake Corporation and the Diatoranian God of War, huh? You two- must be crazy,” Fritz scoffed.

The others chimed in as well.

“That’s right! How can someone who looks like you be the Diatoranian God of War?”

“We came here to have a good meal together. Who would’ve thought we’d run into two shameless and boastful people?”

They eyed Caspian and Willow with ridicule.

Caspian chuckled.

He and the people around the table came from two entirely different worlds.

Even after he declared his true identity, they did not believe him because they did not know

+15 BONUS

They were ignorant fools who could not possibly imagine just how powerful Caspian was.

Caspian could not be bothered to continue wasting his breath on them. No matter what he said, they would not get it..

Upon seeing Caspian’s reaction, Fritz said sternly, “Caspian, since you claim that Willow is the CEO of Southlake Corporation, I’ll go ahead and check for myself! I’ll send a message to my uncle and tell him to come over right now.

“He’s in charge of Southlake c

Willow is the CEO!”

Fritz immediately sent the text.

branch office, so I’m sure he knows whether or not

He was determined to expose Willow. It was no laughing matter that someone was pretending to be the CEO of Southlake Corporation. Fritz thought that if his uncle, Geoffrey, came over and stopped someone from abusing the CEO’s name, the CEO might even reward him for it.

Immediately, everyone’s gazes became even more respectful as they looked at Fritz.

They were surprised that he had such an accomplished uncle.

The head of Southlake Corporation’s branch office was nothing to sneeze at!

Willow shook her head and chuckled bitterly.

She no longer wanted to speak to these classmates of hers. Initially, she wanted to use this chance to strengthen their friendship. But after coming over, she realized that things were different now.

Her classmates had changed. Unlike their younger days, they were a lot more materialistic and calculating now.

Rather than sticking around, she figured it was better to leave early. She did not think she would miss out on anything.

“Let’s go, hubby. I don’t feel like eating here anymore,” Willow said as she took Caspian’s hand and stood up.

Caspian nodded. If not for Willow, he would not have attended such a gathering in the first place.

However, as soon as Caspian and Willow got up, a few people blocked their path.

The male classmates were keen to keep the drama going. They wanted to see how awkwardly humiliating it would be when Caspian and Willow were exposed in front of everyone.

“What are you doing?” Willow asked with a slight frown.

2/4

+15 BONUS

“Why are you leaving so soon? You should at least wait until my uncle gets here. I’d like to see if you’re really the CEO of Southlake Corporation and the so-called Diatoranian God of War. Hah! What a joke!" Fritz declared smugly.

He was not going to let Caspian and Willow leave now.

In fact, he might even be able to use this chance to establish a connection with the real CEO of Southlake Corporation.

Or perhaps he could use this to threaten Willow after the gathering and demand certain things from her.

What he truly wanted was to get Willow in bed.

"Why, you..." Willow exclaimed vexedly.

g your own

"My wife was gracious enough to drop the matter, but since you insist on digging your own grave, don't blame us for not showing any mercy!" Caspian declared icily.

He patted Willow on the shoulder and gestured for her to take a seat.

Fritz cocked an eyebrow. He could not believe how arrogant Caspian was. What gave him the nerve to boast like that?

He thought that once his uncle came over, Caspian and Willow would be exposed.

The others around the table were also looking forward to the show.

All of a sudden, someone kicked the door open.

"Who is it? Which bastard with a death wish had the audacity to lay a hand on my woman?"

A burly man with a ferocious expression rushed into the dining room with a few of his subordinates.

Kelsie leaped to her feet in excitement. She hugged the man's arm as she whined, "You're finally here, Benny! I've been waiting for you!"

All this while, Bernard Underhill had been working with Lincoln. For some reason, Lincoln established a partnership with Southlake Corporation a while ago.

That did not affect Bernard, however. In fact, even more people tried to butter him up.

Many women threw themselves at him too, and Kelsie was one of them.

Even though Kelsie was rather tacky, Bernard was still somewhat satisfied with her. She performed well in bed, so he was fond of her.

When he found out that his lover had been hit, he was infuriated. Who dared to hit his woman? Did they have a death wish?

+15 BONUS

Wrapping his arm around Kelsie's waist and fondling her butt, Bernard asked, "Who's the bastard that hit you, babe? I'll break his legs!"

"That's him! Look at my face! It still hurts," Kelsie whined as she pointed at Caspian.

"Alright. I'll break..."

Bernard's words faltered. The moment he spotted Caspian, he was stupefied.

"Cas... Wil..." Bernard gasped.

He knew full well who Caspian and Willow were.

When Lincoln went to meet those two, Bernard had tagged along as Lincoln's bodyguard.

Furthermore, Lincoln had warned Bernard not to antagonize Caspian and Willow.

Naturally, Bernard would not have forgotten the faces of people who even Lincoln feared.

Sweating profusely, Bernard gulped. He could not speak..

In an instant, he was filled with frustration and regret, as well as terror.

"What are you doing, Benny? Hit him! Help me get revenge!" Kelsie said with a pout when she saw Bernard freezing in place.

But as soon as she finished speaking, Bernard slapped her.

Today's Bonus Offer

GET IT NOW

Chapter 287 Too Late for Regrets

"Benny! Why did you hit me? I wanted you to hit Caspian!" Kelsie cried out in disbelief as she clutched her aching cheek.

Bernard's slap hurt more than Caspian's. Kelsie's face was all swollen.

"You bitch! Who else should I be slapping, huh? You nearly got me in so much trouble!" Bernard roared at Kelsie.

His outburst left Kelsie dumbfounded.

All along, Bernard had doted on her and did everything she asked of him.

What was up with him today? Why did he hit her? She could not understand what was happening.

"Since you laid your hand on me, Bernard, don't even think about seeing me again!" Kelsie declared in fury.

Bernard ignored Kelsie, Instead, he fell onto his knees in front of Caspian and Willow.

"It's all my fault, Mr. Lynch. If I'd known that this bitch had offended you, I would've taught her a lesson from the start!" Bernard said fearfully.

the

He was overwhelmed with regret. If he knew that Kelsie had offended Caspian, he would've turned a blind eye to the whole thing. Lincoln had already warned Bernard not to antagonize Caspian or Willow. Even though he did not know their real identities, he knew that he could not afford to offend people who even Lincoln feared.

Bernard sorely wanted to teach Kelsie a lesson. If it had not been for her, he would not have Come over.

"You're the guy that woman shot," Caspian said coolly.

called over to help her, right? I heard you're supposed to be a big

He vaguely recalled seeing Bernard before during a meeting with Lincoln, but he did not remember much from that encounter.

But after noting Bernard's fear, he knew that Bernard was aware of his identity.

"Please forgive me just this once, Mr. Lynch. I'd never dare to lay a finger on you!" Bernard pleaded.

His pathetic display rendered Kelsie speechless.

She wanted Bernard to stand up for her, but instead, he was a loser who even feared a matrilineal son-in-law!

+15 BONUS

"Bernard, you loser! You're always bragging about how you work with Mr. Zott and how you can do anything you want in Southlake

City. Yet, now that I'm asking you for help, you're being such a coward!

you

"If I'd known how much of a coward you were, I wouldn't have gotten involved with you, you useless trash!" Kelsie shrieked.

"Shut up, you bitch!" Bernard snarled back at her.

He could not believe that Kelsie was still saying such ridiculous things at a time like this. Sooner or later, she would be the death of him!

Bernard's reaction terrified Kelsie. He had never treated her this way before. Meanwhile, Bernard continued to lunge in front of Caspian without saying anything. His back was soaked through.

Upon seeing this, Fritz got a bad feeling. Could it be that Caspian did come from a powerful background?

Was Willow truly the CEO of Southlake Corporation?

Shaking his head, Fritz tossed that possibility out the window.

Willow could not possibly be the CEO of Southlake Corporation, and Caspian was certainly not the Diatoranian God of War.

Why would the Diatoranian God of War end up being a matrilocal son-in-law in Southlake City? That made no sense.

Fritz kept trying to convince himself, but he still felt a little fearful.

“Are you still going to stop us from leaving, Fritz?” Caspian asked with a smile.

“Stop trying to scare us! You and Willow must’ve lied about your identities!

Who knows? Maybe you hired this Bernard guy to put on an act for us,” Fritz scoffed derisively.

Fritz, who was still on his knees, was dumbfounded.

Who was this young man? What gave him the gall to mock Caspian and Willow?

Even Lincoln would not dare to do such a thing.

Bernard felt a flash of pity for Fritz. He was going to pay for this.

Caspian smirked. Soon, Fritz would be regretting everything he had done.

Just then, the door flew open with a bang again, and a middle-aged man dressed in a suit came

1. in.

“You’re here, Uncle Geoffrey!” Fritz cried out excitedly.

+15 BONUS

“You sent me a message saying that someone’s pretending to be the CEO of Southlake Corporation. Well, who is it? Does the fool have a death wish? Call the authorities and get whoever it is arrested!”

Geoffrey said to Fritz.

Southlake Corporation was now the largest company in the Two Lakes area.

Geoffrey was in charge of Southlake Corporation’s branch office, and Willow, the CEO, had helped him numerous times.

He genuinely respected her, so naturally, he had to come and see for himself who was the one who had the audacity to assume Willow’s identity.

“It’s the two of them over there! They’re shameless!” Fritz pointed at Caspian and Willow as he declared smugly.

“What a ridiculous...” Geoffrey began saying as he looked in the direction where Fritz was pointing.

But when he saw Caspian and Willow, his sentence came to an abrupt stop.

He dared not continue speaking.

Geoffrey's expression stiffened as he trembled in fear.

"That's them, Uncle Geoffrey! That woman, Willow, had the nerve to call herself the CEO of Southlake Corporation. And Caspian's even worse!

"He said he's the Diatoranian God of War! You need to teach them a good lesson. Tell them who's the real CEO of Southlake Corporation!" Fritz bellowed.

Alas, the moment he finished speaking, Geoffrey fell on his knees.

"Uncle Geoffrey! What are you doing? Why are you kneeling?" Fritz asked in confusion.

Geoffrey glared at Fritz before saying fearfully, "It's good to see you, Ms. Stewart, Mr. Lynch!"

is just a

"What's up with you, Uncle Geoffrey? Willow clerk working in Southlake Corporation's branch office, and Caspian's just the Stewart family's matrilocal son-in-law!

"Why are you kneeling in front of them? Also, why are you calling Willow Ms. Ste..."

Fritz's voice trailed off. Freezing in place, he stared at Willow and Caspian in shock.

Geoffrey raised his hand and gave Fritz a crisp, resounding slap.

"You fool! Hurry up and apologize to the CEO, Ms. Stewart!" Geoffrey fumed.

His words struck Fritz like a bolt of lightning.

He knew Geoffrey would not be lying about this. That meant Willow was indeed the CEO of Southlake Corporation!

+15 BONUS

Legs buckling, Fritz fell to his knees.

His heart sank as he realized he had offended someone incredibly powerful.

Regardless of who Caspian was, Willow's identity as the CEO of Southlake Corporation alone. was enough to scare him.

Recently, Southlake Corporation had been expanding as they had bought over many other companies. They were irrefutably the top conglomerate in the Two Lakes area. No other company in the region could compete against them.

Never would Fritz have expected Willow to be the CEO of such a company. He had just returned to the country not too long ago and knew nothing of the situation in Southlake City. If he had known this would happen, he would have done his research first. Had he done so, he would not have ignorantly offended Willow and Caspian!

Chapter 288 It's All True

+15 BONUS

As Kelsie stared at the three men who were on their knees, the situation finally dawned on her.

"What..." She gasped as her eyes widened. She could not accept what was happening.

Had Caspian been telling the truth?

But how could Willow be the CEO of Southlake Corporation?

"Bitch, why are you just standing here? Get on your knees and apologize to Ms. Stewart!"

Bernard snarled at Kelsie.

At last, he realized why Lincoln feared Caspian and Willow.

It turned out that Willow was the CEO of Southlake Corporation!

Kelsie froze from shock for a brief moment before kneeling. She was trembling uncontrollably, and her mind went blank.

All of Willow's old high school classmates were stunned as well. None of them expected Willow to actually be the CEO of Southlake Corporation.

Just minutes ago, they had all mocked her in some form.

"Didn't you say you were going to expose us, Fritz? Why are you on your knees now?" Caspian asked tauntingly.

"You bastard! How dare you say such things to Mr. Lynch?" Geoffrey growled in rage as he glared at Fritz.

Fritz had messed up badly this time, and Geoffrey had been dragged down with him.

While it was true that Geoffrey was in charge of Southlake Corporation's branch office, he was nothing compared to Willow. She could fire him at the drop of a hat.

"Uncle Geoffrey..." Fritz mumbled. He did not know what to say.

How could he have believed that Willow was the CEO of Southlake Corporation?

If he had known her true identity, he would never have messed around!

At this moment, Fritz finally realized what a clown he had been.

Caspian and Willow must have been amused by the way he pretended to be a big shot in front of the others.

"Don't call me your uncle! From now on, I no longer recognize you as my nephew!" Geoffrey grimly declared.

+15 BONUS

Fritz slumped onto the floor.

Even though he returned to the country after furthering his studies abroad, he only managed to become a manager in Southlake Corporation's branch office because of Geoffrey.

If Geoffrey severed ties with him, his bright future would go up in flames. "Ms. Stewart, Mr. Lynch, it's my fault for not educating this bastard properly. Please have mercy and forgive us just this once," Geoffrey pleaded.

Caspian and Willow were the reasons why he managed to head the branch office.

"Ms. Stewart, Mr. Lynch, I was blind and ignorant. Please ignore what I said and give me another chance," Fritz begged through his tears as well.

If he got fired, he would never be able to get a job in a company as good as Southlake Corporation.

Fritz knew that if Willow and Caspian did not forgive him, he would be done for.

Looking at the three men, Caspian shook his head. Initially, he did not intend to get into a conflict with these people, but he did not expect a simple meal to lead to all this trouble.

"You can deal with them, hubby. I won't get involved," Caspian turned to Willow and said.

"You should handle the matter instead, hubby. I don't want to deal with this either. I just wanted to have a meal with everyone, but after everything that happened, I don't want to stay here anymore," Willow replied.

All along, Willow had been a strong and assertive career woman.

But now,

she had grown reliant on Caspian. Whenever he was around, she felt at ease and did not have to worry about anything.

Caspian eyed Bernard, Geoffrey, and Fritz.

His sharp gaze made them lower their heads in trepidation.

"Report to Lincoln yourself, Bernard. I'll leave the punishment to him," Caspian said calmly.

"Understood, Mr. Lynch!" Bernard replied before exhaling in relief.

Fortunately for him, Caspian and Willow were not deeply angered. Otherwise, he would not be able to stay in Southlake City.

Caspian's eyes t on Geoffrey.

Sensing the tension in the air, Geoffrey quickly said, "I'll accept any punishment, Mr. Lynch!"

"Geoffrey, you abused your power by bringing your nephew into the company. Technically, should be fired for such misconduct.

However, you've contributed to the establishment of you

+15 BONUS

Caspian continued, "As a warning, you'll be removed from your position as the head of the branch office for one month and be penalized a month's salary as well. I hope you'll take the time to reflect on your actions. You'll be reinstated after one month.

"Thank you, Mr. Lynch. Thank you, Ms. Stewart," Geoffrey said as he slowly exhaled.

Thankfully, it was a light punishment.

He did not mind it at all—as long as he could continue working for Southlake Corporation.

Meanwhile, Caspian rose from his feet.

"Shall we go, Willow?" Caspian asked gently.

"Okay," Willow replied with a nod.

Caspian took Willow's hand and led her out of the room.

This time, no one dared to stop them.

Everyone was dumbstruck.

They could hardly believe that Willow was the CEO of Southlake Corporation.

A few of them knew that she was working at the company, but no one expected her to be the CEO!

"Goodbye, Ms. Stewart, Mr. Lynch!" Geoffrey called out respectfully.

Once they were gone, he finally stood up.

Not keen to stick around any longer, the rest of the classmates left as well.

"Uncle Geoffrey..." Fritz called out with a resentful expression.

"You bastard! You're fired! You can work anywhere you want. Just don't come to the branch office anymore. You nearly got me in so much trouble!"

Fritz's heart sank. It had not been easy for him to become the supervisor at the branch office, but now, it was all over.

Most importantly, Geoffrey no longer acknowledged Fritz as his nephew. Fritz knew he was going to have a harder time furthering his career in Southlake City.

"Benny, I know I made a mistake, but you won't hold it against me, right?"

Kelsie coaxed as she held onto Bernard just as he was about to leave. She relied on him for money and support.

“Stop bothering me, you bitch! From now onward, we have nothing to do with each other anymore. Don’t look for me again!”

Bernard growled before leaving with his subordinates.

+15 BONUS

Overwhelmed with regret, he needed to see Lincoln and receive his punishment.

“Bernard, you bastard! How can you cast me aside after getting me into bed?”

Kelsie wailed..

When the other classmates who left after Caspian and Willow arrived at the entrance, they spotted the two of them standing there.

Two minutes later, a Rolls–Royce pulled up in front of Caspian and Willow.

“The car’s fixed, Caspian. There shouldn’t be any more problems. Please take your seats,” Sylvia said after getting out of the driver’s seat.

She had immediately rushed over after getting the car fixed.

Caspian nodded before getting into the back seat with Willow.

After seeing this, Willow’s classmates realized that Willow and Caspian had been telling the truth earlier.

Not only did they have a car, but it was even such an expensive one!

Today’s Bonus Offer

Chapter 289 We Will Take This Gown

Caspian and Willow returned to Riverside Villa. In the days following the reunion dinner, their lives were peaceful and carefree.

Every day, Caspian would pick up Willow from work. They spent all their time together without anyone else disturbing them.

Lincoln had brought Bernard over to extend a personal apology. Caspian could not be bothered to get involved in the matter any further, so he instructed Lincoln to take care of things himself.

One evening, as soon as Willow got off work, she approached Caspian, who was waiting for her. She said in a mysterious tone,

“Look who it is, hubby.”

Seated on the couch, Caspian lifted his eyes, asking, “Who did you bring over? Is it Zoey?”

He then spotted a stiff–looking Rebecca standing at the entrance.

“Nice to see you, Mr. Lynch. It’s been a while,” Rebecca greeted. Caspian and Willow owned Starsphere Media, so naturally, Rebecca felt the need to be more cautious around them.

“Why are you here in Southlake City?” Caspian asked, puzzled.

“Hubby, Southlake Corporation has been growing so much, but we don’t have a brand ambassador. I figured we could hire Rebecca for that role,” Willow explained. “What do you think?”

Apart from property development, Southlake Corporation was involved in numerous industries, including the beauty and personal care industry.

Thus, they were in need of a brand ambassador. A good one would be highly beneficial to the company.

Rebecca was one of the more popular celebrities in Diatoran, so she would undoubtedly boost the company’s profile.

“Since you’ve made the decision, honey, I don’t have any objections,” Caspian replied with a smile.

“I love you, hubby!” Willow exclaimed as she threw her arms around Caspian and kissed him.

Seeing this, Rebecca felt envious and melancholic.

Caspian was a wonderful man. How great would it be if he had been hers!
+15 BONUS

Rebecca instantly blushed and felt embarrassed. She quietly lowered her head.

“That’s enough. We’re in public,” Caspian reminded Willow. “Did you bring Rebecca over just to sign her on as the brand ambassador?”

“Certainly not. We plan on making a trip to Sealand for a photoshoot. Since she’s going to become our brand ambassador, we need promotional materials that feature her,” Willow said.

“Sealand?” Caspian repeated.

After pondering briefly, he chuckled and continued, “It’s just as well. The last time we decided to go on a honeymoon, we didn’t get to enjoy ourselves much. Let’s make up for that with this trip to Sealand. We haven’t even taken our wedding photos yet. We can do that too!”

As they had gotten married in a bit of a rush, Caspian and Willow didn’t have time to do a pre-wedding photoshoot.

They were so busy on the day of the wedding itself that they did not take many photos either. Caspian had always felt bad about that.

Thus, he had been meaning to take Willow on a relaxing trip someday.

Meanwhile, Willow was tearing up.

She also felt sad that they never got to do a proper wedding photoshoot, but she was surprised that Caspian remembered.

Willow had wanted to bring it up many times, but she had been too busy, so she ended up keeping her regret to herself instead.

Yet, Caspian had brought it up himself today, and Willow's heart became filled with warmth. With misty eyes, she said, "You're the best, hubby! I love you so much!"

"Okay, okay. Rebecca's still here, you know. You sure you want to cry and embarrass yourself in front of her?" Caspian chuckled as he nudged Willow's cheek.

Willow abruptly recalled that Rebecca was standing right beside her. Instantly, she felt a wave of awkwardness.

On the other hand, Rebecca looked exasperated. She had been forced to witness the couple's lovey-dovey moment.

The next day, Caspian, Willow, and Rebecca set off for Sealand.

Sealand was located in the southernmost region of Diatoran.

With its picturesque scenery and wonderful local produce, including all kinds of seafood, it was famous for being a tourist destination.

+15 BONUS

Countless people flocked to Sealand every year for a vacation.

After more than two hours, the group arrived in Sealand.

Rebecca headed to the hotel to get some rest, while Caspian brought Willow to the best and most luxurious bridal boutique in Sealand—Everlove Bridal Boutique.

The owner was a middle-aged woman who looked elegant and sophisticated.

"Hi, what can I do for you today?" she greeted warmly when Caspian and Willow came in.

Many of the customers who came to the bridal boutique would choose to rent a wedding gown and return it once they no longer needed it. It was the more economical choice since the bride would only wear the gown once.

However, in Caspian's eyes, there was no difference between renting and buying.

"We'll just look around first," Caspian replied.

"Alright. Let me know if you need anything," the owner said with a smile.

Caspian led Willow around the boutique.

Soon, Willow spotted a beautiful gown that was in a glass display of its own. It stood out from all the other gowns.

In terms of design and tailoring, it looked like the best there was in the boutique too.

"This is the most spectacular gown in our boutique, Miss. You have excellent taste. A famous designer personally designed this gown, and all of the embroidery was done by hand. It took years to complete this gown," the friendly owner explained.

"But it's a little on the expensive side. Maybe you can consider taking a look at similar designs. with a more affordable price point.

The owner was by no means looking down on Willow. The gown was the finest in the bridal boutique. Ordinary people could not even afford to rent it, let alone buy it.

Even though many customers had taken a liking to this gown before, they all had to sigh and walk away when they heard the price.

Ever since the gown was made/it had only been rented out once.

"We'll take this gown," Caspian said casually without even checking the price first.

The owner eyed Caspian. He was not dressed like someone wealthy.

It was understandable, of course. Caspian did not care about what he wore.

"Huh? But the gown costs one million!" the boutique owner exclaimed.

+15 BONUS

Willow was stunned by the price of the wedding gown

No one would possibly pay that much for a wedding gown. It was not like they would wear it every day either.

The owner was used to seeing shocked expressions like the one on Willow's face.

Many other customers displayed similar reactions when they heard the price.

"Take the gown out and let my wife try it. We'll buy this one," Caspian instructed.

Startled, the owner took another look at Caspian. The clothes he wore probably cost less than a hundred dollars in total.

It cost a million to buy the boutique's most expensive gown, and yet, this man had declared his intention to buy it without even asking for the price first.

"Are you sure?" the owner checked.

"Let's forget about it, hubby. We can just rent a gown for the photoshoot. It'd be such a waste to spend so much money on a gown that I'll only wear once," Willow said to Caspian.

"This is probably the only wedding gown in all of Sealand that's good enough to complement your beauty. Let's go with this one,"

Caspian said with a smile.

Confused, the boutique owner did not know what to say.

A million-dollar gown the only one that could complement Willow's beauty?

Was Willow some kind of princess or perhaps a wealthy socialite?

Today's Bonus Offer

Chapter 290 Who Do You Think You Are

"Let's not," Willow dissuaded while shaking her head.

Though she really liked the wedding gown and could afford to buy it, it still seemed far too wasteful to buy such an expensive gown.

"Listen to me on this, honey. It's worth spending a million dollars if it means making you happy!" Caspian declared.

"But

It went without saying that Willow knew money was not an issue for them anymore. The daily profits from Southlake Corporation were enough to buy dozens of such gowns.

Still, she felt reluctant to spend so much money.

"We'll do as I say and get this gown," Caspian insisted. He did not give Willow the chance to protest

He was willing to spend any amount of money to make Willow happy.

Money was less important than happiness!

Willow finally nodded in agreement. Though she did think it was a waste of money, she felt happy too.

Which woman wouldn't love a man who would spend so much money on her?

He doted on her so much that he did not even ask about the price before deciding to get the gown for her.

Willow felt warm and fuzzy inside as her love for Caspian blossomed.

Meanwhile, the boutique owner was shocked and envious. It was hard not to yearn for the love they had.

"Well? Take the gown out," Caspian reminded the owner.

While speaking, he brought out his Golden Dragon card to pay for the gown. Just then, a man and a woman appeared in front of Caspian and Willow. The woman cried out, "Darling, I love this one! It's so pretty!"

She was dressed provocatively and had a lot of makeup on. Meanwhile, the man wore a tight-fitting outfit and a pair of loafers. Though his clothes were all branded, they did not aid him in giving off a good impression.

+15 BONUS

"I love this gown so much, darling. Can you get it for me? I'm sure I'll look so good in it!" the woman coaxed.

"Sure!" the man said with a haughty nod.

Then, he turned to the boutique owner and asked, "How much is it? We'll take it!"

The owner was dumbfounded. It had been so long since someone asked her about this gown yet it seemed to be a popular pick today.

Why were people fighting to buy it? Had there been a sudden influx of wealthy people in Sealand?

"I'm so sorry, but this couple here came first, and they want to buy the gown too..." the owner said apologetically.

The man cast a derisive glance at Caspian.

How could a man dressed in cheap clothes have the nerve to try and snatch this gown from him?

"I doubt you have any money, punk. How's this? I'll give you 20 grand. You can rent any other gown. We'll buy this one," the man said scornfully to Caspian.

He took a stack of money out and tossed it at Caspian.

He figured that Caspian was just a loser who was trying to pretend to be rich..

The wedding gown was on display in the center of the bridal boutique, so it had to be extremely expensive.

The man figured 20 grand was enough to get Caspian marching out of the door right away.

Caspian smirked. Was there something wrong with this man?

Did the man think 20 grand was enough to shoo him away?

"We're buying this gown. I'll give you 50 grand. You can buy some other gown," Caspian retorted with a chuckle.

"Hah! Such arrogance!" The man scoffed.

He did not expect such arrogance from Caspian. Did he have a death wish?

“Do

you know who I am? How dare you try to buy the gown I have my eyes on? I’m Kristian Jennings, the son of the Jennings family of Sealand!” Kristian declared with a smug smile.

Upon hearing that, the boutique owner froze.

Everyone in Sealand knew the Jenningses. The family was the most prominent one in Sealand. No one dared to offend them..

+15 BONUS

Kristian was a well-known playboy who loved fooling around with women.

Furthermore, he was infamously cruel and vindictive.

Anyone who offended him would face tragic consequences.

‘Sir, why don’t you buy a different gown? Mr. Jennings here is very powerful in Sealand. It’s best if you don’t offend him the owner muttered.

“See? She knows what she’s talking about. You won’t be able to bear the consequences of offending me. Pick up the money and scram!” Kristian commanded haughtily.

“Hah Who do you think you are?” Caspian scoffed.

“You’re asking for it, punk! In that case, I’ll make you crawl out of there!”

Kristian roared as he raised his fist.

Alas, before he could even swing it, he felt a shooting pain coming from his face as he stumbled to the floor.

His nose was bent out of shape and bleeding profusely.

Everyone in the bridal boutique was thunderstruck.

“You’re the one who’ll be crawling out of here,” Caspian said coolly.

Then, he turned to Willow and said gently, “Honey, go and try the gown on. See if it fits.”

Willow nodded.

The boutique owner took the gown out of the display and led Willow to the dressing room.

Willow was unbothered by Kristian’s earlier threats. Many people had wanted to mess with them before, but Caspian always handled the matter.

“You fucking bastard! How dare you hit me?” Kristian bellowed with rage as he got back on his feet.

No one in the boutique dared to say a word.

They felt like fleeing the place. Who knew what kind of horrors would soon unfold?

The owner was also flustered. She would be in a lot of trouble if she somehow offended the Jenningses.

On the other hand, Caspian ignored Kristian. He remained silent as he looked toward the dressing room.

Soon, Willow came out in the wedding gown.

The shop assistant helped her straighten her hem.

With her elegant bearing and attractive figure, she looked like an angel!

+15 BONUS

Kristian was stupefied. Even though he had fooled around with his fair share of women in Sealand, all of them paled in comparison to Willow.

Caspian walked up to Willow and studied her carefully. She looked even more gorgeous than she did on their wedding day.

“You’re breathtakingly beautiful, Willow. I thought I was looking at an angel who descended from heaven!” Caspian declared with a smile.

“What a sweet tongue you have!”

Willow covered her mouth and laughed. She enjoyed his flattery very much.

“I want the gown, darling. I’m sure I’ll look even prettier than her in that gown!” the woman beside Kristian said as she went mad with jealousy.

She felt the urge to rush up to Willow and rip the gown off.

Kristian straightened up. After glancing at the woman beside him, he felt a little repulsed.

Initially, he thought the woman was fairly attractive, but now that he compared her to Willow, she was far too tacky!

“Get lost!” Kristian ordered as he slapped the woman

Clutching her face, the woman stared at Kristian in disbelief. “Darling, why did you hit me...

“Have you gone deaf? I told you to get lost!” Kristian roared.

Trembling in fear, the woman wailed and ran out of the bridal boutique. She dared not offend Kristian.

Following that, Kristian approached Willow with a smile and offered, “Hey, babe. Why don’t you be my lover?”

Today’s Bonus Offer

GET IT NOW