

Chapter 23

Quentin's initially gloomy expression that was caused by the meeting agenda suddenly brightened up.

He glanced at the supervisor who had been speaking earlier and ordered, "Go on."

His voice was not as cold as before, and everyone was instantly excited. The way they saw it, if Quentin's expression was indifferent, that meant that he was in a good mood.

They had to make good use of such an opportunity.

Meanwhile, Angelina ended the call with some embarrassment and began to eat breakfast alone.

Ingrid had heard what Angelina said earlier. She was surprised and happy at the same time. Angelina was finally acting like Quentin's wife.

A harmonious family created a comfortable environment.

After having breakfast, Angelina took a look at Ingrid and said, "Ingrid, I have to go to school today, so I'll be leaving first."

Ingrid quickly nodded at her with a smile. "Be careful, Madam."

Angelina waved her hand at Ingrid and replied, "Okay."

It was the day that Director Gail would be going to her school to do some casting.

Of course, Angelina had to go. After leaving the villa, there was a chauffeur who sent her to school, and she went straight to the casting area.

Since the show was going to be handled by Director Gail, and many of the people in her school dreamed of being actors, lots of people were lining up in order of their queue numbers.

When Angelina got her queue number, she was a little surprised that it was number eleven. After all, she definitely wasn't the 11th person to arrive. It seemed that... the staff had missed that number, and she had accidentally gotten it.

"Angel?"

Olivia's surprised voice flowed into her ears. Angelina turned her head and saw Olivia walking toward her with Lilian in tow.

When she saw the two women who had caused her death, a strong burst of hatred surged in her heart. She had the urge to kill them on the spot.

Angelina took a deep breath and tried to control her emotions.

Then, she nodded at them and said, "What a coincidence. You're here too."

In her previous life, both of them had come to the set as well. Her half-sister, Lilian, had played a side character while Henric's half-sister, Olivia, had played the side character's servant.

How fitting that they were putting on an act in front of her right then.

She didn't know why she hadn't thought more about it in her previous life. Regardless, in her current life...

The two of them seemed to have fallen in love with Quentin. She wondered how many things they had done to frame Angelina in private.

When Lilian saw Angelina, for some reason, she had an ominous feeling in her heart. She sensed that something was amiss.

She stopped in front of Angelina. Since the role she was auditioning for was a rich lady, she deliberately wore a white dress and a pair of white high heels. Every step she took made her seem more noble.

Moreover, Lilian's face had a certain degree of uniqueness, especially her eyes, which were full of pureness. Any man who saw her wouldn't be able to resist the urge to pull her into their arms. On top of that, she had a well-defined figure as well, which could easily attract men's attention.

However, if Angelina remembered correctly, Lilian had gotten breast implants.

Olivia, on the other hand, looked more casual. She wore a white T-shirt, a denim white belt, and a pair of white sneakers on her feet. Overall, she looked quite cute with the baby fat on her pale face.

Lilian and Olivia stared at Angelina with an odd look in their eyes.

She wasn't supposed to be there. Why did Angelina suddenly appear, and why was she holding a queue number in her hand?

Not to mention...

Send Gift

Comments

 Watch Ads to Get 8 Vouchers

Chapter 24

Angelina seemed to have paid attention to her outfit that day. She wore a pink dress and a pair of tall white high heels. Her long hair that reached her waist was scattered behind her. Her side bangs were held in place with a clip, revealing her smooth and beautiful forehead. Combined with her oval face, she looked perfect. Her sharp eyes were full of overwhelming charm. Anyone would fall for her.

Her hair was silky, and she didn't look messy. At the same time, she had a kind of wildness that emanated from her bones.

She looked as if the side character of the play had come to life. Lilian was obviously lacking compared to her.

There was a trace of jealousy in Lilian's eyes, but she asked innocently, "Angelina, are you... here to audition?"

Angelina sneered to herself but played dumb as well. She deliberately gave them a mysterious smile and then approached them. "I just came to have fun and decided to get a queue number while I was at it."

Upon hearing that, Lilian breathed a sigh of relief. At the same time, she said with a chuckle, "I see. I remember Henric saying that he doesn't like it when you show yourself in public. He cares about you so much. Why did you suddenly come to audition?"

Despite her kind words, she kept sizing Angelina up.

She wanted to see if Angelina was there to audition, and she also wanted to see how the relationship between her and Henric was developing...

She had also received a text message from Henric the day before. To sum it up, he was saying that something was wrong with Angelina.

However, Lilian had been busy for the past two days so she hadn't observed Angelina carefully.

Lilian was one year older than Angelina. She was 21 years old, and she was in her third year of university.

Angelina sighed helplessly. "Sigh... Maybe I'm just not meant to act."

In her previous life, she never thought much about it because she didn't care. Right then, however, she wasn't sure if Director Gail would really choose her over Lilian to play the side character.

Due to that reason, Angelina had to be careful with her words. She was afraid that Lilian would do something to mess things up for her.

She pretended to be helpless, which made Lilian let out another sigh of relief.

Olivia didn't pay them much mind because she didn't think that the ignorant and incompetent Angelina would ever achieve anything in the entertainment industry.

She was just a clown.

Despite that, Lilian was different. She and Angelina spent a lot of time together, so she naturally knew how good Angelina's taste was. If she wanted to join the entertainment industry, she would be a strong rival.

If it were any other A-list celebrity, Lilian might not have thought anything of it, since they wouldn't have any conflict with her.

Regardless, Angelina was different. The two of them were from the same family. She couldn't allow a family member to surpass her.

Olivia chuckled and patted Angelina on the shoulder. "Haha! If you want to, you can have a good talk with my brother."

Lilian's eyes narrowed. Before Angelina could reply, she had already changed the subject. "Which role are you going to audition for, Angelina?"

Angelina smiled and lowered her head to toy with the queue number in her hand. "The female lead, of course."

Lilian remained silent.

She felt totally relieved.

Olivia couldn't help but burst into laughter. "You're going to audition for the female lead in the famous Director Gail's show?"

The corner of Lilian's mouth twitched. She had the urge to slap Olivia for being so stupid.

Upon noticing that Angelina seemed to be a little affected, Lilian quickly looked at Olivia and said, "Olivia, Angel just wants to give it a try. It's not like she actually wants to act, so it doesn't matter who she auditions for. She might as well give the female lead a shot."

Send Gift

Comments

 Watch Ads to Get 8 Vouchers