

Chapter 145 Trouble

Alayah's p.o.v.

I have made good progress with going through the Pack's finances and I am going through every budget to see what the budget is spend on, if there are unnecessary costs I will have to talk to Alpha Randell and Marc about it. "Dinner will be served in half an hour, Alayah." I hear Grandfather in my head and I am glad I just closed the kitchen budget I was going through.

After powering down my laptop I make my way up the stairs to the Beta floor and I decide to take a quick shower before getting into something comfortable for dinner, I get my favorite two pieced sweatsuit from my closet. The pants are wide legged but are a bit tighter around my thighs and the sweater is long sleeved with buttons, I chose the sapphire blue with some wedges in the same color. I love to wear sweatsuits or lounge suits in my free time, they are just so comfy for a night of relaxation.

Crystal is waiting for me as I walk out of my bedroom and I see a smirk on her face, "I think I finally know how to keep those Brothers apart." She says as we walk towards the stairs, but she refuses to tell me what she thought of and I guess I will have to wait until dinner to see if she can tell them apart. Crystal and I both stiffen when we hear the voice of a female neither one of us wants to see, a female that has been nothing but a nasty bitch to Crystal.

I grab Crystal's arm as I walk towards the main dining room and I hear Topaz growl in my head when we see Chantel with her claws on Noah, "I will show you around the territory and introduce you to the Pack. As the future Gamma you will need to know who are the high-ranking members in this Pack and I am close friends with all of them." Chantel says as she moves closer to Noah.

"She is no friend of mine." Topaz growls in my head and I hear Crystal chuckle next to me, which causes Chantel to turn in our direction. "Hello, Crystal and Alayah." Chantel says with a sweet smile on her face. "I just offered to show Nero around the territory, just to make sure it doesn't interfere with your schedules. I mean, both of you are so busy with your trips to the mall and all." Chantel says as she looks up at Noah.

Crystal grabs my arm as she walks towards the Alpha table and Chantel steps in front of her, "The two of you can sit at the table in the back, no one wants the two of you anywhere near the Alpha table. You are just Marc's latest conquest and he will soon tire of you." Chantel says and we all hear a ferocious roar coming from the doorway, shaking the windows in their sills.

"Marc, calm down." Alpha Randell says but we all know it will be in vain, only Crystal can calm him down and she doesn't hesitate to do what she needs to do. I keep my eyes on Chantel and I see shock on her face, looks like she hadn't expect that. "Chantel, you are banned from the Pack-house. That goes for the Pack-house of Crimson Moon Pack, Autumn Pack and any future Pack-house there might be." Alpha Randell says.

"Alpha, you can't ban me from the Pack-house of Autumn Pack. I have no business going to Autumn Pack, I want nothing to do with a member of that worthless Pack." Chantel says and this time Crystal is laughing her ass off, "Then you are going to have a problem, Chantel. I am the Daughter of Alpha Gordon and I am Marc's Mate. Autumn Pack and Crimson Moon Pack will merge and will become Autumn Moon Pack." Crystal says.

"You are banned from this Pack-house as Alpha Randell said, that goes for the Pack-house of Autumn Moon Pack. If you ever set foot in the Pack-house again I will have you thrown into the dungeons." Crystal says as she walks towards Chantel. "And for the record, that is Noah." She says as she points at Noah and he has the same dumbfounded look on his face when I called him by his name.

It takes Noah a few moments to look at Crystal, but by that time the entire dining room has filled up with Pack-members and when Nikolay steps next to him Crystal surprises the two of them when she calls out his name. "Nikolay, are Nathan and Nero on their way down or do they need an escort to find their way to the dining room?" She asks and I am laughing my ass off when his jaw drops.

His eyes snap towards me and even though I can tell it will get me into trouble if I keep laughing, "Baby Sis, I am going to tell our parents that you are making fun of me." Nikolay says with a fake whine and I have to hold on to Crystal to stay on my feet.

"Nikolay, that Stepsister of yours isn't afraid of her Mother or your Father. I think your Father will tell you to grow some balls." Alpha Randell says and this time Crystal and I are both laughing our asses off.

Nathan and Nero walk into the dining room and Crystal looks at them with a huge smile on her face, she really is able to tell the difference between them. "Thank you, Alayah. I am finally able to tell those four apart, they will never fool me again." She whispers as she looks at Nathan. "Nathan, how do you like it here so far?" She asks and Nathan looks from Nero to his other Brothers, before he turns back towards Crystal.

"I really enjoy my room, I can escape those three if I want to. I think I might move here, my room here is double the size of my room at home and I think I want to get to know my Stepsister a bit better. Maybe she will tell me how the two of you are able to tell us apart, not many people are able to do that." Nathan responds as he walks towards us and before I know it he has wrapped his arms around me, "What do you say, Alayah? Want to spend some time with your big Stepbrother?" He says.
