

Chapter 223 Ministrations

Alayah's p.o.v.

I feel a bit better now that the Pack knows who their new Alpha is, but I also know that I will meet Wolves and Lycans along the way that will make it known that they won't answer to a female Alpha or that they don't accept the Mate-bond I have.

Topaz tells me she can't wait for the first one to screw up, because she will have no problem with putting him or her back in their place and the look she gives me tells me I better bring a shovel.

Once we are back in the Alpha residence Noah hands me a list while Bastian explains it to me and I tell them that we will keep an eye on those Pack-members, "If they still have a problem with it after a few months, we will discuss it with them and see if we need to find another Pack for them to live in." I say as I snuggle into Noah's side and as I lay my head down on his shoulder I close my eyes, just enjoying the presence of my Mate.

Topaz asks if I really want to start with the file on Crimson Moon in the morning, I tell her that I want to know if Marc was the only one willing to break the Law in some way and if it turns out to be a pattern among the Alphas of Crimson Moon I need to take action.

I also need to know if Autumn Pack has a similar file or that they were more like their ancestor who founded Autumn Pack and I want all that information before Marc and Crystal combine their Packs.

If they combine their Packs Crystal will have to give up her title as Alpha, but with the information we already got from Uncle Josh, Topaz and I have asked ourselves why their Lycans aren't against their Mate-bond.

If they are related somewhere down the line their Lycans should know that and neither one of them would allow the other to mark them, but so far we have been unable to figure out why their Lycans have accepted the possibility of a Mate-bond.

Topaz points out that there is a way to make a Lycan believe there might be a connection, but it will mean that that Lycan was never properly informed about how the connection and Mate-bond work.

If Crystal was never correctly educated on the connection and the Mate-bond, it might be possible for Marc to have fooled her. However, that would only have worked if Marc had known upfront that Crystal lacked the knowledge on the connection and the Mate-bond.

Which brings me and Topaz to the question who could have benefited from this, besides Marc of course. The one person that stood to lose a lot comes to mind and it also explains why she kept Crystal from going to a Mate-meeting from the Elders.

I have to look into both Packs even deeper than I first thought, because I can no longer rely on just the information I will find in the files. I also need to take my own investigation into consideration and if they have been working together to trick Crystal into a Mate-bond, I will take both of them down.

I lift my head from Noah's shoulder to see that everyone is looking at me and I know they wonder what has been running through my mind.

"I will explain everything in the morning, but I have a question I need an answer to now. Anton, has Marc been acting strangely after bringing Crystal home?" I ask and Anton isn't the only one to nod his head.

Anton tells me that Marc was constantly bringing Crystal her beverages, that he insisted on her drinking all of it.

At least that answer the question how he was able to fool Crystal, now I just need a good night's rest before we need to read through the files on Crimson Moon Pack and Autumn Pack.

After saying goodnight to Mom, Dad and the rest of the family, Nero lifts me up and I wrap my arms and my legs around him, snuggling as close to him as I can get.

I hear Nero growl next to my ear, because my core presses on his cock as he walks towards our room and I press my heels into his ass even harder.

My other Mates softly growl the moment they can smell my arousal and Nero starts walking a little faster, but that causes me to move up and down with every step he takes.

I look at Nikolay over Nero's shoulder and I slowly let my eyes drift from his face to his chest to his crotch, to lick my lips when I see his raging hard cock pressing against the zipper of his jeans.

I keep my eyes on Nikolay when I see him reaching for the button and he slowly glides the zipper down before he pulls his cock out, to slide his hand up and down.

I am too focused on Nikolay to realize that we are already in the bedroom and I don't even notice that Nero has stopped walking, nor do I notice that my other two Mates have stepped closer to me.

"Like what you see, Princess?" Nikolay asks while he keeps jerking himself off.

His question pulls me back to the present and I see that Noah and Nathan are already butt naked, jerking themselves off as they keep looking at me.

Nero lets me slide down his body and I moan as I feel his rock-hard cock press against my stomach, Nikolay steps behind me and I am happy that I pulled my hair into a messy bun, leaving my neck exposed.

I moan loudly as he kisses my neck on one of the spots where my Mates marked me and I lift myself up as Nathan slides his hand between my legs from behind. I push back on Nathan's hand and he growls as I moan.

"You like that, Princess." He asks and I slowly nod my head.

Nero gently presses his lips to mine, adding more pressure to gain access to my mouth and let my tongue slide into his mouth. I break the kiss when Nathan's ministrations intensify, panting from his hand sliding back and forth between my legs.

My head falls back against Nikolay's shoulder as I moan louder as he suck on one of my marks, Nero starts licking on one of my other marks and his hands start to pull up my shirt.

Both of them stop paying attention to my marks when Nero pulls the shirt over my head as Nikolay unclasps my bra, Nero pulls my nipple between his lips as Nikolay pinches the other.

My eyes pop open at their actions and I moan as Nathan puts more pressure into his ministrations.
