

Chapter 246 Elders

Elders territory

“Damn it.” Elder Aimi says as she stares at the phone, the other Elders with her are in as much shock as she is and moments later the rest of the Elders walk into the room.

“We need to contact every Pack. Alpha Alayah wants to have a mandatory meeting tomorrow afternoon, she is done with the complaints that everyone files against her.” Elder Aimi says and the Elders all start talking at the same time.

Soon every Elder is on the phone and they start with the Alphas that are known to interpret everything wrong, they are also known to contact their allies the moment the call gets disconnected. They tell the Alphas that the meeting will be about the complaints against Alpha Alayah, but they don’t tell them that she will be present with her Mates and her Elite Warriors.

The Elders decided it would be easier to get the Alphas to show up if they told half the truth and by the time they reach the last few Packs on the list, the Alphas are already agreeing to the meeting without hearing the reason.

The Elders start organizing the auditorium for the meeting the next day, each Pack gets assigned a table to sit at and on the table lie the complaints from every Pack. The stage the Elders sit on gets prepared after that and it takes a while before everything is ready. It has been too long, since the last time they had to make this set up.

The kitchen staff is working hard to prepare for everyone that will attend the meeting the next day and it is a good thing someone had been smart enough to keep a copy of the check list that was used over a hundred years ago. It made it a little easier to get everything done and to make sure they wouldn’t forget anything.

In the morning everyone is busy checking if nothing was forgotten and everything that was done the day before gets checked again. Each of the people that work and live in the Elder territory want to do their job to the best of their abilities and if that means triple checking everything that has been done, they will do so.

While everyone is busy running around the oldest Elder is staring out of the window, he is staring in the direction of what he once called home. The Academy didn’t survive the War for Females and he lost many friends during the battle that costed the nation their Royal family.

Elder Boaz has a small smile on his face as he remembers the only good thing that survived that battle, Prince Xandros’ Son. Together they had tried to rebuild the nation after the War for Females ended, but he didn’t want to lead a nation that was responsible for the death of his family.

He chose the next best thing, founding a Pack that would function as the Elders’ Judge, Jury and Executioner. It worked great for a very long time, until an Alpha decided that Blood Stone Pack should be annihilated and that is when trouble started again for the nation.

Elder Boaz is over two hundred and fifty years old, but only functions as an honorary member of the Elders. However, today he will be there to meet the new Alpha of Blood Stone Pack and she will have his vote. She will restore the unbalance in this nation and everyone will be able to ask her for justice when they have been wronged.

The sound of engines pulls Elder Boaz from his thoughts and he sees a large caravan of SUVs drive by the side of the former Palace, on their way to the underground parking garage. The only thing that still reminds visitors of the Royal family they lost is the ground floor, the Elders didn’t remodel it when they moved in and the former ballroom became a meeting room for large gatherings.

About an hour later one after the other Pack arrived and each of them was lead into the meeting room. Elder Boaz is watching as each leadership takes their seats and from time to time he can hear soft murmurs, but they are too far away to hear what they are saying. He watches as some of the Elders are starting to walk in, but there is no sight of Elder Aimi or Elder Mathass.

As he looks around the meeting room, Elder Boaz realizes that the set up is different than the last time and before he can ask the Elder next to him why; huge, tough looking Lycans walk in. They move along the walls of the meeting room, trapping the Alphas inside and that is when Elder Aimi and Elder Mathass walk in.

Each leadership is too busy talking amongst themselves or too busy going through the file on their table to notice the Warriors, but their attention gets drawn away when a six feet tall female walks in. Her black hair is in a braid down her back and her emerald green eyes look murderous.

She is followed by four males, that look identical and at 6’7 they look rather intimidating. Four other people follow behind them and two Warriors slam the doors shut. Everyone starts looking around, expect for the Elders and Elder Boaz knows this was done deliberately.

From the right of Elder Boaz one Lycan steps next to the nine that just walked in and from his left side two Lycans step next to them. Every male in the room is staring at the female, while the males have the attention of every female in the room.

Elder Mathass gets up out of his seat to draw attention to himself, “Thank you all for coming on such short notice. We felt it was time to address the complaints you as a leadership have sent us and the complaints some of your Pack-members have sent us.

You all feel that Alpha Alayah has no right to be the Alpha of Blood Stone Pack, because she is a female and therefore not capable of leading Blood Stone Pack. Each of you feel that she should have ignored the connection she felt to her four Mates, all because her Mother and their Father are second chance Mates and there are some that believe she should have settled for one Mate.

We made this meeting mandatory, because we want each and everyone of you to understand that this will no longer be tolerated. If any of you have a problem with Alayah as the Alpha of Blood Stone Pack, here is your chance to address her.” Elder Mathass says, before he gestures towards the female in front of all of them.

“This is Alpha Alayah.” He says as the female steps forward and as he introduces Noah, Nathan, Nikolay and Nero, each of them step beside their Mate. The others get introduced as well, Beta Anton and Harper, Gamma Bastian and Janina and last but not least her Deltas Beau, Austin and Dallas. “Delta Hondo was unable to join us, due to circumstances.” Elder Mathass states.

It is clear to every Elder why he introduced her in this fashion, he wants to make sure that the leaderships understand who and what they are up against. “The males and females surrounding you are the Elite Warriors of Blood Stone Pack. Each of them trained to protect their Alpha and her Pups until their last breath is drawn.” Elder Mathass says as he looks around the meeting room.

Elder Boaz understands that if anyone has a problem with Alpha Alayah that will end today, there is no doubt in his mind that she is a very powerful Alpha and she hasn’t released her aura yet. It shows in everything; the way she holds herself, the way the Elite Warriors look at her and how her leadership responds to her.

This is going to be a shitshow and Elder Boaz will enjoy every moment of it, just like every other Elder.
