

Chapter 6

'After a morning of heavy rain and snow, a beautiful flower floats upon the lake water. Please, sir, pick it up, take pity on it. Please promise to cherish it forever.' This was a famous poem in ancient Chinese culture.

William's mind flashed as if time had turned back to three years ago. It was at the famous wedding banquet in Qena City.

William could not even afford any bridewealth, which was a sum of money or gifts given from the groom's family to the bride's prior to their marriage. However, on the wedding day, Felicity was dressed in an elegant wedding dress. She looked like a fairy descending upon the earth.

Seeing that William was unhappy, she smiled mischievously. "It doesn't matter if you can't give my family any gifts. I will give you a poem as part of my dowry. And we'll call it even."

"After a morning of heavy rain and snow, a beautiful flower floats upon the lake water. Please, sir, pick it up, take pity on it. Please promise to cherish it forever."

William would never forget this poem for the rest of his life. When Felicity recited this poem, her cheeks were rosy, but she looked gentle...

"I promised her that I would cherish her for the rest of my life..."

"How could we have made it this far..." He thought.

But at this time, a jarring voice rang out.

Rebecca looked at the divorce agreement torn up on the ground. She was about to explode from frustration.

"Felicity, when did you tear up the agreement? Are you crazy?"

Felicity looked at the agreement, printed on white pieces of paper, scattered on the ground like a pile of snow. She smiled sadly.

"When did I tear it?" She thought.

"Last night."

"Last night, I must have been obsessed with love, so I wanted to give him another chance..."

"Today, it seems that I was just wishful thinking."

"He seemed to have a better option..."

"There are plenty of fishes in the sea. You should go, William."

But at this time, William looked at Felicity deeply and said inexplicably, "Nothing has changed."

"Nothing has changed?"

Everyone was shocked.

However, she laughed with tears on her face. The mix of sadness and joy on her face was like the winter's snow welcoming a beautiful spring.

There was no change!

His heart was loyal, and the love remained.

No matter who he was, he would remain unchanged!

He was not ungrateful, nor did he have anyone else in his heart.

"Felicity, you really want to piss me off, don't you?" Rebecca saw that Felicity was smiling at William. She immediately patted Felicity, to shake her back to her senses.

Felicity was surprised to find that she seemed to have fallen victim to her inner demons just now.

She knew that she loved William.

But she didn't know that she loved William so much!

Just now, when she saw Melissa holding William's arm, she felt that her heart was cut by a knife and her tears were falling like rain.

"It seems that I can't live without this cowardly husband who had been with me for ten years..."

"What should I do..."

"D*mn! I don't care. I'll make another two copies of the divorce agreement later. You're going to sign them for me!" Rebecca roared.

But this roar seemed to awaken a strength in Felicity's heart.

She wiped her tears and took a good look at William.

William's eyes were as cold as frost, but he was always gentle to her.

"That's the look I wanted!"

"That's enough for me to pluck up my courage!"

"William, listen up! I will only say these words once, to you, to me, and to the whole world!" Felicity stood up, and a surge of confidence and courage filled her body!

"If you don't have money. I will earn it for you!"

"If you don't have the capability. I will do it for you!"

"If you don't have the courage, I will carry you through!"

"William Lu is a good-for-nothing, I accept it!"

"But I'll never divorce him!"

Everyone present, even William, was startled!

No one would have thought that Felicity would say such fervent words!

But as soon as Felicity finished, she felt dizzy.

She felt so dizzy yet so happy!

Finally, it was all out!

"William, do you know how many years I've been holding these words in my heart?"

"I wasn't sensible when I was 14 years old."

"I met you."

"I liked you."

"I'm twenty-four now, and I can be regarded as a sensible adult."

"I hate you, I hate you!"

"But I can't live without you!"

"I accept my fate!"

"I live so humbly. However, are you happy?"

The more Felicity spoke, the more excited she became. She had already burst into tears. All of a sudden, her eyes froze!

A stream of icy air engulfed her body!

She was so weak that she fainted and fell onto the ground.

William was still in shock. After letting out what was in her heart, she fainted. He saw this and quickly grabbed her, holding her in his arms.

Rebecca originally wanted to reprimand her daughter further, but when she saw that Felicity had fainted, she was also worried and nervous.

However, when she saw William holding Felicity, she became angry again.

At the same time, Fernando's face darkened to the extreme!

How could Felicity have such deep feelings for a good-for-nothing?

"How could I be inferior to this good-for-nothing?" He thought in anger.

He was about to go and beat up William.

But William suddenly grabbed a vase on the table next to him and threw it hard!

His palm was cut and blood was all over the place.

After a loud bang, Rebecca and Fernando stopped their footsteps.

William waved his hand around, and the blood from his hand spewed out in a line on the ground!

"Those who step past this line of blood will face death!"

The two of them wanted to go forward, but when they saw William's eyes, they actually shrank back!

Those were a pair of blood thirsty eyes!

He looked like a fearsome beast, about to ruthlessly devour everything!

For the first time, Rebecca felt a strong killing intent from William!

It really seemed that he could kill...

William picked up the unconscious Felicity with both his arms. Melissa quickly packed up the items which had fallen out of Felicity's bag and then led the way out.

Rebecca and Fernando looked at the line of blood on the ground. They really didn't have the courage to step past it!

"F*ck you! William Lu! We cannot exist in the same world! We must eliminate you, b*stard!"

Along the way, Melissa's mood was in a state of shock!

These two lunatics!

They were really meant for each other!

These two were the kind of people who would not become saints if they did not go crazy.

A delicate girl, confessing her love in public so passionately. Her words would make all the men in the world feel ashamed!

The other, a good-for-nothing and useless man, yet using his blood to threaten others with death!

"Even I didn't dare to take a step rashly at that time! His gaze was too terrifying!" Melissa thought.

Crazy fools!

William was alone in a ward, performing emergency treatment on Felicity who was unconscious. After his hard work, Felicity's condition finally stabilized.

However, when William looked at Felicity who was falling asleep, he felt extremely uneasy.

Over the past ten years, her illness was under control because of his medicinal soup. It was relatively stable.

However, a heart attack happened the previous day and happened again today.

It had always been an intense tug-of-war, between a disease and its treatment.

It must have been because she didn't take the medicine yesterday, and the illness came back again.

In addition, she was agitated again, and her mood greatly fluctuated, which caused her illness to relapse.

If she didn't have his company in the following days, she would be in danger at any time...

Thinking of this, William couldn't help but think of the romantic words she said just now.

His eyes became gentle.

It turned out that Felicity was so deep in love with him...

If she had not fallen in love with him so deeply, how could she have hated him so much?

"Felicity, can we start over again..."

From that snowy night.

From the moment she said that she hoped he would take pity on her.

"From the moment when I first fell in love with you 10 years ago..."

"You are lovers, but do ruthless and heartless things to each other. Are you fools?" A joking voice said.

Melissa twisted her delicate waist and came in with Felicity's bag. Her eyes were full of excitement.

"It seems that I have to talk to you about you taking over the clinic."

VAMP2.0 WORK

Chapter 7

Seeing Melissa, William forced a smile and said, "Let's put off this issue about me taking over. I have something else to ask for your advice."

At this moment, Melissa was full of interest in William. "Go ahead."

William's performance just now was really an eye-opener for Melissa.

There was actually a man in the world who could make a woman fall so deeply in love with him!

"Grandpa, you must have underestimated this guy's personality and charm."

"Why did Felicity say those words? When I signed the divorce agreement, she was clearly disappointed in me..." William was not very clear when it came to the relationship between a man and a woman. He didn't understand what was in a woman's heart, so he asked Melissa for her advice.

Melissa burst into laughter. "Hahaha, are you trying to make me laugh to death? You really don't know why she said those words earlier?"

William shook his head, indicating that he really did not know.

"It's all because I was holding your hand, robbing her of her lover," Melissa said playfully.

"Throughout the years, you both must have respected each other very much. She didn't think of looking for another man, nor did you think of having another woman."

"So, Felicity would never know what she would feel if you were with another woman. It was not until I grabbed your hand just now that she realized this. It was more painful to let her man fall into another woman's arms than to cut her into pieces!"

After hearing Melissa's explanation, William suddenly understood it all.

"So, that's how it is."

Over the years, he and his childhood sweetheart had believed that they were in love with each other from a long time ago. Their vivacious love seemed to have been replaced by family affection before it had time to blossom.

It was no wonder that when Felicity saw Melissa show interest in him, she would be so flustered. No matter how cowardly she used to be, no matter how severe the misunderstanding was, and no matter how difficult the future would be, she would say those loving words to claim William as hers.

"Felicity, I love you, and others don't need to understand."

"You are mine for the rest of my life. I will pay you back tens of millions of times for the love I owe you."

"Well, let's get back to business. My grandfather asked me to obey your orders, but I feel discontented with that. What happens if I don't want to obey?" Melissa always had a laidback look on her.

William held Felicity's hand and said calmly, "Tell me what conditions you have."

Melissa's eyes changed, but she smiled again. "Well, I need to gauge your abilities."

William nodded and asked, "How much is the annual profit of this clinic?"

"Five million," Melissa said proudly, "It has just opened for two years. I have worked so hard to achieve whatever achievements it has today."

William immediately shook his head. "That's too little."

Too little?

Melissa's face turned cold. "Well, you're here to make trouble, aren't you? Do you know..."

"I don't know, and I don't want to know either," William said casually.

Only five million yuan a year? When would he be able to save up to a hundred billion yuan?

"Too little, it's too little!"

"Haha, good! Then I want to listen to your suggestions! If you can't convince me today, let alone myself, I won't give you the clinic!" Melissa's pretty face turned cold.

Everyone in the city knew of Melissa's capabilities! The Genuine Care Medical Center opened up two years ago and had developed its business excellently. It was definitely a high-potential business in Qena City.

"However, this guy, he doesn't even know how much it's worth, and he is even belittling it!"

"What's the main business of the clinic at present?" William asked.

"You don't even know how a clinic works? Of course, we practice medicine and cure diseases!" Melissa suddenly felt that she thought too highly of him before.

Perhaps, he had a unique charm in personality, but he was useless in terms of the capabilities.

"That's right. If he was that capable, the whole of Qena City wouldn't be laughing at him for being a good-for-nothing for three years."

"Let's add to that. The clinic will be selling medicine as well," William added.

"Huh?" Melissa was stunned.

"To practice medicine and to sell medicine," William said.

"To sell medicine as the main part of the business? I'm really going to die of annoyance by you. Don't you know that although selling medicine is profitable, the market is dominated by large pharmaceutical companies? They have already divided all market shares between themselves. If we go in rashly, it will hurt the interests of every pharmaceutical company. That's a death wish!" Melissa retorted immediately.

On second thought, she sneered and said, "I finally understand. You're going in circles for your wife's sake. Her family is in the business of trading medicine. If you want them to sign a deal with the clinic, just say it frankly. Your actions only make me look down on you!"

William shook his head and looked at Felicity. "I have decided to protect my wife with my life, so I don't need to argue with you on this. What if we don't affect the profits of those medical leaders?"

"Not affecting their profits? How could that be possible? Every drug in the market, they are in control..." When Melissa said this, her face suddenly froze, and she stood up!

"So you mean, we should supply medicine that is not in the market!"

This time, William finally smiled. "So you're not as foolish as I thought!"

Melissa's heart was going to explode!

She was the top domineering female CEO in Qena City. How could she be called foolish by a kid who was even younger than she was?

Was he seeking death?

"Do you think we can get drugs that aren't on the market so easily? Those scientific laboratories are monitored carefully!" Melissa said gloomily.

"It'll be fine if we make it ourselves. No, I'll make it myself. You're useless." William said.

Melissa was mind-blown!

"This guy is crazy, isn't he? Why is he constantly offending me?"

"Did I dig up your ancestors' graves or something?"

"Are you venting your anger and frustrations on me now?"

"Don't you feel guilty for being so mean?" She thought.

However, William did not care about Melissa at all. He grabbed a prescription and scribbled something on it. Then he handed it to Melissa.

"Find someone you can trust and develop it immediately. For the first batch, produce 100 bottles. You may leave now." William said.

"Okay," Melissa took the piece of paper and walked out in a daze.

When she realized what had happened, she was fuming with anger! If it weren't for the fact that she could keep her emotions in check, she would have lost control and cursed him earlier.

"What was going on? Why did he act like a boss and order me around just now?"

"Did I really submit to his orders?"

"B*stard, you b*stard! What the f*ck!"

Melissa was so angry that she crumpled the piece of paper into a ball and threw it into her bag.

At this time, she received a phone call, and a warm voice rang in her ears, "Honey, where are you? I am hungry, let's eat together."

Hearing this voice, Melissa was in a good mood at once. "Hmph, you glutton! Come to my place. I have to make a good meal to vent my anger!"

When Melissa got home, she saw a charming woman in a white coat standing at her door.

Melissa rushed forward and gave her a big hug. "Lydia, I missed you so much."

Lydia was Melissa's college classmate and best friend.

After that, she stretched her waist and mumbled, "I'm so tired."

Melissa went into the kitchen and said, "I asked you to come to my clinic and help me. But you didn't listen. You're always in the lab, studying medicine all day long! I'm not even sure what you have successfully developed so far!"

Lydia entered the house and took off her high heels straight away. She said helplessly, "If you want to bribe me, I would rather die than obey. Putting that aside, I have been developing beauty products recently, but I haven't made any progress. I'm so worried about it."

Melissa was speechless for a while.

Lydia had a doctorate in medicinal studies. After graduation, she had been studying in a pharmaceutical research institute. But no matter how tired she was, she refused to come to Melissa's clinic to help. She was indeed stronger than Melissa when it came to her mental stance.

Lydia was about to switch on the TV when her face suddenly froze and she said sadly, "Honey, my period is here! Where are your pads?"

Melissa said casually, "There's one in my bag."

While holding her abdomen, Lydia grabbed Melissa's bag and rushed to the bathroom.

However, a minute later, Melissa heard only a loud bang!

The bathroom door was kicked open violently!

With menstrual blood flowing down her lower body, Lydia rushed to Melissa, with a kind of extreme excitement on her face. "Babe! Where did you get this beauty prescription? It's amazing!"

In her hand was a piece of paper stained with blood. It was a medical prescription!

VAMP2.0 WORK

Chapter 8

When Melissa saw Lydia's deranged look, she was flabbergasted!

"Put on your pants first!"

But Lydia ignored everything and grabbed Melissa's arm with her hand stained with blood. "Hurry up! Tell me, where did this beauty prescription come from?"

Melissa looked at the blood-stained piece of paper and said with a blank look on her face, "Oh, it's written by an idiot randomly. What's wrong?"

"What's wrong? You're telling me that it was written groundlessly?! This is an absolutely divine prescription! You know that I have been researching beauty-enhancing medication recently. When I saw this piece of paper just now, I was immediately enlightened! Take me to see that idiot, hurry up! Right now! Right now! Right now!" Lydia shouted at Melissa excitedly.

Melissa was astonished by Lydia's behaviour.

She witnessed William writing the messy prescription with her own eyes. She thought he wrote it randomly, so she didn't expect that the prescription could make Lydia, who had a doctorate in medicine, so excited!

"Could it be that this prescription was not some random scribbling?"

Melissa's heart skipped a beat. "Does that idiot really have some talent in medicine?"

Thinking of this, she glared at Lydia. "Please clean up and put on your pants. You don't want to see that idiot looking like this."

Lydia quickly rushed into the bathroom and then emerged in five minutes.

Melissa went straight to the Genuine Care Medical Center, bringing Lydia along.

"No! Let's go to my company first! I'll formulate a prototype with this prescription right away!" Lydia suddenly roared in the car.

Melissa's car turned rapidly, thinking of the people she met today.

William, who was an idiot.

Felicity, an aloof and domineering lady.

And now Lydia, her good friend who was speaking incoherently like she was going crazy.

One by one, they seemed to have become abnormal.

Perhaps a great change was about to happen to the world!

When the two of them arrived at Lydia's company, Lydia immediately entered the laboratory and left Melissa outside.

She fiddled inside for an hour before coming out with a bottle of strange-colored ointment in her hand.

This bottle of ointment was dark green in colour, and it was baffling at first glance.

"Did you succeed at making it?" Melissa was unsure.

Lydia said awkwardly, "No, I failed.

"F*ck! I knew that idiot was just playing tricks on me!" Melissa cursed him.

However, Lydia's little face turned red. "Well, it's because the paper was stained with blood, and the ratio on the last two lines can't be seen clearly..."

Melissa was dumbstruck.

"Quickly, call that idiot on the phone. Could you ask him to come over? The equipment and herbs are all available here," Lydia said embarrassedly.

"I'll ask several experts of our company to come and discuss it right away."

Melissa's face was full of disbelief. "Do you really think this ointment has miraculous effects?"

"Of course! Don't you think I would know better? Let me tell you, if this prescription is successful, it will take the beauty and pharmaceutical industry by storm!" Lydia rolled her eyes at Melissa, and then her delighted face looked like it was covered with glittering stars. "This b*stard is a genius. He can even come up with such a miraculous prescription, so I would like to kneel down and worship him."

Melissa felt goosebumps all over her body when she heard how firm and decisive Lydia's words were, as if she was very experienced at this. So, she quickly called William.

At this moment, William was looking at Felicity, who had just woken up. They looked at each other and didn't say a word.

Felicity had woken up five minutes ago.

She had a dream that seemed to have lasted for a thousand years.

When she woke up, she noticed the warmth in her palm, which was like the tenderness she had received at the brink of death, the previous night.

Her face turned red and she gently moved her body away from William.

William looked at her, but said nothing.

She also looked at William with burning eyes, and her heart was full of sorrow.

"Why did I say those shameful words just now..."

It seemed that it was because of his gaze...

"Felicity, you are really shameless!" She thought to herself.

10 years of waiting and 10 years of disappointment. However, just a gaze had broken through her guards.

A broken mirror would be difficult to mend. How could they move on from this?

After looking at each other in silence for five minutes, William sighed and said, "Let's have a good talk."

Felicity was stunned, but she did agree to have a good talk.

Yes, they had known each other for ten years and were married for three years.

In the past three years, the two of them had never had a heart-to-heart talk.

It was time to have a talk, whether they were to break up or to continue with their relationship.

At the thought of this, Felicity's eyes suddenly turned red.

"William, I've been living a hard life these years, do you know?"

William nodded. "I know."

"You can ignore the opinions of others, but I am a woman. I am not as indifferent as you. I need a man to stand behind me and support me all the time..."

"Since I got married to you, I've always been living with other people's malicious eyes on me.

Whether at home or at the company, I always hear others' ridicule. I'm really tired..."

"I admit that I like you, but I don't want to like you. I like you so much that it has made me become so humiliated."

"Do you know whose name I was calling when I almost died last night? Do you know who I was calling out to? Do you know who appeared?"

"Where were you when I needed you the most? 10 years of protection is not as good as Fernando appearing in time!"

"So, I love you! But I hate you too!"

"It's because of you that I owe that man a big favor!"

Upon hearing this, William felt bitter in his heart.

He had a strong impulse to tell Felicity that it was him, William, who appeared and saved her the previous night!

"I've never stopped protecting you!"

However, William couldn't!

He now had a revenge plan, and all his medical skills were still unknown to the public. He didn't want to get Felicity into trouble!

"Felicity, I have never known that you had so much grievance in your heart..."

"In the past three years, I thought that if I had ignored the rumors around me, I would be calm."

"But I forgot about your feelings."

"What's more, because of my indifference, I indirectly transferred the burden of those rumors to you."

"It was my fault." William thought these in his heart, but he could not say it to her.

"Give me a year," he suddenly said, taking in a deep breath.

Felicity looked up in shock and met William's firm gaze.

"One year, I'll prove it to you!"

"You and I are a match made in heaven!"

William said in a deep voice and held Felicity's hand tightly.

Felicity felt warmth in her heart. She wanted to pull her hand away, but found that she had no strength.

"Are you and I... a match made in heaven..."

"In three months, I'll make you the master of the Bai family!"

"In six months, I'll let you take charge of the pharmaceutical industry!"

"Within a year, I'll let you climb to the peak of Qena City!"

Every word was so deafening!

It stunned her.

Looking at the gentle and overbearing man in front of her, Felicity's heart stirred.

"Could he say that? Wasn't he her useless husband?"

How arrogant and proud he was, as if he was the one who ruled Qena City!

"You... on what grounds..." Felicity couldn't help asking.

"On what grounds?" William suddenly stood up and looked at the starry sky outside.

All of a sudden, he was full of heroic spirit!

"Because I'm the King of my own destiny!"

"Because you're the chosen one!"

"Because I love you!"

"I am invincible!"

Chapter 9

For a moment, Felicity was dumbstruck!

"Only my husband could say these words!" She thought.

"William, I don't believe your heroic words."

"However, I seem to like your unparalleled spirit..."

"With your words, no matter how hard and tired I am, I would be willing..."

"Let's go home," William stretched out his hand and wanted to pull Felicity up.

At this moment, Felicity was feeling shy. She pretended not to see it. She got up gently, took her bag and walked forward.

"Okay, let's go home!"

William had cut off his thoughts of going back to the Bai family, but he found that he had to go back.

He didn't want anyone in the Bai family to bully Felicity!

On the way, the two of them were speechless again. This time, Felicity spoke first. She had a few questions. She wouldn't be satisfied if she did not ask.

"William, was that Rolls-Royce yours yesterday?"

Felicity asked.

The question had been lingering on her mind since the night before, and it didn't go away.

William said casually, "It is a friend's. They took me out to dinner."

Felicity's eyes suddenly became gloomy, and her tone was also very sour. "Is it Melissa?"

Looking at Felicity's jealous yet cute face, William just wanted to laugh.

It seemed that there was indeed a little bit of fun between couples. He had been too boring before.

"I swear today was the first time I met Melissa!" William said.

Felicity's face turned red. She knew that her mind had been seen through by William.

"Then, why would Melissa treat you like this..." Felicity was unwilling to give up and continued to ask.

"Maybe, she just doesn't want to collaborate with you." William said.

After all, there was still Harper Wang supporting Melissa from behind. At present, it was not suitable for William to expose the relationship between Harper and himself.

"Oh," Felicity said, and suddenly looked sad again.

"Well, when you return home, my mother will make things difficult for you again. If I did not succeed in negotiating about the clinic this time, it is inevitable to be punished by my grandmother. Why are we so miserable?"

Felicity said casually, but William felt it in his heart. "Everything will be fine, because I have already woken up."

Felicity let out a laugh. She was so beautiful that the stars lost their luster.

William was stunned for a moment.

"You're just bragging. I only want you to be stronger in the future. Don't leave me isolated and helpless," Felicity said with a smile.

William shook his head and thought to himself, "No, never again for the rest of my life."

After the intense fluctuated emotion of the couple yesterday, William would never want to lose this silly woman forever.

At this time, William's phone rang, and he picked it up casually.

After listening, he hung up the phone and said shyly, "Felicity, you go in first. I have something to do outside."

"Are you going to meet Melissa?" Felicity had just peeped at the remarks on the phone, and her tone was sour again.

"Yes, but it's for business. If Grandma asks you to go to her place tomorrow, I'll go with you," William said.

Felicity felt warm in her heart.

William had never been to her grandmother's house before. She had always been the one to bear the pressure.

Now, everything seemed to have changed.

Felicity nodded immediately.

William sent Felicity to the door of the house and took a taxi to Lydia's pharmaceutical company.

Seeing William coming over, Melissa was about to meet him when she saw a black shadow fly out with a whoosh.

"Oh, you're Willy. You're so handsome."

William was stunned when he saw the woman in front of him who was like a fangirl.

This woman was charming. She was wearing a white coat, which made her look fascinating.

However, all this boot-licking made him feel powerless to complain.

In addition, who was Willy?

Melissa broke out in a sweat and hurried over to make introduction.

Lydia put away her anthropomaniac attitude and immediately went back to work. She explained the reason why she asked William to come over.

When William heard that his prescription was stained with menstrual blood, he was suddenly speechless.

However, he had no time to care about these things, so he wrote another one and passed it to Lydia.

"Haha, William is great!" Lydia kissed the prescription hard and hopped back to the lab again.

William and Melissa looked at each other in dismay.

Half an hour later, Lydia jumped out with two bottles of ointment in her hands. One bottle was green and the other was dim.

At this time, some people came to the office.

The five old men came in with dissatisfaction.

Lydia was overjoyed to see these old men. She whispered to William, "They are the most authoritative medical experts in our company. They are some of the best in Qena City! Wait and see!"

"Mr. Wang, you're finally here. Look, I've got a wonderful prescription, and the ointment I made is more than a thousand times better than the ointment you've made before!"

After listening to her words, one of these old men instantly turned gloomy!

William was speechless for a while. Not only was Lydia's IQ low, but her EQ was also lacking.

In the past two years, Mr. Wang had been pissed off by Lydia.

This girl, relying on her young age, proposed some wild ideas all day long. She always suggested random stuff to the leaders.

As a result, several senior experts would be interrogated by the leaders from time to time, to absorb young people's thoughts more.

"Hoho, young lady, what the f*ck is that?"

"The reason why we engaged in the pharmaceutical industry was that we are experienced."

"How dare you say that a random prescription is a thousand times better than the one I've been perfecting for decades?"

She was really ignorant.

Thinking of this, Mr. Wang looked at Lydia. "Where did you get this prescription?"

Lydia said that it was written by William, and handed the prescription to Mr. Wang for a look.

The old men immediately sneered and looked at William Lu. "Haha, how dare a young man bring up the prescription?"

They looked at Lydia and made it difficult for her to speak.

"Young man, how dare you write it?"

"Have you done research in advance?"

"What's the effect of this medicine? What side effects does it have?"

"You prescribed the medicine on your own. Has it been approved by the company?"

All of a sudden, Lydia was dazed, and her face became extremely gloomy.

"It seems that I've been too careless."

Lydia suddenly felt that she had been too rash. She just felt that William's prescription was amazing, but indeed she hadn't done any research...

However, since William was able to write this prescription, he must have done some research.

She immediately placed her hopes on William.

At this time, Mr. Wang looked at William again.

"Boy, do you have the qualification to practice medicine?"

"You're studying medicine?"

William shook his head.

The eyes of the old men suddenly became even more disdainful.

Lydia's heart went cold all of a sudden!

"This guy is not a medical student?"

But he still dared to write...

"It's over!"

Lydia glanced at William gloomily and apologized to the old men. "I'm sorry, I was careless. I won't do this again."

"Nonsense! It's totally nonsense! You secretly prescribed the medicine and took irrelevant personnel into our company. I seriously suspect that they are here to steal the company's secrets. I will advise the leader tomorrow that you are not suitable for the pharmaceutical industry. You can change your profession as soon as possible," Mr. Wang said coldly.

"And you guys, get out of here before I call the police!"

Melissa's face suddenly changed.

"I shouldn't believe this Willy so easily. Now, the old expert questioned me on the spot. Is there any possibility that the expert's words are false?"

"Shame on you. Let's go!" Melissa whispered to William.

Lydia, on the other hand, looked at William with guilt and grievance on her face. She whispered, "William, I'm sorry. Perhaps I'm inexperienced and misjudged your prescription. I think Mr. Wang is right. Ah, it's a pity that you can't explain it. If you know some medical treatment, how nice it would be..."

William sneered and walked outside.

A group of good-for-nothing only relied on their seniority and did not know how high the sky was and how thick the earth was.

When Mr. Wang saw William leave, he immediately thought that this kid had been exposed and had no face to stay.

He looked disdainfully at William's back as he left and said to Lydia, "See it? You can't play tricks in front of me. My age is old enough to be his grandfather..."

Lydia shook her head gently. After all, William was too young to understand medicine and had no experience. It was normal for him to show his fear in front of Mr. Wang...

When she was about to comfort William, she suddenly saw that William stopped.

"To be my grandfather..."

"Do you even deserve to help me carry my shoes?"

William suddenly turned around and walked toward Mr. Wang.

A chill burst out from his body!

"You, what are you doing? Let me tell you, we are in a society governed by law. Don't you dare touch me!" Mr. Wang exclaimed. When he saw William come back, he was shocked by his tiger-like eyes.

William's lips curled into a smile. He took the bottle of dim ointment from Lydia's hand and asked, "Did you make this?"

Mr. Wang looked at it and immediately became proud. "Yes! This prescription is the greatest achievement brought up by me with my 50 years of medical experience. Once it is put on the market, it will definitely cause..."

William casually opened the lid and sniffed the ointment.

Seeing this, Mr. Wang laughed and said, "Well, do you want to steal it? This is my unique formula. Hehe, if you kneel down and sincerely beg me, I can consider being kind and tell you..."

His voice was interrupted by William straight away.

"There are 2.2% Camellia seeds, 1.3% Summer Geraniums, 0.3% Bitter Orange Leaves, 3.8% Autumn Lemon Grass..."

He casually waved the bottle of ointment that everyone regarded as treasure and threw it into the trash can!

"Rubbish!"

Chapter 10

All the people present were dumbfounded on the spot!

"Trash!"

The ointment that Mr. Wang worked so hard to make was thrown away by a kid like a piece of trash!

Melissa was so scared that she got goosebumps all over her body. She shouted, "William, do you know what you are doing? Do you want me to die of anger? Then you'll be satisfied?"

However, she did not notice that the other people's expressions had already reached the extreme of horror!

What did they just hear?

"This kid just took a casual sniff of that ointment, and it turned out to be..."

"He actually told me the ingredients of the ointment!"

What's more, it was 100% accurate!

An ordinary person would definitely laugh at William at this moment.

There was no one in the world who could know the formula of the ointment just by smelling it!

If everyone was like this, then there would be no exclusive secrets about the branded drugs in the market!

However, they couldn't laugh!

Even if they wanted to cry, they couldn't!

Others didn't know the composition of this bottle of ointment, but they surely knew.

What William just said was right, not only the composition type but also the ratio of every ingredient!

"It's amazing!"

Lydia's heart skipped a beat. The way she looked at William had completely changed!

Before that, she thought he didn't know anything about medicine.

Now that because of his words, it proved his ability!

In terms of medicine and research, he was unparalleled in this world!

Genius! Genius!

But after Mr. Wang reacted, he looked at Lydia angrily and said, "You actually told my secret recipe to outsiders! I said they were spies! Call the police! Arrest them all!"

But at this time, Lydia was unexpectedly tough. "Mr. Wang, I swear that I didn't tell him the secret recipe. If you want to call the police, do as you please."

After hearing this, Mr. Wang's face changed again!

"He didn't know about the prescription in advance?"

However, he could tell the ingredients accurately with only one sniff...

"This..."

"Can this be done by a mortal human?"

"Where on earth did this kid come from?"

"However, even if you could say it out loud, so what?"

"How dare you say that the prescription I studied with great effort is rubbish?"

"Hmph! Tell me, how is my prescription considered as 'rubbish'? If you can't prove it, I bet on my reputation and my life, that I'll crush your bones and you will be dusted!" Mr. Wang was really angry.

"Haha! Do you know about the mutual enhancement and restrictive characteristics between drugs?"

"What will happen when the autumn's Lemon Grass and Geraniums are mixed together? Or when roses and the bitter lemon leaves are mixed? What will happen?"

"These are ingredients that counteract each other. What will it produce when the two counteract twice?"

"I said you are rubbish, and that's already being courteous to you! After all, there are different grades of rubbish, and you are one of the lowest!"

His words made the place fall into an endless silence again!

Mr. Wang and the other old men's faces had already turned red!

Lydia, on the other hand, stared at William with sparkling eyes!

"This guy is amazing!"

Before that, Lydia faintly felt that there was something wrong with Mr. Wang's prescription. It turned out that the problem came from the second, third, or even the fourth time the ingredients counteracted each other!

"Why did William focus on summer's Geraniums and autumn's Lemon Grass?"

"Because the seasons were different, and the efficacy of the medicinal materials is different!"

His mastery of medicine was absolutely brilliant and strong enough to make people feel despair!

Lydia's heart was still fluttering with fear at the same time!

These extremely complicated problems were not seen through by these experts at all. If this medicine was put on the market now, it would cause the reputation of the company to be ruined!

What if someone died after consuming the medicine? The consequences would be unimaginable!

"William, you're brilliant!" Lydia could no longer hold back her praise and said in public.

On the other hand, Melissa was completely stunned.

Although she didn't know medicine, she also felt it when she heard William explain, which made those experts who were arrogant and domineering just now speechless.

William, the Master of Medicine!

After a long time, Mr. Wang came to his senses, and his heart was beating fast!

The experience and honor of 50 years had been torn down by a young boy!

"He doesn't give me any face at all!"

"Kid, how dare you say that to me? Where's your ointment? I'm looking at your prescription. There are also Geraniums and Lemon Grass in it. You're a young man who only knows how to talk but can't act!" Mr. Wang patted William's prescription on the table!

William sneered, and his eyes were even colder.

"This man is really hopeless!"

"The same herb is grown in different seasons and used in different proportions. How could it have the same function? You have no knowledge and you are incompetent. Your prescription is trash. But you are worse than trash!"

Mr. Wang was so angry that he was about to lose his mind!

This guy was too arrogant!

"How dare you ruin my reputation of fifty years?" He thought.

"You only know how to bark like a dog! Who knows if your ointment is actually useful? Do you dare to prove it?" Mr. Wang said fiercely.

Lydia immediately stood in the middle and said to Mr. Wang gloomily, "Mr. Wang, any beauty enhancing cream takes time to show its results. If you want him to prove it right now, how does it make sense?"

Mr. Wang sneered and said, "Isn't he the one bragging? Then show me the proof! As long as he can prove it on the spot I shall kneel and bow and admit he's right!"

Lydia was so angry that she stomped her feet.

Mr. Wang was clearly making things difficult for William!

In fact, William had already shown his unparalleled strength. That was enough!

He wrote this prescription in a hurry, so there must be room for improvement. However, with his foundation in the field of medicine, he could gradually improve it. In the future, he would definitely build an outstanding beauty product...

However, Mr. Wang wanted him to prove his power immediately. It was simply hard for him to do so!

But at this time, William's eyes turned cold and he smiled.

His smile was extremely cruel!

You want me to prove it?

"William, don't argue with him..." Lydia pulled William's clothes and said with grievance.

But William looked at Mr. Wang and asked inexplicably, "Old man, are you afraid of pain?"

"Huh?"

Everyone was stunned.

Mr. Wang nodded. "Who's not afraid of pain?"

"Then do you believe me?" William asked again.

This time, Mr. Wang directly shook his head. "I won't believe the words of someone like you!"

Mr. Wang didn't know what William was going to do, but he couldn't calm down his anger!

"This guy has embarrassed me so much today." Elder Wang thought furiously.

"I'm going to steal the spotlight back right away!"
The beauty products were just to nourish and moisturize the skin, to reduce acne and to remove scars.

These were the effects that could only be achieved by using the products in the long term.

As long as he agreed, he would definitely lose!

"Later, I will make him lose all face and get out of Qena City!" Elder Wang thought.

"Haha, that's great. I'll try my best to prove one of them." William suddenly laughed.

Then he grabbed a knife on the table and sliced Mr. Wang's face with lightning speed!

Bright red blood suddenly gushed out!

This act shocked everyone!

William, hurt people in public!

"You! How dare you?" Mr. Wang felt a pain on his face and became furious!

However, William casually threw over the bottle of crystal green ointment and walked out of the office without looking back.

"Smear it on yourself."

"Tomorrow, I'll wait for you to kneel down to me!"
William said smugly.