The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 3051

Lorelei scanned over them as she put on a cold, expressionless demeanor. She was even distant towards Alex, her attitude much different from before.

Just a while ago, Lorelei was groveling before him, holding his feet while trying to impress him. She even went as far as to call herself his most loyal servant, hoping that the 'master' would teach her more...

Alex understood the moment he saw their expressions. Since they were both strong cultivators from ancient times, they cared a lot about their image, hence, they wouldn't act like servants in front of outsiders. Personally, though, he didn't really mind.

"Let me introduce you to each other. This is my master, Jade Benmore, and this is my father-in-law, Gilbert Henderson. And this is my wife, Maya Howards!"

After that introduction, Lorelei and Nebula froze slightly. 'They are of rather... High-status. Should we suck up to them too?'

Lorelei nodded gently and continued to act icy. Nebula maintained her egoistic act. "We... Are the protectors of Yukon!"

Alex spoke up. "Eustace escaped!"

"What?" Lorelei and Nebula couldn't keep up their act anymore.

"What do we do then?"

"According to what I know about Eustace, he would definitely not let us off that easily. In fact, he might already be on his way here. We won't stand a chance if we try to go against him head-on. How about we just run away... Leave Yukon?"

'Is it really fine to leave Yukon when you literally just called yourselves the protectors of this very place?' Alex thought.

“They’ve already left Yukon...” Alex then explained their current situation, telling them that the statue had once again gotten involved and let Eustace go.

However, she gave both parties three months.

“The statue... Her highness’ words might not do much for Eustace. He even said that Her Highness wouldn’t be able to stop the seed.”

“That’s why I decided to enhance all the boundaries here,” Alex interrupted. “But now I’d just like to know what happened when that building started glowing.”

Lorelei looked at the building, seemingly more surprised than Alex.

“What is that place?” Maya asked.

“I don’t know,” Lorelei answered. “We can’t go up there.”

“And it’s very dangerous,” she added after a brief while.

Alex was shocked. “Not even you can get up there? What about Underwood then?”

Lorelei replied, “Nope.”

Nebula said. “One would have to use the Heavenly Stairs if they want to get up that building. But the stairs are dangerous, and Eustace could only go up thirteen steps. If anyone forces their way up any further, that would be asking for torture.”

Gilbert asked, “How many steps are there?”

Lorelei replied. “Nine thousand nine hundred and ninety-nine!”

Everyone fell silent. It was just too horrific.

‘The seed could only ascend thirteen steps, but it has nearly ten thousand. Could anyone from this world actually up that place?’

However, Jade seemed like she wanted to try. Her expressions said it all.

“First, help me set up the formations! Then we can go take a look at those stairs!”

Alex took out tens of thousands of formation flags, all set up with Cuneiform. After pondering, he took out a diagram.

Nebula gasped. “Eustace’s Star Ethereal Diagram? Why do you have it?”

Alex replied. “I obviously took it from him.”

Lorelei said, “No formation was difficult for Eustace because of that diagram. That’s why formations are actually his weaknesses...”

“But among our fifteen sisters, Nadia had done some research on formations. The normal ones wouldn’t be too difficult for her to open.”

Alex said, “This is called the Thousand Flag Formation! If she can break through this, I will suck up to her!”

Compared to Lorelei, Nebula was more seductive and bold when it came to relationships. Although Alex had also planted a soul restriction spell on her, she didn’t seem to mind one bit... If anything, she was completely willing to let him do it as well.

Everyone froze and looked towards Alex.

Since a random comment simply came across his mind, he didn’t know what to reply to. ‘Sucking everywhere would be inappropriate!’

“Haha, well sucking would be impossible. She couldn’t even break open the boundary at the valley, let alone this formation!”

Whoosh...

‘Mirror image!’

Alex's mirror images were now clearer than before. Moreover, there were a total of eighteen mirror images, not just one or two... Even Alex was shocked by this. 'Isn't this a little too many?'

In the end, he figured that his powers had improved a lot after achieving the three thousand Nascent Souls, and this was the result after quantifying it.

'I need to be stronger when it comes to actual strength!'

The people next to him were secretly surprised as well. Such powers were uncommon in this world, after all. Nebula grinned while approaching one of the images. She then touched and pinched it as she turned to Alex. "Does... This thing have a conscience? Can you give me one?"

Alex was speechless. "What do you want this for?"

Nebula smiled brightly. "I'll bring it back and see if he would suck me."

'At this point... This is flirting publicly!'

"Ahem..."

Alex shivered upon hearing that. The mirror image backed away as well.

"Let's just focus on the formation. The only flaw of the Thousand Flag Formation is that it's too complicated. All flags have to be in a perfect position. I'll go bring more people out. My images will tell you all how to place it"

The image was not a real person, and there were some things it couldn't do when setting the formation. A few other people were inside the vase, but it was still not enough.

Alex opened the door to Kala Temple, calling for more people who were inside. When Lorelei and Nebula saw the door appearing out of nowhere, they were so shocked that they were unable to say anything...

This was a portable teleportation door. Even as seed, Eustace had never possessed such a gadget. The dungeon was extremely rare as well, since every single one had an extraordinary history. Kala Temple was the last pure land within the Siddhartha realm. It was the only one within the entirety of Buddhism as well. Alex only managed to get his hands on it after becoming Ksitigarbha's legacy.

Nebula spoke through telepathy to Lorelei. “Sis, have we accidentally got ourselves a steal? This guy brings along a holy ancient dungeon with him, like it was some random tool. That means there must be entire ancient religious clan supporting him.”

“He must have quite a lot of Chi and spiritual energy on him! This guy you randomly grabbed is becoming more and more mysterious. I’m even getting some kind of rush in my heart, I have the urge to eat him up.”

Lorelei took a glance at her, slightly paranoid as she spoke through telepathy as well. “Don’t do anything rash, Her Highness has her eyes on him.”

Nebula froze. “No way. Could Her Highness want to be with him?”

Lorelei said, “How would I know? Her Highness has always operated in unexpected ways... She had probably planned on something else after making Alex Eustace’s substitute as the seed. If she wants a husband, the seed would probably be the best choice for her, right?”

When she said that, she honestly just didn’t want Nebula and Alex to be overly intimate with each other. She didn’t quite know why she did that. Yet after saying those words, she thought about something. ‘Has... Her Highness really thought of making him hers?’

After that, Alex’s image brought a group of people to set up formations all around the Yukon Sanctuary.

This might take a whole day, and it was because they were using the Star Ethereal Diagram. It would have taken much longer otherwise.

It was mainly due to the size of the sanctuary. Fortunately, Alex had enough flags-tens of thousands, or they might actually run out.

The next day, Alex’s mirror images disappeared in the evening, as if they were snowflakes that met the sun. He was standing on the top of a large mountain, forming seals on both his hands. Using Chi to write Cuneiform in midair, he connected all of the formation flags in the sanctuary.

Suddenly, Nadia came back to Yukon, along with three of her sisters and around ten strong recently-subdued clan members. As expected, the news about the building on the top of Yukon reached the Stoermer Sect.

Eustace was outraged and distraught upon his exile from Yukon, especially since he was the seed. It was a given that he wouldn't let Alex off this easily, so he had been closely monitoring everything within Yukon. Eustace wanted to return when the building shone, but the goddess had ordered him not to. He didn't dare to go against her, but he figured that sending others up wasn't actually breaking the rules.

"Big Sis! Third Sis!"

Nadia and the others bumped into Lorelei and Nebula at the entrance, so she went up and greeted them. The other three sisters did so as well.

"Nadia, you guys have already left Yukon. Why have you come back?" Lorelai asked.

"Big Sis, are you two really determined to go down this path?" Nadia asked in return.

"I know the young lord was wrong to send you into the pond to look for the pill. He was wrong to have not cared about your safety, but you will lose your life's purpose once you abandon him and follow some random brat! Due to your work and effort from the past three thousand years, the young lord has decided to let it go once. He is willing to accept you into the sect again! Let's just go back home, shall we?"

Lorelei couldn't help herself and chuckle. "Eustace would never say that. But either way, we will never go back."

Nebula, too, was astounded. "Second Sis, just look at yourself. You're not here to convince us to go back, are you?"

Nadia replied, "We've heard that the building on top of Mount Yukon started glowing. What's up with that?"

"Has the building started glowing? I don't know. I guess you must've heard some rumor."

“We’d like to go up there and take a look”

Lorelei smiled. “No, that would be impossible.”

Nebula was straightforward. “How dare you still come up here after Her Highness had forced you out? Do you think Her Highness was talking nonsense?”

Nadia and the other women froze. “How did you find out about that?”

Nebula grinned coldly. “Her Highness told us, of course. What? Do you really think we’re just a bunch of foolish idiots? Since we used to be sworn sisters, I’d like to give you some good advice, don’t take the wrong side. Her Highness is on ours, you know?”

Lorelei then told them to leave, but they refused. Just then, odd light beams shot out from the sanctuary, one after another. As it reached the skies, it formed into a mysterious net, some of which were filled with several Cuneiform symbols that moved about within...

That was Alex’s Thousand Flags Formation. Connecting each diagram into one, it constructed a large, complete formation.

Nadia and the others had fallen into Alex’s tricks before, especially to those Cuneiform symbols. They felt their scalps go numb.

“Retreat!” Nadia scowled and was first to back off, afraid that she’d be trapped again.

On the other hand, Lorelei and Nebula stood still, watching the group of people backing away thousands of meters.

Lorelei spoke up again. “Nadia, go back and tell Eustace this. Don’t mess around with the name of the Stoermer Sect. Some people View that sect as mental support. Its name is not one to be tarnished.”

“If he goes overboard, someone will stand up to take out the trash.”

Lorelei and Nebula looked towards the huge commotion within the sanctuary, immediately dashing back into the formation.

However, the commotion in the air wasn't over just yet. Just as the two were about to enter the boundary, Alex shaped a seal with his hand and sent it into the formation, all while standing at the very peak of the mountain. With this, he brought the two women into the formation, sending them to the main area with some kind of special guidance.

Whoosh!

Nadia and the others came back once again. To their demise, they were locked out by the formation, unable to take another step forward.

“Second Sis, can you break through this formation?” a servant of Eustace asked.

In actuality, Nadia was terrified of Alex's formation. She just couldn't understand how this young Wasteland native could obtain such brilliant formation skills.

‘Even if he were to start learning formations when he was in the womb, he shouldn't be able to become so powerful... Especially when it came to formation symbols like Cuneiform.’

‘How troublesome.’

Looking rather pale, she wanted to test the boundary walls with her hand. She took another glance at Alex, who was still standing on the top and immediately retracted her hand, stumbling backward.

As another formation master, she knew just how miraculous formations could be. For example, one could expand the formation as long as they wished. This would trap them inside, even if they were initially free. She didn't even know what Cuneiform was... Not the slightest clue. If that were to happen, they would definitely regret not retreating sooner.

“Hmph! Let's just go!” She flung her arm in annoyance and went further away. After that, the group immediately went down Mount Yukon with great speed. Someone in the group questioned, “Fairy, are we not going to investigate the glowing building?”

Nadia said coldly, “If you have the power, why don’t you try and get in?”

Someone asked, “But what if there’s precious treasure up in the building?”

“So what? Do you know that there are nine thousand nine hundred and ninety-nine steps before we get up to the building? I can only take ten steps out of all that! Do you really think you have what it takes?”

Everyone fell silent.

“Let’s just leave!”

Alex watched them leave. In reality, he did, in fact, want to push the formation, making it bigger and trapping those people inside. Yet he couldn’t do as he wished.

This formation was quite strong and powerful. Not only did it require tens of thousands of formation flags, it was also connected to the initial boundaries around Yukon Sanctuary. Moreover, it combined natural landscapes, heavenly laws, Dao energy, and many other things.

It was the largest, most complicated formation Alex had ever placed. It was even more complex than the Seventy-two Heavenly Immortal-slaying Formation. Yet it Read Novel The Pinnacle Of Life

They couldn’t help but think how incredibly wasteful he was, with such valuable assets no less. However, the ripe fruit wasn’t all that durable. Even if they put it in a storage ring, it would still rot naturally. That was because it was the fruit of the Magnificent Tree of The Great Dao. The fruit contained natural Dao energy, which was purer than law power.

Since storage rings merely used spatial energy and law power, it couldn’t possibly slow the fruiting process. Not even the processed Enlightenment Pills could last long. With time, the medicinal effects would fade as well.

On the other hand, Enlightenment Pills couldn’t be endlessly consumed as well.

The first one would have the best effects, but the effects would be cut in half with the second one consumed. Then the effects of the third would be cut half once again, resulting in a fourth of its total benefits. Hence, the first two pills were effective, but the third was unnecessary.

Despite everything, Alex did this out of helplessness.

Dong...

Alex took out the Requiem Clock and rung it. After that, everyone gathered around the clock and sat down on the ground, taking their pills together.

This made Lorelei, Nebula, and Lila start to doubt the ancient times of this religious clan. However, the clan definitely wasn't this generous to have given out hundreds of such high-level divine Enlightenment Pills to their disciples in one go.

Not even the Stoermer Sect could do this. It seemed like a dream.

"Sis, did he really make all these pills?" Lila asked Lorelei in secret.

"Yeah, I witnessed it myself. In fact, I was his assistant," Lorelei beamed proudly, bragging as if she were involved in the process as well...

In all honesty, the Enlightenment Pill was a divine pill of extremely high level, and it was 100% pure. This was an achievement that any alchemy clan could only hope for.

"He's now my alchemy master!" Lorelei wasn't afraid to admit that she had become Alex's disciple.

"Big Sis, I thought you had already become his sex slave."

"Just take your pill! That clock seems a little odd too. It seems to relate to ancient Buddhism..."

Lorelei was able to connect the dots in an instant.

'A moving sanctuary, the Kala Temple, Requiem Clock... All of these are related to Buddhism... The force supporting him... Could it be ancient Buddhists?'

Dong!

The clock rang once again.

The sound was quite calming and soft, and it echoed in the air. It was able to help the cultivators become one with nature very quickly. After that, no one dared to utter a single word. Every one of them took their pill and immediately started meditating.

None of them had noticed that the eyes of the statue within the sanctuary moving slightly at the time. A soul then came out of the statue, walking barefooted as she turned invisible... It was the goddess.

She was able to hide within the void, and not even masters at spatial energy and law powers would be able to find her.

Seeing that many people taking the pills and achieving Enlightenment, even as a goddess, she was absolutely appalled... All of these people were holding two pills in their hands. They looked like they were going to consume it soon.

"This little pest, even I'm getting jealous!" the goddess mumbled to herself softly.

After that, she stood in front of Alex and watched him swallow a handful of Enlightenment pills, tens of them, in fact. She was shocked. 'Not even the richest person on Earth would take this many pills, right? Aren't you afraid of blowing out your brains from an overdose?'

When she saw what happened next, the goddess started to doubt the pill's authenticity.

Alex didn't seem to be affected by the number of pills, as if this was normal.

It was as if there was a furnace inside of his body, smelting the medicinal benefits. His body would then send these benefits to his three thousand Nascent Souls. The seeds inside the Nascent Souls were glowing.

The goddess stared at Alex, truly shocked this time. "Those things inside the three thousand Nascent Souls... Is that the Blue Demonic Lotus? This bastard... He's insane!"

Her Highness was unaware that her actions had exceeded those of a supervisor. She became increasingly interested in Alex's secrets as she paid more attention to him.

This feeling was like a person with a telescope peeping from a high building, always subconsciously wanting to get up and peep to see what that person was doing and what secrets he held.

This was extremely dangerous!

Alex immediately felt the mass of Dao energy after eating a handful of Enlightenment Pills. It was a wonderful sort of energy. It could energize the spirit, allowing one to see the essence of heaven and earth and sense its connotation.

Alex had a feeling it was something from the Holy Book. What was previously ambiguous had become clearer as the Enlightenment Pill was consumed. It was like he was blinded in the past, but everything was much clearer now.

He comprehended the Great Icebound Spell and the Great Flame Spell and discovered its fundamental origin, which belonged to the Dao energy. His knowledge of the Great Sealing Technique was also growing.

Furthermore, he appeared to have a clue about the Great Void Spell.

Alex had no idea about this forbidden art, the Great Void Spell, which seemed to be related to the laws of space, but when he took a good look at the essence, he was very surprised. He noticed an even more enigmatic substance in it.

It was Dao energy, Earth's Dao energy.

It was clear that it should fit, but Alex noticed something unusual. The presence of these substances seemed to contradict Earth's Dao energy and was out of place.

"This is not the universe's Dao energy! This is another universe's Dao energy!"

Alex briskly opened his eyes and realized what was going on.

Finally, he realized why he had felt weak and floaty while cultivating the Holy Book. It turned out he lacked the Dao energy that fit the earth. The Ten-Point Forbidden Spell that emerged from this cosmic realm had different Dao energy.

“Hmm?”

“Who’s there?”

Alex had the sudden impression that something was present in front of his eyes. This was an extraordinary feeling. Obviously, he couldn’t see, touch, or feel anything, but he just had this strange feeling, like a seventh sense of sorts.

He had no idea the female statue was directly in front of him. His hand, however, reached over and passed through it directly.

“Another universe’s Dao energy...” the female statue also muttered. She had caught the abnormality in Alex’s body, and while she didn’t know what technique he was cultivating, the abnormal energy that swirled out of his body was clearly perceived and captured by her.

She had also done some research on this Dao energy. Or, more precisely, what she was researching was desperately needed. The female statue was a little excited at this point. Someone who knew the rules of another universe had just appeared, and she couldn’t let this pass her by.

She was tempted to kidnap Alex right now. Unfortunately, it was not possible at this time.

She had only used a small amount of soul power to come here and look at this little beast with a lot of little secrets. Such tiny amounts of soul power wouldn’t even allow a fight, let alone abduct a grown living person like Alex.

”Keep observing and studying!”

Her Highness noticed Alex frowning in front of her and thought it was very interesting.

As a result, Alex unleashed the Great Seal Spell right now... He didn’t use it to seal anything in the air, but he did use it on himself. He sealed his own secrets with the Great Seal Spell. This caused a certain woman’s espionage plans to go wasted.

When Her Highness returned her gaze to Alex, she had the distinct impression that a thick layer of mist had shrouded his body. Not to mention the secret... Even the cultivation realm was hidden.

“D*mned bastard. You’re not about to show me...”

“You deserve death by a thousand cuts, pervert!” The female statue became so agitated that she leaped to her feet.

Even if she broke her feet, it wouldn’t help her in her current condition.

“Hmph! I will return next time!”

“I don’t believe you will continue to seal yourself in every day.”

Alex felt relieved when the female statue left. That highness was the only one who could give him this feeling out of all the possibilities in his head.

Lorelei had consumed the Enlightenment Pill, but she could not advance beyond her cultivation level. This was perfectly normal since her congenital heart disease had not yet healed. No elixir could help her advance beyond her current cultivation level.

As a result, she didn’t meditate or cultivate. Cultivation had no meaning for her.

Alex woke up. Seeing that she lacked enlightenment cultivation, he waved at her and exited the area.

”Master, have you attained enlightenment?”

Lorelei took the initiative to summon her master, her voice sweet and particularly soft, as there were no bystanders nearby.

“No,” Alex replied with a shake of his head.

Then he inquired, "Let me ask you a question. How well do you know the female statue? How do you address her as Your Highness? Is she still considered a country's princess?"

Lorelei stated, "What exactly is a country's princess? The concept of a country is very weak in the cultivation world, the strongest is the most important, relying on strength. She can be nobler than the princess of any country."

Alex was taken aback, "Tell me about it."

Lorelei nodded. "Her Highness, the Stoermer Sect's successor, is known as the Phoenix Goddess, and she is the biological daughter of the two great emperors, Grand Emperor Rowan and The Phoenix Empress! Once, the lord of any country coming over had to salute when he saw Your Highness, this is nobility."

Alex stunned hearing Lorelei's answer, "Huh..?!"

He had no idea the female statue would be such a symbol.

According to the ancient era, the ruler of a country, in this case, Grand Emperor Rowan and The Phoenix Empress, was not much different from a mole in their eyes.

"Does Her Highness intend to visit you again, Master?" Lorelei inquired quietly.

"No, I was just asking casually."

"Oh..."

"Go, take me to see the sky stairs you mentioned," Alex said, looking towards the white jade building at the top of the distant mountain.

"All right, master!"

Lorelei appeared to be unbothered by her status as a little slave girl and even seemed to enjoy it at times. Soon, they arrived in a deserted valley.

There were sky stairs standing quietly in the valley, one end on the ground and the other boundless in the sky. They sensed a powerful aura as soon as they got close. As he approached the heavenly ladder, Alex was stunned because the mysterious ax in his sea of consciousness actually emitted a strong vibration.

It was a yearning. Alex was in complete shock.

This was an ax of extremely enigmatic origins. It was front his own cardiac acupoint!

It had never had much of a presence before, but each time it had been able to provide great assistance, for example, the last time, it was due to the appearance of the ax head, which had cut down one of Eustace's spiritual bodies and made him know what to do.

"Do you want something at the top of this heavenly ladder?" Alex quietly inquired of the ax, but there was no response.

"All right, then, let's say you want it!"

"I'll go up and get it for you!"

"This is the sky stairs?"

Jade also came over at this time, her eyes fixed on the towering sky stairs with surging battle intent. She seemed to have been born to fight. There was a life sacrifice connection between her and Alex and his presence could be detected within a certain range.

Alex turned around. "Why did you come over as well? Have you fully absorbed the medicinal effects of the Enlightenment Pill?"

"The pill wasn't very useful for me," Jade said with a smile.

"How is that possible?"

"Wasn't it an Enlightenment Pill? You're squandering it off!" Lorelei yelled unconsciously.

Jade gently shook her head and said nothing.

Lorelei was unaware of Jade's unusual origins, a Titan Tribe member with origins not of this universe, and her cultivation path differed from that of others.

It didn't take long, though.

Yet another person had come over. It was Maya and Beatrice this time.

They discovered that it was normal that the celestial unity of intent was broken within the two. It was mainly because the two women were extremely talented, quickly absorbing the medicinal effects of the Enlightenment Pill and utilizing the Dao energy in it. That's right. In fact, the faster the pill's enlightenment, the better it would be for the practitioner. Although the two women's realms did not break through, it could be seen that they have gained a lot this time, as a vague Dao energy aura began to appear on their bodies. This indicated that they had comprehended something of their own with the help of the Dao energy of the earth.

Lorelei then stated, "You can't ascend these sky stairs every time. It has a time limit, that is to say, there is an opening time every time, and only at that time can you ascend it."

Alex approached it and raised his leg in front of the first step.

There was indeed an invisible barrier in front of the sky stairs blocking the way with simply no way to climb on it.

Jade also came to try, but the outcome was the same. "When will it be open?" she inquired.

"Every day at noon, when the sun shines directly on it," Lorelei said.

The crowd counted the time. It was now 4:00 pm, which meant that they couldn't climb today and would have to wait until tomorrow... Furthermore, the sun had to be present.

Following that, people began to arrive one by one. Nebula, Lila, Gilbert, Pigsy... Most of them showed up.

After looking for a while, however, they showed very little interest. In fact, most were completely uninterested the light above the bejeweled jade palace.

Instead, they were all in discussion-since now the formation of the Yukon Sanctuary was fixed, there were no problems in terms of security.

Would it then be possible to start traveling?

This was Yukon, after all, the place the Western Queen Mother once lived!

That bejeweled jade palace, especially at the top of the mountain clouds, gave people endless imagination, as if the Western Queen Mother still lived there.

“As I mentioned before... Spring, Summer, Autumn, and Winter want their dad to take them up the mountain. Here in Yukon Sanctuary, the scenery is so beautiful. I want to walk around and take pictures too. Let’s go together! You, the father, should stay with your children,” Beatrice said, grabbing Alex.

Lorelei and several other goddesses were stunned.

It was only then that they realized Alex had children. And... they were going on a trip?

Was this for real?

They were just talking about the sky stairs and the bejeweled jade palace when all of a sudden, it was time to travel, take pictures, and accompany the children... Their brains had the sensation of abruptly transitioning from immortal cultivation to everyday life.

“This proposal is good,” Alex said, “At least we are now considered the owners of the Yukon Sanctuary. It is good to know our own territory. It is still early, let’s pick up the children and go together...”

However, his sentence had not yet been completed. The ax in Alex’s consciousness appeared to be impatient.

Alex’s sea of consciousness ejected.

It furiously sliced at the transparent and invisible border in front of the Sky Stairs, transforming into a ray of light. It was devastating. It was like cutting butter with a hot knife, like slicing through a cloth with sharp scissors. The barrier in front of the Sky Stairs was shattered with force.

“Ah...?”

“What’s going on?”

Lorelei and the others were startled. They hadn’t seen the ax before, but the quick movement of the barrier being broken apart was so loud that they couldn’t help but notice it.

For a little while, Alex was frozen. He wasn’t expecting the ax to run out on its own, especially after breaking the border. Furthermore, the strange little ax rushed up the Sky Stairs and vanished in the blink of an eye.

Alex was now worried.

He’s not going to run away, right?

He rushed up and quickly followed it.

As a result, when he took the first step, his body appeared to sink into a quagmire. What was more terrifying was the massive and fierce spiritual field smashing down. It was as if his brain was about to explode.

The impact of the spiritual field was significant. Like a black hole, it drew one’s mind and consciousness into it.

“Where is this?”

Alex found himself in a desert and not on the Sky Stairs.

Was it an illusionary realm?

Or perhaps a secret realm?

He looked down at his clothes and realized right away that this was not a secret realm but an illusionary realm. It should be the spiritual realm that had just attacked him... Because he wasn’t in his original clothes, but in a set of scholar’s clothes. The even more shocking thing was that he discovered that he was not his original self too.

His skills had all but vanished from his body, as was his Chi. Cultivation was no longer possible. He had been completely transformed into an average, defenseless person.

"Wait, where is this going?"

"Lorelei said that Eustace can only ascend to the thirteenth step while she would eventually stop at the eleventh step... I first thought that it was to ascend through cultivation, but it appears I was mistaken. This is some kind of willpower test."

He touched his body, only to feel a dry steamed bun, which, due to dehydration, was turning to stone. Then he looked at the back of the bag, which contained some books and a painting.

'Is it a painting? What exactly is this?'

A stream of consciousness rushed through his mind as he picked up the painting. This was a piece of identity information and experience. Zechariah, Early Ancient Dynasty, and Trafford County were going to the capital to take an exam. He met a beautiful female thief and fell in love at first sight, but the heroine was infected with the plague and needed a kind of golden phoenix scorpion egg in the desert to save her life. Before Zechariah returned to the desert to save her, he needed to find eggs within three days.

"Holy sh*t! What's the deal with this?"

Alex was taken aback, "So I'm now Zechariah? This method of ascending the Sky Stairs is a little strange!"

He somewhat understood that the first level of the ladder was a replica of a certain person's life, allowing the climber to see a representation of the life experience, not knowing if this person really existed. In the end, would it be a success?

Alex's memory had not changed, so the information in his head remained. He also had an idea of what the golden phoenix scorpion was and its habits. The only problem was that there was no cultivation. The golden phoenix scorpion was a desert demon beast.

Could he beat it with his current appearance?

Alex opened the painting and saw a woman, thinking she was the female thief, but he was stunned when he took a good look at her face.

"How on earth is she the one?!"

Alex stared at the woman in the painting, unable to believe his eyes. This was because he was very familiar with the woman's appearance in the painting, especially during this recent period. He was familiar with her various expressions and demeanor: abashed, excited, tired, lazy, and even more private state.

He was familiar with every inch of the woman's skin. The woman in the painting was none other than Ynes, the former saintly maiden of Yorkshire Palace on whose body he had recently used countless vital energy pills!

"Ynes had an affair with Zechariah?"

"Not... Very likely, isn't it?"

Alex heard Ynes say she was adopted by the master since childhood, and has lived in the Yorkshire Palace as long as she could remember. How could she possibly be a thief?

The woman in the painting, on the other hand, was eerily lifelike. She was almost exactly the same as Ynes.

"Could the person in the painting have anything to do with Ynes?"

Alex was intrigued by this current illusion when he thought about it this way, if this illusion was truly a replica of a certain experience that had truly existed, then he should be able to figure out the true identity of this female thief in the painting...

In fact, Ynes was still very concerned about her own life. She was curious as to why she had been abandoned as a child.

Were her parents having such a hard time, or did they dislike her?

If it was the former, she was curious about what happened back then!

Returning to one's roots was a fundamental thought everyone would have, and Ynes had similar thoughts... Alex had an epiphany, the woman in the painting shouldn't be a silent and ordinary person if she was to be recorded by the Sky Stairs and used as the first step's test topic.

"Does it have an immortal cultivator?"

"It can't be Ynes's daughter, can it? "

After all, if someone so similar wasn't a twin, only a mother and daughter could have such magical kinship.

"Well... I must find this golden phoenix scorpion's egg for Ynes's sake!" Alex muttered to himself.

The problem was that the golden phoenix scorpion was a demonic beast. It was usually level six, but some of higher and lower levels also existed. If Alex were here, he could destroy hundreds in minutes. But the situation now was, he was a defenseless scholar. By the looks of his frail little body, even the weakest of golden phoenix scorpions could kill him, not to mention the particularly vicious spawns!

He looked at the sun, then at the endless desert, and then at the stone the size of a steamed bun in his hand. The biggest crisis at the moment appeared to be how to survive in this desert, himself.

Yukon, in front of the Sky Stairs.

Lorelei and others were stunned too, having never heard of anyone who could use brute force to open the boundary of the Sky Stairs. They once used their fifteen seeds to assist, Eustace himself included, to combine and form a very powerful battle force, they wanted to use brute force to open the boundary of the heavenly staircase.

This was because only the Sky Stairs could reach Yukon's highest mountain peak above the bejeweled jade palace.

Even with the help of powerful artifacts and the combined power of sixteen people, the boundary could not be broken. However, the boundary was easily breached by a beam of light shooting out of Alex's body.

So, what was it?

Jade, Dorothy, and others were worried about Alex. He suddenly stepped into the first step, and as if his entire body had been paused, he was frozen in place, immobile. His posture was very odd. He had the appearance of rushing upward, which was a little comical, but he was thinking fearfully.

"What's the matter with him? What exactly is going on?" Jade asked Lorelei.

Lorelei focused her attention on the Sky Stairs' boundary, which had been opened by Alex, and said, "Do not be concerned, this is normal. I have not had time to carefully explain the steps of the Sky Stairs. Each level is a test. This test is a bit strange, though. It is experiencing a real person who once existed, his dilemma. As long as you pass through that dilemma, there will be unexpected surprises, even if you successfully break through the barrier. While entering the second level, there will be an unexpected surprise."

The crowd was taken aback by the presence of such a test.

Surprisingly unexpected surprises, which were somewhat expected?

Gilbert asked, "If the test is not passed, will there be a punishment?"

other godly formation breaking tools."

Alex smiled to himself and leaped off the mountain.

Creak!

The door to the Kala Temple opened once again, as Alex called for everyone inside. This was to distribute their resources, mainly the Enlightenment Pill.

The Magnificent Tree of Great Dao grew at a rapid pace, and it bore quite a lot of fruits too. There was no problem with making a few stoves of Enlightenment Pills, especially with the large number of medicinal herbs in the trove.

Everyone was able to obtain two pills, no matter how close they were with Alex.

Lorelei and Nebula didn't know what to say as they watched the weakest group of cultivators getting two pills each, just like everyone else.
