The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 3381

“Suzaku, go five steps forward!”

“Genbu, turn!”

As Alex shouted, the four divine beast statues started moving. Alex had to obtain the evil Bodhi’s memories, as this was the only way to open this altar up.

A few minutes later, a gigantic hole appeared in the middle of the platform, with a long flight of stairs descending down.

“Let’s go! ” Alex took the lead, with the others following closely behind.

Several spirits then reached their hands out from the dark space, trying to capture them. However, Alex was repeatedly chanting, sending out invisible energy waves and forcing them away.

Phoenix then brought out a bead, concentrating her divine power, making the bead glow.

“Go!”

In an instant, the bead flew down automatically, leading the way for the group. Moreover, the glow became brighter and brighter, as if it was a giant light bulb with hundreds of watts. After that, they were able to check out what was beneath them with the light, gasping in sheer shock. The space below was so ample that it was simply unimaginable.

There were nine pillars that were as tall as mountains, too, supporting the platform. Each and every one of them had thick metal chains around them, tying down a person just as tall as it is.

‘Woah, these people are way too big? They’re even taller than mountains, and it’s not like they’re phantoms. These are their actual bodies!’

Everyone was utterly stunned.

Further down was a pitch-black pond consisting of pure blood, likely the blood of the Gods that flowed down the grimstone. The one above them was merely a pit made due to erosion. The actual place where the blood gathered was right in front of them. It was so large that it seemed more like an ocean than a pond.

Boom!

Suddenly, the entire space started shaking vigorously. Even the blood sea below them was rippling from the impact.

Everyone's hearts felt like they were being slammed by a giant hammer. The harsh pain slowly spread through their chests as well.

"What is that noise?" Ancestor Bodhi screamed, hiding behind Alex.

"Hey hey hey, why are you grabbing onto me? My pants are going to fall off." Alex slapped Ancestor Bodhi's claws off.

"I think it came from the mountains," Shelly spoke up, then turned to Alex. "You're the one who opened it up, so you should at least have a bit of information about this place, right?"

Alex said, "I just know that all the people of the Witch Kingdom died here.

Boom!

With another loud noise, Phoenix lost her balance for a brief second, nearly tripping.

"That was... A heartbeat!" She gasped.

"It's likely that titan's heart."

"Not that one. It's coming from those titans, the nine that are tied up. Their hearts are still beating. They're still alive."

The realization made them frozen in place, especially Ancestor Bodhi since he was rather timid. He ended up shrieking and nearly falling straight into the blood sea.

'What even is this mechanism?'

Boom!

Boom, boom...

The heartbeats became faster, sounding one after another.

Suddenly, two rays of light came from one of the pillars. One of the titans had opened its eyes.

“Ah! Oh my god!” Ancestor Bodhi screamed once again.

He looked as if he were about to break down mentally. His eyes widened. After that, more pairs of eyes opened up as well, until all nine had opened their eyes. They even turned their heads to look at the group.

In the end, all titans were staring straight at Alex.

“Hey, kiddo, they’re all looking at you. Are they interested in you?” Ancestor Bodhi chuckled rudely. “You opened the place anyway, so it might be fate. Why don’t you try communicating with them, hmm?”

Alex was annoyed, grabbing him over and placing the Bodhi right in front of himself. ‘You’re a f*cking coward, yet you still dare to make such sarcastic remarks!’

“Whoaa...” Ancestor Bodhi cried out loud.

Just then, nine of those titans started shouting together. The noise was earth-shattering, causing the entire atmosphere to change drastically as waves erupted from the blood sea. The bottom of the sea then slowly showed itself.

Surprisingly, an endless number of people crowded together as if they were canned sardines. They stood neatly in rows, looking upwards as if they were looking at their gods. Their eyes were fixated on the nine titans.

All of them had more people coming out beneath their feet. They didn’t move in the slightest, as if they had been locked in this state since the beginning.

“What is that?” Alex quivered, unable to describe his shock. Suddenly, he couldn’t hear anything behind him, not even anyone’s breathing.

‘What’s happening?’ He turned to look, only to be shocked once more.

Shelly, Phoenix, and even Ancestor Bodhi, who was still in his hands, had all lost their consciousnesses as if they had turned into logs. He was the only one awake at the time. Meanwhile, waves of blood continued to erupt as the metal chains around one of the titan’s feet were tugged on. The sounds of metal clanking against each other sounded in the air while a ray of light shone through.

A while later, Alex heard a light sigh next to his ears.

Sigh...

It was a woman’s sigh, but not from any woman Alex knew, and that gave him goosebumps. He immediately turned and looked around, yet didn’t notice anyone.

“Who was that?”

“Who’s speaking?”

However, another sigh appeared next to his ears. It seemed longer and nearer, too, so much so that it felt like someone let out a sigh right beside him. He could even feel the air brushing against his ear lobe. Although Alex was quite courageous, he just couldn’t help but feel a little freaked out by such an environment.

“Show yourself!”

“Who is it? Stop playing tricks and get your *ss out here!” Alex was mad.

His yelling echoed over the blood sea.

With a light thud, the bead Phoenix threw out suddenly fell straight into the blood sea and disappeared. With the light source gone, the glow in the titan’s eyes was extinguished. The entire underground space turned pitch black, and he couldn’t see anything.

Sigh... Another sigh echoed through.

Alex was now mad. 'This voice definitely belongs to some b*tch. Why is she even sighing next to my ear? She went from my left ear to my right, then back to my front.'

Just then, a voice said softly, "You're late... You came a million years too late..."

Alex was stunned.

"Why..?"

"Why did you come so late?"

He asked loudly, "Who are you? And where are you? Can you at least come out?"

The woman's voice responded. "Am I not in front of you?"

"In front of me?"

Alex reached out, hoping to feel his way toward this being, but it was no avail. All he felt was air.

"La, la, la..."

The woman started humming a nice melody. Her voice was perfectly beautiful as well. Despite this, the melody sounded quite sad and could make anyone extremely emotional just from hearing it. As the melody continued, tears started trickling down Alex's cheek out of nowhere.

'Wait... What's with me?'

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 3386

The underground tomb of gods, the Sinless City in the Witch Kingdom, was completely shattered. The Pantheon Tomb had also been destroyed. Along with it, the huge millstone above the Sinless City burst in a roar, those dense runes on it losing the balance of power and being unable to continue carrying the blood of the Pantheon Tomb.

It exploded.

Boom!

There was a massive explosion. The earth shook, as did the mountains.

"Meow..."

The cat demon waiting outside, Whitey, was startled by this movement and let out a harsh scream, panicking and fleeing to the Sinless City inside other buildings to temporarily hide. Otherwise, it would have to be a part of this massive explosion, vanishing completely in a very short period of time.

The large grindstone fell over. It mashed down slowly.

The gods' altars were shattered once more.

In the Pantheon Tomb, all of the ancient gods who had recently emerged from the earth knelt before Alex.

This was not because Alex had just saved them, but because Alex's body had fused the spirits of the Witch Kingdom's nine great witch ancestors, resulting in Alex becoming the Great Witch Kingdom's most powerful great witch ancestor, carrying the faith and abilities of the previous nine witch ancestors.

"Are you able to leave now?"

The entrance to the Pantheon Tomb remained open. Alex could now see that the existence of this door was akin to opening a backdoor in the Pantheon Tomb to facilitate the entry and exit of specific people. This specific person was unquestionably related to the person who had set the trap.

"I'll give it a shot!"

The primal old devil couldn't contain his excitement and dashed to the gate right away. He had to try several times before he dared to step out with one foot, and the result was very smooth, he actually walked out of that door and out of the Pantheon Tomb.

"Hahaha!" The primal old devil burst out laughing.

After being buried for a full million years, he laughed wildly, expressing his inner emotions, having restricted his freedom for a million years. Now that he had finally left this damned tomb, the shackles pressed on his body were finally free.

The figures then rushed out of the gate one by one. These gods from the distant past cried and laughed as if they were insane.

"After a million years, I've finally regained my freedom! I'm going to find good food! I can't even wait a minute. Goodbye everyone!"

"I'm going to meet beautiful women and fall in love, hahaha! Let's go!"

"Who wants to join me in my search for seafood merchants? I'm craving seafood!"

"I'd like to visit my hometown..."

Then, they ran out of the shadows all of a sudden.

Only the Mystic Maiden of Nine Heavens remained standing beside Alex, laughing and crying. “You finally did it... Congratulations, and thank you!”

“You’re very welcome!”

“So, will you go and find that divided soul of yours?” Alex asked.

“I suppose I will!”

“You come with me, and I’ll give you a gift!” she said as she entered the Pantheon Tomb.

She pulled Yaseen in and led him inside the Pantheon Tomb. A half-human-high pillar stood in the center. A bead was placed at the top of the pillar.

“This is yours to keep!” Mystic Maiden of Nine Heavens stated.

“Can you tell me what this is?”

“When you attach your spiritual strength to it, you’ll know.” Grinning, her earnest expressions were unmistakable.

“Okay...” Alex tapped the bead with his hand.

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 3389

She was transformed into a goddess and was imprisoned inside the devil's skull.

“I'm thankful I waited so long for this! At long last, I'll be able to kill you with my own hands!”

“I no longer have to face the Witch Kingdom people, Alex. Thank you. There is still a long way to go. I'll send you a heavenly origin now, and you help me give it to that one. On my behalf, allow her to compensate this world!”

She emitted a beam of glowing light.

“It's the heavenly glowing sands!” someone yelled.

“It is the source of the Mystic Maiden of Nine Heavens!”

Several people looked impatient when they saw the Mystic Maiden of Nine Heavens in the special cage. A million years ago, they too were close friends of hers. Unexpectedly, she had long been under the control of the evil devil.

What in the world was that?

”Goodbye, everyone!”

“The Diffracted Universe is running out of time, and I sense that the One will soon arrive!”

“Argh!” the Mystic Maiden of Nine Heavens screamed angrily.

It eventually transformed into a cloud of light.

She fell!

Like fireflies in the sky, the crystal green shining light fluttered and floated away with the wind, more streamed into Alex's mind palace, enveloping the Chaos Tree. The heavenly glowing sands emitted a soft sound as if she were holding the lament played by demonic chi's death in her final moments.

"Another old friend has passed away." remarked the primal old devil gently, with a tone that was without even a tiny old demon disposition.

An elderly gentleman sat on the ground, sobbing uncontrollably because he couldn't bring himself to do it.

"It's pointless to cry now, Sirius Star King. If you had declared your love to the Mystic Maiden and received love a million years ago, perhaps she wouldn't have had to face the extraterrestrial demon invasion and be in our current condition."

"How do you know I didn't?"

"Huh? Have you declared your love?"

"Pah!" Sirius Star King smashed a slew of envelopes into the air.

There were at least a thousand of them.

"For a thousand years, I sent her one love letter a year, and guess what?! After a thousand years, she returned all the love letters to me, saying I sent them to the incorrect spot," Sirius dried his eyes and remarked.

"Where did you send them?"

"To her servant's room. If my memory serves me well, a bad old guy was the servant of the Mystic Maiden. You didn't address your letter to the Mystic Maiden of Nine Heavens?"

"I wrote, my love..."

"So you dated an old guy for a thousand years until he died of depression a thousand years later, still holding your love letter in your arms..."

Alex was astounded as he listened. However, now was not the time to discuss it.

"Everyone, I need to go up to find someone, do you want to go up on your own or with me?"

“Go up!”

“I, too, want to see what this great millstone that has suffocated us for so long looks like.”

Soon after, a swarm of people rushed back to the altar. Alex tracked down Phoenix, Shelly, and the others.

“Come on!”

“This place is about to fall apart!”

“Meow...” Whitey rushed down as well.

Alex had planned to pass through the portal directly to the Dairaionji Temple, but now that the entire altar had exploded, there was no need to think about it, and the group rushed into the Pantheon Tomb and then exited through its gate.

Boom!

Accompanied by a mighty noise, the entire Sinless City sank deep into the ground.

She was transformed into a goddess and was imprisoned inside the devil’s skull.

“I’m thankful I waited so long for this! At long last, I’ll be able to kill you with my own hands!”

“I no longer have to face the Witch Kingdom people, Alex. Thank you. There is still a long way to go. I’ll send you a heavenly origin now, and you help me give it to that one. On my behalf, allow her to compensate this world!”

She emitted a beam of glowing light.

“It’s the heavenly glowing sands!” someone yelled.

“It is the source of the Mystic Maiden of Nine Heavens!”

Several people looked impatient when they saw the Mystic Maiden of Nine Heavens in the special cage. A million years ago, they too were close friends of hers. Unexpectedly, she had long been under the control of the evil devil.

What in the world was that?

”Goodbye, everyone!”

“The Diffracted Universe is running out of time, and I sense that the One will soon arrive!”

“Argh!” the Mystic Maiden of Nine Heavens screamed angrily.

It eventually transformed into a cloud of light.

She fell!

Like fireflies in the sky, the crystal green shining light fluttered and floated away with the wind, more streamed into Alex’s mind palace, enveloping the Chaos Tree. The heavenly glowing sands emitted a soft sound as if she were holding the lament played by demonic chi’s death in her final moments.

“Another old friend has passed away.” remarked the primal old devil gently, with a tone that was without even a tiny old demon disposition.

An elderly gentleman sat on the ground, sobbing uncontrollably because he couldn’t bring himself to do it.

“It’s pointless to cry now, Sirius Star King. If you had declared your love to the Mystic Maiden and received love a million years ago, perhaps she wouldn’t have had to face the extraterrestrial demon invasion and be in our current condition.”

“How do you know I didn’t?”

“Huh? Have you declared your love?”

“Pah!” Sirius Star King smashed a slew of envelopes into the air.

There were at least a thousand of them.

“For a thousand years, I sent her one love letter a year, and guess what?! After a thousand years, she returned all the love letters to me, saying I sent them to the incorrect spot,” Sirius dried his eyes and remarked.

“Where did you send them?”

“To her servant’s room. If my memory serves me well, a bad old guy was the servant of the Mystic Maiden. You didn’t address your letter to the Mystic Maiden of Nine Heavens?”

“I wrote, my love...”

“So you dated an old guy for a thousand years until he died of depression a thousand years later, still holding your love letter in your arms...”

Alex was astounded as he listened. However, now was not the time to discuss it.

“Everyone, I need to go up to find someone, do you want to go up on your own or with me?”

“Go up!”

“I, too, want to see what this great millstone that has suffocated us for so long looks like.”

Soon after, a swarm of people rushed back to the altar. Alex tracked down Phoenix, Shelly, and the others.

“Come on!”

“This place is about to fall apart!”

“Meow...” Whitey rushed down as well.

Alex had planned to pass through the portal directly to the Dairaionji Temple, but now that the entire altar had exploded, there was no need to think about it, and the group rushed into the Pantheon Tomb and then exited through its gate.

Boom!

Accompanied by a mighty noise, the entire Sinless City sank deep into the ground.
