Chapter 49 I Miss You

For the first time in her life, Celia got to attend a film festival and saw the stars walk the red carpet in a majestic manner. At the moment, she was wearing the long dress which Brea asked Foley to prepare for her. She stood among the audience while eating a small cake, and watched as the celebrities, whom she had only seen on the phone before, walked in front of her one after another. She felt that this kind of scene was very exciting and fantastic. She couldn't wait to tell Tyson about it when she went back home tonight. Thinking of Tyson, she got the idea to check on him as she took out her phone and sent a message

"Have you had lunch yet? What are you doing now?" Despite her anticipation, there was no reply. Celia was a little disappointed. But on second thought, he should have already had lunch and was probably taking a nap at this time. Thinking of this, she sent another brief message. "I miss you." After sending these three words, she felt unexpectedly flustered. She quickly put the phone into her bag as if she was caught doing something bad while her face was bright red. She wondered what Tyson's reaction would be and what he would reply. Noticing that she was distracted, Foley nudged her and reminded her that she had shown up in the dress she had modified personally. She quickly snapped out of her thoughts and focused on Brea, who was indeed wearing that dress, accompanied by a pair of four-inch high-heeled shoes. Under the crazy flickering of the spotlight, she walked along the red carpet step by step. It could be said that her beauty and charm were ethereal. "Wow, Brea looks so amazing, almost as perfect as a Goddess!" "Before, her style has always been sweet and cute. This time, she suddenly changed into a sexy woman. Could it be that she changed her make-up and dressing team?" As Celia was standing in the crowd, she could hear the discussions and gossips of the entertainment reporters around her. Because she was not famous, few people paid attention to her. But the moment Brea walked across the red carpet, she had become the focus of the film festival. As she was surrounded by reporters, her smile was bright. When she passed by Celia, she winked at her, causing the crowd to roar as her playful appearance was extremely cute. Celia also had a better impression of Brea because of her friendly gesture. As soon as Brea finished walking the red carpet, the reporters swarmed up to interview her. Even though she was only nominated for the Best New Artist today, she became the focus of the crowd due to her outstanding appearance and figure. Therefore, it only took a moment for her to earn another wave of huge followers. Brea was more or less surprised by this turn of events, too. After all, she had been in the field for several years, but it was the first time that she had been noticed by so many people. She glanced at the direction of Celia and smiled at her with appreciation. She thought that she had to thank Celia for that.

After the interview, she immediately went to find Celia. With a bright smile on her beautiful face, she said, "Celia, your modification of the dress saved me. It's so amazing that I am sure my style will become a hot topic today! I can't thank you enough!" Celia immediately held her hand and gently said, "In fact, it's amazing because of your good figure and matching temperament. My small modification is just like adding fuel to the fire. It's nothing." Brea was delighted by her praise as she laughed. She held Celia's hand and said intimately. "You know, I'm an artist of the Sunshine Group. Since you are willing to be my full-time designar, it would be the same as you working in this company. But you can rest assured as I will directly recommend you to the top managers of the group. There is no need for someone like you to go through the intervin process.” Saying this, she asked Foley to exchange contact information with Calia. Then, she said. “I want to treat you to dinner tonight to express my thanks to you. Is it okay for you?” Celi, hesitated for a moment as she was reminded of what Alita said about Flavia’s declining health yesterday. Therefore, she had to refuse politoly as she didn’t want to waste any more time here. “Miss Duffy, I’m sorry, but I have to decline the offer. As much as I wish I could have dinner with you tonight, I have something else to do later. We can contat later for further planning. As for today, I have to go.” A hint of disappointment flashed in the eyes of Brea, but she didn’t insist. She just smiled and said, “I understand. If you have something to do, you can leave first. But remember to come to the Sanshy Group in order to go through the registration process as soon as possible. After all, I have more activities to attend ment and I need your help. “Okay, I will come as soon as possible.” After saying goodbye to Brea and Foley. Cella luft the event in a hurry before taking a taxi to Flavia’s house in the suburb. When she arrived at the door of Flavia’s house, she was about to knock, only to hear heart -wrenching coughs from inside.
