

Chapter 45 The End

She pushed open the door, only to hear a "bang"; the ribbon fluttered down from her head, Elena was confused.

She looked over in bewilderment. A group of supervisors were flanking Joey whose ears were red.

At this moment, a subtle premonition flashed in her heart.

Joey got down on one knee to her, took a ring box from behind, and started stumbling over his lines.

Suddenly, self-loathingly, he directly shut his mouth, pulled Elena's hand over, and put the ring on her hand.

Joey closed his eyes and said, "Elena, I prepared for this for three years. I have always felt that I do not deserve you, so I have always been working hard."

He unconsciously choked, "Today, I finally have the courage to say the words buried in the deepest of my hearts. Elena, marry me. I want to have a family with you."

"In fact, whether you say yes or no, I will always treat you well until the day you say yes. Of course, if you like someone else in the middle, I will not quit, I will snatch you over!" Joey said fiercely.

Elena saw the seriousness in his eyes, but also saw his uneasiness. At this moment, she seemed to see herself.

When Joey was a little lost and about to bow his head, Elena held his hand that was about to hang down and whispered, "Then you marry me."

Joey was surprised, because he thought she was going to say no. He nodded his head repeatedly, afraid that Elena would regret it, "Yes, yes, yes!"

Elena smiled lightly, pulled him up, and kissed him.

The sound of "click" rang in her ears. This scene, recorded by colleagues, would be saved forever.

After the proposal, they worked while preparing for their marriage.

Their wedding date was Valentine's Day.

The wedding was not very grand, but also not simple.

The things they used at the wedding were powered by new energy, which were both environment friendly and safe.

Coupled with the fact that they are both attractive, so they have attracted a lot of comments on the Internet.

The company directly promoted their new energy equipment by taking advantage of the wedding.

On this day, Alston died of an allergic reaction to peanuts, which caused severe heart failure.

And his death did not cause the slightest fluctuation.

Before this, Alston was checked for heart failure, but there was no one else who would cherish him as much as Elena, not even his mother Caroline.

He was aware of his allergy, but the moment he saw Elena getting married, he only wanted to eat peanuts and sent himself to the ICU.

Someone told Elena about Alston's death, but in return, she simply answered "Oh".

She is now living a happy life, and Alston can no longer affect her.

Joey embraced her from behind the next moment, "Elena, what do you want to eat tonight?"

"Steak, Joey, this time do not forget the ingredients." Elena smiled.

Alston, who was actively seeking death, felt the noisy sounds around him and opened his eyes all at once.

What caught his eyes was her mother's worried and reddened eyes, and his voice was hoarse as he said, "Mom?"

Caroline rang the bell in a frenzy and grabbed Alston's hand, "Son, you're scaring mommy to death. Once again, mommy really can't take it."

Alston was bewildered for a moment. Everything in his mind gradually cleared up. He is back?

He covered his heart, touching the obvious scar, and burst into tears.

He roared in his heart, Elena, Elena, but she would never give him a response again. She was in another world, with another person, living very happily, blindingly happy.

After a long time, so long that the doctor had finished examining him, and only then did Elizabeth come.

Knowing everything, Alston didn't pay attention to her and returned home in silence.

After this, they got divorced. He ignored her cries, and sent her, along with her previous husband, to the police station.

Because he could not be without someone around, Caroline stayed to take care of him. This time, the mother and son relied on each other for half of their lives.

Later, Alston focused on charity, and in his later years, he donated everything he owned.

Before he died, he heard Elena's voice and laughter.

—End of the full text—

FROM THE AUTHOR:

Thank you so much for reading my book. I really do appreciate all the reads and votes. Please continue to tell your friends about this story and vote on the chapters if you haven't already. Let's take this book to another level

Chapter 45 The End

The second book : Reborn as Miss Wild
Killer queen was forced to replace the real lady as a cripple's bride after being reborn as a fake lady.

Thanks everyone

Reward

455

Comments

66

78%

The Love She Buried In

100%