

Chapter 15

Katty hung up the phone.

After a while, she finally stopped crying and wiped off her tears. When she went out of the exit passageway, her eyes were still a little red.

Janet Smith from the secretary's office noticed it and asked with concern. "Miss Minj, did you cry?"

"No... No, I didn't."

Katty shook her head. She kept a straight face and looked serious.

Janet patted Katty's shoulder gently, saying, "If you feel pressured, you can ask for a long leave and rest for a few days."

All the employees in the Albert Group knew that it was not easy to work under Chris.

Although they got paid double compared to the employees in other enterprises, they had to bear more pressure. If someone was not strong-minded enough, he might be likely to suffer from depression.

Katty said gratefully to Janet, "Thank you. I'd like to ask for several days off now."

If she continued to stay in the company, she knew it would be the death of her.

Janet said a few more words to comfort Katty and then went back to work.

Sitting in front of her desk, Katty wrote a request for leave and then went to Markus' office with it.

She didn't know whether the video was restored. She had to get Markus' approval first.

Then, after telling Chris about her leave, she could go home.

Just as Katty was about to knock on the door of Markus' office, she heard Brian's serious voice. "It was destroyed severely."

"It can't be saved?"

Markus' tone was also serious.

Katty paused with her hand at the door handle, and she listened to the conversation inside keenly.

Even Brian couldn't restore the video? That would be the best...

However, before Katty could ease the burden in her heart, Brian added, "I need some time. Give me three days."

"It will actually take you at least three days. It seemed that the person who damaged the video was quite capable."

Katty was uptight and didn't relax her vigilance easily.

Brian had no way to restore the video today, and what about three days later?

Brian teased, "You are right. He is indeed capable."

"Got it. I'll contact you three days later."

Katty turned around and walked back to her desk. She took out her phone and sent a message to Tally. [You don't have to go back in a hurry. The crisis is resolved for the time being.]

In her opinion, since Brian felt it was difficult to fix a thing, no one else would be able to do it.

Anyway, Brian was a top expert in technology.

[What happened? Can't Brian restore the video?] Tally replied quickly.

Katty texted, [Yes.] She received Tally's message the next second. [That's great! If Brian can't do it, no one else can!]

Katty was a bit uncertain, while Tally was confident.

Reading Tally's message, Katty was a little relieved and not as nervous as before.

Even so, the final result still remained uncertain.

Katty texted, [But Brian asked for three more days.]

[Don't worry. Since he is unable to make it today, it will also be hard for him three days later.]

Tally believed in herself in terms of that.

Katty pondered for a moment and thought Tally's words made sense.

Over the years, Brian had been one of the most outstanding technologists in the Albert Group. And so far, no one had surpassed him in solving problems he thought difficult.

[Okay! I believe in you!]

Katty's tone became a bit more relaxed.

Tally didn't reply anymore. Katty immersed herself in her work and was busy for the whole afternoon.

Thanks to the busy work, the worries in Katty's heart faded temporarily.

When it was almost time to get off work, Chris called Katty and Markus to his office.

Chris took a puff of the cigarette and asked, "How is the investigation going?"

Katty didn't speak. She was no longer as worried as before, so she looked calm and composed.

On the contrary, Markus' expression was a bit grim. "Brian needs three more days."

Chris halted his action after hearing the response. He gazed at Markus coldly, his hand still holding the cigarette.

It was as if he was asking, "What does it mean that Brian needs three more days?"

Markus understood Chris' meaning and continued, "Black will arrive at Harborlean tonight."

Black? Black Dickens? The well-known and terrifying hacker?

Katty turned to look at Markus. Her heart was a complete mess.

She thought, "Will they never give up searching for the woman that night? How can they be so persistent?"