Chapter 1141

Just as Wade, Kate, and Luna were still in shock, Andrius had already immersed himself in the brand-new mural.

This mural was very different from before. The little figures cultivating on the altar had changed from one person to six!

Three men and three women!

However, although those figures each had four limbs and a head, Andrius could not call them 'people' because each figure was split into two completely opposite halves from the center line.

On the left was divine light, dignified as if governing the heavens. After enduring all the tribulations, they finally achieved the position of a supreme saint and emitted an aura of righteousness like a god!

On the right was a sinister aura, bloodthirsty and terrifying as if coming from hell to annihilate all living beings. Finally, they ascended to the peak of the demonic realm, exuding endless murderous intent like the demon lord. It was a juxtaposition of righteousness and evil, gods and demons!

Even more strange was that above the altar, there was a sun emitting boundless brilliant light, bringing endless vitality to the world.

Below the altar was a millennium-old eternal frost, supplying boundless coldness to the earth.

It was the coexistence of the sun and the moon, and heat and cold. In such an environment, the six people were divided into three pairs to cultivate peacefully.

Furthermore there were various symbols and many challenges added to the mural.

Andrius was completely baffled. He had no idea what it was trying to convey and could only make some baseless guesses.

He was not the only one.

Wade, Kate, and Luna were also at a loss.

“What...” Kate pondered momentarily, then pointed to the three figures on top and said, “Could it be that this technique requires six people to cultivate together?”

There were six people of é early depicted on the mural.

However, the relationship of righteousness and evil, yin and ya

the heat and cold were difficult for her to determine.

“Wrong!” Before Kate could finish, Old Hagstorm said firmly, “It’s six people, but three.”

Three people!

This statement left everyone bewildered.

An cultivation technique that required three people...

However, the mural showed six people in three pairs cultivating together. Furthermore, each pair had different characteristics with significant differences between the male and female practitioners.

The first pair emphasized righteousness and evil.

The second pair emphasized yin and yang.

The third pair emphasized heat and cold.

Logically speaking, it was six people.

More precisely, there were three men and three women cultivating together.

However, Old Hagstorm said that only three people were needed for cultivation. What was that supposed to mean?

Andrius thought about it but could not figure it out, so he asked, "Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel Master, what do you mean that only three people need to cultivate together?"

He asked the question that Wade, Kate, and Luna were thinking in their hearts. They all looked at Old Hagstorm with puzzled and intense gazes.

"One man and two women are enough."

Old Hagstorm said calmly, "What the mural illustrates is the coexistence of three pairs with completely opposite states. "The first pair consists of righteousness and evil.

The second pair consists of yin and yang.

"The third consists of heat and cold,

That made it much easier to understand. Andrius occupied one of the attributes in each pair. As for yin, any woman could represent it.

cold attributes, she would meet the conditions for cultivating this technique with Andrius.

Chapter 1142

Everyone was struck by a realization.

However, Luna thought of the key point-Andrius was her husband, but he had to cultivate together with two women. Her emotions instantly became agitated.

Whether or not she was included, she found this matter exceptionally difficult to accept. Hum...

At that moment, the inner demons inside Luna surged, immediately releasing a strange and evil aura. The aura contained Luna's, the power of the demon snake, and the bloodthirsty energy of the Sanguis Blade. The three forces converged together, creating an exceptionally strong aura.

It was such a sudden and dazzling change that everyone in was shocked.

Swoosh!

Seeing this, Old Hagstorm immediately gathered his inner energy and pamed Luna's shoulder. The robust and pure inner energy flowed through her meridians and gradually suppressed the inner demons in her heart, restoring the ballance between the demon snake's power and the Sanguis Blade.

Only them did Luna gradually calm down, and her consciousness returned to mommal. absorb, like what Halle went through."

Everyone present nodded slowly.

Wadle saw that the Medicine Sect was unable to cultivate, but he was mox willing to miss such a great opportunity. Thus, he volunteered,"

"Propher of the Left, if you can tell me which medicines are the best, Immobilize all of the Medicine Sect to help Andrius find them."

That way, even if the Medicine Sect could not obtain this opportunity, they would help Andrius out, which opened roads to future possibilities.

“These medicines are worlds apart from the herbs in the mortal world. Although Mount Cura is known as the ‘world’s medicine capital it's unlikely to find such herbs there.”

Wade could not help but fall silent. Although Old Hagstorm’s were unpleasant to hear, they were indeed true.

Old Hagstorm looked at Andrius. “Andrius, you already learned secrets of the Klein family’s technique, but it’s not the time to cultivate it now.

“Thus, you should return to Sumeria for now and focus on recuperating. I'll contact you when I find a treasure or medicinal herb containing the attributes of righteousness and extreme heat. You just need to wait for my call.” Andrius knew he could only accept this and nodded. “Yes, Master.” “Go.” Old Hagstorm waved his hand.

After saying that, Nile led the Sentinel Tower and prepared to leave. However, Andrius stopped him. “Please wait, Tower Master.” Nile paused and turned around in confusion. “Do you need something, Wolf King?”

Chapter 1143 “No.”

Old Hagstorm faced everyone's puzzled gazes and explained, “The time isn't right yet. The male cultivator must possess the attributes of righteousness and extreme heat.

“Although the ‘Hades’ Axiom’ that Andrius cultivated is unparalleled and extremely mystical, the generated inner energy is good and yang, it's not righteous nor extreme heat.”

At that point, Old Hagstorm shook his head. “Andrius has a long way to go before he can cultivate. It cannot be rushed. Andrius raised his brows.

The Hades' Axiom was a manual he obtained from the lost temple in the cordillera. He had only told Kate about it. How did Old Hagstorm find out?

Upon hearing this, Luna glanced at Andrius and asked anxiously, “What should we do now? With my husband in this state, it seems difficult for him to cultivate even if he wants to...”

Indeed, it was hard to cultivate when his meridians were shattered. Old Hagstorm said, “The forces of righteousness and extreme heat are both extremely special powers. Obtaining them by relying solely on cultivation is very difficult.

“For now, the effective method is to use natural treasures and rare medicinal herbs containing this type of attributes for Andrius to absorb, like what Halle went through.”

Everyone present nodded slowly.

Wade saw that the Medicine Sect was unable to cultivate, but he was not willing to miss such a great opportunity. Thus, he volunteered, “The Medicine Sect is known for its knowledge of medicine and is

Chapter 1144 “Tower Master, | have a somewhat bold request.” Andrius said slowly,

“| hope that after you return, you can keep a close eye on the forces. that obtained the demon snake's inner core during the hunt.”

The demon snake...

The Sanguis Blade was needed to suppress its power.

Even a Martial Saint would suffer a huge loss in an instant if they touched it without any defenses. The demon snake's formidable strength was evident.

The demon snake's inner core was the crystallization of its hundreds of years of cultivation and contained extraordinary power.

"Oh?" Nile raised his brows slightly. "What do you mean?"

Maisie also looked at Andrius with wide eyes.

"The demon snake's power is extraordinary. Furthermore, its extreme yin and evil nature makes it difficult to control. If it's being held by a righteous individual, then it won't be a big deal.

"However, if the fragment of the demon snake's inner core falls into the hands of evil people, and they refine and absorb its power... I'm afraid it'll be a disaster for the martial world, and even the whole of Florence!" Andrius looked to the sky, his eyes filled with deep concern. "You're right, Wolf King." Nile's expression also became serious upon hearing the words. "After I return, I'll instruct my people to closely monitor the actions of those families. I'll notify you if there's any movement."

Andrius nodded.

"Wolf King, if there's nothing else, then we'll take our leave!" Nile once again bade farewell.

This time, Andrius did not stop him.

After the people from the Sentinel Tower left, Andrius called Noir. Noir, arrange a private jet from Kiyoto to Sumeria for me. I'll be at the airport soon."

"Got it, Andy. I'll arrange for it now!"

In Sumeria airport, when Andrius and Luna got out, Dax and Hugh were already waiting.

Dax greeted Andrius warmly and began inquiring, "Wolf King, did the Ancient Martial Assembly go well? Are you okay now? How did it go?" Dax was a Warzone Master, so he had some knowledge of the recent major events in the ancient martial world.

Andrius nodded. "It went smoothly."

However, even though it went smoothly, more storms and hidden currents would likely brew up in the martial world.

As Andrius and Dax discussed important matters, Hugh came up to Luna and greeted her. "Ms. Crestfall, you must be Master's wife. I'm Master's disciple. My name is Hugh." Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel Hugh responded obediently, "I will." Luna's smile became even brighter. they chatted, they got into a car.

He remembered that he had given Hugh a cultivation test before.

was time to check on him.

"Master!" Hugh replied confidently, "I broke through to the martial realm three days ago."

Andrius raised his brows slightly and smiled. "Not bad, you broke through to the martial realm very quickly." The peak of Great Grandmaster and the martial realm was just a small step. However, once that step was taken, it was like opening the door to a new world. From then on, it was a path filled with endless possibilities.

“But...” Hugh smiled bitterly and said, “Master, I don’t know if it’s because my foundation isn’t enough, but for some reason, I haven’t completely grasped this kind of inner energy.”

Chapter 1145

“I can’t gain the upper hand in battles with some experienced Great Grandmasters. At times, I’m not even their match.”

At that point, Hugh instinctively glanced at Dax.

That day, Hugh had cultivated inner energy for the first time, marking his breakthrough into the martial realm. He was excited and challenged Dax to a spar.

The result was predictable.

His old man was his old man. Hugh had his ass handed to him and even lost control of his bladder.

The ex perience left him frustrated. Later, he went to the Southern Warzone headquarters and sparred with several of Dax’s subordinates, all of whom were Great Grandmasters.

However...

The results were all the same. Although they did not make Hugh feel too bad, perhaps out of respect for his status as the Warzone Master’s son, he was still beaten down. This was like pouring ice water on Hugh, extinguishing much of his fire.

Thus, Hugh brought up the question.

“Your level is definitely important, but it’s one’s personal physique, combat experience, fighting skills, and on-the-spot performance that determine the outcome of a battle.” Andrius said confidently, “Sometimes, one even needs to utilize the environment and any available forces to defeat an opponent.”

Hugh nodded, seemingly understanding.

Even Luna and Dax also fell silent.

Andrius continued, “Hugh, in your current situation, you first need to adapt to the existence of inner energy and use it as much as possible so that you can grasp its secrets early.

“Next, you need to train more. Don’t be afraid of failure, and don’t be afraid of getting beaten. Getting beaten is a part of growth.

“Third, refine your physique. Having the physique of a martial realm. expert will be significantly beneficial for combat.

Andrius knew that very well.

“I understand, Master.” Hugh listened attentively and nodded.

As they chatted, the car stopped outside the Royal Gardens. “Cultivate well.” Andrius patted Hugh’s shoulder and got out of car with Luna.

“I will, Master!” Hugh’s voice was drowned out by the car engine’s noise.

Halle was already waiting by the door. When she saw the two return, she instinctively approached to support Andrius.

“Andrius, how are you now? I heard...”

However, before she could touch Andrius, Luna exploded. She stepped forward to block Halle’s way and said coldly, “My husband has me to take care of him. You don’t need to worry about him.”

Halle felt the bone-chilling coldness and could not help but shiver, a thought flashing in her mind. How did Luna change so much and become so cold in such a short

It was a long story.

Torius briefly explained, "The Ancient Martial Assembly happened, and then we killed the demon snake, and Master finally told us the location of the Klein family's treasure.

It's a cultivation technique that goes against the heavens. At that moment we need your help. You, me, and Luna will have to work together as one man and two women."

Halle looked at noririus, then at Luna, and her face instantly turned red. "Cultivation can make me stronger, so | have no objection.

However... I'm afraid certain someone won't be willing." Although there was something wrong with the words themselves, they carried a hint of provocation.

Luna snorted coldly and said, "What's there to be unwilling about? As long as it helps counterbalance his injuries and aids him, I'm willing to do anything! Besides, he's my husband. You're just a tool for him to cultivate."

Luna deliberately emphasized the word 'husband'. Then, she also used the word 'tool' to emphasize her own position as well as her position.

"So what if I'm a tool?" Halle said defiantly, "When I master the technique, I might surpass you in minutes. Then you'll be the one begging."

Just as she spoke, Luna said confidently, "That's impossible. You wanting to surpass me is like a fool's dream."

The two engaged in a heated argument.

Andrius was helpless against this situation and could only step forward to change the topic. "Enough, stop fighting. How has Sumeria been recently? Did anything happen?" Halle thought about it and said, "Nothing special happened."

Andrius was relieved. He nodded, then carried a box toward his room.

Seeing this, Halle immediately went to pick up the other box.

However, before she could touch it, Luna exploded.

That was because the Sanguis Blade was inside this box!

An extremely sinister aura suddenly emanated, filling the surroundings with a chilling cold, and she said icily, "Don't touch it!" Although it was just three words, the evil and ominous air frightened

Halle. She jumped back a few steps, turning around to look at Luna with a shocked expression. Halle was sure that something must have happened to Luna f temperament to have changed so wildly.

"|... Halle, |..." Luna lowered her head in distress. When she raised again, her face was full of remorse. "I'm sorry. | overreacted... | don't want to be like this either..."

This time, it took a while for Halle to recover. She shook her head and said, "It's fine. Let's go in!"

Then, she gave Luna a complicated look and walked into the Royal Gardens.

Luna took the box and followed her in.

The sun set, and night fell.

The three gathered around the table for dinner. Delicious dishes were abundant, and the fragrance of wine filled the air. Suddenly, Halle asked, "Andrius, it's almost Thanksgiving. Where do you plan to spend it?" Thanksgiving...

Andrius paused.

In the past, he would celebrate with Noir and the Lycantroops.

However, this year...

"He's my husband. Of course, we'll go back to Crestfall Manor to celebrate together!" Before Andrius could speak, Luna suddenly spoke up and then said to him softly, "Right, hubby?"

“No.” Andrius shook his head. “I’m not going to Crestfall Manor.”

Luna’s brilliant smile instantly froze.

“Hubby... Are you still dissatisfied with the Crestfalls? I'll apologize to you on their behalf, okay? Don't blame them anymore. “In fact, they're not as bad as you think. I've also told them that they're not allowed to show you any disrespect in the future. “Also, Grandpa often mentions you, asking me to bring you to the manor as a guest.”

Luna apologized in various ways and even mentioned Belarus, hoping that Andrius would consider returning to Crestfall Manor for the old man’s sake.

“That’s not it.” Andrius shook his head again and said in a low voice, “I want to bring Conrad’s daughter here. She’s living a pitiful and lonely life...”

At that, Andrius trailed off.

Conrad had died because of him and left behind his only daughter. If Andrius did not take care of this pitiful child, then who would?

“That’s...” Luna hurriedly agreed. “No problem, hubby. You can take her to Crestfall Manor, and we'll celebrate Thanksgiving together. I'll take good care of her.”

Andrius looked at her and smiled wryly. “She's fine, but the Second War God transformed Conrad into the Insect Soldier King... Won't the Crestfalls be frightened?”

The Insect Soldier King!

What a notorious existence!

“They won't.” Luna was a martial realm expert now and took things casually. “Hubby, I'll talk to my dad and the others in advance to give them a heads-up. There won't be any problems. Let's go together. The more, the merrier!” Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel Andrius hesitated. Luna looked at Halle pleadingly.

Halle knew that Andrius would not spend the festival with her. Thus, she helped Luna persuade him.

"Alright."

Andrius could not resist their persuasion and reluctantly agreed.

"Thanks, hubby!" Luna smiled joyfully.

After eating, Andrius called Dax. "Go to the Southern Wilds Prison and bring Conrad's daughter over. Let Vivian spend Thanksgiving with me." Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

"No problem." Dax readily agreed.

After hanging up the phone, he personally drove to the Southern Wilds Prison. However, the place was quiet and eerie. There was a faint scent of blood in the air, along with a mixture of other indiscernible smells, making him feel uneasy.

Dax immediately frowned and strode inside.

Creak-

Swoosh-

As he pushed open the door, a blood-red insect rushed out, darting toward Dax like a ray of light.

Dax was prepared and immediately shot it dead.

Then, he quickly charged into the innermost room.

What greeted him was chaos.

Chairs, tables, and other items in the room were all scattered on the floor. Some were even shattered into pieces, and there were some bloody traces.

It was clear that a fierce battle had occurred here.

Chapter 1147

However, there was no trace of Vivian or Bradley.

Dax's expression changed, and he immediately ordered his subordinates, "Conduct a thorough search of the whole prison. Find Ms. Gibbs and Dr. Mendez." "Yes!" Dax's two personal guards responded and immediately went in different directions to search. Dax did not stay idle and also checked around.

Ten minutes later, they gathered again.

"Warzone Master, I've searched the entire east wing and found nothing."

"Warzone Master, I searched the western half of the prison but didn't find anything."

They did not find anything!

Dax's heart sank, and he immediately had a bad feeling.

"Warzone Master, what should we do?"

Dax looked around but did not find any valuable clues. Even the surveillance cameras in the distance that could capture this area had already been destroyed.

He realized the situation was bad. After a moment of contemplation, he said, "Go ask the people inside the prison." They had no other choice.

Such a major incident happened, but the prison was silent as usual.

That indicated that the culprit's target was not the prison but specifically Vivian.

Dax brought several people to the nearby prison.

"Warzone Master!"

“Warzone Master!”

The guards at the entrance immediately saluted respectfully.

The warden, Lennon Holt, also rushed to the scene when he heard the commotion. He smiled cautiously and asked, “Warzone Master, may I ask why you’ve come here suddenly…”

“Go and bring out some criminals with heavy sentences who face this direction,” Dax interrupted his words and pointed at the small hut Vivian stayed in, giving the order with a stern face and voice.

“Yes, sir!” Lennon did not know the reason, but he immediately complied.

Soon, three inmates with fierce appearances and robust physiques were brought in by the prison guards.

“I have something to ask you. Whoever answers will have their sentence reduced by three years. If the information is very detailed, then I’ll reduce it by five years!” Dax looked at the three inmates and spoke enticingly.

“Warzone Master, please ask us. We’ll definitely speak the truth and leave nothing unsaid!”

“Warzone Master, please go ahead. We’ll tell you everything we know.”
“Warzone Master…”

The three inmates immediately expressed excitement and eagerness. Dax pointed at the small hut across from them and said, “The windows of your cells face this way. Did you notice anything unusual this past day?”

“Yes!”

“There was, Warzone Master!”

“Warzone Master, I know. I saw it yesterday.”

Dax was relieved and quickly asked, "What happened?"

The three inmates looked at Dax eagerly.

"Don't worry, I won't go back on my word. I'll arrange it. You can go back now." Dax waved his hand, feeling annoyed. "Thank you, Warzone Master!"

The guard took the three inmates back.

Shortly after, a subordinate rushed over in a hurry. "Warzone Master, we found Dr. Bradley Mendez in a cave around a kilometer away, but his condition is very bad. He's on the verge of death. The soldiers in charge of escorting him don't dare to move too quickly."

Dax's expression darkened at those words, and he immediately said, "Take me there!"

"Yes, sir!"

Dax soon encountered Bradley halfway.

At that moment, Bradley was covered in blood, with scabs already dried on his mouth, face, and neck. There were also several bruises on his forehead. The only good news was that he could barely open his eyes, indicating that he still retained some consciousness. "Bradley, how are you? What happened?" Dax's expression darkened further as he asked anxiously.

"W-Wolf King... Quickly call... The Wolf King..." Bradley looked at Dax weakly and spoke with difficulty.

"Okay, I'll call him over now."

Dax knew that the situation was urgent and immediately agreed.

In the Royal Gardens, Andrius was waiting for Dax to bring Vivian and Conrad, who had turned into the Insect Soldier King, over. However, as the seconds passed, he still did not get a reply.

Abad's feeling rose in his heart. He looked at the time and said, worriedly, "It's been two hours since I called Dax, but he hasn't come back yet. Did something unexpected happen?"

Luna saw his deeply furrowed brows and felt distressed, comforting him, "Master Wimbleton has always been cautious. Everything should be fine.

"Why don't you come with me to Crestfall Manor first? Grandpa and the others have been waiting for a long time. You can just tell Master Wimbleton to come over directly later." Andrius thought about it and did not find a problem with it, so he agreed.

In Crestfall Manor, Belarus just happened to come down from upstairs when he saw Luna bring Andrius over.

“Andrius, you’re here!”

When he saw Andrius, his face which was full of wrinkles immediately showed a brilliant smile, blooming like a flower. It was obvious that he was very excited.

“Come come, we must play a couple of rounds on this day!” Belarus took out a chess set, grabbed Andrius’ arm, and went to the stone table. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Andrius felt like the older Belarus got, the harder it was to refuse him. Thus, they started a game. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

“The Second War God was extremely vicious and refined his body into a corpse puppet, turning it into the Insect Soldier King. It has no life and no consciousness, but it can exist in another way.”

Upon hearing those words, Belarus’ hand holding the rook piece. stopped in midair. He sighed.

“The First War God made great contributions to Florence and died for the nation. I didn’t expect him to end up like this. It’s truly regrettable.

“However, don’t worry, Andrius. Even if he was turned into the Insect Soldier King, he’s still a hero of Florence. He’s revered and mourned by the whole nation.”

At that point, Belarus’ face showed a solemn expression. “Anyone in the Crestfalls who dares to belittle or criticize him will be exp from the family on the spot, and their names will be removed from the family records!” It had to be said that although Belarus was old, the hot blood in veins never cooled.

“That’s right, Andrius!”

“Don’t worry, Andrius. We’ve always admired the heroes of Florence.” “If anyone dares to speak ill of the First War God, I’ll be the first to deal with them!”

“To belittle the First War God is to belittle the Crestfalls!”

The people watching the chess game immediately chimed in. Andrius felt much better.

The Crestfall family had indeed improved a lot compared to before.

The only thing worrying him was that another hour had passed, but Andrius still did not see Dax arrive or even reply to him. This kept Andrius’ heart hanging.

“Grandpa, dinner is ready.”

Just then, Roxy came out to invite the whole family to have a meal together.
“Let's eat first.”

“You can continue the game after dinner.”

“That's right. The food will get cold.”

The Crestfalls happily gathered, inviting them to the table.

“Hubby, Grandpa, you can finish the game after eating,” Luna al called them.

“Okay. Andrius, let's eat first. We'll continue after,” Belarus spoke wi a chuckle and placed the chess piece in his hand down, slowly walking toward the house.

Andrius instinctively looked in the direction of the door, but there was no movement. He sighed and prepared to enter the house to eat.

Ding- Just then, his phone rang. It was a number from the Southern Warzone.

“Wolf King, the Warzone Master asked you to come to the Southern Wilds Prison immediately. Something major has happened!” the voice spoke urgently. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

“Got it. I'm coming over now!”

The unease in Andrius' heart grew stronger. He hung up the phone and said to Belarus, who was about to enter the house, “Grandpa Belarus, | can't eat
now. Maybe next time!” Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Then, he strode outside. The Crestfalls exchanged looks.

“what's going on?” Belarus, thought that someone provoked Andrius again and looked around sternly. “Who angered Andrius again? You lor are So...”

“Grandpa!” Luna knew that it might have something to do w and interrupted Belarus' words. "No one angered him. Something must have cropped up at the Southern Warzone. I'll go and have a look."

Then, Luna man out and went after Andrius.

"Hubby, what happened? Can't you go after dinner?" Luna asked in confusion.

"There's no time." Andrius expression was dark. "The Southern Warzone called me and said that Dax wants me to go over. He said it was urgent.

"I suspect that Conrad's daughter is..

Chapter 1150 Andrius trailed on, but his meaning was quite clear.

Luna knew the bond between him and the First War God, so she did not try to persuade irmao come back. Instead, she said, "Then... I'll go with you!"

Andrius slowed down and looked at her, frowning. "Today is Thanksgiving. You should spend time with Grandpa Belarus. Why are you coming with me?"

Luna smiled wryly. "Don't you get it? You're the core of the Crestfalls. Everyone is looking forward to your presence. Now that you're leaving, there's nothing much to celebrate."

Andrius could not help but fall silent

Conrad died to save him, and the only whining he left behind was Now that Vivian was in trouble, how could Andrius sit down for a peaceful meal?

"Besides..." Luna continued, "You're still heavily injured now. I can rest assured if you go alone."

"Fine." Andrius could not resist her persuasion and nodded. "We'll go Together."

"Okay, hubby!" Luna responded joyfully
