

A Girl Nobody Wanted Chapter 101 - Tips

Sarah's POV

Me and Jake, we both agreed that we should help Shane and Luke... Jake said he would talk with Luke about this at an appropriate time...

Though I knew the exact reason why Luke is not willing to get into a relationship with Shane, I can't tell that with Jake... Luke trusted me with his secret, I can't break it.

Maybe Jake gets to know about it when he discusses this with Luke...

Anyway, I wish from all my heart that Luke will start loving my brother... So they can find happiness together...

However, time passed as usual after that incident... The presidential election is around the corner, and Jake has to travel to his parent's place from time to time to help his dad... With all the academic work and election work, Jake didn't find time to discuss with Luke about that subject...

Luke stayed just as usual... His normal, cool self... However, I observed how he tried to avoid meeting Shane alone... They two participate for practices together, and Luke even helps Shane understand subject matters. But Luke made sure that Shane is not alone... Even when teaching him, Luke asked Bob, Glenn, and some of the other boys to come...

Shane is clearly disappointed with this behavior, but after that day, he didn't try to talk with Luke regarding his feelings either... Shane is just patiently waiting, letting time solve his problems...

Sometimes, I feel really sad when observing how Shane keeps on looking at Luke with so much pain in his eyes... It is even hard to believe, how much Shane has changed... Earlier, if he wanted something, he didn't think twice to acquire it by any means... But now, he is giving priority to Luke's wish, hiding all his pain and sorrows for his love...

Anyway, all these things have brought me closer to my brother than I ever imagined... He now openly discuss with me about all his feelings... Therefore, when he feels down because Luke did something to ignore him, I always could make his heart and lift up his spirit...

On the other hand, he is also there always to make my heart whenever I feel down when Jake appears on media with Marina... They both have to continue their fake relationship until this election is over... However, Shane always cheers me up, and never let me suffer alone... That was such a comfort...

Shane has started loving me... God! How much I was praying for that...

One particular incident happened recently which made me confirmed that he truly loves and cares for me...

One day, when I was going to the library, I met Mr. Patterson in the corridor...

I tried to walk away, pretending I didn't see him. But he stopped me...

"Good to see you, Sarah... I have to ask you something as well..." he said, smiling... He was indeed happy to see me...

"What is it, Mr. Patterson..." I asked, hiding how much annoyed I was to see him.

"I wanted to ask you, what is your dad's favorite liquor? whiskey, brandy, rum, vodka... What he prefers most?" he asked.

"What?" I was totally shocked by his question. Why the hell he wants to know about that?

"Why you look surprised, Sarah... I just ask what type of liquor you dad like most," he said again...

"May I know why you need to know that, Mr. Patterson?" I asked, trying my best to be polite. We were in a campus corridor, a lot of students were there... So I had no way of yelling at him, no matter how much I wanted to do that...

"I want to know because I want to buy a good gift for your dad when I come to your house..." he said in an excited voice.

His words really fired me up...

"What!!! Why the hell you come to my house?" I asked sharply, but I managed to lower my voice.

"For dinner, obviously..." he said, smiling...

“Dinner!!!” what the fu is he talking about?

“Why? Didn’t your mom tell you?” he asked, sounding surprised.

“About what?” I asked nervously.

“That she invited me for dinner on Friday night...” he said.

What!!! That is ridiculous!!! Why she did such a stupid thing!!! Shane clearly explained to my parents that he doesn’t need Mr. Patterson’s support to get into a big team... Then why the hell she invited him over?

“I think she hasn’t said you yet... Don’t worry, she will tell you... Anyway, Sarah... Tell me what is your dad’s favorite liquor, I want to get whatever the best for him...” he asked again.

“I don’t know anything about liquor, Mr. Patterson... If you really want to know, ask from Shane or you can directly call my mom and ask... After all, you are such a friend of her...” I said bitterly, and then I stormed off without waiting to hear anything from that rascal...

My parents are so greedy and stupid... They are going to fell into big trouble by getting close to this man...

Having him over for dinner... It will be a total nightmare... There is no doubt that my parents would force me and Shane to join... So I have to stand his presence for a few hours, there is no escape... Other than that, I may have to cook for him as well... I just wish I could add some poison to his food and end this trouble once and for all...

“Sarah...” I was walking nervously towards the lib.rary when Shane stopped me...

“Hey...” I said, turning around...

“What that bastard told you?” he asked angrily...

“You saw that?” I asked.

“Yes... I didn’t want to make a scene, otherwise, I would come to you...” he said.

“Mom has invited him over for dinner...” I said.

“What? What the fu has she done?” he literally screamed with anger...

“So she didn’t tell you even...” I asked.

“If she told me, I would never let her do that...” he said...

“Anyway, is that what he was talking with you?” he asked again.

“He wants to buy a good liquor bottle to dad, so he asked me what dad favors...” I said.

“Really... Trying to impress dad, huh? I don’t really know what this motherfer is up to...” he said angrily.

“I don’t know either, Shane... I am really worried... I don’t even want to be in the same room with that man...” I said sadly.

“Don’t worry... I am there with you... Let’s see what will happen...” Shane said, gently patting my shoulder to comfort me...

I smiled... How good to have a caring brother on your side?

After that, I left him to go to the lib.rary...

I felt like I need to go to the washroom before heading to the lib.rary... May be washing my face would ease up my mood...

After going to the washroom, I was coming back to the main corridor which heads to the lib.rary...

Beth, Shane’s most recent ex-girlfriend was there with a few other girls near the main corridor...

They were blocking my way... God! I sense trouble... What are they really up to?

“I need to talk with you.” Beth came forward and told.

“Yes...” I said confusedly.

“What is the business you have with Shane...” she asked in a hostile way.

Other than Shane's closest friends, others don't know about my relationship with Shane... We didn't think it is necessary to let them know as well.

"Tell me, bit what is the business you have with him?" she yelled at me as I was silent.

"Nothing, Beth... Let me go..." I said. I didn't want any trouble.

"Nothing... Then why he keeps on treating you so well... Why he pats your shoulder when talking with you?" she asked.

Her words made me laugh... Doesn't she sound utterly childish?

"Why the hell you laugh, bit? What have you given him? You sleep with him, tell me... Is that the reason?" she screamed.

What? She is crazy!!!

"Are you crazy, Beth!" I shouted.

"Then what? Why both Luke and Shane always hang out with you now? What have you given them?" she barked again.

"I haven't given them anything, Beth. They are just friends..." I said.

"Don't lie to me, bit. I know Shane so damn well... He never gets close to a girl if he doesn't want to sleep with her..." she then said.

"I don't know about that, Beth... Let me go..." I said in a firm voice.

"He was so happy with me... I gave him all the pleasure he needed... He has started loving me as well... But you ruined everything... Now he doesn't even want to see me... He hates me now, and you are the reason..." she screamed.

"God! Beth... You don't know how funny you sound... You actually think Shane started to love you... He doesn't love any girl, Beth..." I said sarcastically. If it was in earlier days, I would have just shut my mouth, letting her hurt me as much as she wanted... She bullied me at Luke's birthday party as well... I didn't do anything about that...

But now I am not ready to do the same mistake... She thinks so highly of her, doesn't she? She must learn a lesson...

“Yes, he started to love me... You ruined everything, bit” she screamed again.

“Listen, Beth... If you think so, go and fuing talk to Shane directly without bothering me... I don’t have anything to do with your break up... I don’t know if I can call it a breakup because there was no relationship in the first place... You were just another girl he had se.x with, nothing more... Don’t think so highly of you... You are nothing special!!!” I shouted angrily. Don’t get me wrong... I have suffered enough because of this type of mean girl... I know I was too harsh... But don’t you think she deserves that?

“What you said, you fuing poor whe!!!” she suddenly jumped to me, and hold my neck...

She has gone crazy... Is she trying to k!!! me now by suffocating me...

I was trying to escape from her hold... But she was much stronger than me... I had no option but kick her to get away from her...

She screamed with pain, but she loses her grip...

However, she didn’t stop there... She started beating me again... I had to defend myself...

I have never got into a fight in my whole life... Anyway, I was not ready to give up either...

She was screaming, and cursing me all the time... Her scream attracted many students around us...

Now it was like those fighting scenes you see in movies... People were gathering around and cheering... Well... They actually were cheering, can you believe that? Without trying to stop the fight, they were fuing cheering and filming it...

We were fighting like there is no tomorrow... I am too skinny and weak when compare to her... But she was emotionally exhausted... So we both have a chance of winning!!!

She was trying to tear my blouse, even the top b.utton fell off...

What is wrong with her? Is she fighting with me, or is she trying to re me? I had to stop her somehow. So I punched her face and her lip started to bleed...

When she felt her lip was bleeding, she got furious... She jumped to me again like she has gone crazy... This time we both fell to the ground... But our fight was not over... She kicked in my lower abdomen and it was really painful... I felt like my whole body goes numb...

“What the hell is this?” suddenly a voice raised among the crowd...

As soon as Beth heard that voice, she tried to get up...

It was Shane who came forward from the crowd...

“Shane!!! This... This bit hit me... See... I am bleeding...” she started to cry and complain, showing her cracked lip to Shane...

But Shane’s eyes were focussed on me like he didn’t hear anything Beth said...

I was still on the floor... My body was aching like crazy... I tried to stand up...

Shane ran to me and gave me his hand for support... holding his hand, I stood up...

Beth’s eyes were filled with tears and her mouth was widely opened after seeing Shane’s reaction...

“Shane... I love you... I love you so damn much... I will give you anything you want, Shane... Tell me, why you left me...” then she started to cry loudly...

Shane had his hand wrapped around my waist, keeping me stand straight...

without saying anything, Shane was staring at her...

“What does she has, that I don’t have, Shane... Can she make you happy more than I did... Is that why you went for her, Shane... Because she is a better fu than me?” she screamed...

“Shut up, Beth... Don’t act like a fool in front of everyone...” Shane said.

“So now I am a fool... You don’t want me now... You want this whe...” she yelled Shane suddenly removed his hand from me and walked up to her...

Even before I realize what was happening, Shane slapped her hard...

“Don’t you dare call her a who*e, bit She is not a whre like you... She never goes fu with guys like you did...” he screamed... Shane was furious... I can’t remember any other day he was this furious!!!

“If you want to know why I go after her, I will tell you. I will tell you all...” he said looking at everyone around us...

“This girl here...” he said, coming to me and holding my hand...

“This is my SISTER!!! MY TWIN SISTER!!! Don’t anyone of you dare to even touch my sister again... If anyone has ever hurt her again, that person will have to pay for it...” he screamed and then dragging me from my hand, he started to leave...

I have no words to explain what I felt right then... Everything happened so quickly and it felt like a dream... He was the reason I mostly got bullied, but today he is protecting me...

When he was dragging me away from the crowd, I saw Luke was staring at both of us with extremely widened eyes...

A Girl Nobody Wanted Chapter 102 - Tips

Sarah’s POV

Shane dragged me behind him to an empty study room. He made me sit on a chair. Then he pulled a chair near me and sat down.

“It hurts, right? Should I take you to the Medical Centre?” he asked concerned.

“No... No... I am fine...” I said, stretching my self on the chair to ease up my aching stomach... Beth’s kick on my lower abdomen was hurting like crazy... Other than that, I was actually okay...

“But you don’t look like you are fine...” he said sadly.

“My stomach hurts, but nothing big... I am used to these types of beatings, Shane...” I said, trying to smile... Until those words came out of me, I didn’t realize the seriousness of my words.

Shane’s face distorted with pain...

“You have to go through all of these because of me...” he said apologetically.

“Oh! I didn’t mean anything like that, Shane... I just wanted to tell that I am okay...” I immediately said.

“Even if you mean that or not, it is the truth, Sarah... She attacked you today because of me... I know most of the other people who bullied you in the past, they also did that just to impress me...” he said.

“All of them were in the past, Shane... Just forget them... Beth is just stupid, you have nothing to do with what happened today...” I said, trying to make his heart. What he said was true, he is the main reason I got bullied every day, but he is changed now, and I didn’t want to dig into the past and hurt him.

“I was such a ruthless person to let you getting hurt like that...” he buried his head between his hands...

“Please, don’t worry about that, Shane... You have changed... That is the most important thing...” I said, keeping my hand on his leg gently.

“I don’t even know why I hold that grudge against you for this long... I am such a jerk...” he said worriedly.

Hold that grudge against me? Why he actually hold a grudge against me? As far as I can remember, I haven’t done anything wrong to him...

“Shane... I know this is not the right time, but I always wanted to ask you this...” I said looking at him...

He lifted up his head and looked at me with a confused look...

“Actually, Shane... What is the reason you hold a grudge against me?” I asked.

His eyes got widened... Like he couldn’t believe what he heard.

“You can’t think about a reason?” he asked.

“Every day, I tried to think of a reason why you, mom, and dad hate me so much, but I couldn’t think of anything,” I replied.

“I don’t exactly know why mom and dad treat you so badly, but I can just guess the reason... However, I know exactly, why I wanted to hurt you... But... Can’t you really think of the reason...” he asked.

“No... I truly can’t think anything...” I said.

“Don’t you remember anything from our childhood?” he then asked.

Childhood... Well... I don’t have a distinct memory of our childhood...

“I don’t remember much, Shane... Actually, childhood is almost like a blank page for me...” I said.

“Really? I remember everything about our childhood... Every single detail...” he said, looking outside the window. He was like trying to remember things...

“It is really odd why I can’t remember anything, right?” I asked.

“Hmm... Can you at least remember that you were so ill those days,” he asked.

“I don’t remember any details... But I kind of remember that I was so sick...” I replied...

“Well... You were so ill those days, Sarah... There were some times that I thought you were gonna die...” he said, looking at me...

“What? Really? My condition was that bad?” I was so surprised to hear that.

“Yes... You...” when he was about to say something, the door to the study room was opened.

Luke entered the room in a hurry.

As soon as Shane saw Luke, he stood up as he got electrified...

“Sarah... Are you okay?” Luke asked concernedly. His eyes traveled from my face to Shane’s as he spoke.

“Yes, I am fine, Luke...” I said, smiling...

“I was so worried about you... I was looking for you everywhere. Bob told me he saw you two coming here.” Luke said.

“Shane took me here... Don’t worry Luke, I am good... My stomach hurts a bit, other than that nothing wrong...” I said.

“That bit kicked your belly, right? ” Luke sounded so worried.

“Yeah... She kicked me... I punched her face and her lips started to bleed. I think it triggered her...” I said with a grin... Actually, when I recall what happened, it made me laugh... I have seen girls fight in the movies. But I have never seen a live one... Who thought I would involve in such a fight in the first place?

I felt like a totally bada!!!

“Are you crazy? Why are you laughing? That bh beat you just like how they did in the past...” Luke was annoyed.

“Yeah she started to beat me, but I didn’t let her just beat me... I gave her the return... So it was not like the past, Luke.” I stated.

Luke didn’t say anything. He shook his head like he doesn’t accept what I said.

Then his eyes shifted to Shane, who was quiet all this time.

“Why you let that bit hit Sarah? Couldn’t you stop her?” he questioned.

“I didn’t know she was up to something like this, Luke... If I knew I would have stopped her.” Shane quickly replied.

“You knew or not, you are the reason she got into a fight with Sarah... As always, it is you who behind the suffering Sarah has to go through...” Luke shouted at Shane...

Shane didn’t say anything... He was just quietly standing up.

“First, That bit attacked Sarah during my birthday party. Can you remember how much they all beat up your sister? ” Luke asked.

But without letting Shane say anything, he continued speaking.

“How you can remember, you were pretty drunk. Also, you were so happy that she got beaten up, right? Did you even utter a word against it? Instead, You approved it. You appreciated that bit for beating your own sister, and slept with her on that night as a reward, am I right?” Luke seemed furious...

Shane was just staring at him, he didn't even try to say something.

I couldn't really understand what is going on. Luke never talks to anyone like this. He hates to hurt other people. So why he talks to Shane like this? This is so unlikely of him...

“Luke... There is no point in talking about the past..! Shane has nothing to do with what happened today. Beth just thought I am having an affair with Shane because she didn't know I am his sister.” I tried to explain.

“He may have nothing to do with what happened today. But they all first started to bully you and hurt you because of him, just to impress him. He didn't do anything to stop them. So they are just continuing that...” Luke yelled again.

Shane was still quite... Why the hell is he not speaking up for himself. This is so unlikely of Shane as well... He is never ready to get criticized by anyone, even if he has a fault in his hands. But now, he is just being quiet even when he has no mistakes from his side.

I think I have to speak up for him.

“Listen, Luke...”I said, standing up.

” We don't have to think of what happened in the past. Currently, no one is trying to hurt me or bully me. It is just Beth. She is actually madly in love with Shane... That's the reason for her actions. Shane did what needed to be done today. He said in front of everyone that I am his sister, and also he specifically told everyone not to hurt me ever again...” I said.

“He should have done that a long time ago. He wanted to make such a scene to tell everyone that you are his sister. Why he couldn’t let others know naturally?” Luke asked.

I was totally speechless, I didn’t even know how to respond to Luke.

“As always, he wanted to have other people’s attention... As always, he wanted to be in the spotlight. He wanted to be the hero.” Luke said.

I couldn’t even believe it was Luke who was speaking like this. His words are like sharp knives. He had no empathy at all...

“We both didn’t want to go to everyone and tell that we are siblings, Luke... Shane did what he had to do in that situation. I don’t think he wanted to be a hero. He just wanted to protect me, that’s all...” I said.

“You know nothing, Sarah... Even if he is your twin brother, you don’t know anything about him. Who knows if he is the one who asked Beth to go and attack you so that he can be a hero in front of everyone...”

Luke!!!! You have gone insane!!! Do you at least know what are you talking about? I have never felt this angry with Luke. What has happened to my sweet, always cool Luke?

“What I gain from such an action, Luke? Even if I get attention from other people, what is the use of it?” Shane talked for the first time. His voice was filled with pain...

“You might think you can impress me that way!!!” Luke said.

What!!!! you have crossed all the limits, Luke! This is totally ridiculous!!!

“Luke!!!” I screamed at him.

“Don’t act like you are surprised, Sarah... You knew he has feelings for me, though you hid it from you...” Luke then yelled at me.

His words felt like a hard slap!

“You...” he then turned to Shane and looked right into his eyes.

“Never think you will be able to impress me... I thought you have really changed. But now I know you are just trying to get what you want. You are just the same old Shane... ” Luke growled at Shane and then left the room without even looking at me.

I was just staring at the slammed door for a few seconds without knowing what to do.

After I got out of shock for a bit, I looked at Shane.

He was still staring at the door too... His eyes were filled with tears... His whole face was turned to bloody red!

No words needed to express the deep sadness and pain he is experiencing.

“Shane...” I talked to him gently.

He looked at me like he just woke up after a nightmare...

“Don’t think much about what he said. I don’t know what has gotten into him. I will talk to him...” I said.

“No, Sarah... You don’t have to talk to him... What he told was right, except for what happened today. He knows exactly what type of person I was in the past. So from his side, suspecting me is the right thing to do. He hates me, Sarah... He hates me for how I treated you... I think I deserve that for my stupid actions...” Shane said in a broken voice.

“No!!! You don’t deserve that, Shane... You are trying so hard to change... That is not a fake and not stupid as well...” I said.

“I know you, believe me, Sarah... I know you have even forgiven me... But it seems like Luke has not forgiven me yet... He holds on to the past...” Shane said.

“That is ridiculous... I will talk some sense to him.” I said.

“No... No... You shouldn’t talk to him about this.” he said firmly.

“But why? He can’t treat you like this.” I asked confusedly.

“If he understands me and loves me one day, that should be because he felt my love for him... No one should make him see things. He must see them and understand them on his own...” Shane replied calmly...

I was staring at him as I saw him for the first time. His love for Luke is so deep and matured. Who thought this playboy would turn into such a mature lover?

A Girl Nobody Wanted Chapter 103 - Tips

Luke's POV

I came out of the study room, carrying the shattered pieces of my poor heart...

I never thought I would talk to anyone like that. It was so damn hard to keep my voice steady and talk when my heart was aching and begging me to stop.

Since Shane confessed his feelings towards me, everything was really awkward. How much Shane has changed within this short period is totally unbelievable... Even after his confession, I didn't really expect him to act like this. I thought he would come after me every minute and make my life hell because he is well known to get whatever he wants by any means.

So I did everything possible to avoid meeting him alone... Even when we practice or study, I always made sure that we are surrounded by other people. Shane indeed felt that I avoid meeting him alone, yet he didn't complain about it at least once... But his eyes clearly explained how much he suffered because of that.

Even when we are together, I tried my best to pretend like he is not there. My communication with him limited to the necessities. He called me a few times, on the next day after our celebration. I didn't answer his calls. I think he understood that I need some space and time... So he stopped calling me after that. He didn't even try to talk to me when we are together. But his eyes were always focussed on me, that was hard to miss...

Though he didn't try to do anything to get close to me, he made sure his presence near me is acknowledged. I don't even have words to explain how hard it is for me to ignore him totally. I have never felt that uneasy around anyone...

I know Shane's feelings towards me are genuine and honest. No matter what he did in the past, he always had a special place for me in his heart, I knew that.

When he stopped that bit from hitting Sarah, and when he told everyone that Sarah is his sister, I was absolutely confirmed that his change is not just to fascinate me. That movement, I really felt the situation is serious than I ever thought.

His love for me is far bigger than I thought... If I say I don't feel anything for him, that would be a lie. But the problem is can I love him the way he loves me?

Have you ever loved anyone from all your heart? If that person doesn't love you back, was it easy to change your mind and love someone else the same way? I believe most of you can understand me. I started loving Jake a long time ago... He is my brother, my best friend, and my everything... I don't think even Sarah can love him as much as I love him. My whole life revolves around him... I don't think I would ever be able to get rid of these feelings. So how can I start a life with Shane? I won't be able to commit to Shane and our relationship wholeheartedly. If I face a situation where I have to choose between Jake and my relationship with Shane, without any doubts I would choose Jake. How it will make Shane feels? It would be so unfair for him...

Therefore, I had to stop this before he grows up more hopes for me...

I know I broke his heart... But it is better than giving him hope...

I am so sorry, Shane... I really like the new you! But you deserve someone better than me... Someone who can love you as much as you love him...

Sarah's POV

I was really heartbroken with what happened at the university. I really wanted to talk with Luke about this. I know the exact reason he rejects my brother. I totally get it. But that is not an excuse to hurt him this much...

You can say Shane has hurt me so much in the past, which is totally true. But I can't stand to see him going through pain... For the first time in my life, I have started feeling the love of my brother, I want him to be happy and love me as much as he can. He deserves happiness for all the efforts he puts for transforming himself into a better person.

But what can I do? When Shane constantly asked me not to discuss with Luke about this, how can I go against his words?

Jake was at his parent's place when this incident happened. I called him and informed everything. His opinion was also to respect what Shane said. Actually, Jake truly believes that one day Luke will understand everything and accept Shane's love...

So I also decided it is good to give Luke sometime to understand everything on his own...

Friday was a holiday for us. Both mom and dad stayed home. They announced to us about their stupid invitation to Mr. Patterson for the dinner. Shane tried his best to change their minds, but they wanted to go with their plan. Then he said he won't be there for dinner because he knew the sole purpose of this dinner is to impress Mr. Patterson and get his support for Shane's football carrier.

Mom first tried to talk to Shane and convince him. But when he was stubbornly holding on to his decision, she started to cry and make a scene... That is her way of getting things done according to her preference. Whenever someone tried to go against her word, she does this... She is so clever...

However, her trick worked, and Shane agreed to stay for the dinner.

Though she made the invitation and she needs that rascal in our house so badly, she was not ready to do any work either... Since I woke up, she ordered me to do so many tasks. First I had to clean the whole house, then started cooking... She came up with an advanced menu for dinner, but I am the one who had to cook everything...

I don't know why we have to prepare so much food... It is more like a celebration rather than a dinner.

Anyway, I didn't try to argue with her about anything. Arguing with her would just make her beat me or scold me, nothing more... She never listens to me, no matter how correct I am.

When it comes to the evening, the whole house was filled with the delicious smell of food that I cooked. I felt proud of me as well because I could make all those food... But working all day had worn me out totally. I was so tired that I couldn't even stand up anymore. But my mom was not ready to spare me... She wanted me to get ready in a nice dress (like she had bought me any nice dresses) and come for dinner.

As soon as I returned to my room after all the work, I called Jake... He was really pissed off when he heard about this stupid dinner, but what he can do against that. His only comfort was Shane is there with me when that bastard come to our house. Today, the whole day I couldn't talk with him because I was extremely busy. So I knew he is definitely so worried.

"Princess... I called you many times..." he said as soon as he answered the phone.

"I had a lot of work to do, Jake... Mom made me cook so many things... She is not giving him just a dinner but a feast!" I said.

"When would I be able to come to your house and have dinner with your family, Sarah?" then he asked, making him sad.

"Don't worry about that, babe... That day will come so soon... That man comes to our house just as one of our lecturers. But when you come to have dinner with us, you will come as my boyfriend!" I replied quickly.

"That's true... Soon the election will be over. After that, I am going to discuss it with my parents about you. I am fed up with keeping us a secret, princess... I want to tell the whole world that you are mine!" he said.

"I want the exact same thing, Jake... You can't even imagine how much I crave for holding your hand and walk wherever I want..." I said.

"I can understand, my little princess... I will hold your hand every minute, no matter wherever we are... We will have that happy time very soon, I promise you..." he said.

"Jake... I have to get ready now else mom would scold me..." I told him...

"Okay, Princess... But remember you have to be extremely careful... Don't stay alone with him even for a second. Always have Shane with you." Jake advised.

"Okay, boss... Don't worry." I replied, smiling.

Mom and dad welcome Mr. Patterson to our house with so much respect! It was almost like welcoming someone from the royal family.

He also dressed like he is going to some kind of a sophisticated party. He was talking with my parents like he was talking with some very special people... With so much respect...

Such a drama!!!

I know Shane felt the same... His face was filled with disgust...

After starting dinner, my mom acted like she made all those food... Well... I don't give a sh*t about that... Anyway, I didn't want him to know I prepared food for him. Why should I give such satisfaction to that bastard?

But after finishing dinner, I received a text from Mr. Patterson.

"I know all this food was made by you. They were delicious. You are a fantastic chef. Thank you."

When I raised my head up after reading the text, he was looking at me with a smile on his face.

I just put my phone back to my pocket and looked away.

"Actually, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, I want to talk about something." then he said, looking at mom and dad.

"Yes, Mr. Patterson, what is it?" dad asked.

"I prefer to talk with you two only..." Mr. Patterson said, politely looking at my parents.

"Yeah, sure..." dad said confusedly, but he asked me and Shane to return to our rooms.

We were indeed so happy about getting a chance to escape from this stupid drama...

We both went to Shane's room. We spent some time there talking until mom called us back...

As soon as we went down to the living room, I suspected something has happened. Both mom and dad looked like they have seen a ghost! They were so shocked...

On the other hand, Mr. Patterson was so happy... He was smiling like he has gone insane.

What the hell has he discussed with my parents?

“Shane, I told your parent as well... I talked with RB’s manager. He is happy to give you an opportunity in their team. Also, I talked with my dad... You can join our company as an intern, and we can sponsor your football carrier. Not just your carrier... You will receive a monthly salary as well... So without worrying about money, you can just focus on football...” Mr. Patterson said.

This is indeed happy news... It is like a dream come true, the only worry is that news came through the devil...

I looked at Shane... His face was totally emotionless...

“Thank you, Mr. Patterson... So far everything I achieved in my carrier was because of my talent and commitment. I want that to stay the same... Therefore, I prefer to find sponsorship and an opportunity in a club by myself...” Shane replied in a firm voice.

I have never felt this proud of my brother... Mr. Patterson has done nothing wrong with Shane... So he declined Mr. Patterson’s offer just because of me and Jake, right?

“Are you insane, Shane...” mom screamed angrily at Shane...

“Please forgive him, Mr. Patterson... He is just being naive. I think I have to talk some sense to him... We are so grateful for the offer, Mr. Patterson. This like a dream come true for us...” she said in a pleading voice.

“No... Mom...” Shane tried to protest, but dad stopped him.

“Shane just shut up, will you? You have never earned even a penny for any of your expenses. Both I and your mom have worked our b.utts off to find the money for your football expenses. So this is a decision we should make, you have no say in this...”

Dad's voice tone actually made me shiver. I have never heard him speaking that harshly to Shane...

I think Shane also felt the same fear... He stopped telling anything.

"Mr. Anderson... There is no need to make problems because of my offer. I honestly think this is a great opportunity for Shane... But you all can discuss, take a decision and let me know... I have to leave now..." Mr. Patterson said, standing up...

"Thank you very much for having me today... The dinner was extremely delicious, and I had a great time with you all. Don't take a long time to make a decision... Also, I would like to hear soon from you about my other proposition as well..." he said, as he was leaving the house...

Another proposition... What is that about?

Whatever it is, it should be something related to me. I can say it from the way he looked at me when he mentioned it. God knows what he is trying to do now...

A Girl Nobody Wanted Chapter 104 - Tips

Sarah's POV

After Mr. Patterson left, Shane shut the front door and looked at me with doubtful eyes. He is worried about Mr. Patterson's other proposition, just like me.

"Dad..." he started talking, looking at my parents...

"Don't you dare even open your mouth to reject that sponsorship, Shane... This is like winning a lottery. Who else would come to our house and gift us such a fortune... Don't be so stupid!" before he even continues what he wanted to ask, mom, interrupted him.

"But mom..." he tried again to speak, but this time it was dad who stopped him.

"Should I remind you how much we have to spend on your education and football? Since you have started football, we have spent a fortune to take you where you are today. I had to spend all my life savings on your university fees.”

“I haven’t asked you to send me to that university...” Shane replied annoyingly.

What he said was true. He didn’t want to go to Queen’s at all. But my parents wanted that so badly. After I got the scholarship to study there, they wanted Shane to study at the same university as I am... Getting someone to enroll in a Queen’s degree program is super hard. With Shane’s poor academic performance, it was even harder... So dad truly had to spend a lot...

“If you didn’t go to Queen’s, you would not become such a goalkeeper... Do you think in other small universities they have such a strong football team?” dad yelled at him.

Shane didn’t reply because what dad said was also true. Playing for Queen’s team paved the way for his success. He received all the required facilities and training from the university to improve himself.

“Dad everything you told is true... Please give me a chance to explain...” Shane said after a pause.

“There is nothing to explain Shane... We can never have a better deal than this.” dad said firmly.

“Dad, please understand... I can get an opportunity in a big club on my own. I can find sponsorship as well... Mr. Patterson is not a good guy. He definitely has some hidden agenda behind helping us. If we accept his offer, we will be in huge trouble later... That’s why I don’t want to go ahead with his offer. ” Shane explained.

“We don’t care what is his hidden agenda... Also, I don’t think he has some hidden agenda because he openly said to us what he wants from us.” mom said.

“What?” both I and Shane looked at them with shock. So Mr. Patterson actually wants to make a deal with my parents. He doesn’t even want to pretend like helping us... He has openly discussed that deal... He thinks so highly of him, and he is really confident of himself, right?

“He brought a proposal for Sarah... He wants to marry her...” mom replied in a casual voice.

What the hell!!!!

I was cleaning the dinner table while listening to them, and I almost dropped a plate...

“Are you kidding? What the fu ” Shane screamed.

“Shane is that the way you talk to your mom?” dad yelled at him.

But I don't think Shane even heard what he said. He looked at me, and our eyes met for a second...

Then he shook his head in disbelief...

I was not just speechless, my whole body felt dumb... He wants to marry me? He clearly knows I am in a relationship with Jake...How dare he come and discuss something like that with my parents without even telling me first. He wants his revenge from Jake, and he is using me to get what he wants. Now he has even drawn my family to this...

If he was near me, there is no doubt I will choke him to death.

“I thought we would never be able to get this one married, we should actually be happy that someone like Mr. Patterson wants to marry her... I don't even know what he sees in her...” mom said, looking at me with a disgusting look.

Shane looked at me with so much pain in his eyes...

My eyes filled with tears in a blink of a second. Not for sorrow, but for anger...

I was so angry with Mr. Patterson. Now my mom's words made me even angrier.

“I don't want to marry him,” I said firmly.

Mom laughed like she has gone crazy.

“Why? Is Mr. Patterson not matching to your status?” she asked sarcastically.

“What do you think of you, bit? Do you think a prince will come and marry you?” she then yelled at me.

“Mr. Patterson is a prince in a way... He is from the most powerful family in the country. We should be actually honored such a person came to our house.” dad said in a calm voice.

“Of course... I don’t know how such a handsome man even noticed a piece of sh*t like you. You don’t even suit to be a maid in his house.” mom said angrily.

As always, she is trying to break my heart, make me cry, and do what she wants. But this time I can’t let you win, mom... I would kill myself than marrying that crazy rascal.

Totally ignoring mom, I talked to dad...

“I will never marry him, dad... Even if I have to stay alone my whole life, I won’t marry him...” I said while tears running down my cheeks. My parents have already decided to get me married to that bastard. Without even asking me, they have taken that decision on their own... Like I don’t even own my life...

“Really? You won’t marry him... Say that again you, ungrateful, filthy bltch...” mom jumped to me and dragged me from my ponytail...

“Mom!!! What the hell are you doing? Are you crazy?” Shane ran to us and drew mom away from me.

“Yes, I am crazy... Since this bit born, I am crazy... She has given us only troubles in her whole pathetic life. This is the only good news I have ever heard about her. Now she is saying she can’t marry him... Just like dad said, he is a prince... He is super-rich, powerful, and handsome... What else you need bit? Why can’t you let us stay in peace at least now?” mom was crying and scolding...

“Mom... This is a decision that affects her lifetime... We have no right to push her... On the other hand, I am not ready to make my sister married to anyone without her consent...” Shane said.

“Your sister!!! Oh, my God! Shane, are you insane? Don’t you remember how much you have to suffer because of her? Now God has given a chance for her to repay us... Just think what will happen if Mr. Patterson connects to our family. He will not just take care of your football career. All of our problems will be solved. We will be fuing rich and powerful. ” mom said.

“I don’t want to gain anything, making my sister suffer because of us...” Shane again said...

“What has this witch done to my loving Shane... You are under her spell honey... You have completely forgotten how all of us had to sacrifice everything we had just because of her... ” mom was crying so hard...

They had to sacrifice everything they had because of me? What is she talking about?

“I told you, Charles... This girl is nothing but a curse... If we gave her to an orphanage as soon as she was born, we would live so happily without any trouble... You are the one who didn’t let me do that...” she then started blaming dad.

“There is no point in talking about the past, Lisa... We have to talk about what we have to do now. ” dad said, looking at me...

I was standing there in front of them like a statue... The way that bastard came to my house and talk about my marriage without even letting me know and the way my parents think about me has shaken me to the fullest... Is there any value in my life to any of them? Am I just an object, they can do whatever they want?

“Sarah... Use your brain... He is a good guy... You must be really happy that a guy like him wants to marry a poor girl like you. Just think, if he wants you he could get you by any means... But he came to us like a gentleman and talked with us. You indeed so lucky to have someone like him.” dad said calmly.

“Dad, you know nothing about him. He is not the gentleman he pretends to be...” Shane tried to talk.

“Shane stay away from this... A daughter’s marriage is solely the parents’ decision.” dad said.

“In what century, dad? We are in the 21st century. Parents don’t have such authority over their daughters.” Shane said annoyingly.

I felt really grateful to him. If he was not there, how lonely I would be without anyone to think from my side?

“See, Charles... How our son talk to us because of this filthy bit? I want to k!ll her...” mom tried to again jump towards me, but dad stopped her.

“Lisa, be calm... We can’t do anything like this,” he said, holding her from her wa!st.

“Shane... I don’t know about other parents and other daughters. But this girl here is in debt to us for her whole life...As her parents, we didn’t just give her birth... She is alive today because we sacrificed so much for her... If she doesn’t remember those things, you can make her remember...” dad said.

“Your mom and I have fed up with working our whole lives. What have we gained even after working nonstop? Do we even have a proper place to live or a decent car to drive? Everything we did was for you two... So both of you have to agree to what Mr. Patterson proposed. That is the final decision.” he added. Then taking mom’s hand, he left the living room...

We both stayed without even moving a bit, for some time...

At that moment, none of us knew what we should do...

I felt like I am going to faint... My legs were not ready to support my weight anymore... Then I dropped to the floor, crying... I hid my head between my knees and cried like crazy.

I felt Shane also sat beside me...

“Sarah...” he talked after a few seconds of silence...

“Don’t cry... Tears can’t solve our problems... We have to make them realize the truth slowly...” he said kindly.

“Why mom wanted to give me away as soon as I was born, Shane? Why both mom and dad said that you all had to sacrifice a lot because of me... What have I done to make you all suffer like that? I can’t remember anything, please tell me... I fed up with hearing these things all my life, without even knowing what you all are speaking about.” raising my head up, I asked him.

“Let’s clean this and go to your room, I will tell you what I know,” he said.

“No, Shane... I can't even wait until that. My head is like it is going to explode... My whole body is burning from inside. For my whole life, you all hate me so much because of this thing. Now my parents are trying to get me married to that bastard because of the same reason... Please... I can't wait anymore...” I said.

“I will tell you what you need to know, Sarah...” with dad's deep voice raised behind us, we both felt startled.

Dad was coming towards us, with a determined look in his face.

Shane got up and helped me to stand up as well...

“There is a lot to the story even Shane doesn't know. After hearing this you two may decide, asking you two to give us rest is unfair or not.” dad said, sitting on the sofa...

A Girl Nobody Wanted Chapter 105 - Tips

I walked to dad and sat in front of him. Shane sat beside me.

“Sarah, you may think about why your mom, your brother, and I dislike you so much... You may think we are the worst family one could have. I don't blame you for that. But there is a story behind all these. Shane knows a part of the story. At least he remembers what he had to go through.” dad said, starting his story...

“Both your mom and I were doing great in our carriers those days. We both were from poor families, so we wanted to earn more to have a comfortable life. We actually had the opportunity to earn more with our jobs. Anyway, your mom got pregnant at a time we didn't expect at all... We were so ambitious with our carriers, so we had to think about what we should do next. However, we finally decided we should go ahead with the pregnancy. But after we do a scan we got to know we are going to have twins. That made both of us shocked.” dad looked at both of us.

“We were not in a position to have one baby, but we were going to have two... It was kind of impossible. Mom was really pissed off because she knew she would have to make a big sacrifice. Don't get her wrong... She was climbing up her carrier ladder very quickly. She had a great future ahead... Having twins was going to pause her success for a considerable time. So we checked the possibility of removing one fetus...” dad said in an apologetical tone.

I remembered how mom always said that she wanted to get rid of me when I was in her womb... So what she told was true...

“But the doctors said it can harm the other baby as well... Also, he said that there is a possibility of we will never have any children again.” dad added.

Then that’s how I was survived to see the light of the world. But who knows, it could have been Shane as well... They wanted to remove one fetus...

“However, we finally made up our minds to face our destiny. We thought that we could put you two in daycare after mom’s maternity leaves finish... So she doesn’t have to resign from her work. But everything went crazy with your birth... Shane was born as a perfectly healthy kid while you were very sick, Sarah...” dad said, looking at me.

“You barely survived at the birth... You were so tiny and weak... Doctors said you won’t even live for a week... Honestly, that didn’t make us very sad... We didn’t want to have two kids in the first place... So having one of them very sick is totally out of topic... You were in the baby room for a week, and they didn’t even let us touch you because they had to make sure you won’t get infected... However, you survived... But the doctors said we will have to treat you for a few years until you recover completely... They said you need special attention and care... Also, they warned us the treatments would be highly expensive...”

Tears were filled in my eyes... It was like stabbing me right on my heart to hear that my parents didn’t worry when they got to know that I won’t survive a week. I felt like they would be so happy if I died back then...

“We were in such a dilemma... We didn’t know what to do...” dad said worriedly.

“Your mom wanted to give you to a children’s home because of two reasons. One was we didn’t have the required financial stability to support your treatment. The second reason was if we start to do your treatments, she has to stay with you and take care of you, that means she has to say goodbye to her job.”

It hurts a lot that my mom wanted to give me to a children’s home, but when thinking logically she had fair reasons. If they didn’t have enough money to support my treatments, taking up that challenge must be really tough... I know most of the parents are ready to sacrifice anything for their children, but the way my mom thought was not totally wrong as well... Thinking logically like that could make me sympathize with my mom, but it wasn't enough to reduce the pain in my heart... As a little infant, I didn't even know anything that was going on with me... Even thinking about how my mom wanted to get rid of me when I was just born, could crush my poor heart completely...

Shane held my hand tightly...

"But the day they let me hold you in my hand..." dad paused for a second and looked right into my tear-filled eyes...

"You were so tiny... You were putting a lot of effort into breath... You didn't even cry... You were looking into my eyes like you were talking with me... That day I decided no matter what happened, I am not going to let you go..." dad said.

My vocabulary is not rich enough to explain what I felt... Dad is always kind to me more than mom... Though he never showed me any love or care, I knew he doesn't hate me as mom does... But the way he talked now, those emotions on his voice, made me wanted to run to him and hug him tightly.

I didn't become an orphan because he loves me...

"I could make your mom agree with me... So we took both of you home... Then started the real battle... Mom had to resign from work. We had to take Sarah to the hospital twice a week, sometimes even more frequently. Sarah was always crying, and it was so hard to feed her... Mom had to put a lot of effort into taking care of her... Shane, on the other hand, was such an adorable kid... So easy to look after... We wanted to get a full-time maid to help mom with your duties and other housework, but our finances were not that good, even though I was doing two jobs at that time. Therefore, mom had to take care of you two and housework alone. However, with our efforts and treatments, Sarah was getting better day by day... When it was time for you to go to the preschool, Sarah was mostly recovered from her illness... But we still had to take her to the hospital frequently and continue treatments. Sarah was a smart girl since the preschool, all the teachers praised her and loved her, that was the only relief we had... When you two were like 10 years old, Sarah was completely recovered... All our efforts were fruitful..."

Listening to my father, my heart was now aching for my parents, not for me... They had to go through so much because of me... Because they decided not to get rid of me...

“But like all the good thing her recovery also came with a price... Of course, we had to spend a fortune on the treatments, but other than that there was another side to it...” dad continued...

“Neither I nor your mom had even a single minute left for ourselves... We both were working like machines... I left home around 6 am, came back around 10 in the night... I was utterly exhausted every day when I come home. Even at the weekends and holidays, I had to work... Your mom’s story was not different... Sometimes when I come home in the night, she was in the same outfit as when I left home... Our house was a total mess all the time... This made us depressed, and we started to fight a lot. Our fights got more serious when we couldn’t afford to buy what Shane needs because we didn’t have enough money... I still remember sometimes Shane would ask for very cheap things, but I was not able to buy them, and he cried himself to sleep... Shane was not performing well in the school either... We always had a lot of complaints from teachers about him. Sometimes we punished him too... But we both started to feel that Shane was put into this state by us... Especially, your mom felt it that way. We were spending a fortune on Sarah, but we were unable to fulfill Shane’s simple wish... Mom loves Shane a lot, and this condition really broke her... Little by little, she started to hate Sarah because she couldn’t give her care and love to Shane as much as she wanted...”

I looked at Shane... He was still holding my hand tightly... His eyes were focussed on dad’s face... His face was filled with emotions, but I couldn’t separate them for each other and recognize...

“When time passed, this situation got worst... Your mom and I spent all our time at home fighting with each other. Your mom finally got sick with severe depression... Even after Sarah got completely recovered, things didn’t get back to normal. We were completely broke. It was so hard to find a decent job for mom because she was not working for a long time... I told you how talented she was, but none of the companies wanted her in a decent position. She had to start working in a very low position, compared to her last position... Her depression got worst with all these. Doctors advised me to keep her happy every second because your mom’s life was at risk too... But I didn’t know how to keep your mom happy...”

“After some time, I understood the only happiness she got is from hurting Sarah and loving Shane... I had no other options, but let her do that. Deep from my heart, I was also feeling guilty towards the way we treated Shane... We started to pay more attention to Shane and his needs. At that time Sarah was recovered, so we didn't have many expenses as well... With our attention and love, Shane started to show progress, and that made your mom so happy... Mom started to hurt Sarah to get rid of her anger and sadness. She made Sarah do all the household work and beat her for even little things. When I tried to stop her, she got really angry with me, and sometimes she even attempted to harm herself. So what could I do? Your mom had to go through a lot, and I couldn't let her suffer anymore... So I let her do whatever she needs. “

“I knew She made Shane even hate you...” dad said, looking at me.

“But I couldn't do anything... The things we all had to go through was extreme... Anyone who had to go through such a situation can be ended up like this...” dad added.

“I didn't know mom and dad had to go through this much...” Shane spoke for the first time. His voice sounds broken...

“I was just desperate because no one loved me... At home, you two always had to spend your time on Sarah... You didn't have time for me... There were days I had to stay at home all alone without even having anything to eat because you two had to take Sarah to the hospital. When we were in school, I was just the dumb brother of smart Sarah... Everyone bullied me, saying that. I and Sarah we both didn't have fancy items like other kids, but since she was bright other students cherished her. But they disgusted me, saying I am poor and I am stinking... When I ask for those fancy items just to get rid of those bullies, dad didn't buy them for me. Dad even hit me because I asked for things... Eventually, I started to hate you, Sarah... I was just a little kid... I couldn't understand right and wrong...” Shane said, looking down...

Then there was a big silence... None of us said anything...

So many things were going on in my mind, but I was totally speechless...

I don't really know, what you all may think... The way my parents treat me now is fair or not, given the hard time they had. But I felt so much gratitude to both of them for all the sacrifices they made to let me live... Because of me, their lives changed radically. They lost most of the things they loved...

If I was not born, and they had just Shane, their lives would be so much beautiful and trouble-free, there is no doubt in that.

On the other hand, Shane... He too had to go through a lot because of me. He was just a little kid, and it must be super hard for him... He was getting pressure from both the school and home...

All three of them... Their lives were like a hell because of me... Just because of me...

A Girl Nobody Wanted Chapter 106 - Tips

Sarah's POV

I couldn't understand why I don't remember any of these things. If my family had to go through that much because of me, why I forgot everything.

However, I felt so ashamed of my self because I made my family suffer. I know I didn't choose to be sick or anything, still, they suffered because of me.

"I will go to check on mom. You two can think about everything I told you." dad said, standing up.

"I have one more request to do..." dad had already started going up the stairs, but he turned to us again and said.

We both looked at him.

"Please don't hate your mom. She has gone through a hell lot of things in her life even before I marry her. Her only happiness was her job. She had no one other than me. Don't ever forget no matter how she treats you now, she sacrificed her most important thing for you. If she was not there for you, none of you would be here today." he said.

Then he left us...

We both stayed in absolute silence for a few minutes... We both were so much connected to our own thoughts.

"You know, Sarah... Those days were so hard for me." breaking the deadly silence, Shane began to speak.

“Our house was a perfect example of how the hell must be looked like. It was not cleaned at all... We barely got anything good to eat. We ate whatever it is easier for mom to cook. You were always crying because most of the time you were in pain, or it was difficult for you to breathe. Mom had to tend to you all the time. Soothe you, rub different medicines on you... I was fed up with your crying and wanted to go out and play so badly. But mom didn't let me because she was afraid. So staying at home and listening to your screams all day, made me go completely mad. “

I can imagine how his status could have been. He was just a kid.

“Even after we started schooling, my status didn't get any better. Actually, it got worst. Mom was doing some part-time work during that time. so other than attending to your treatment, she barely had any time for me. I was so weak at school work. Teachers always advised mom and dad to help me with my school work, but they didn't have time. Actually, they didn't just ignore me during that time, Sarah... They actually treated me the same way they treat you today. ” he said, looking at me sadly.

“What?” Understandably, they couldn't pay attention to Shane and they couldn't buy things he wanted. But I couldn't even believe that my parents ever hurt Shane as they hurt me. They love him so much.

“Now when I think back, I feel they tried to release their anger and frustration on me... You were so sick so they couldn't release that on you, I was the easiest target. I got scolded for nothing. When a teacher said something bad about me to mom or dad, I got beaten without any sympathy. When I ask for something that they can't buy, they beat me. Mom asked me to help with household work. I tried to do the maximum I could to make her happy, but most of the time, I got scolded because I did some small thing wrong. I was beaten, scolded, and bullied in both school and home. I was called Smart Sarah's dumb brother. People in school, they asked if I was adopted because they couldn't understand how someone smart like you got a dumb brother like me. They used to beat me. They didn't let me play with them, telling I am stinking.”

I was just staring at him with tear-filled eyes. I never thought, Shane had such suffering. Mom and dad love him crazily. So why did they treat him that way? On the other hand, in school, how they could treat him that badly, especially the teachers. All these happened in primary school, where teachers pay much attention to all the kids. So why they let those kids bully my brother? His past situation is quite similar to my present situation. But he was just a little kid when those things happen. Thinking rationally and keeping my mind busy with other stuff, I was able to manage my situation. But how could he do that? He was so little...

“All those things made me hate you, Sarah... You were loved and adored by everyone, I felt jealous about you. I know I sound so silly, but I was little, I couldn't think logically. After some time, everything started to get changed. Mom and dad started to pay more attention to me. I started playing football, and it gave me the unique identity I was seeking for. I became this talented football player, not your dumb brother. But my attitudes towards you didn't get changed. My hatred towards you didn't fade away. When mom and dad started to treat you badly, it actually made me happy. I wanted you to go through the same pain I had...”

“I can understand how you felt, Shane...” I said.

“You are too good, Sarah. I know you have already forgiven me for everything I did to you. But no matter how hard my childhood was, I have no right to make your life hell... You didn't choose to be sick. You didn't ask anyone to scold me or bully me. You had nothing to do with those. You sometimes even tried to protect me. But I started to hate you so blindly. I told you all these things not to justify my behavior. There is no justification for how inhumanly I behaved. I just wanted you to know everything.” Shane said.

I was so shocked. When did he become this mature? Even my dad tried to tell me that I am responsible for everything, even for the way they treat me. But Shane was clearly saying that I have nothing to do with them.

“It is true that mom and dad had to go through a hell lot of things because you got sick. But what can you possibly do for that? You didn't get sick deliberately. So I think blaming you and saying they all became this way because they had to go through a lot is pretty unfair.” he said.

“You know I love both of them so much. I don't want to hurt any of them. But I truly think they shouldn't treat you this way. I think doing so much for you in the past, and getting angry at you because they did those for you is pretty ridiculous.” he added.

I was totally speechless... What he tells is true. I am extremely grateful to my parents. If they didn't sacrifice so much for me, I would be dead by now. But they can't treat me like shi* for something I didn't do on purpose. If I had a choice, I would prefer to die without letting them suffer because of me.

"Also, they can't use what they have done for you in the past as a reason to force you to do something you don't like. You indeed owe them for what they did. But you don't have to agree to this fuing stupid proposal for that. One day you will definitely be a high-class professional, and you would earn a lot. At that time you can treat them. That is my dream too... I won't let mom and dad work anymore as soon as I get a job." Shane said firmly.

"I don't know, Shane. He is going to make my life hell. Do you think mom and dad will let this go easily? They will try their best to make me marry him. He is so cunning, isn't he? He found the exact way to hurt me and Jake." I said worriedly.

"That is true. Our parents or that bastard won't let this go that easily. But you have to be strong and face this. When the time has come, you can tell mom and dad about Jake, then they will be so happy. Victor McMiller's son is far better than his nephew, isn't it?" Shane asked, laughing.

His laugh made me laugh too.

"But Shane his offer about your sponsorship is truly amazing." I said.

"True. But I don't want anything from him, Sarah... I am confident about my talents. I can find a sponsorship my self. I am not going to let him use me to hurt you or Jake." Shane said firmly.

I felt like running to him and h.ug him tightly. How nice to have a brother like him?

"So what are we going to do now, Shane?" I asked.

"We are going to tell mom and dad that we are not going to accept any offer that bastard has brought," Shane said.

I sighed. It is easier to say, but hard to do. After everything dad said, I find it really hard to say no to him. After all, I am alive because of them, right?

But I am not going to marry Andrew Patterson as well. I would die happily rather than marrying that evil bastard. On the other hand, in my life, the only person I can even think of getting married to is my Jake. If I don't get to marry him, I would live alone my whole life.

"Sarah, don't be afraid. You must tell what happens today with Jake and Luke. You have all three of us with you. What we are going to do is not making any harm to mom and dad as well. They may have to wait just a little bit more to take their most deserved rest. That is better than being pawns of Patterson's wicked game." Shane replied.

"Hmm..." I said confusedly. A lot was going on in my mind, and I actually needed some time alone to process everything.

"You may go and make a call to Jake. Tell him everything. I will clean here." Shane suggested.

"No, let's clean this together," I said.

"You have done enough today, Sarah... I didn't stay home to help you because I knew mom won't let me help you. It will just make her angry with both of us. Now, be a good girl and go..." he said, standing up.

My heart melted with his words, and I couldn't control all the emotions I was having.

I went to him and hugged him.

"I love you so much, Shane. Thank you very much for being on my side. You are the best brother any sister can have." I whispered.

"I am not the best brother yet, sister. But I am trying to be the best brother for you. Because you truly deserve it. You are such a good person, Sarah... No matter how hard your life was, you didn't lose the goodness in you as we all did. We let the hard time turn us into monsters, but you spend a hard time loving and caring for others. I am really proud of you and I love you so damn much my twin..." he said, gently caressing my face.

A Girl Nobody Wanted Chapter 107 - Tips

We stayed hugging each other for some time. There are no words to explain how comfort it was.

Do you have a big brother? What do you think of the way they love their little sisters? I have heard and read about big brother's love and care. In my whole life, I have desired to get that kind of affection from my brother, and now I am getting it to the fullest. Who thought I would be this lucky in my entire life? I always find comfort and relaxation when I am with Jake or Luke. But when I am with Shane, it is a totally different feeling that is so hard to explain. Maybe these feelings get boosted up because we are twins. We shared a womb together, didn't we?

Suddenly Shane's phone started to vibrate.

Without breaking the hug, he took the phone out of his pocket.

"It is Jake..." he then said breaking the hug and answering the phone.

God! Jake must be really worried. With all these things happening, I completely forgot to call him.

"Hello..." Shane answered.

"Yes, she is here... Wait..."

Shane gave me his phone.

"Hello..." I said apologetically. Jake asked me to call him as soon as Mr. Patterson left, but I completely forgot that.

"You okay, right?" that was the first thing he asked. I felt really sad about him. His voice clearly said how concerned he is.

"Yes, Jake... I am okay..."

"What the hell happened to your phone? I tried to call and text you. First, it worked, but you didn't answer, and then it was switched off. Can you even imagine how scared am I?" he started to yell at me.

I took my phone out of the pocket, thinking about how I didn't hear his calls. The phone was switched off, I think the battery is dead. With all the work I had to do today, I couldn't even recharge the phone.

"I know, Jake... I am so sorry... My phone is dead." I said sadly.

"I called Shane as well, even he didn't answer until now," Jake growled.

We were in such a tense discussion. So he might not notice the calls.

“Don’t worry, Jake. I am safe... Please don’t be angry.” I said apologetically.

“Angry? Do you think I am angry at you, Sarah? I am not angry, I am so damn worried, can’t you see?” he asked.

“I and Luke are in front of your house right now, can you understand how worried am I?” he added.

“What you two are here?” looking at Shane, I ran to the front window.

Shane followed me to the window.

We both looked outside at the same time. A black car was parked right in front of our gate. Shane looked at me confusedly.

“Is that you in the black car?” I asked.

“Yes...”

“It is Luke and Jake,” I said to Shane.

He shook his head with the same confused look.

“When did you two come here?” I asked Jake with surprise.

“I couldn’t make up my mind to just stay at home when that bastard is at your place. I thought what if Shane has to leave home for something and you have to stay alone with him. So we came here even before Andrew come to your place and parked near your house. We even rented a car because he knows both our cars.”

“So you were here all the time.”

“Yes... He left a long time ago... I was trying to contact you since then, what happened?” Jake asked worriedly.

“I don’t know, Jake...” I replied confusedly. Actually, I didn’t even know how to explain everything to him. I didn’t know where to start.

“What you mean by don’t know... You are making me more worried,” he said nervously.

"I don't know how to explain everything..." I said.

"Sarah... You are driving me really crazy. Please tell me what happened." this time he was literally screaming.

"Wait... Since you are here, I will come to your vehicle and explain everything."
" I said, looking at Shane for his approval.

He nodded his head in agreement.

"That's good. Come soon..." Jake replied.

I walked to the black car parked outside our gate. Shane came behind me and wait until I got into the car. Then he went back inside.

Luke was in the driving seat and Jake was in the back seat.

With the faint light from the nearby lamppost, I could see Jake's face. He looked exhausted and super worried. His handsome face was covered with stress. I couldn't bare seen him like this because I knew all this stress and tiredness are just because of me... Because he loves and cares about me...

As soon as I closed the door, I leaned towards him and hugged him. His familiar scent made me need to hug his broad chest for the rest of my life... He is my love and this is my safe place...

Without even knowing, I was crying...

"Princess..." he said worriedly, caressing my head.

"Please tell me what happened, princess... You know how your tears made me feel, so please don't cry and tell me what happened," he said in a pleading voice.

However, it took me a few minutes to stop crying and talk.

"Andrew brought a good offer for Shane. He got RB's manager agreed to offer Shane an opportunity to join them. Also, he said he will give an internship for Shane in his dad's company, and they will sponsor Shane's football training. " I explained.

"Wow! That's a pretty good offer." Luke said. This was the first time he talked since I got into the car.

"It is true. So what Shane said?" Jake asked.

"What else? He agreed, didn't he?" Luke asked.

"You have an incorrect image of my brother, Luke..." I said sadly. I love Luke a hell lot, but I was in a state where I couldn't stand anyone talking bad about my brother.

"He strongly rejected the offer. " I added.

"So what happened after that?" Jake asked.

"You know how our parents are. Especially our mom. She created a drama as usual. However, Andrew brought another offer as well. " I said, looking at Jake's face.

I couldn't read his emotions completely as the light was not strong enough, but I clearly observed how his face filled with impatience...

I didn't really know how to break the news to Jake. I couldn't even imagine how angry he would get... But I have to tell him everything. They both were in total silent, letting me speak...

"He brought a marriage proposal to me..." after a few seconds, I managed to say.

"What?" they both said in unison...

"What did you just say?" Jake screamed in rage, holding me from my shoulders and shaking me. He was burning with anger, I could easily say that with the way he was holding and shaking me.

"He brought you what?" he screamed again.

"He brought me a marriage proposal," I said, trying to be calm.

“I am going to k!!! that bastard!!! I will surely k!!! him!!!” Jake screamed. He was still holding me from my shoulders, and his whole body was shaking.

I tried to lift my hand and touch his face...

But he shook his head and pulled himself away from me... He then started to punch the metal frame of the car door aggressively.

“Jake... Please stop... You are going to hurt yourself...” I tried to stop him, but he was out of control... There is no doubt his knuckles are already bleeding.

“Jake... Calm down... We can’t do anything getting angry like this...” Luke said, trying to stop Jake...

“How can I be calm right now, Luke? How can I? I took everything he has done to me so far. I didn’t do anything when he accused us of his girlfriend’s death. I didn’t do anything when he publicly disgraced my family. I endured it when he didn’t even let us see my aunt in her last few minutes. I stood every single evil thing he did to me and my family. But this time he crossed the limit... “

“He knows exactly that Sarah is my girlfriend. Yet, he was dared to come to her house and bring her a marriage proposal. He is using this innocent girl to take revenge from me for something I have never done. This time I am not going to spare him. The more I endure things the more he tries to hurt me. “

I didn’t know what to say. So, I just took his hand from both of my hands and pressed it to my chest... With the faint light, I saw how his knuckles got all reddish and bleeding. That must be really painful, but there is no doubt that the pain in his heart is much greater.

“Everything you said is right. But Jake, we can’t solve problems like this. We have to handle this issue very carefully because it involves Sarah and her family as well..” Luke said.

“He knows very well that when he drags Sarah’s family to the matter things get extremely serious, and I have a huge disadvantage because I can’t go and talk to her parents like he did. So he gave an amazing offer to her brother to impress her parents and get what he wants.” Jake said. He was talking like he talks just to himself.

“Did he tell it to your parents in front of you?” Luke asked.

“No... He discussed that privately with my parents. I and Shane got to know about it only after he left our house.”

“Your parents would love the offer, right? He is handsome, rich, from a high-class family, got a good job, and also he offered to help Shane.” Jake asked. His voice was filled with frustration.

“Actually, they are trying to connect this with something else and make me accept this offer,” I said.

“Connect with something else... What is that?”

I explained to them everything both dad and Shane told me about my childhood. None of them uttered even a word until I finish. Jake just put his arm around my shoulder and made me cuddled to him. He was caressing my head gently for the whole time I was speaking.

“Dad indirectly said that I am in debt to them for what they have done for me, so I have to accept this offer,” I said, finishing my explanation.

“That is ridiculous,” Luke yelled.

“What you think about it, princess... Do you think you have to accept this offer because you are in debt to your family?” Jake asked calmly.

“Honestly, I don’t know, Jake. I feel so sorry for my parents. They went through a hell lot just because of me and I think they deserve a relaxed, peaceful life at least now...”

“So are you going to accept this?” Jake asked interrupting me. His voice was shaking.

“Let me finish...” I said.

“Even though I am truly grateful to my parents, I don’t want to marry that bastard for any reason,” I added.

Jake released a sigh...

“Princess... I am grateful to your parent too... If they didn’t sacrifice so much for you, I won’t be able to hold you like this in my arms today. But they can’t use that as a reason to force you to marry someone you don’t like. That is truly unfair.” Jake said.

“That is exactly what Shane also said,” I said.

“Did he tell something like that?” Luke asked.

Luke is one of the most understanding and open thinking person I ever know. I don't know why he always thinks about my brother in the wrong way.

“He did tell like that, Luke. That's why I said you have the wrong image of my brother.” I said.

“So what are we gonna do now?” Jake asked.

“I am going to tell my parents that I will never marry that bastard. Shane will be there backing me.” I said.

Jake placed a kiss on my forehead.

“You know I love more and more this new confident Sarah... And I am truly happy for her strong relationship with her twin...” he then said with a smile.

“But do you think, Sarah's parents would just accept it,” Luke asked.

“Definitely no... I can't even imagine what kind of drama my mom would create.” I replied.

“As you said your parents deserve a break now, princess... They deserve a relaxed, comfortable life and I am capable of giving them that. I don't need my family's support for that. I can do it on my own. I just need some more time, that's all...” Jake said.

“I know that, Jake...” I replied.

“I can come to your house, princess, and tell your parents how much I love you. I can beg them not to force you to marry anyone else. I can guarantee them a happy life they deserve. I can come tomorrow and talk with your parents.” Jake said.

“Are you crazy? That will ruin everything.” Luke yelled.

“I can't let them force you for anything, my princess... I can't let them hurt you.” Jake said, holding my face between his hands and kissing my cheeks.

"I know, babe... I know you would do anything for me. But as Luke said, that will ruin everything we did. My mom can never keep a secret. She will go everywhere telling people Victor McMiller's son is going to marry me. The election is around the corner. We have to wait just a little bit longer. Don't worry, I can manage it until that. They have hurt me since I can remember, Jake... So that is not a new thing for me..." I said, smiling.

"But anytime you feel you can't hold this any longer just tell me. I will come and talk to your parents. You are important to me more than anything else." Jake said, and then he captured my lips for a quick but sensational kiss...

A Girl Nobody Wanted Chapter 108 - Tips

The next day, I prepared my parent's favorite dinner just to make them a bit less violent when we tell our decisions to them.

As you all may assume a dinner was not enough to calm them down.

I first tell them that I am not going to marry Mr. Patterson. Mom got all fired up as soon as she heard that.

"What are you insane? Do you think you will ever get a better proposal than this? This is like winning a lottery. You are just nobody, but him... He has everything, yet he wants to marry you. Why the hell you deny such an opportunity." she asked angrily.

"Mom... It is her decision. No matter even if he is Prince William, if she doesn't like him, she should not marry him." before I reply to mom, Shane came to my rescue.

"Why you are taking her side all of sudden? If she doesn't agree to what he said then you won't get that internship, sponsorship, or anything." mom said.

"I told you two clearly, mom. I don't want anything from that man. Why can't you understand, getting anything from him is like making a deal with the devil." Shane said.

"Shane! Why can't you understand the importance of his offer to your carrier? With your GPA and all do you even think you will be able to find a good job? Your future totally depends on football, and I am not capable of spending on it in the future. I am too old now, I have no energy to work now." dad told to Shane.

The way he told that actually made me feel sad about him. What he said was true. He is old and weak now. My dad was handsome when he was young. He looked just like Shane. But now he has become so thin and his face always looks like he is exhausted.

“I know that, dad. I am not going to let you work like this. I am capable of finding good sponsorship on my own. Also, no matter what my GPA is based on my football carrier I am capable of finding a good job too. I just need some more time, we are graduating in a couple of months. I will make everything up to you after that, I promise.” Shane said.

“This bih has brainwashed my son, Charles. Otherwise, my Shane won’t refuse this” mom started to crying and cursing me.

Dad was staring at me for a few seconds.

“Even after I told you about everything we had to go through because of you, you still don’t think we deserve a break?” he then asked. His words and the tone of his words felt like stabbing me.

“Dad...” even before I could tell anything, I was crying.

“Dad... Please don’t think like that. I have no words to say how much I am grateful to you and mom for everything you did for me... You two deserve a calm and comfortable life more than anyone else. But dad, please believe us, Mr. Patterson is a really bad person. I can never marry such a person, dad. But I promise you, we won’t lose anything because I refused this proposal. I and Shane will give you two everything you may need. Just as Shane said, please give us a little time.” I begged him.

“Sarah... You are a smart girl. I know you would easily get a good job. But do you think you will be able to earn all the wealth, power, and social status you may receive as Mr. Paterson’s wife from just a job.” dad asked.

I didn’t know what to say. I wish I could tell him about my Jake, but I couldn’t.

“Dad... Please let time solve those things... I promise you, you will never regret about rejecting that bastards offer. ” Shane came to my rescue once again.

However, after a lot of explaining and promises, we could convince our dad to some extend. But mom was crying, cursing, and creating a drama as usual.

I exactly knew that dad is not happy and he is truly disappointed. That made me really sad too. In the past, if anyone in this household showed any sympathy towards me, it was him. Though he hurt me going according to mom's words, I could understand that he was acting against his will sometime. Sometimes I actually saw the concern and worry in his eyes, when I was crying like hell after they beat me.

However, I made up my mind thinking that he won't have to stay unhappy for a long time. As soon as this election is over, Jake will come here and tell him about us. I can't even imagine how happy he would be. I will make everything right for my whole family after that. I will do everything I can to make their lives comfortable.

On Monday, I went to university. I had some free time between the lectures. So I went to the AI lab to work on my final year project. There were no other students in the lab at that time. Therefore, I was working peacefully and effectively until Mr. Patterson entered the lab!

I was really scared as soon as I saw him. I was totally alone with him. Even the lab assistant went out a few minutes ago as he got a phone call.

Well... Now I regret coming here alone. I must have wait until Luke come after his lecture.

"Why you look like you just saw a ghost?" Mr. Patterson asked, smiling wickedly.

"Why are you here, Mr. Patterson?" I asked, ignoring what he said.

"Have you forgotten that I am a lecturer in this faculty? I can go anywhere in this premise," he replied with the same wicked smile.

God! I just want to slap this bastard.

I was in the middle of my work and there was no way I could interrupt the process now. If I interrupt it will lose all the effort I put into this today. Therefore, ignoring him completely, I started to work.

He came and sat in front of me. I felt he was staring at me for some time. But without caring for him, I was looking at the laptop and continuing my work.

Where the hell this lab assistant went? Why he hasn't come back yet?

"Sarah..." after a couple of minutes Mr. Patterson started to talk.

"Yes..." I said ignorantly, still looking at my laptop.

"I wanted to call you so much and ask you about the offer I brought you. But then I thought, it is better to talk with you in person," he said.

My heart started to beat rapidly. So he didn't accidentally come here. He has followed me. I think he sent the lab assistant also out. I should tell him directly without letting him talking further.

"Mr. Patterson, I don't want to marry you. I will never marry you." I said firmly, looking right into his eyes.

His eyes stretched to a thin line for a second, but the next second he started to laugh.

His laugh actually made me scared and surprised at the same time. why the hell he is laughing like this?

"I am not dumb, Sarah... I knew you won't agree to marry me so easily," he said, looking at my surprised face.

"That's why I directly went to your parents. They like me so much and they are ready to let you marry me anytime." he then said.

"I told my decision to them. They can't change my decision." I said firmly.

"Really? Can't they?" he asked with a fake surprised tone. Then he started to laugh again.

God!!!! Slapping him won't be enough, I want to k!!! him!!!!

"Let's see about that, my little angel..." then he said, touching my hand.

"Mr. Patterson!!! How dare you touch me!" yelling at him, I stood up.

“Come on, Sarah... Relax... I just touch your hand, I didn't try to re you. You know what, I don't want to get anything by force from you. I want you to give me everything, your body, and your soul with your own will.” he then said in a calm voice.

I was furious and my whole body was shaking with anger.

“That is never going to happen, Mr. Patterson. I would die rather than committing to you with my own will.” I yelled at him.

“As I said, let's see about that, angel... ” he said with the same calm voice.

I didn't know what to do or what to say. I felt like I lost my ability to speak with the unbearable anger. So without even thinking twice, I removed all the wires that were connected to my laptop and closed the lid. I knew this would put all my effort today in vain, but I will do this same work again and again for the rest of my life than staying in the same room with this insane devil.

I put the laptop in my backpack and started to leave the room without even look at him. But he was so quick and he stood in front of me, blocking my way.

“You lost hours of your work because of your anger, didn't you? ” he asked, looking into my eyes.

Without saying anything, I looked away.

“Remember, you will lose everything you have worked for in your entire life if you keep on having hopes for Jacob. He is never going to marry you, Sarah... Wake up from your sweet dreams. He is engaged to Marina, and uncle Victor will make sure he gets married to her after the election. Even if Jake wants to marry you, don't ever think that victor Mcmillar will ever let his only son, the heir to all his wealth and power to marry a poor common girl. One day Jake will surely have to choose a side from his parents and you. Which side do you think he will choose. Don't forget that not like your parents, his parents love him so much and he loves them so much too.” he said.

I know he is just a crazy bastard, but what he said is true, isn't it? No matter how hard I try not to think about the possibility of Jake's parents reject our relationship, that possibility is super high. Just like my mom said, I am just nobody. But Jake... He is like the heir to the throne.

Without even knowing, my eyes filled with tears. But I was not ready to let this bastard win.

“Do you think your dad will let you marry me then? You are from the same social class as Jake, aren’t you?” I asked.

He then started to laugh.

“All our businesses and our properties were owned by my mom. According to my mom’s last will, all of those things were transferred to me, she gave my dad nothing other than the house we live in. So my father now has basically nothing, and he has no power to object any of my decision. He lives from my money.” he said in an indifferent voice.

God! There are no words to tell how much I disgust this man. The way he talked about his own dad... He is truly a monster, a heartless, crazy monster.

“Mr. Patterson, let me go...” I then said.

“I will let you go, Sarah... But remember I will make you mine by any means. If I couldn’t do that in any case, I will not think twice before making not just Jake’s life, but your whole family miserable.” he said in a firm voice. There is no doubt he meant everything he said. He gave me a clear warning.

“Don’t drag my family into this,” I said.

“You know Sarah... When you ask me to do something, I always feel like I must do that for you because I love you so damn much. But unfortunately, you are too late to ask this from me. I have already dragged your family into this and now I can’t do anything.” he said with an evil smile.

“You are the vilest person I have seen in my entire life!”

He laughed...

“My love for you and my hatred for Jake has made me this evil, Sarah... Remember, now I don’t have any limits or any rules. I will get everything I want. ” he said firmly and then he let me go...

A Girl Nobody Wanted Chapter 109 - Tips

After rejecting Mr. Patterson's offer, life was not easy for me. Well, it has never been easy for me that's true, but with this, it became worst. I couldn't spend even a single day without getting scolded and cursed by mom. I could stand when she blames me, but when she starts to remind everything that happened in the past, and how her life became hell after she gave birth to me, it is really painful to listen to those. It is like getting stabbed over and over again.

Dad stopped talking with me for anything. Every time he looks at me, he has this disappointed look in his face. He even stopped eating anything I cook. That made me truly hurt.

On the other hand, Mr. Patterson made me nervous all the time. At the university, he managed to follow me everywhere and treat me with creepy looks. I had to make sure that I am not alone anytime because I was so afraid to face him alone. He even visited our house a few times. My parents welcome him with open arms, and they spend hours talking about things. Sometimes they all were just whispering and God knows what they are talking about.

Since I have Shane by my side, I could go through everything. I don't even know what will happen to me if he was not there for me because Jake was extremely busy too with his dad's election campaign. I had to endure seeing Jake and Marina together in media all the time. Though I know exactly they are just acting like lovers, I couldn't help getting heartbroken each time I saw them together. Luke was also not around most of the time. As Jake's best friend and one of their closest family friend, he also had to help them with the election campaign. So I just had Shane with me.

I didn't even tell Jake or Luke about all the things Mr. Patterson did during those days because I didn't want to make them worried, but Shane knew everything and he put all the efforts to protect me. He even started to stick with me all the time when we are at the university. I had to worry only when he has football practices or additional lectures.

However, the day of the presidential election has arrived like this. I went to the voting center early morning and voted for my future father in law... I wish from all my heart that he could win this election not because I want to become the daughter in law of the president, but I think he is capable of developing our country more than the other candidate.

I went to work in the cafe after that. Shane had promised to come and get me from the cafe in the evening. When it was so close to the end of my shift, Mr. McDonald said there is a visitor for me waiting in the office room. I was surprised to hear that, however, I went to the office room. The person who was sitting there had turned his back to me, and he was wearing a hat too. Thinking that it is really unusual to wear a hat inside the office room, I walked towards him.

“Mr. Patterson...” I almost dropped the small notebook which was on my hand after seeing that person’s face.

He was not just wearing a hat, but sunglasses too. What is wrong with him, is he trying to disguise? Anyway, this is the first time he came to the cafe since I rejected his proposal.

“Sarah...” he said, smiling at me.

“What the hell are you doing here?” I asked annoyingly.

“Sarah... I want to talk with you,” he said.

“There is nothing to talk with me, sir and I am at work too...” I said, annoyingly.

“But what I am going to talk with you is much important. I came here because I want to talk with you when your stupid brother is not around,” he said.

“Mr. Patterson, as I said before I have nothing to talk with you, and you have no right to call my brother stupid, remember that,” I said.

He grinned...

“He is acting the good brother role now, isn’t he? Anyway, give me just 5 minutes for the old-time sake, you won’t regret it,” he said.

“Okay, Mr. Patterson, tell me whatever you have to say, but you have just 5 minutes,” I said. Anyway, I was also curious about what he might be whispering with my parents all the time.

“Sarah... I know I haven’t directly asked you this ever. So I want to do that now...” he said, looking into my eyes.

I looked away annoyingly. What the hell he is going to ask.

“Sarah... No matter what are the problems I have with Jake, my affection for you is genuine and honest. I truly love you a lot. After Lilly, I never thought I would feel this way about any of the girls, but since I saw you, everything started to change. You are a lot like her, I think that’s made the exception. “

I didn’t say anything...

“Sarah... I told you what I truly feel. My feelings are honest and pure. I can protect you and keep you happy forever. I can give you everything you may need. I can treat you like a queen but I know you don’t want them from me no matter how much I want to give you them.”

I felt sad about him for a second, but the next second I remembered how evil he can be.

“I feel sad about you, Mr. Patterson. I truly feel sorry because you lost your true love. But please understand, I love Jake the same way you love Lilly. I can’t even think about anyone else other than him. ” I said.

“If you love him the same way I love Lilly, you may willing to do anything to protect him from getting hurt,” he said.

What he is trying to say now? I thought annoyingly looking at him.

“Sarah... I am giving you the final chance to change the way you think and agree with my proposal. If you do what I ask then everyone is safe and happy. But if you are still too stubborn to change then I am so sorry, you will get very bad news pretty soon...” he said.

God! How can a person be this evil? Haven’t you give him even a bit of humanity when you send him to the earth? Maybe it is not the God who sent him to the Earth, he should have come from the hell.

“You can’t blackmail me like that, Mr. Patterson... Don’t ever think you can change me this way.” I said firmly.

“I am not blackmailing you. I am giving you a chance to save people you love. My offer is valid until the final election result release. If you don’t call me before that, I am so sorry I have to make you go through a really painful experience.” he said in a firm voice. He left the room, leaving me to utter confusion.

In the evening we all were gathered around the TV to watch election results. It was like watching a movie for everyone except me. I was still confused and scared because of what Mr. Patterosn told me. My mind was telling me that he was just trying to make me scared, but then I feel what if he said the truth. What if something truly happens to someone I love?

Finally, I came to a status where I couldn't hold on to these feelings anymore. So I thought of telling everything with Shane. I didn't tell him earlier because I was afraid he will get into unnecessary trouble with Mr. Patterson. Shane was extremely pissed off because of Mr. Patterson, so who knows what he will do?

I sent Shane a text asking him to come to my room for a second. After he comes there, I explained to him everything. As I thought, he got really pissed off. He even scolded me for not telling him earlier.

“How dare him to come to the cafe like that and blackmail you? I just want to punch his stupid face more than anything. However, Sarah, I don't think it is a real threatening. He is just trying to make you scared and get what he wants. But thinking about his past activities we should not totally ignore this as well. No harm will come from being a bit more careful.” he finally said.

“So you mean I must tell this with Jake as well?” I asked.

“Of course. He said you have time until the final result is released, right? So we don't actually know when he will start to take action. I think you should call Jake now, and tell him everything, in case what that ahole said was true.” Shane said firmly.

I nodded in agreement and dialed Jake's number. To my surprise, he answered the phone before even it finishes the first ring.

“Sarah... What a sweet surprise? I was about to call you.” Jake's joyful voice raised from the other side.

“Really? Why you thought of calling me?” I asked, smiling. Despite the nervousness and fear I have in my heart, as soon as I hear his happy voice it made me smile involuntarily.

“We won Sarah... My dad became the president!!!”

“What!!! Congratulations!!! But we didn’t see it on the TV yet.” I said.

“Yeah... It is not in the media yet. But we received the final results.”

“Oh!!! My heartiest congratulations once again, Jake... Not just as your girlfriend, but as a normal citizen of this country too.” I said happily.

“He loves this country, Sarah... He will do everything he can to develop our country. Anyway, I am so glad that it is over now. For one last time, today, I have to go in front of the media with Marina. After that, all this drama is over, and I will come to your house and beg your parents to give me your hand...” Jake said in a relaxed voice.

“I am so happy too, Jake... How long we have been waiting for this day?” I asked with tears in my eyes.

“We have been waiting for so long, princess... But finally, our waiting is over... I am going to make you mine pretty soon...” Jake said.

After that, we both were just silently listening to the sound of each other breath... I was recalling all the memories I have with him... I think he was doing the same...

I realized I was totally carried out with my emotions when Shane showed me from his hands that I have to tell Jake about what Mr. Patterson said.

“Jake...” I said.

“Yes, Princess...”

“I know I should not make you upset in a time like this, but I have to tell you something,” I said.

“What is that, princess... You don’t ever have to worry about my mood or anything before telling me something. You should tell me anything you want at any time you prefer.” Jake said.

I explained to him what Mr. Patterson told me.

He also got really pissed off... However, according to what he thinks Mr. Patterson is just bragging. As he said, since his dad became the president now, no one would dare to hurt them. Also, he said that it is not him but me and my family who should be more careful. Anyway, he promised me to be extra careful and he said he would inform his private detectives about this as well.

Finally, he said that he will come to our house the next day evening to meet my parents.

After finishing the call with him, I actually felt a lot relaxed. If what Mr. Patterson told was true, there is a high possibility that he would hurt Jake instead of anyone in my family. But now Jake is aware of the threat and he is taking precautions, that's a relief.

I and Shane went back to the living room after the call.

After some time I received a text from Mr. Patterson.

"Think you already know the final result, but it is still not out on the media so you still have time."

However, ignoring his text, I continued watching TV. I was in a good mood because finally, Jake can openly be in a relationship with me. I didn't want to spoil my mood with Mr. Patterson's stupid texts.

After the final result was released on media, I got another text from him.

"I am so sorry to make you sad, angel. But you made me helpless. From now onwards the real game begins. If you don't come to me begging to marry you, my name is not Andrew Patterson."

A shiver ran through my spine as I read his text. I don't know why, but I got a really bad feeling. All my happiness seems like stolen by someone.

A Girl Nobody Wanted Chapter 110 - Tips

However, when it comes to the next day morning, I was so excited about Jake's visit to my house. So, I have totally disregarded Mr. Patterson's warning by then. We have been waiting so long for this day. I am not going to let anything, not even my fear to ruin my happiness today. We have gone through so much, and we totally deserve happiness.

Though I barely slept the last night, I woke up early and started cleaning the house. I want everything to be perfect when he comes here today. It is not like he comes here for the first time, but this is the first time he comes here officially to meet my parents and ask for my hand.

God!!! Even when I turn that to words, it feels like a dream. Who thought a girl nobody wanted would have a happy day like this. A handsome, bright young man with gentleman qualities is coming today to ask for my hand. More than anything that man loves me so much. I never thought my life would be beautiful like this.

I wrote down a menu, what I need to prepare for tonight. I want to make it grand, more than that day when Mr. Patterson visited us. I want to cook Jake's favorite food items. So after preparing the menu, I wrote down another list, a grocery list. It became a pretty long one at the end. I don't even know I have enough money to buy all those.

When I was thinking nervously while looking at the grocery list, Shane came to my help. He volunteered to buy all those for me. He has become such a good brother!

But that was not the most important thing he did for me. I wanted to ask my parents to stay home for dinner because Jake is coming. But according to the current situation with them, I was sure that they are not going to listen to me. So Shane took that job as well. He said mom and dad, someone is coming to discuss his football career. So he asked mom and dad to stay for dinner to meet him. Thank God! I have him with me for everything.

Likewise, I was getting ready for his visit with the best I could. My phone rang when I was preparing my apple pie.

It was from Jake...

"Hello..." I answered the call happily.

"Sarah..." his voice sounded anxious.

"Why? Is everything all right?" I asked worriedly.

"Yes, everything is alright. But dad has organized a celebration tonight for the closest people who supported him," he said after a small hesitation.

My heart started to ache... My eyes filled with tears in no time.

“Is that mean you are not coming today?” I asked, trying my best not to cry.

“I didn’t even know he is going to have this type of celebration tonight. However, since all our closest family members are coming tonight, my presence is mandatory here. Actually, both me and Marina have to be at the celebration, else it would cause many problems,” he said. His voice sounded miserable.

“That means you can’t come today?” I asked.

“Listen, Princess...” then he began to talk worriedly.

“There is nothing I want to listen to, Jake... I thought all those dramas and everything is now over. But it seems like nothing is going to change even after the election. I have to just wait and see every day without getting anything.” I am not someone who always complains about things. No matter what he asks me to do, all the time, I do them without hesitation. I always try to understand his situation and sacrifice my happiness just to cater for that situation. So I never thought I would talk like this to him. I didn’t know what got into me at that moment. But I was totally disappointed, and I got furious with my self because I always have to be the person who sacrifices everything for everyone.

“It is not like that, princess...” Jake again tried to explain, but I was not ready to listen. I have always paid attention and understood people and their situations. Why the hell no one is ever trying to understanding me and my goddamn feelings?

“I woke up at 4 today to clean up the house. It is not that our house looks like a garbage bin and needs a thorough cleaning, but I want everything to be perfect when you come here. After cleaning, I prepared a special menu, including your favorite food items. I have already made your favorite apple pie. You know, Jake, now it is 11 in the morning. I haven’t take any rest since I woke up. I didn’t even have breakfast yet. Not just me, my brother is also wasting his time for us. Even now, he is out there buying groceries for me to prepare a grand dinner for you. But here you are... Calling now and telling me that you won’t come today. Just because you have to attend to another foolish celebration, and pretend like you are going to marry another girl. Maybe tonight also, I have to just stay in my room, crying and imagining you spend your time with her. ” I was sobbing like crazy, yet, I kept on talking angrily.

“You are so selfish, Jake, do you even realize that. You always made me the one who has to wait, who has to sacrifice. When these things are going to change, Jake... Like all the other girls, I also love to take your hand and walk with you, I also love to tell the whole world that you are mine. But have I ever complain about those things? You asked me to wait till this election is over, you said you will make everything correct after that. Earlier I thought you would tell your parents about us after the election, but then you said you have to wait for the perfect time to reveal it to your parents. I agreed to even that because at least you are coming here and talk with my parents. But now... I don't know when your stupid excuses will be finished. When will you accept me as your girlfriend in front of other people...”

The more you wait patiently, hoping everything would turn alright, the more you get frustrated when it doesn't happen as you expected. Deep inside me, I knew Jake is not trying to postpone meeting my parents, he is helpless. It is his father's victory celebration, he has to be there. But that logical understanding was not enough to calm down my aggressive self.

He didn't say anything for a few seconds...

“Please, stop crying, Princess...” then he said wistfully. God! His voice was filled with helplessness more than anything.

“Why? Do you even care if I am crying or not?” I was not ready to surrender in front of his helplessness.

“You know exactly, that I do care if you are crying, princess...” he replied with the same helplessness.

I didn't say anything, but I didn't stop sobbing as well. As Jake said, I knew, my crying makes him sadder than anything. At that moment, making him miserable felt like a relief to me... I know that is cruel, but what to do, I am a human too...

“Please stop crying, princess... Go and continue making your delicious pie.” after a small pause, Jake said.

“I will just throw it to the garbage bin,” I said, angrily.

“Then what are you going to serve me when I come to your home, tonight?” he then asked.

“What?” did I really heard he said tonight, or am I just imagining things out of pure frustration?

“Stop crying and continue preparing your menu items, princess... I am coming tonight to meet your parents and asking them to give their daughter to me,” he said calmly.

“You don’t have to skip your father’s celebration for me,” I replied still angrily,

“But I want to do it. Please forgive me, princess... I should not even tell you about this celebration in the first place, I am just stupid. I promised you I am going to make everything correct for you, and I am doing it as I promised. I don’t want you to lose your faith in me. ” he said in a charming yet firm voice.

I didn’t know what to say. I felt like a naive high school girl who got into a stupid fight with her boyfriend.

“I will be leaving soon from here, princess... Wear that dress I bought you last month. Remember, the one you said you want to wear on an important day. Today is going to be a special day for us, my love... “

With his words, all my anger and frustration just vanished, and my heart filled again with hopes and happiness... After the call, I ran back to continue on my work... As he said today is going to be a special day for us, and I will make it extra special...

Jake’s POV

Today I am going to meet her parents and ask them to let me have their daughter. My princess has waited so long with a lot of patience for this day. I will tell her parents today, but I have to wait a bit more before letting my parents know about this. My birthday is just next week, it will be the perfect day to let them know. Dad always makes my birthday an ask for anything day. So this year I am going to ask for my love... I had already packed my bag to leave home when my mom came to my room.

“What you are doing?” she asked with wide eyes looking at the bag I have packed.

“I am going. I have a lot of things to do there. I have missed so much because of the campaign.” I said.

“What about the celebration tonight?” she asked confusedly.

“What celebration?” I asked because no one said anything about a celebration.

“Why didn’t dad tell you, we are going to have a celebration for our closest people who support dad,” she said.

“He didn’t tell me about that. Anyway, mom, I don’t have to be here, right? I have already planned some work tonight.” I said nervously. I have promised Sarah that I would come today. I can’t break my promise.

“No, darling, you should be here... Marina is coming too, and you both need to be here, else it will cause a lot of unnecessary rumors and all. We can’t afford to have them right now.” mom said.

“But mom, I agreed to this fake relationship thing until the election only. Now it is over. I can’t do this anymore.” I said with a bit of anger. Pretending like loving someone else other than my Sarah is extremely painful. I don’t even want to stay near any other girl...

“Please, darling... Just this time... Please do it for dad... After today, we are not going to trouble you...” then my mom started to plead. I love my mom so much. It is so hard to reject when she asks for something. She usually doesn’t ask me to do anything. So I had to accept what she said.

“Okay, mom, for this once only...” I finally said.

However, when I took a call to Sarah to inform her about what has happened, she reacted in a way I never expected. My always calm and cool little princess became pretty aggressive, and she started to blame me so hard. Her words felt like sharp knives, but what she said was true. She has the right to blame me. Listening to everything she was doing to welcome me made my eyes filled with tears.

I shouldn't even tell her about this goddamn celebration in the first place. I have to solve this issue from my side and go to her house today. I have to keep my promise for the girl who never forces me to do anything for her satisfaction. Who always sacrifices her happiness, her needs for myself and my family.

Loving two women so much at the same time is so damn hard. Even when those two women are your mother and your fiance... I don't even know how some of the people manage to have affairs with two women.

Now I have to convince my mother in a way that won't hurt her feelings... Making her sad is the last thing I want to do right now.

As usual, it was Luke who came to my help. He made a perfect plan for that.

I went to my mom's room and started a casual conversation with mom. Right at that time, Luke gave me a call. I put the phone to the loudspeaker.

"Hey, Luke... Say hi to mom." I said.

"Hello, Aunty... How are you, I am really sorry I have no time to talk much, I am in a hurry. Jake, coach Rafel said he wants to have the training session this evening because he has got some other special duty tomorrow." Coach Rafel is one of the top football coaches in the world. He is in our country these days, and he came to our university for a visit. Also, he has planned for a training session for us. Which is truly an amazing opportunity for all of us. I have already said about this with my mom. She knew exactly, that I am never going to use my contacts to get anything in my life. Everything I have achieved and I am going to achieve in football totally depends on my pure talents. So my mom knew this is an opportunity I cannot miss because there is a chance he allows some of us to get more training sessions with him. Actually, that training session is on tomorrow, but we made this story to find an excuse for me to leave.

"God! Really... I am not able to come today, what can I do now? Won't he do any other training sessions with us?" I asked.

"I don't think he would do. He is a pretty busy guy, right?" Luke said.

"Then I may miss that..." I said sadly.

"Are you crazy, Jake? This is a golden opportunity for you." Luke said.

“I will take care of things here, darling... You may go for the training session...” then mom said. With just one call from dad, this type of issue can be solved. Both mom and I knew that. But she also knew that I don't like dad making calls to people for me. I don't want him to use his powers for me.

“But mom...” I tried to say.

“Don't worry, darling... I will look after everything. You shouldn't miss this.” when mom said, caressing my head, my heart started to feel like shattering to pieces. Why the hell I have to lie to such an amazing mom? Please, mom, forgive me... But I will make it up to you soon... I have no doubts that you will be glad to have a wonderful daughter in law like my princess... You two are a lot alike, and she will fulfill your desire to have a daughter.

I really want to tell you the truth, I know you will understand me, but the problem is you are extremely loyal to dad. You won't be able to keep this from dad. I don't think this is the correct time to let dad know about this. Forgive me for this once, mom...