

Chapter 43 The most stupid one

"You can guess!" Joey smiled and showed Elena his closet, which was packed full, "I put away those unsuitable clothes, after all, they are so expensive, and it is a waste to throw them away."

Elena covered her forehead and smiled, thinking that Joey was really a wonderful person, "You actually don't mind?"

Joey pursed his mouth, "Although they belong to another person, I cannot just waste it!"

Seriously, Elena was moved by his words "Joey, you win. I do think, this life, it is difficult for me to meet a young man like you again."

"Then you have to cherish me!" Joey gave her a wink and said playfully.

Elena's brow arched, surrounded by happiness.

She did not deliberately pay any attention to the matters of Alston and felt that the person was really farther and farther away from her.

Seeing Alston again was because the Rivers Group needed her help, but apart from that, Elena kept her words of staying away from Alston, which left Alston desperate.

In the end, he could only lament, "Elena, I really didn't expect that you would look like this when you got ruthless."

Elena was expressionless, "Mr. Rivers, we are not even partners now. What you need is to find a suitable agent to take care of Rivers group, not to come to me in an emergency."

She said very pertinently, "I and you have been strangers, as to why, you should be clearer than anyone else is. Mr. Rivers, I have to go."

He looked at Elena's cold face and let out a long sigh. He never thought that there would be a day when Elena wouldn't even want to see him.

Just like he once did to her, everything he did before, at this time, was given back to him.

Only at this time, he could feel clearly Elena's helplessness.

He was in deep remorse. If he used to care about Elena, even a little bit, they should not end up like this.

In this life, he had planned to live a good life with her, but reality taught him a lesson hard.

The more he thought about it, the more his heart ached for Elena, and at that time she must have had more pain in her heart, right?

Alston slapped himself hard and rushed through the door when Elena looked up in surprise.

Sitting in the car, he was in tears, but he was to blame.

What should he do? He doesn't know. He is now like a rootless grass, with no support in this world.

Everything he once had turned out to be a bubble.
It turns out that without Elena, he couldn't even run Rivers Group long.

In the last life, the burden on her body was unimaginable, and she had to face his various cynicism.

How ridiculous, it turns out that the most stupid
one has always been him.

He couldn't see the sincerity of the people around him, but instead, he held a glass ball as a precious pearl!