

Chapter 25 Why I didn't receive it

James Channing noticed her at once, "Miss. Forbes, you are finally here, I have been waiting for you for a long time."

Elena smiled faintly, "Is that so? Then sorry for keeping you waiting."

If she remembered correctly, this James Channing was not a good one, and their paths didn't cross.

He came forward to greet her, clearly, because he was up to something no good.

But, for her, any danger that can be seen in her eyes, is not dangerous.

While pondering, someone else came. It was Alston.

A woman was holding his arm. Elena wondered, wasn't he in love with Elizabeth? Did he move on already?

No, this woman was a bit familiar, Elena thought. She's Julia Green, Elizabeth's best friend.

She used her phone before, and now it seemed that she wanted to take Elizabeth's place.

The people here basically all know Alston. They whispered and did not dare to chat loudly.

After all, these people had stood aside and laughed at him. It was generous of him that he didn't come after them.

When the host finished his speech, Alston shook off

Julia Green's hand and walked towards Elena who he had been staring at for a long time.

Elena was chatting with a partner at this moment, and the two of them were very compatible with their cooperation and had also roughly finalized the next step of their cooperation.

At this time, a voice interrupted them rudely, "Elena, where have you been all these days? Do you know how long I've been looking for you!"

Alston grabbed Elena's arm and roared; his anger surged in his veins.

Especially when he looked at her chatting with another man he didn't know, he became tense.

Elena broke away from his hand and frowned, "Alston, what the hell are you doing?"

She could tolerate other things, but if he dared to spoil her business, she won't be merciful.

Alston gritted his teeth and said: "What are you playing, hard-to-get? You wanna make me worry, right? Now that I'm worried about you, are you happy?"

"Stupid bastard!" Elena swabbed his hand away that tried to grab her arm once again and said disdainfully, "It's your stupidity that you can't find me. Why don't you ask Mr. Sumanth why they can find me!"

Mr. Sumanth kindly interfered, "When Miss. Forbes opened her company, she changed her number, but she called to inform us."

"Why didn't I receive your call?" Alston questioned as if Elena had cheated on him.

However, in fact, they are not even a couple, and how can he accuse her of cheating?

Elena stood there, hands around her chest. "You blocked my number long ago; do you need me to remind you?"

Alston shook his head repeatedly, "I didn't, I removed your number from the list long ago."

Elena shrugged, "Oh, then maybe the day I called, I was still blocked."

The line between his brows was deeper. There is a chance, after all, that he removed her number when he was reborn.
