

Chapter 28 There are conditions

But Joey shook his head, "I will not leave, you all tricked me. I'm gonna trick you all back!"

"Ambitious!" Elena patted his shoulder, "Quite an idea. But I don't know if you have the ability!"

Joey looked at Elena in a daze, "Elena, aren't you a little too nice to me?"

"What?" Elena was confused for a moment, "This is nice to you?"

Joey nodded with certainty, "You have brought me out from there. In fact, if you didn't want to, you could have just left me there to die."

Hearing this, Elena couldn't help but slap his head, but not heavy, "Bullsh*t! Although I am a little cold-blooded, I can't stand aside and watch a good young man be ruined by that trash!"

Joey's eyes were red.

Elena thought maybe it was her tone was too harsh, and she asked: "Which grade are you in? What major?"

Joey blankly looked at her for a moment, "Soon I will be in my senior year, and my major is energy and environmental systems engineering."

Hearing this, Elena did not speak at first but was silent for a long time.

Joey was a little nervous. "Is there something wrong with my major? Although it's not popular, I still think it is somewhat useful."

Elena looked at him, "You are really an oddball. Obviously, you should choose economic management. How come you chose a major in energy?"

Joey frowned, "Economy is good, but I don't like it."

Elena nodded, "Yes, if you don't like it, why force yourself?"

Joey didn't understand, "Miss, what did you just say?"

Elena smiled, "Nothing. If you are willing, come to work in my company, but it is just starting. I may not pay you much."

Joey's mouth opened wide, "Ah? You're giving me a job?"

Elena nodded, "Yeah, what, you don't want to?"

Thinking of this possibility, Elena's face sank, and decided to give him a good lecture.

However, Joey did not give her this opportunity, but quickly nodded, "Miss, thank you so much."

His happiness was not faked.

At that moment, she thought of something and asked, "Are you very short of money?"

Joey scratched his head, "Actually, no, the scholarship can cover, but I won't panic if there is money in my hand, so I want to save more."

Hearing this, Elena couldn't help but stick out her thumb and compliment him, "You're indeed good!"

Joey laughed in embarrassment, boldly went up and hugged her, and quickly let go.

He said softly, "Miss, ever since my parents died, no one has been able to treat me as well as you have."

Not only that, but she also helped him many times when he was in trouble.

"Uh," Elena couldn't help but be a little embarrassed, "You really think too much. I did all this with conditions!"
