

The Wife I Never Met Chapter 2

Soon the sun started to rise with its rays penetrating the windows washing over her face, it was as if her face was golden with glow. She then opened her eyes and instinctively looked down her body only to find that she was n.aked, her head throbbed with pain from all the alcohol she had drank at the club the previous night. Her body ached excruciatingly, especially her lower abdomen, she then turn over to find patches of bl00d on the sheets, which proved her suspensions. She then glanced across the room but no was there besides her.

“How much alcohol did i drink last night”

She said this while picking up her clothes and putting them on, she then dashed to the bathroom to wash her face, she then looked at herself in the mirror mockingly and that is when she saw a ring on her finger. Snippets of what had transpired the previous night came back flooding. Yes she was now a gone girl!!

“what the..... Heck right now is not the time to stress myself about these” she then walked out fortunately for her there was a cab which just dropped off someone inthe neighborhood, so she hailed it and drove to her apartment inthe city. When she reached the door, she took out her keys and unlocked the door. She then walked in only to find Lisa and Stacey inside.

“hey what are you doing here, how did you guys even manage to get in”

Lisa took out her spare keys and swing them in Ciara’s face. ” duuuh you gave these to me, remember?”

She just rolled her eyes at them while dragging her tired body toward the bathroom to take her highly needed shower, but before she could even open the door she heard Stacey’s voice.

” Hey will you not fill us up with what happened last night, how you enjoyed yourself with Mr Liaaaam. We saw that you even left with him.”

“Ow my God Ciara!!! You finally gave it up, welcome to womanh00d hahaha”

She just looked at these two crazy friends of hers and said ” fine fine I will fill you in, but first, i desperately need a shower, oghh god and food”.

With that she went straight to the bathroom had a thirty minute long shower, feeling refreshed she walk back to the kitchen where she made her breakfast and sat down to eat.

” Please don’t tell me he could not even feed you, look at how you are stuffing yourself, it is like you have not had food in the past century”

“Its not like that, he just was not there when i woke up plus the only thing that was on my mind was to leave as soon as possible”.

“I am pretty sure he had a valid reason for that, probably something came up at company, a man like him should be always busy.”

Lisa looked at the two friends conversing then shifted her gaze to Ciara’s ring finger then her face again ” owh my God CiCi so you did sleep with him, look at the glow, oh my look at that finger of yours, please tell that you are now a gone girl. “

Ciara’s face blushed beet red from all the embarrassment from her friend,. ” well firstly we did do the deed, as for other things I am way too stress to even think about it. I am leaving the country in two days”.

On the other side of town in an ocean view villa with pine trees surrounding the villa, Liam had returned from the breakfast restaurant that he went to, he turned off the en gine and took out the 2 boxes with their food and 2 cups of expresso with him. He then walked in to the house, which was still quite with no signs of any person living in there. He thought to himself that his new wife might be lazy or very much exhausted from all the playing they did through out the night.

He then put the food on the kitchen counter, then walked upstairs towards his bedroom. The house in normally quiet as th latter did not have much people working for him. He prefers silence. When he reached the master bedroom he c0cked up his eyebrow as he found the room to be empty.

“Where could this woman have gone” this is what he had in mind as he walked to the bathroom, in and out of the spare bedrooms looking for his new wife. Sadly he could not find her anywhere. He massaged his temples as his head started to throb when he realized that he did not have his wife’s contact number.

He then walked back to the kitchen took his breakfast to the area and ate in silence. When he was done he then walked out to find his assistant already waiting for him in the car. He instructed his assistant to do a background check on Ciara and also find her whereabouts as well as her digits. With that out of the way, they headed straight to the company.

As soon as he entered his private elevator there was an uproar in the lobby, it was as if it was the first seeing him. Well to be honest to most of the employees seeing the big boss was like Christmas, something that does not come by that often. So when the ladies saw Liam it will be an understatement to say that they were all drooling over him. All their jaws dropped.

” owh my god the president is dashing hot”

“is he single? Well i do not care, who would not mind sinking in that ship even if it was for just one night”

“dear don’t even think about it, many have tried going that route but instead they were all taught a terrible lesson, some were even fired on the spot”

“owh well I guess I will just look from the sidea.”

Of course Liam did not hear all these comments about him, as he walk out of the elevator on the 35th floor right in to his spacious office, his eyes then fell on to he pile of documents that needed to be signed on his work desk. He let out a long sigh, sitting his but down and getting on the task at hand.

He worked through the documents and would sometimes space out thinking about the person whom he had spent the entire night with, the person whom he he had made the biggest decision with despite the fact that they were merely just strangers at that time.

He found himself smiling when he thought about how well in sync there were through out their play last night. The woman was obedient and timid in a way during their session, which was way different to how she was behaving at Crowded a few hours before. He liked it anyway, he needed to find her and teach her a lesson, at that moment he was thinking of all kind of ways he will use to punish her. “I bet she’ll be begging for mercy”

He then realized that he had spaced out for some as he was now staring at the space before him. With that he shook his head before he continued with his work, he busied himself until the sky turned dark.

