

The Wolf's Bride by Coffee's Tea Chapter 591 -

Chapter 591

They looked for him all over and suddenly turned around to see that he was standing right there.

However, the Conerys chose not to see him.

"Luna, ignore him." Jane knew how useful Luna's identity was and had other intentions. She advised," Andrius is just a country bumpkin. He's nothing. It's pointless trying to reason with him."

The Conerys echoed their agreement.

"That's right, Luna."

"It's not worth getting angry at someone like Andrius."

"You can just ignore Andrius and pretend he doesn't exist."

Alec looked around and suggested,

"Mom, although we couldn't establish marital ties with the Hewitts, the matter was resolved thanks to Luna's relationship. I think we should treat Luna to a meal to thank her and celebrate our family's new beginning!"

As soon as he spoke, everyone voiced their agreement.

"I think so too!"

"We should treat her!"

"Let's go to the Grand Aurelia Hotel. I'll make a reservation right now!"

Luna frowned slightly. To be honest, she still remembered the offensive words that the Conerys said earlier.

However, if she refused them now, they would surely criticize her for putting on airs, so she had no choice but to accept.

Thus, the group brought Luna to the Grand Aurelia Hotel.

The family was in high spirits in the luxurious private room.

“Luna, it’s all thanks to you!”

“Wolf Queen. What a truly powerful title.”

“It’s a pity that the Wolf King is already dead. If he were alive, the Conerys would’ve become one of the top families in the capital.

“Yes, why did the Wolf King die?”

“Sigh...”

The discussion continued, but Luna was not the focus,

It was the deceased Wolf King that captured everyone’s interest. Only Renault and Rainbow exchanged looks and saw the strange expression on each other’s faces. After all, they were both trained.

No matter how amusing something was, they would not laugh unless they could not hold it in.

“Luna...” Jane cleared her throat and smiled. “The Wolf King cared for you deeply and helped you even after you arrived in the capital. Did he leave you any treasure?”

Everyone’s ears perked up.

The Wolf King’s treasures!

This was a topic that excited and tempted everyone.

Luna said truthfully, “It’s not exactly a treasure, but he left me a medical book before he left.”

A medical book!

The Conerys members widened their eyes.

The Wolf King was unparalleled in both martial arts and medicine. The medicine book he left to Luna must undoubtedly be an extremely rare treasure.

Moreover, the Grand Medicinal Competition was coming soon. Luna might be able to achieve a good rank in the competition with that book.

With that thought, Jane quickly said, “Luna, since the Wolf King gave you that medical book, you should study it diligently and not let down his expectations.”

Luna thought the same and nodded. “I will, Grandma.”

Jane liked Luna the more she looked at her, and said kindly, “How about this? The Grand Medicinal Competition is coming up soon, so don’t go back to Su meria for now. It’s too troublesome

“Just stay at Grandma’s for the next few days and study. I’ll tell the others not to disturb you. What do you think?”

Letting Luna study was only one of the reasons. Jane’s other purpose was to establish a good relationship with Luna.

That way, when Luna achieved a good result in the competition, the Conerys could benefit from this relationship and improve their position.

The Wolf’s Bride by Coffee’s Tea Chapter 592 -

Chapter 592

The other point was regarding Andrius.

“Okay,” Luna did not see a problem with it and agreed.

Jane suddenly lowered her voice and asked, “Luna, have you and Andrius ever shared a room before?”

Luna blushed. She looked at Jane, who was staring at her intently. It was clear that she could not avoid this question. “N–no.”

Great!

Jane rejoiced in her heart. She was very displeased with Andrius.

After yesterday’s incident, her dislike for him had reached a new level.

Luna had never shared a room with Andrius before, which meant she was still a chaste woman.

If she achieved a good ranking in the Grand Medicinal Competition, she would truly be the pearl of Sumeria in both beauty and strength.

Jane was fully confident that she could find a top-notch family for Luna to marry.

Then, the Conerys would be able to benefit.

First, she needed to get rid of Andrius.

“Good, good.” Jane’s mind was filled with those thoughts, and she said in satisfaction, “Keep it up, Luna.”

Keep it up...

Luna lowered her head shyly.

This was the most comforting meal for the Conerys.

After two hours, everyone ate and drank their fill and left contentedly.

Back at Kavo Estate, Jane immediately called Andrius.

Smack!

She threw a bank card in front of Andrius and said arrogantly, “There’s a million in there. Take the money and divorce Luna. She’s the woman that the Wolf King favored. You’re not worthy of her!”

Alec, Stella, and the others were also present and taunted Andrius coldly.

Only Luna was taken elsewhere.

“Andrius, look at the clothes you’re wearing. Are you even worthy of being Luna’s husband?”

“Andrius, go away and stop being a nuisance!”

They all mocked him.

In their opinion, Andrius was a nuisance to the Conerys. If not for the Wolf King's influence, the Conerys would have been in trouble this time. Thus, even if they did not find a good family for Luna, they still wanted to get rid of Andrius first.

Andrius only laughed at their words. He said disdainfully, "Do you guys have some sort of illness?"

"My relationship with Luna was Grandpa Belarus' decision. You all have no right to butt in."

"You want to bribe me into divorcing her? I can't believe you even thought of that idea. Don't go defiling love, okay?"

Andrius was not against divorce.

However, he was the Wolf King. How could Jane force him to divorce Luna?

It was a humiliation and an insult!

Divorce was an option, but it should be done openly and honestly, not like this .

If not for the fact that Jane was Luna's grandmother, he would have slapped her right then and made her wet her pants.

After speaking, Andrius left.

"That good-for-nothing..."

Jane's expression darkened as she watched Andrius' departing figure. "Alec, do you have any ideas?"

Alec thought about it and said sinisterly, "Actually, there's uncontested divorce , and there's also contested divorce.

"We can use our connections to have an official confirmation that Andrius and Luna have divorced. Then, we'll obtain the divorce certificate and shove it in Andrius' face."

The Wolf's Bride by Coffee's Tea Chapter 594 -

Chapter 594

The man slowly rolled up the window, so Andrius could not tell who he was.

"Come with me."

After the man spoke, he drove away first.

Andrius had no choice but to follow.

Then, they arrived outside a grove.

"Over here."

The man got out of the car and walked into the grove.

Andrius followed him.

"I've brought him, Boss."

The masked man brought Andrius over and stepped back.

Andrius looked at the person. He looked to be about 1.9 meters tall, and he wore a mask covering half of his face. Only his eyes, nose, and mouth were revealed, so Andrius could not tell who he was.

The only distinct feature was that his left ear was clipped.

Rainbow was tied to a tree, but she looked fine, and her clothes were also unruined.

Beside Rainbow were four masked men standing nearby, holding knives and guns aimed at Rainbow from all directions. They did not give Andrius any chance to save her.

“Andy! I—
I’m sorry. I caused trouble for you...” Rainbow’s eyes instantly lit up upon seeing Andrius, then she spoke guiltily.

“It’s fine,” Andrius responded calmly and walked toward her.

“Stop.”

The leader blocked Andrius’ path and said maliciously, “Andrius Moonshade, you don’t think that I’ll just hand her over to you, do you?”

Andrius narrowed his eyes and said calmly, “What do you want?”

“It’s simple.” The leader smirked and took out a black bottle. “Drink that and I’ll give her to you.”

Andrius took the bottle but did not drink it immediately.

The leader grinned and said,
“Don’t worry, the potion in the bottle won’t kill you. It’ll just paralyze your limbs for a while. I won’t waste so much effort trying to kill a retired Wolf King. It doesn’t benefit me at all.”

After a moment of contemplation, Andrius opened the bottle.

“Andy...”

When Rainbow saw Andrius actually willing to drink the potion for her, she was both moved and worried. She quickly said, “No! Don’t drink it! That potion is ...”

However, Andrius poured the liquid into his mouth before Rainbow could finish.

Glug, glug...

In less than three seconds, Andrius finished drinking the potion and threw the bottle away.

7.2

Then, he looked at the leader and said coldly, “I drank it. Now, it’s time for you to keep your promise.”

Clap, clap, clap!

The masked man clapped thrice and gave Andrius a thumbs-up. “As expected of the Wolf King. You sure have guts! Let her go!”

He signaled to his men.

They immediately released Rainbow, got into their waiting cars, and quickly left the scene.

“Andy, how are you?” Rainbow hurriedly rushed over.

“I’m...”

Just as Andrius was about to speak, the potion took effect, and his body weakened and collapsed to the ground.

Rainbow was greatly alarmed and quickly supported Andrius, helping him sit on a nearby rock.

“Andy, what do I do now?” Rainbow was in a panic. This was her first time seeing Andrius so weak.

“T-touch my... pocket...”

Andrius glanced around laboriously and did not see anyone, so he planned to let Rainbow perform acupuncture in his place.

However, his speech was strained, and he kept stuttering.

“Huh?” Rainbow blushed and said shyly, “Andy, i-is that... appropriate?”

Although that was what Rainbow said, her hand still reached out obediently.

“In the pocket... There’s... silver needle...”

Oh, he wanted her to find his needles.

Rainbow felt embarrassed and searched his pocket, then found the silver needles.

“I’ll... teach you how to... i–i–insert... the needles... Listen carefully and d– don’t... do it wrong... or it’ll be troublesome.....”

Rainbow nodded solemnly.

After a long, unique, and blush– inducing acupuncture session, the poison in Andrius’ body was neutralized.

Rainbow was flushed with exhaustion and gasped for breath.

“Let’s go back.”

Andrius asked Rainbow to help him put on his clothes and managed to stand up. He realized that he still felt fragile, so he asked her to help him as they walked.

When they emerged from the grove...

To their surprise, there was a woman coming along the road. She arrived at the car just in time to see them hugging each other.

Her figure was graceful, and her face was breathtaking, but her expression was cold as ice. It was Luna.

The Wolf’s Bride by Coffee’s Tea Chapter 595 -

Chapter 595

Luna never expected this. She tried so hard to separate Andrius and Rainbow, but...

The two of them actually came to a small grove.

Furthermore, Andrius’ clothes were disheveled, and Rainbow was panting...

Moreover, Rainbow was helping Andrius stand...

Luna easily figured out what happened between the two. It seemed quite intense. For a moment, her face was cold like frost, and her clear eyes seemed to turn into ice.

“Luna...”

Rainbow saw Luna’s expression and instinctively let go of Andrius’ hand.

This scene made Luna even more suspicious.

Without saying a word, she pulled Rainbow into the car and locked the door.

Then, she came back and confronted Andrius, “Andrius Moonshade, do you still call yourself a man? How could you lay your hands on Rainbow? She’s... She’s your younger cousin by name!”

Andrius was completely confused and quickly explained, “It’s not what you think...”

“I saw it with my own eyes. What else do you have to say?” Luna was furious and interrupted Andrius loudly. “Andrius Moonshade, listen closely. You’re worse than a beast!”

“I don’t care what you do outside, but Rainbow is like my sister! I don’t want her to have any connections to you! If I find out that you ever tried to make a move on her again, I won’t remain polite!”

Luna’s voice was shrill as if she had to bite through every word before saying them.

Andrius was exasperated, but he was too weak. He could only wait for Luna to finish speaking, then said earnestly, “It’s a misunderstanding!”

“What misunderstanding?”

Luna’s spittle sprayed on his face.

Then, she got into the car.

Vroom...

She stepped on the gas pedal, and the car shot away, leaving Andrius behind in a cloud of exhaust. The car disappeared from sight.

Luna was still angry and said coldly, “Rainbow, you’re a university graduate, so you should have some sense!”

“If Andrius uses sweet talk and tries to seduce you, you should kick him away and stay away from that scumbag!”

Scumbag...

Rainbow did know whether to laugh or cry.

Andrius was not a scumbag. He was the Wolf King!

However, she could not say that to Luna. Instead, she defended him. “Luna, you’ve misunderstood. It’s not what you think. Actually, Andy is...”

Andy?!

Luna was even more enraged when she heard that nickname. What kind of spell did he cast on Rainbow to make her call him by a nickname?

She interrupted Rainbow furiously, “Rainbow, from today onward, you’re not to have any contact with Andrius!

“How could I not have realized how good he is at charming unassuming girls? Remember, you must not have any contact with him in the future.”

Rainbow finally understood why Andrius and Luna never developed any feelings despite spending so much time together.

With Luna’s fiery temper, it was considered a miracle that Andrius always helped her. He was truly a good model of a man and a caring elder brother.

If Luna found out that Rainbow did not listen to her lecture at all and was thinking about everything that was good about Andrius, she might be so angry that she spit blood.

In Kavo Estate, after Luna left, Jane and the others were still plotting to separate her and Andrius.

When she came back, Jane immediately came up and said with a smile, “Luna, you and Andrius...” “Grandma!”

The Wolf's Bride by Coffee's Tea Chapter 596 -

Chapter 596

Luna's head hurt at the mention of that name, so she stopped Jane before the latter could finish. "I have a slight headache from the cold wind. I'll go rest for a while."

Then, she went straight back to her room without caring about the Conerys' reaction.

Rainbow also returned to her room.

Jane did not know what the problem was and was puzzled.

Just then, Alec came back.

"Mom!"

He had a mysterious look on his face and lowered his voice to say, "I asked someone to check and found out that Luna and Andrius never registered their marriage."

"What?" Jane was startled at first and then delighted. "You mean that their marriage is fake? It's just for show?"

"Yes!"

Jane was overjoyed. "A fake marriage is perfect!"

It was no wonder Luna did not like mentioning this topic and avoided it several times. It was because she was afraid of this matter being exposed.

In that case, making her divorce Andrius was much easier.

"Mom, what should we do next?"

Alec was antsy.

If the Conerys acted as matchmakers and let Luna marry into a wealthy family, the Conerys' status would rise significantly!

Alec's eyes were bright and eager.

"We need an opportunity." Jane narrowed her eyes, her gaze flashing with cunning wisdom. We just need to make Luna completely disappointed with Andrius and find an excuse to drive him away. Then, everything will naturally fall into place."

All the other members of the family nodded in agreement.

Jane pondered for a moment and said sinisterly, "You all, plan for Andrius to visit a club and secretly take some photos.

"The more explicit and intense, the better! At least, capture him entering and leaving the club."

After she said this, all the family members had knowing smiles on their faces.

The third son, Dwight, immediately volunteered. "Mom, this is something my son, Lester, is very familiar with. Leave it to him!"

"Good!"

Jane never expected that the usually idle and decadent Lester Conery could actually be of use one day. She immediately agreed and instructed, "Tell Lester that his monthly allowance will be doubled if he handles this well."

"No problem!"

Dwight then called Lester to explain the situation.

"Don't worry, Dad. Leave it to me!" Lester patted his chest confidently, showing that he had everything under control.

Half an hour later, Andrius returned. He was almost completely healed after this period of recovery.

"Andrius!"

Lester immediately approached Andrius warmly upon seeing him. “We misunderstood you earlier. I admit that we were wrong about this matter, but we’re still family. You won’t hold grudges, right?”

Alec and his brothers also walked over.

“Andrius, we weren’t very pleasant with our words during this period. However, you were magnanimous and didn’t argue with us. This made me feel ashamed. There are no grudges that can’t be resolved among men, especially since we’re family.

“How about this...” Alec said sincerely, “We’ll treat you to a few drinks and put this matter behind us. From now on, we’ll all get along harmoniously, alright?”

Andrius was very surprised.

Why did these people’s attitudes change so dramatically after he took a short trip outside?

However, he did not think much of it and just thought that they turned over a new leaf. Thus, he agreed. “No problem!”

The group went to the bar where Lester deliberately ordered hard liquor.

The Wolf’s Bride by Coffee’s Tea Chapter 597 -

Chapter 597

Unbeknownst to him, this kind of liquor was child’s play to Andrius.

They toasted and drank.

Cup after cup, they drank and laughed with Andrius, but in reality, they had already begun executing their plan. They were just waiting for Andrius to get drunk.

Andrius did not suspect anything and continued to down cup after cup.

On the second floor of the bar, the Second War God watched the lively Andrius in astonishment.

The Wolf King was really the Wolf King.

In just two hours, the Wolf King neutralized his pill and was enjoying drinks here. It was clear that the Wolf King's strength was remarkable and far exceeded his own.

This only strengthened the Second War God's determination to kill Andrius.

"Andrius Moonshade, oh, Andrius Moonshade, one of us will have to fall. I'm not ready to leave this wonderful world, so it'll have to be you who dies!"

The Second War God's eyes flickered with a sinister light.

He turned and commanded, "Seven."

"Here!"

"Is that woman in position?"

The Second War God had already prepared a new plan to deal with Andrius.

"Yes, everything is ready. Princess Yule is already under our control. We can administer the drug to her and make her appear wherever you want her to be."

The Second War God could not help but praise, "Well done!"

Princess Yule...

She was the princess of Bardan, a nation that was affiliated with Florence. Her real name was Anna Faulkner.

She had been obsessed with medicine since she was young. After numerous pleas, she finally accompanied her father, Laurent, the King of Bardan, to Florence to observe the Grand Medicinal Competition.

The Second War God had his men take her under control to lead her into Andrius bed so that the two would have an inappropriate relationship. This would enrage King Laurent and make him take action against Andrius.

That was the Second War God's plan!

A sinister smile appeared on his face. "Then, get ready!"

In the bar, Lester said admiringly, “Andrius, I’ve been drinking for many years, but it’s my first time encountering someone who can handle alcohol so well. You go ahead and drink. I’m going to the gents.”

Andrius did not think much of it and nodded. “Mmh.”

22

“Andrius!”

“Andrius...”

Alec and the others also stood up, swaying and supporting each other. They used various excuses to leave the table and make way for the next stage of their plan.

Andrius did not think much of that either.

After all, the ABV was over 40%. That was the limit for average people.

After the group left the table, they did not really go to the gents. Instead, they told the lady they hired, “Go and seduce the guy at Table 8. If you can get him into your bed, this five grand is yours!”

Five grand!

That was like money falling from the sky.

After all, this lady would usually only be paid a couple hundred for her services.

“Sure!” The lady smiled coquettishly and said confidently, “Don’t worry, I’ll get him. I guarantee that he’ll need the wall’s support to walk tomorrow!”

After saying that, she sashayed her way into the bar.

On the second floor, when the Second War God saw Alec and the others leave, he immediately gave the command. “Seven, execute the plan!”

“Yes!”

Andrius was completely unaware of what was happening. He was drinking and eating his fill, enjoying his time.

Swoosh...

Just then, an exotic beauty appeared in Andrius' sight.

It was none other than Princess Yule, also known as Anna Faulkner!

The Wolf's Bride by Coffee's Tea Chapter 598 -

Chapter 598

However, at that moment, her gaze was dull, and her actions were mechanical. It seemed like she was a puppet on strings who had lost her autonomy.

It was clear that she was being controlled by someone.

“Hm?”

Andrius frowned slightly.

As the Wolf King, he had traveled to many countries.

Bardan was one of the countries that Florence was affiliated with, so he had been there several times.

Thus, he recognized Princess Yule at a glance.

“Wow, what a babe!”

“Tsk, tsk, tsk, I'd be willing to exchange ten years of my life to have one night with her!”

“This woman belongs in heaven! How can she stay on earth?”

“Babe...”

Just then, several seemingly drunk men stood up and blocked Anna's way, spewing obscene language and leerin g at her.

Many others also approached her.

Some customers who wanted to take advantage of the situation to make adva nces on her reluctantly went back to their seats.

That was how it was in a bar.

If a beauty like Princess Yule appeared alone, she would naturally attract the attention of those with malicious intent.

Just as Anna was about to fall into the clutches of those men...

"Get lost!"

An icy cold voice resounded through the bar as Andrius walked over.

"Hey..."

"You little punk, are you trying to steal our prey?"

"Get lost. We got our eyes on her first. You can wait to get the leftovers!"

"Hurry up and get lost, or don't blame us for being rude..."

Andrius could not be bothered with those people and knocked them all down with a punch. Then, he brought Princess Yule back to his seat.

After checking her pulse, he discovered that she had been poisoned, but it wa s not a serious issue.

Then, he took out a silver needle and treated her.

However, as soon as the needle touched her, he felt his vision go black, and he collapsed on the table.

"Tsk, tsk, tsk..."

The Second War God could not help but smirk when he saw this scene from upstairs. "As expected of the Insect Doctor! Even the Wolf King is defenseless against a simple bug. Amazing. Simply amazing!”

Beside him, Seven hurriedly flattered. “Boss, with you and the Insect Doctor working together, dealing with the Wolf King will be a piece of cake.”

The Second War God snorted coldly, “Don’t be careless. Andrius is the Wolf King. He has experienced countless battles and conspiracies, but he’s managed to survive to this day unscathed. As long as he’s still alive, we can’t let our guard down.”

Seven was startled and quickly responded, “Yes, I understand.”

“Good” The Second War God looked down at Andrius and ordered in a low voice, “Stick to the plan and leave no room for mistakes.”

The plan..

That was to make Andrius sleep with Anna and have the furious King Laurent of Bardan kill him in retaliation!

The Second War God was just a minor player and would not bear any consequences.

Yes!

Seven immediately led a group to bring Anna and Andrius to a hotel room with a large bed.

“Have fun, Andrius! It’s a waste to give you such a stunner, but this will be your last chance to enjoy it!”

Seven cast an envious glance at the stunningly beautiful Anna. Then, he followed the plan and treated Anna’s poison, and sprayed Andrius with a potent medicine.

He quickly left

Ngh

Not long after, Anna regained consciousness. She shook her dizzy head and began to survey her surroundings.

Glancing down, she saw Andrius lying beside her.

The Wolf's Bride by Coffee's Tea Chapter 599 -

Chapter 599

“Ahh!”

With a shrill scream, Anna kicked Andrius to the ground.

Andrius also woke up from the commotion.

“Huh?”

His eyes narrowed when he saw the now seemingly normal Anna. He suddenly realized that he had fallen into a scheme!

“Get out! Get out of here!”

As the princess of a country, Anna was pure and untainted. She had never even touched the hand of a man other than her father, let alone shared a bed with one.

She immediately threw pillows and anything else she could find at Andrius, screaming and driving him away

Andrius knew that she was also a victim, so he did not say much and walked out of the room.

However, just as he took two steps, he suddenly felt his body burning up. His mind was filled with one thought—to transform into a wolf to pursue the true essence of life and unleash his primal wildness!

The potent drug was taking effect!

“Ah, y—
you. Stay away. If you come any closer, I’ll... Anna paled and kept backing aw ay when she saw Andrius' eyes turn blood-red as he approached her with heavy breaths.

However, there was nowhere to hide in the small room.

Soon, Andrius pinned her down

After an hour of intense and indescribable activities...

Andrius slowly regained his senses.

Andrius naturally understood what happened when he saw the mess and quickly stopped his indecent actions. He apologized sincerely. "I'm sorry. There was an accident..."

Plop...

Anna did not respond. She simply lay there in a daze, tears of despair falling from the corners of her eyes.

Her delicate shoulders trembled as she sobbed.

Andrius did not expect this situation at all and simply covered her body.

Swoosh...

Just then, countless guards dressed similarly to Anna rushed in.

When they saw the scene inside, they immediately surrounded Andrius without hesitation, tying him up tightly to prevent him from escaping.

"Anna My daughter..

King Laurent also arrived. When he saw Andrius, he knew what had happened without needing to ask. He roared like thunder and his eyes turned bloodshot. He wanted this Florencian to pay the price—the price of death!

"Die! You f*cker! How dare you do this to my daughter? Die!"

Laurent immediately pulled out his gun and released the safety, and aimed the muzzle at Andrius, ready to kill him on the spot.

“No, Your Majesty!” The captain of the guards beside him hurriedly stopped him.

The guard said rapidly, “This is Florence, and he’s a Florencian. We’re from an affiliated nation, so we can’t casually kill their people!”

Laurent’s eyes were bloodshot, not hearing a word. He struggled while shouting. “Get out of my way! I’m going to kill him now. I’ll kill this scoundrel who dared to lay his filthy paws on my daughter!”

The guards who saw this all rushed up to restrain Laurent.

“Your Majesty, you mustn’t!”

“Don’t act rashly, Your Majesty!”

“Your Majesty, we must abide by the law!”

The captain of the guards continued, “Your Majesty, please don’t be rash. Just send him to the police station I believe that if you reveal your identity, he won’t be able to survive. Don’t ruin the whole country because of a moment of anger!”

The fierce light in Laurent’s eyes gradually dissipated, but his gaze was still fierce like a dormant beast. “Send him to the police station now.”

The Wolf’s Bride by Coffee’s Tea Chapter 600 -

Chappado

Chapter 600

Laurent suppressed his anger and ordered his men to move out while breathing heavily.

Half an hour later, in the police station in the capital.

Facing the captain, Roger Mercado, Laurent bluntly stated his identity. "I am King Laurent of Bardan. This beast violated my daughter, Princess Yule!

"This is not just r*pe. It's a great humiliation to Bardan!

"This is also an international matter. As the King of Bardan, I demand the highest accountability for this beast with severe and swift punishment!"

At that moment, Laurent was like an enraged lion.

Roger was instantly stunned.

Violating the princess of a country was indeed a serious case. The highest penalty could be the death penalty to be carried out immediately!

After verifying Laurent's identity, Roger's expression became extremely solemn. "Your Majesty, please rest assured. We'll give you an explanation after we investigate the truth. We appreciate your patience."

Laurent shouted coldly. "What else is there to investigate? The facts are right in front of us!"

Roger said helplessly, "Your Majesty, no matter what, I have to follow the judicial procedures in Florence..."

Only then did Laurent accept that he had to wait.

Then, Roger began interrogating Andrius.

As the father of the victim and the king of a country, Laurent had the right to be present.

Roger looked at Andrius with disgust. "Confess on your own. Don't think about playing tricks or expect someone to rescue you. You've committed a heinous crime. Don't think you can escape."

His tone was incredibly icy.

Andrius simply said, "There's something odd about this incident. I was framed."

“Framed?” Laurent immediately erupted in anger. “The sequence of events is clear. You won’t escape punishment by using that as an excuse! I demand he be held accountable immediately!”

Roger said helplessly, “Your Highness, since he denies it, we have to reconstruct the crime scene and clarify everything before a final verdict can be passed on. Of course, you can be assured that if he did it, there’s no way he can escape.”

Laurent’s expression was dark, but he had no choice but to accept it for now.

Then, Andrius was detained. He remained silent. He was contemplating when he fell into this trap and who set him up.

The next day, in Kavo Estate, Alec and the others did not look happy.

The lady they hired told them that Andrius was no longer at the bar when she went over, so she was unable to do anything with him.

“That kid... Could he have discovered our plan?” Alec muttered discontentedly.

“It’s possible. That guy is very cunning. He won’t fall for schemes easily.

“What do we do now, Alec? Andrius will surely be more vigilant after escaping this time. It’ll be harder to try the same trick again.”

The group began to brew a new plan.

“Dad, Uncle Alec, Uncle Bernard, look at the news!”

At that moment, Lester’s eyes were wide with shock.

The three men did not understand, but they pulled out their phones.

A piece of news popped out.

The title was eye-catching and written in bold red letters-
“Andrius Moonshade assaults Princess Yule of Bardan, Anna Faulkner!”
