

The Wolf's Bride by Coffee's Tea Chapter 676 -

”
.

Chapter 676

“It’s like your mouth was blessed by the gods. It’s said that with just your mouth, there are no legs that you can’t pry apart.

“From elegant single ladies in their 40s to innocent girls in their late teens, as long as you open your mouth, there’s no one who can escape.

“Any female will stop what they are doing to look at you.

“Over the course of five years, you’ve had over a thousand girlfriends and written over a million words worth of love letters. All the words strung together could circle Sumeria two and a half times.”

“You also earned a series of honorary titles like ‘Time Management Master’, ‘Prince Casanova’, ‘Perpetual Motion Machine’, and more.”

Andrius put on a fake smile. “Now, you’re telling me that you’re face blind? My ass! Why don’t you continue to tell me that you were raised by well-educated parents, and you’re clean and pure?”

Dax had nothing to say when faced with the undeniable facts.

“A-a-a-a-a...” He wanted to find a hole to crawl into. He covered his face with one hand and tried to stop Andrius from speaking with the other, saying, “Alright, just shut up, Wolf King!”

Andrius pushed Dax back into his seat again and said with a smile, “So, are you still going to pretend to be innocent?”

Dax was speechless.

The Wolf King was merciless, and he was also stronger than Dax, so there was nothing else Dax could say.

“Fine.”

Andrius put away his smile and said seriously, “As long as you help me come up with a plan to perfectly handle this matter, I won’t send these documents to your beloved wife.

“I also won’t send these to the soldiers in the Southern Warzone, and I definitely won’t post them online. so that the whole of Florence will know.”

Damn it.

This was a threat!

It was a blatant threat!

Dax wanted to cry.

In front of the emperor, the people of Florence, and especially in front of his hundreds and thousands of soldiers, he had always maintained the image of an iron-blooded man and a doting husband.

If that lunatic Andrius exposed him....

His image would collapse in an instant, and he would lose all his reputation!

“Stop! Stop talking. I agree.”

Dax glanced at Andrius and downed a few more cups. After dispelling the frustration in his heart, he began to give advice.

“Actually, this matter is quite simple. Women are...”

Dax suddenly grinned, and his figure instantly seemed taller.

At that moment, Andrius had the impression that Dax was possessed by the spirit of a love expert, unstoppable and invincible. He was elegant, suave, and carefree. He passed through countless beauties, never leaving a trace of attachment.

“Wolf King, have you heard of this saying?”

Andrius did not know what he was getting at and asked, "What saying?"

"A girl's feelings are like poetry!" Dax's eyes sparkled with wisdom. "Girls always like to fantasize about strange and extremely romantic and surprising things."

"As the Wolf King, you're the embodiment of romance and surprise. You're the most potent aphrodisiac in the world. Just a whiff of you makes people unable to resist. Even if they know it's like a moth to a flare, they will still throw themselves into the fire."

Andrius was speechless.

Wow.

Sure enough, Dax was an expert and spoke with experience. His words instantly struck the heart of the matter.

Dax continued, "However, the majority of women will likely give up on pursuing you as long as they know you're already taken. At the very least, they'll bury their own feelings deep in their hearts."

Andrius nodded in agreement.

Yes, Halle and Rainbow also used this tactic.

However, the roles were reversed.

"Of course, this trick only works on normal women. If they're not normal, they might... get more excited instead. After all, how can they resist the temptation of someone else's husband, especially when that man is the Wolf King himself?" Dax shook his head and said seriously as if he had already let go of himself.

Andrius thought about it and felt that his words made sense. "Go on."

"There's nothing else!" Dax said in exasperation, "Find someone to pretend to be your girlfriend and just go for it!"

“But who do I find to act as my girlfriend?” Andrius scratched his head and asked.

“Don’t you have many options right here?” Dax glanced around the bar like a cunning fox and said, “Look around the hall and just flirt if you see someone you’re interested in.”

The Wolf’s Bride by Coffee’s Tea Chapter 677 -

Chapter 677

Flirt?

That was like asking for Andrius’ life..

He had grown up on Tiger Mountain with Old Hagstorm since his childhood.

After leaving the mountain, he went to the western border, established the Lycantroops, and fought on the battlefield.

When it came to killing, he had developed his skills into an art form.

However, when it came to flirting, he felt a bit clumsy.

“Go on.” Dax saw how clueless Andrius looked and could not help but feel a bit of satisfaction and revenge. He suggested,
“You’re skilled in various forms of divination and fortune-telling. Why don’t you read the fortunes of those girls?”

“As long as you start a conversation and show a bit of your abilities, you’ll be able to snag them easily.”

That seemed to make sense.

Thus, under Dax’s urging, Andrius awkwardly walked toward a table a little further away.

Two girls were seated there. One was dressed in a schoolgirl uniform, making his morals scream out at him. The other was wearing a pink tank top that was rather alluring. The two of them were chatting happily, and their laughter was like bells tinkling in the air.

“Hey, ladies.”

Andrius approached the girl in the tank top and greeted her politely.

“Hey,” she looked at him in surprise and responded politely.

The girl in the uniform seemed to realize something and got very excited. She leaned close to the girl in the tank top’s ear and whispered something. Her voice was very soft, but Andrius’ sharp ears easily caught what she was saying.

“Tina, this guy seems to be hitting on you.”

Those words nearly caught Andrius off guard.

Well.

He had not even spoken yet, but they could already see through his intentions. Was he that obvious?

However, since he already took the first step, he forced himself to continue. “Uh, I noticed your aura is a little dark, so your luck might not be...”

“Oh, please!” Before he could finish, the tank-top girl interrupted him with a disdainful expression. “Mister, your way of flirting is so old-fashioned...”

“Pfft”

The uniformed girl burst into laughter.

In a private room not far away, Dax doubled over with laughter

It was so fun watching the Wolf King being humiliated!

He had not been this delighted in a long time.

Chapt

Whoosh...

Andrius suddenly grabbed the girl's hand and started feeling her pulse. "Don't move. I'll diagnose you."

He looked so serious that the girl was dumbfounded.

However, this was a bar. The girl did not really react when he grabbed her hand. She was just a little confused.

Earlier, he was reading her aura. Now, he was diagnosing her.

Was this a new way of flirting?

The uniformed girl leaned in and whispered, "Tina, he probably just wants to take advantage of you."

Swoosh...

Before she could finish, Andrius suddenly let go of the girl's hand and looked at her with a frightened expression. He quickly jumped a few steps back.

The girl in the tank top was startled by his reaction and instinctively asked, "What's wrong?"

Andrius shook his head and said, "Love is momentary. If you want to live longer, you'd better seek treatment early!"

She was confused for a moment and asked, "What do you mean by that?"

The uniformed girl beside her leaned in again. She glanced at Andrius, then whispered, "Tina, he's saying you have AIDS and should seek treatment."

"Bullshit!" The tank-top girl grew furious from embarrassment and splashed her drink on Andrius' face. "You have AIDS! Your entire family has AIDS!"

Fortunately, Andrius reacted quickly and dodged in time. He was just about to explain, but the girl stood up in annoyance, shot him a glare, and moved to another spot.

The uniformed girl followed suit.

Andrius' 'debut' ended in failure.

When he went back to the private room, he asked in confusion, “Dax, what’s up with that girl? I reminded her out of kindness, but not only did she not appreciate it, she even threw her drink at me...”

Dax looked at him like he was looking at a fool.

He said in exasperation, “That girl actually had a good temper. If she had a fiery temper, she might have already thrown sulphuric acid at you.”

Andrius was stunned. He looked at Dax’s strange gaze and asked curiously, “Why? I was just telling the truth.”

Dax instantly laughed when he saw Andrius’ dim-witted expression.

After laughing, he shook his head and explained, “These girls come to bars dressed the way they are because they’re hoping for a romantic encounter. To be blunt, they’re waiting to hook up with someone.”

The Wolf’s Bride by Coffee’s Tea Chapter 678 -

Chapter 678

“When they meet someone they’re satisfied with, they’ll leave with the guy and head to a hotel for a pleasurable experience.

“However, you publicly exposed them and were so explicit about it. That’s just embarrassing them.

“It also shattered any idea other men might have had of approaching her. It would be stranger if she didn’t get angry at you.”

That seemed to make sense.

Andrius was struck by realization after hearing the explanation.

“Forget it.” Dax shook his head and patted Andrius’ shoulder. He walked out and said, “Watch closely and learn. I’ll only demonstrate once.”

Andrius was stunned for a moment before following closely behind.

Dax went to a table with a beautiful woman who exuded an air of elegance and coldness.

When he walked over, he picked up the woman's glass and downed it directly. This made Andrius dumbfounded.

The woman was also stunned and looked at Dax with a confused expression. Her clear and expressive eyes flickered.

"Are you wondering why I drank your beer, babe?"

Dax tilted his head back slightly and looked at the woman in interest. A slightly seductive smile curled on his lips.

The woman did not speak.

However, her expression changed. It was clear that she was intrigued by Dax's words.

"This isn't beer." He played with the glass, shook his head, and said with a smile, "This is a river of warmth. It's a vice, and it's only... a remedy for the dull and gloomy days."

The woman's expression suddenly changed, and a deep smile appeared on her lips.

"However, it's a shame..." Dax leaned in closer, his voice low and husky. "This remedy is only temporary.

It's capable of alleviating physical fatigue for a time, but not the endless agony of the soul."

Dax understood these women too well.

Everyone who came here was seeking excitement and yearned for it.

It boiled down to the woman understanding the inappropriate desires of the man, and the man understanding the feigned aloofness of the woman.

As soon as Dax finished speaking, the woman grew restless, wanting to engage in a deeper conversation with him

However, he suddenly stepped forward and held the woman's hand. "Don't speak. Let me see if I can alleviate your agony."

The woman froze, and her alluring lips fell open.

Then, her eyes examined Dax from head to toe, and she said suggestively. "Then tell me. What agony are you experiencing?"

Dax caressed her hand and smiled. "This agony... accumulates as countless thoughts. It has the bitterness of swallowing grievances. And, at this moment, it's the agony of meeting here but being unable to embrace each other."

The first two lines struck deep within the woman's heart.

Then, when Dax suddenly added a provocative line, the woman's heart instantly skipped a beat. She leaned closer to him and whispered, "Who says we can't?"

Then, she placed her hand on his and gave him a seductive glance.

After that, the two entered an enchanting atmosphere.

Dax used various techniques, and the cold woman eventually opened like a flower in bloom, her face flushing.

Even the girls at the nearby tables could not help but join in.

"Handsome, could you take a look at me too? I've been in a lot of agony lately."

"Handsome, meeting here is our fate. How can you favor one person and neglect the others?"

"Handsome, I also feel quite stifled lately. Could you help me out?"

“Handsome, I’ve been feeling weak lately. Help me recharge!”

“Handsome...”

A group of beautiful women surrounded Dax, flirting and teasing him without pause. They even formed a circle and waited their turn to interact with him.

Damn.

Was this even possible?

Dax was on a roll!

Andrius was dumbfounded.

However, what surprised him more was what happened next.

When the cold and aloof woman saw so many beauties trying to compete for Dax’s attention, she said unhappily, “Ladies, don’t go too far. He’s my man. You all...”

As she spoke, she pulled Dax into her embrace, preparing to lay her claim on him.

Before she could finish, he leaned in close and whispered something into her ear.

Then, as Andrius watched in astonishment, the woman let go of Dax and obediently listened to his words.

Unbelievable!

It was simply unbelievable.

Andrius secretly gave him a thumbs-up.

“Andrius, come.”

At that moment, Dax emerged from the midst of the women and pulled Andrius over as well.

Chappi 60

The Wolf's Bride by Coffee's Tea Chapter 679 -

When the women saw Andrius, they instinctively took a few steps back, sizing him up with some disdain.

“Why did you bring him here?”

“Is he going to tell us that we have AIDS too?”

“He’s not our type...”

“Tsk...”

It was clear that the girls had witnessed the previous scene and were still apprehensive about Andrius. They kept their distance from him.

“What are you saying?”

Dax pretended to be displeased and scolded, “Let me tell you. My friend here has some incredible skills. Don’t underestimate him.”

The ladies started to chatter at his words.

“What incredible skills could he have?”

“Is he great at using his tongue?”

“Or is he well-endowed and can last a long time?”

“Maybe he’s a master of every position.”

Even though Andrius was known as the Wolf King, he could not help but blush at the provocative words from those ladies.

Fortunately, the bar was dimly lit with colorful lights, so the girls could not really see his complexion.

“His skill is quite miraculous.”

Dax gathered the girls together and said mysteriously. "He's skilled in medicine. He can transform a 40-year-old woman into a 20-year-old girl!"

"Really?"

"Is he that good?"

"Can he change skin tone as well?"

"Are you just pulling our legs?"

The ladies' repulsion toward Andrius decreased significantly. They cautiously looked at him and asked questions that left him speechless.

The situation looked good.

Seeing this, Dax nudged Andrius and said, "Come on, pick one and show them your special skill. There's no need to go too far. Just relieve the tension in their muscles and maintain their figures"

Well

Andrius walked straight toward one of the girls "I'll try my best!"

The woman was stunned and pointed to herself "Me?"

Before she could finish speaking Andrius had already transformed into a whirlwind, moving around her

Bam!

Crash!

Smack!

He could tell that this woman was around her late twenties and had given birth in the past couple of years, causing her figure to change.

He was currently using a special technique that could help her maintain her figure perfectly and prevent any rebound.

However, as he performed the technique, the girl cried out in pain.

“Ah... Argh... You’re killing me...”

Her screams were ear-piercing.

Then, she ran away while screaming.

The other women nearby were all shocked by this scene.

He was not helping them maintain their figure. It was premeditated murder!

They all scattered in less than five seconds.

All that remained was a dumbfounded Andrius and an annoyed Dax.

“You...”

Dax was completely disappointed in Andrius, then left in anger. He did not want to care about Andrius anymore. He could not teach him. He really could not.

“Wait!”

Seeing that Dax was also preparing to leave, Andrius quickly blocked his way and smiled. “They can leave, but you can’t.”

Dax looked like he had given up. “Andrius, you might as well just kill me.”

“Kill you?” Andrius chuckled and wrapped an arm around his shoulder. “We’re like brothers. I definitely won’t kill you. However... I’m not sure whether or not your wife will.”

Dax instinctively felt that something was off when he saw Andrius’ teasing smile.

The Wolf’s Bride by Coffee’s Tea Chapter 680 -

Chapter 680

Dax instinctively stopped and asked, “What do you mean?”

“Come and take a look at this.”

Andrius pulled up a video on his phone which showed the entire process of Dax flirting with the ladies earlier.

“Fuck...”

Dax never expected Andrius to be so crafty.

He instinctively reached out to grab the phone, but Andrius was one step ahead and took it away.

Now, Dax was truly at a loss. He almost spat out blood.

“Forget it...” He exchanged a glance with Andrius and conceded, hanging his head. “Someone like you won’t be able to learn in a short amount of time.

“Let’s skip this step and get straight to the point.”

“What do we do?”

“I have a good friend who has a daughter.” Dax was genuinely exhausted and said directly, “She just arrived here a few days ago.

“She has an outstanding figure and appearance, and she’ll overshadow 99% of the girls. Let her pretend to be your girlfriend and help you fend off those unwanted admirers.

“I’ll call her right now and ask her to come help.”

After saying that, he took out his phone and sent a message.

Unwanted admirers...

That phrase made Andrius feel strange.

However, he would not mull over it at this point. He just asked curiously, “You never mentioned that you knew such a beautiful girl before.”

“Well, it’s a long story.” Dax paused and then summarized, “My friend is in Kyoto, and his family has some influence there.

“However, his family arranged a marriage for the girl, which led to her resisting. She ‘defected’ from Kiyoto and came to the Southern Warzone to seek refuge with me.”

Tsk.

She was even an affluent lady from Kiyoto.

Andrius shook his head and did not think too much about it.

Not long after, a pleasant voice from afar sounded. The voice was somewhat familiar. “Uncle Dax, just so you know, I won’t help if the guy is too disappointing!”

The voice got closer and closer, and eventually, a beautiful young woman appeared in front of Andrius. She had pigtails and wore a white blouse, knee-length black skirt, and pure white socks, giving her a youthful vibe.

However, what astonished Andrius was that the girl was none other than Emmy Gaines, the girl who had fallen down the cliff with him that night!

“It’s you!”

“It’s you!”

Andrius and Emmy shouted at almost the same time.

One was filled with shock, and the other was full of delight.

“What, you two know each other?”

This time, it was Dax’s turn to be surprised. His gaze shifted between the two. Then, he said, “In that case, you two can talk. I won’t interfere too much.”

After saying that, he sat down nearby, poured himself a few glasses of wine, and downed them one after another, seemingly trying to console his heart that had been deeply wounded by Andrius.

When he was done drinking, he left on his own.

Andrius briefly explained the situation. “There’s a woman pursuing me, but I don’t want anything to do with her. So, I want you to pretend to be my girlfriend to dissuade her.”

Emmy listened to his words and readily agreed. “No problem. Leave it to me. I’ll make sure she gives up on you.”

A cunning glint flashed in her clear eyes as she said that.

Andrius suddenly had a bad feeling when he looked at Dax and Emmy. However, he could not pinpoint exactly what was off.

“However...” Emmy grinned and said, “Mister, you have to tell me your name at his time, or I won’t be able to perform well...”

“Andrius Moonshade.”

“Okay, Mr. Moonshade,” Emmy nodded and greeted him sweetly, giving him goosebumps. Then, she continued, “Mr. Moonshade, call the person pursuing you and ask her to come here. I’ll deal with her for you!”

“Okay.”

Andrius used the Wolf King’s number he gave to Luna and sent her a message.

The content was simple.

“Ms. Crestfall, I’m at Starry Sky Bar. Come join me for a couple of drinks.”

Spin to Claim Your Surprise Reward!