

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1571

Chapter 1571 Manifestor

Tigris was visibly displeased that Flaxseed called him a demon beast. A surge of aura burst from Tigris' body and struck Flaxseed, who grunted and collapsed to the ground while wearing a grimace. He was visibly in agony.

Colin was, by that point, deathly pale from fright. He had never encountered such a beast. Jared, on the other hand, was frowning solemnly.

“This fellow is Jared, Tigris,” Terrell said, pointing at Jared. Tigris stood up and sauntered down slowly toward Jared, his aura becoming more tangible as he approached.

The aura, so different from a human being's, was proof of him being a beast instead of a person masquerading as one. Only demon beasts who had achieved the Manifestor stage above Nascent Soul could take on the shape of a human being.

However, not every demon beast achieving the Manifestor stage could transform into a humanoid figure as the conditions were demanding.

Though this specific demon beast had managed to morph his body into a human-like figure, his tiger's head was indicative of an incomplete transformation.

It was likely that the beast had not attained the Manifestor stage on his own but had instead forced a transformation with the help of outside forces. As a result, the borrowed power shattered and resulted in incomplete transfiguration.

“Ah!” Norm cried instinctively in fear as Tigris approached, which startled Terrell half to death. “This is my son, Tigris. Please forgive his ignorance for disturbing you. I will punish him severely for his impertinence,” he begged when Tigris turned around.

However, Tigris paid him no mind. Instead, he cast his gaze once again upon Jared. A greedy glint flashed across his eyes as he sized his prey up. “Excellent! How rare it is to discover such a fine specimen.”

Then, he reached out to caress Jared’s body, thoroughly repulsing Jared. However, Tigris froze the moment his hand touched Jared, and his eyes widened with disbelief.

Before Tigris regained his composure, Jared sent a fist crashing heavily against the former’s chest.

The sudden strike caught Tigris off-guard, which sent him flying back and falling heavily on the chair behind him, shattering it into dust.

The sudden development shocked Terrell.

Tigris got to his feet. Filled with rage, his domineering aura flared across the room and frightened Terrell to such an extent that he grabbed hold of Norm and staggered backward.

“How dare you lie to me, Terrell.” Tigris shot him a fierce glare.

The pressure brought Terrell to his knees as he said with fear, “I would never lie to you, Tigris. Jared did consume the pill, but I don’t know why he still has his strength!”

Terrell could not comprehend how Jared didn’t lose his power.

“Did you think that insignificant Weakening Pill would take away my strength?”

Jared scoffed before turning to face Tigris. “You’re bold to masquerade as an immortal despite being a mere demon beast.”

“You’re just a Nascent Soul. How dare you behave with such audacity?” Tigris snorted derisively.

“If you did achieve the Manifestor stage, how do you still have a tiger’s head? You must have forced the process via powers that do not belong to you. Now it has backfired, leaving you neither human nor tiger,” Jared remarked with amusement.

Tigris’ pupils dilated as his features contorted with rage. “Be that as it may, I am still more than powerful enough to dispose of you.”

At that, Tigris swiped the air. An imprint appeared for a split second before disappearing into Jared’s body.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1572

Chapter 1572 Big Bad Tiger

It was plain that Tigris did not wish to harm Jared but instead wanted to control him and obtain his physical body. The imprint began to spread rapidly within the latter's mind upon entering his body as if to control his thoughts.

Jared smirked. A burst of golden light flashed across his subconscious and instantaneously subdued the imprint. Tigris' scowl became more pronounced than ever.

“Who the h*ll are you? How is your spiritual sense this powerful?” he asked with astonishment. “This isn't possible in this day and age.”

“Who I am is not important. The pertinent question is who you are. Why did you consume the islanders' spiritual sense using those stone statues? What is your purpose for doing so?” Jared interrogated Tigris sternly.

Tigris' eyes widened. “How do you know all of that? Yes, everybody here gave me their powers. I taught them to harness their spiritual energy to prepare them for a journey of cultivation. I also have rid them of disease and added decades to their lives. Why shouldn't I absorb some of their spiritual energy in return? I am a god here. Everything they have belongs to me.”

A faint glow began to appear around Tigris following those words. Terrell and Norm fell to their knees at that sight and pressed their foreheads to the ground in reverence.

Jared, however, scoffed. “There's no way a demon beast like you can have such power. Stop tooting your own horn and tell me who is really behind this.” “How dare you claim that I, an immortal, am a demon beast!” Tigris raged.

“You are a bold one, Jared,” Terrell admonished. “It is only by the grace of Tigris that we have all that we do here. He is the deity on Encanta Island, and I can prove it. Things will only end one way for you if you go against him.”

Jared snorted. “What a joke to worship a talking tiger.” “Insolence! I will show you the true extent of my power for your blasphemy!”

Tigris unleashed his wrath by waving his hand at Jared, attempting to harm him. His body was glowing faintly like an actual divine being. “Is that all you have? I can do that too.”

Following a slight tremor in his body, Jared began to emit a golden light that was much brighter than Tigris’.

Just when Jared was preparing to deflect Tigris’ assault, he discovered a peculiar magnetic quality to his opponent’s strike, which caused the spiritual energy within him to boil uncontrollably.

“By consuming your power, I can finally attain the Manifestor stage and become truly human!” A vortex appeared in Tigris’ palm and began absorbing Jared’s spiritual energy.

Just when the spiritual energy within Jared’s elixir field lost control and was about to explode, the draconic essence on his chest suddenly flashed.

Coursing through him like a storm, the Power of Dragons subdued his broiling spiritual energy in an instant. Tigris was flabbergasted by the complete ineffectiveness of his magecraft and the fact that Jared was completely unaffected.

“How could this be?” He frowned in consternation. As a glint flashed past his eyes, Tigris sent his spiritual sense toward Jared with the intention of ascertaining his opponent’s true identity.

However, the golden light around Jared flickered and parried Tigris’ spiritual sense the moment it shot outward.

Upon witnessing the inefficacy of his spiritual sense, Tigris took two steps backward and let out a roar that sounded more beast than man.

Then, he grabbed his scepter. The gemstone adorning it began to emit a blinding light, illuminating the entire residence. Enveloped by the light, Jared was unable to avoid it.

He tried using his golden glow to force back the light threatening to consume him, but despite his best attempts, his golden glow appeared dim in comparison to the luminescent onslaught.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1573

Chapter 1573 Full Of Yourself

A golden dragon slowly appeared behind Jared as the light enveloped him. The formidable and almighty golden dragon hovered above Jared's head while the light emitted from his body intensified.

The flickering golden light forced everyone to close their eyes. Even Tigris stumbled a few steps backward, intimidated by the immense power.

“It's the Golden Dragon's True Form! What a great specimen! That's excellent! Hahaha...” Tigris cackled maniacally and did not bother concealing the greed in his eyes.

Jared activated his Golem Body and scales began appearing all over him. Immediately afterward, his piercing gaze landed on Tigris.

He took a step forward before asking Tigris, “Who's your master? There's no way you have such a strong ability as you're only a demon beast.”

“If you want to find out about that, then defeat me. I'll tell you after you beat me!” Tigris furiously screamed as he began exuding a strong fighting spirit. In an instant, his body morphed into a shadow and spun rapidly.

As the speed of his rotation increased, a black hole that resembled a time tunnel appeared mid-air.

The black hole brought with it immense devouring energy, seemingly about to devour everything mercilessly.

The entire Encanta Island gradually fell into darkness which caused everyone to panic.

“As I said, I’m the monarch here, and everyone on the island is my people.” As Tigris spoke, he raised the scepter in his hand into the air. Immediately, the scepter shone before disappearing into the black hole.

That ray of light that came from the scepter subsequently exploded in the black hole and radiated brilliant colors.

Everybody looked up at the miraculous phenomenon in the air.

However, none of them realized that their bodies had begun emitting spots of light that were ultimately absorbed by the black hole.

The same situation happened to Terrell and his son as well.

When Jared noticed that, he furrowed his eyebrows. He’s consuming the spiritual energy of everyone on Encanta Island. It’ll be a disaster when all the spiritual energy gathers.

Gradually, a continuous rumble was heard from the black hole. It sounded like thunder.

Suddenly, a blinding light shot out from the black hole like a ray of lightning and struck Jared.

Crack!

Tigris had actually combined the energy of the people of Encanta Island to fight against Jared.

The moment the light struck Jared, he was stunned. The dreadful sensation caused him to subconsciously tremble all over.

His Golem Body instantly shattered and vanished, but his physical body remained mostly intact.

After that attack, Tigris casually waved his hand, and the black hole in the air gradually dissipated. The sky reverted to its former state, and rays of sunshine reappeared.

“It’s a piece of cake for me to destroy you. If you obey me, I can keep your soul and find you another physical body.” Tigris acted all high and mighty.

He did not hurt Jared because he needed Jared’s body, so he had to make sure it was not damaged.

“You’re so full of yourself.” As Jared narrowed his eyes, the Power of Dragons gathered in his fists. “Sacred Light Fist!”

A ray of light covered Jared’s fists. Then, an overwhelming, terrifying force instantly rushed toward Tigris.

Seeing that, Tigris frowned slightly. “You’ve mastered Sacred Light Fist? How unexpected...”

With that, Tigris thrust his palm forward, and a shield appeared in front of him out of nowhere.

Boom!

A deafening sound thundered in the air, and that shield shattered right away.

The impact of the powerful energy made the residence shake, seemingly about to collapse.

The rage in Tigris’ eyes intensified. “I can’t believe you’re hiding so many secrets. It seems like quite a lot of old men are lucky enough to survive the Celestial Battle.”

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1574

Chapter 1574 Half For Me

Jared had no idea about the Celestial Battle that Tigris mentioned, but he undoubtedly learned Sacred Light Fist from one of the seniors. Just a mere wisp of his spiritual sense alone had taught me Sacred Light Fist. I wonder what kind of frightening ability that old man has if I can find his true form. Creak...

At that moment, the pillars of the residence began making noises as though it was about to collapse. "Hurry up and leave!" As Jared spoke, he grabbed Flaxseed and Colin before running out of the residence.

Now that the duo had lost their power, they were only ordinary people. Hence, there was no way that they could endure the house crashing on them.

After they escaped from the residence, Terrell also dashed out of it with Norm. Meanwhile, only Tigris broke through the roof and floated in the air before staring at Jared.

"No matter what, you guys can't run away." Tigris' strong and deep voice was so powerful that it caused Flaxseed and Colin to cough up a mouthful of blood.

In fact, the duo had no strength left to resist even a trace of force.

When Jared saw that, he immediately waved his hand, and a golden light surrounded the duo.

"Hurry up and go! Don't stay here," Jared told Flaxseed and Colin.

"But Jared..." Colin, who was worried about Jared, didn't want to leave.

Flaxseed walked over to pull Colin away before uttering, “We’re now completely powerless. It’s useless to stay here as we’ll only distract him.”

After saying that, Flaxseed fished out a charm from his pocket and whispered something in Jared’s ear.

Jared looked at Flaxseed with surprise when he received the charm from the latter.

“Thank you, Mr. Flaxseed.” Jared’s eyes were filled with gratitude.

“There’s no need to thank me. I’m doing it for myself. After you kill this tiger demon, you need to share half of the treasure with me if you find it.” Flaxseed snickered.

“Sure!” Jared nodded.

However, just as Flaxseed pulled Colin to leave, Terrell suddenly stood in front of them and stopped them.

His expression contorted with malice as he exclaimed, “You guys offended Tigris. How dare you leave!”

Flaxseed’s and Colin’s expressions turned grim, but there was nothing they could do about it because they were too weak to fight against Terrell.

“You must be sick of living.” Jared’s cold voice rang out. The next moment, a terrifying power sent Terrell flying backward. He crashed heavily onto the ground, creating a gigantic pit.

It was undeniable that Terrell was no match for Jared.

“It’s utterly foolish of you to view a demon beast as a deity. I’ll destroy you and your son now if you dare to stand in their way again.” Jared’s piercing gaze was filled with murderous intent that enveloped Terrell and Norm.

Terrell's face darkened, and he didn't dare to utter a word when he sensed Jared's murderous aura.

Meanwhile, Flaxseed and Colin took the opportunity and fled the scene.

As Tigris took in the scene, he didn't have the intention to stop them. To him, all he needed was Jared. As for the rest, it didn't matter to him.

Looking at Jared condescendingly, Tigris sneered, "You still care about your friends even when death is close at hand. The way you behave is unlike those Draconians." Soon after, rays of light emitted from his scepter, encasing Jared like a cage.

Jared furrowed his brows and lifted his hand to retaliate with a punch.

But as soon as he raised his hand, his wrist got entangled by a ray of light. It was as though a chain restrained his movement and rendered him unable to attack.

Subsequently, beams of light wrapped all four of Jared's limb

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1575

Chapter 1575 Scrap Metal

Jared struggled furiously, but still, he couldn't break free. He could feel the grip of the Luminescence Chain tighten with every struggle.

“Haha! You can't escape the Dragon Restraining Shackles even if you're a real dragon!” Tigris burst into laughter as he slowly descended from midair and shot Jared a smug look.

Jared's gaze zeroed in on the scepter in Tigris' grasp. He noticed that Tigris' own capabilities weren't that powerful and that he would use the scepter each time he attacked. Jared was sure the source of the scepter's power came from the embedded gemstone.

The scepter will lose its power if I destroy the gemstone. This tiger demon is nothing to be feared without his scepter! Tigris didn't know what was going through Jared's mind as he walked up to Jared with a malicious grin.

“It had been thousands of years, and I never thought I would get to witness the Golden Dragon's True Form. It's so perfect!”

Tigris' eyes were filled with greed while he fixed his gaze on Jared like a single man looking at a widowed woman.

Jared made a move when Tigris let his guard down. A golden glow flashed.

Instantly, a long cut stretched across Tigris' chest.

Red, hot blood spurted from the wound. The massive force behind Jared's attack sent Tigris flying backward.

Tigris was shocked as he looked up at the hovering magic sword in front of him.

The magic sword was emitting a hazy glow and a thick aura.

Jared controlled the sword with his mind and sent it slashing through the Luminescence Chain that was restraining him.

With a stretch of his hand, the Dragonslayer Sword returned to Jared's grasp.

“You have a spiritual sword?” Tigris' eyes widened with surprise. “Unfortunately, the sword spirit still hasn't developed sentience, so it's nothing more than scrap metal! I'll kill you for hurting me!”

He waved the scepter in Jared's direction, sending a blast of power toward Jared.

Jared immediately held up his sword to parry, but the devastating force hurled him backward, causing him to crash heavily on the ground.

He then slowly got to his feet and wiped away the bloodstain from the corner of his mouth. “As I expected, the scepter's power lies in the—”

Wave after wave of terrifying aura stormed toward Jared before his mind could process the oncoming attack. Each wave was fast as lightning.

He couldn't even get a chance to catch his breath. The barrage of attacks kept on coming as though the power of the scepter was infinite.

Boom!

Jared got hit by a dozen of heavy blows continuously.

The all-out bombardment was evidence of Tigris' anger from getting injured by Jared.

Jared slowly got up to his feet again. Even though his Golem Body was gone, he still took all the attacks with his physical body.

“What a rare body! I have no idea how you can cultivate it to this extent in such a terrible environment,” Tigris lamented.

Jared kept silent as he tried to find an opportunity. When he caught Tigris letting his guard down, he promptly leaped into the air.

Swoosh!

He was fast as he abruptly waved the Dragonslayer Sword in his hand.

“Nine Shadows, the first cut...”

A frightening sword energy blasted toward Tigris in every direction followed by swooshing noises.

However, the attack wasn't aimed at Tigris but at the scepter in his hand.

Taken aback, Tigris urgently retreated.

“You're familiar with the Nine Shadows! That's the ultimate move that made the God of Swords famous!”

Tigris waved his scepter as he stepped back, launching wave after wave of aura to stop the incoming attack.

However, the sword energy that Jared released had a sharp and dense murderous intent.

Despite the several consecutive auras Tigris released, not a single one managed to stop the sword energy's advance.

Clang!

An ear-splitting sound erupted from the collision, and sparks flew.

The sword energy slammed into the scepter furiously and released a blinding glow.

The immense force shook Tigris' hands numb, nearly causing him to release his grip on the scepter.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1576

Chapter 1576 Cannot Let Him Live

Tigris' expression hardened as his hand holding the scepter trembled slightly. Standing at the sideline, Terrell and Norm watched the scene with their mouths agape.

Tigris was a deity and Encanta Island's monarch in their hearts. Everything the Duncan family possessed was bestowed upon them by Tigris. Yet, at that very moment, their deity was being thrashed into a sorry state by Jared.

Tigris narrowed his eyes. "I can't let this brat live." An uneasy feeling surged within Tigris. He had a feeling that Jared would be the one to send him to his doom that day if he didn't fight with all his might.

He had underestimated Jared from the very beginning because he didn't expect Jared to have so many secrets. He had Golden Dragon's True Form, Dragonslayer Sword, Sacred Light Fist, and the Nine Shadows. Every one of those was an unrivaled existence in the current world.

However, Jared hadn't fully comprehended those techniques. If one day his capabilities had reached a certain cultivation level that allowed him to wield those techniques to their maximum capacity, it would be terrifying.

Tigris found it hard to believe that Jared had mastered every one of those techniques by chance. After all, those skills were astonishing existences even a few thousand years ago.

Thousands of years had passed, so how did every one of them befall Jared? And Jared only? "I definitely can't let him continue to live on," Tigris muttered.

He then kicked his legs and launched himself into midair. “Prepare to die!” With a ferocious roar, his body burst into raging flames. He radiated an aura laced with a chilly energy that felt as though it came straight from hell.

“Divine Punishment!”

Tigris suddenly thrust his scepter toward the sky.

The gemstone on the scepter emitted radiance brighter than the sun, which then shot into the clouds.

A few Luminescence Chains constrained Jared in a blink of an eye. Meanwhile, a light pillar with a diameter of ten meters came crashing down, aiming at Jared from the sky.

The Divine Punishment Tigris unleashed was more powerful than Norm’s.

Terrell and Norm watched with slackened jaws as Tigris unleashed Divine Punishment. Their eyes were wide as saucers.

The light pillar with a diameter close to ten meters was a hundred times stronger than the Divine Punishment they unleashed.

The two were oblivious to the fact that Tigris had been the one who unleashed their Divine Punishment all along, and not them.

Feeling the crushing pressure, Jared’s brows furrowed.

A hum echoed from the Dragonslayer Sword in his hand, emitting a fighting spirit.

“I didn’t know you were this belligerent.”

Jared slid a glance at the Dragonslayer Sword before infusing all the Power of Dragons in his body into the sword.

With a wave of his sword, echoes of dragon roar sounded.

A golden dragon emerged from the Dragonslayer Sword.

When the golden dragon charged toward the pillar of light, Jared quickly broke the Luminescence Chain restraining him and disappeared on the spot.

Boom!

Echoes of a dragon's roar sliced through the sky as the golden dragon collided with the light pillar. The combination of the blinding white light and the bright golden glow looked like a bomb explosion. The radiance illuminated the entire Encanta Island. Even the ray from the sun in the sky was dull in comparison.

Every citizen of Encanta Island had gathered outside their houses as they watched the glare that erupted across the sky.

They shut their eyes tightly when the glaring light shone.

Tigris was no exception. He raised his hand to block the gleam.

As the radiance dimmed, Jared appeared in front of Tigris before the latter could comprehend the situation.

Tigris could only watch as the Dragonslayer Sword in Jared's hand struck the gemstone embedded in the scepter.

Tigris was stunned. He tried to protect the gemstone, but it was too late.

Clang!

The tip of the Dragonslayer Sword had impaled the gemstone.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1577

Chapter 1577 Doubt

There was a blinding flash of colorful light, and Jared felt an immense amount of energy from the Dragonslayer Sword surge into his body.

That burst of energy was so aggressive that even the Power of Dragons within Jared's body was immediately shattered. Energy instantly filled his elixir field without stopping, and it felt like his elixir field was on the verge of exploding.

His body shone with a scarlet hue that was so intense that it painted the sky red. Even the Dragonslayer Sword turned crimson red.

As the ferocious energy surged into him endlessly, cracks appeared on that colorful gemstone. The cracks grew bigger and bigger before the gemstone shattered altogether.

Upon seeing that, Tigris hurriedly let go of the scepter and retreated, fear evident in his eyes. "Ah!" Jared screamed, feeling as if his body was about to burst.

Tigris began trembling as he stared at Jared before him. "I-Is the blood demon going to appear?" he muttered fearfully as the domineering pressure Jared exuded forced him to his knees.

Jared's eyes soon turned bloodshot. He growled again as a surge of energy burst forth from him, creating a strong hurricane that sent rocks flying.

Tigris steeled himself against that gale with all his might while Terrell and Norm were thrown into the air before crashing onto the ground hundreds of meters away. "I will never let you control me!"

Out of the blue, a flash of golden light appeared on Jared's forehead as he started reciting the calming incantation. At the same time, the charm Flaxseed handed to Jared flew out of his clothes before bursting into flames.

The fumes wafted into his nose and entered his body. While Jared recited the calming incantation, he harnessed his Focus Technique and started refining the terrifying energy within him.

Gradually, the scarlet light around his body dimmed before vanishing completely. Jared returned to his previous appearance, but his aura evidently intensified.

"It's all thanks to Mr. Flaxseed's charm," Jared said, heaving a sigh of relief. He didn't expect a tiny gemstone to contain such massive energy that almost gained control over his body.

Tigris' confidence had dissipated, leaving only terror as he gazed at Jared.

"I wonder what else you can use against me without that scepter. Show me what you've got now!" Jared snarled, staring coldly at Tigris.

Tigris made no reply and cast his gaze on Norm and Terrell.

"Come here," Tigris ordered the two.

Terrell and Norm hesitated for a moment.

They had always viewed Tigris as a deity, but now when they saw Jared gain the upper hand, their confidence in Tigris' ability was starting to waver.

Seeing the two hesitate, Tigris yelled angrily, "Come here right now! Do you want to receive Divine Punishment?"

Only then did the two move over reluctantly.

“How dare you doubt a deity? I gave you everything, but now, I’m taking them back.”

Suddenly, Tigris raised his hand, and Terrell’s body began to glow.

“Dad!” Norm immediately shouted in a panic upon seeing that.

Kneeling, Terrell begged desperately, “Please have mercy on me, Tigris! Please!”

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1578

Chapter 1578 Give Me Strength

However, no matter how desperately Terrell pleaded, his cultivation level and spiritual energy instantly vanished and entered Tigris' body.

Terrell collapsed against the ground. Now that he had lost his cultivation, he was nothing but an ordinary man. "Ah!" Terrell howled in despair, unable to accept such a punishment.

To him, such a punishment was worse than death. The insane Terrell then smashed his head against a huge rock beside him. Upon losing everything he ever treasured, he also lost the courage to live.

Bam! Immediately, his head cracked open, and his brains spewed out. His eyes were still wide open when he breathed his last.

"Dad!" Norm dashed over and burst into tears while hugging his father's body before turning to glare at Tigris. The initial respect in Norm's eyes was replaced with rage.

"There's no need to look at me like that. Everyone on Encanta Island is simply a vessel containing spiritual energy that I reared. I can take back everything you have at any time. Without me, how can your family enjoy such benefits? It's your privilege to sacrifice yourselves for my sake! Now that your father is dead, you're next."

Tigris lifted his hand, and a ray of light enveloped Norm as well.

Just then, Jared appeared before Norm in a flash, and with a wave of his hand, he forced Tigris to retreat.

“You’re just a tiger demon. How dare you call yourself a deity and snatch everything from humans? You think too highly of yourself!” Jared declared icily before swinging his fist at Tigris.

The punch brought with it a strong gust of wind that was more intense than the previous one, and upon seeing that, Tigris chose not to confront Jared head-on.

Instead, he quickly retreated and shot bursts of spiritual energy at Jared to weaken the power of the latter’s punch.

However, it was useless. Despite sucking Terrell’s spiritual energy, he stood no chance against Jared now that he had lost his scepter.

Boom!

Jared landed his fist on Tigris’ chest, and immediately, the latter catapulted into the air.

Leaping into the air, Jared threw another punch.

As he hovered in midair, he struck Tigris with around a dozen punches, and every single punch hit the latter’s body squarely and precisely. The latter was utterly defenseless against Jared’s attacks.

Finally, Tigris roared, and the entire forbidden ground began to fall apart.

Soon, ripples appeared in the void around them, and surprisingly, they landed in the middle of a valley.

A stone statue about a dozen meters tall stood in the valley.

Interestingly, the statue was identical to the one in the temple.

Jared noticed a faint stream of spiritual energy flow into the statue endlessly from all around, so immediately, he cast his spiritual sense at the statue and detected fluctuations of spiritual energy.

“Is this the true master of Encanta Island?” Jared muttered, his brows furrowing.

Just then, the statue began emitting a golden hue, and instantly, Jared’s spiritual sense was cut off.

He could not help but take a few steps back from the strong impact.

Meanwhile, Tigris, who was covered in blood, kneeled devoutly before the statue.

“Master, please give me strength!”

Soon, the stone statue glowed, and a column of light shot toward the sky before spreading and enveloping Encanta Island.

The dense spiritual energy on Encanta Island instantly vanished, and speckles of light began floating off everyone on Encanta Island.

Those tiny speckles of light were the spiritual energy of everyone on Encanta Island, and it was all absorbed.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1579

Chapter 1579 Meaningless

Speckles of light also rose from Norm's body, and he felt his spiritual energy disappear. "No, no!" he yelled. He tried to stop his spiritual energy from seeping out but to no avail.

Seeing that, Jared frowned and released a ray of golden light that enveloped Norm. With the golden light shielding him, the remaining spiritual energy in Norm's body finally stopped draining out.

Immense spiritual energy began to gather in the air above the island. "I can't let you have your way." At the sight of that, Jared leaped into the air, and his body began glowing a bright, golden light. A faint layer of mist covered his fist.

"Sacred Light Fist!" he yelled, punching the stone statue. I can't let this statue suck all the spiritual energy! Otherwise, even if there were hundreds of me, I would still be no match for that tiger demon!

Boom! However, following his punch, Jared was thrown back by a huge force of rebound energy. There seemed to be something protecting the statue from all harm.

Tigris was still kneeling reverently before the statue, ignoring Jared's attacks. A ray of light from the statue's forehead shone on Tigris.

Jared then grabbed his Dragonslayer Sword and swung it at Tigris with all his might. Since I can't destroy that statue, I'll attack this tiger demon!

A golden dragon appeared and roared midair before charging toward Tigris with its mouth wide open. However, Tigris remained kneeling on the ground with his head lowered, as if oblivious to the danger he was in.

Boom! Two beams of light shot out from the statue's eyes and pierced the golden dragon, making it dissipate. Through it all, Tigris did not even lift his head.

As more and more spiritual energy gathered in the sky, they formed the shape of a sun. Jared grew increasingly anxious. He never expected a mere statue to hold that much power.

Wielding his Dragonslayer Sword, he tried striking Tigris again and again, for he knew as long as Tigris was dead, there was nothing the statue could do, regardless of its power.

“Nine Shadows!” Jared yelled, waving his sword repeatedly as the terrifying sword energy howled. The sword energy rushed toward Tigris, but it was instantly blocked by the beams of light from the statue's eyes.

Gritting his teeth, Jared continued swinging his sword. Even the air began trembling, affected by the continuous waves of sword energy.

Tigris lowered his head and felt the aura within him intensify rapidly as the statue's power surged into him. The amount of spiritual energy in the sky had reached an indescribable scale.

Jared raised his head and took a look. While wearing a grim expression, he let out an angry roar, and his body shone even brighter.

Yet, no matter what attack he unleashed, he couldn't break the statue's defenses.

Watching as the spiritual energy in the sky had reached its maximum, Jared clenched his jaw and gave up on attacking Tigris. Instead, he leaped into the air and propelled himself toward the ball of spiritual energy.

Norm stared in shock as Jared charged toward the sun-like ball of light. The latter's feeble body was nothing compared to the colossal energy.

Even though Jared knew he stood no chance and his actions were meaningless, he still wanted to try and do something.

If this gigantic ball of spiritual energy explodes, the impact would be unimaginable. Encanta Island may even disappear as a result!

As he charged toward the ball of spiritual energy, a red glow emerged on the statue's head, and the ball of spiritual energy also shot out a beam of light.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1580

Chapter 1580 Vanish

The statue greedily absorbed the spiritual energy from the ball of light. Noticing that, Jared used his body to cut off the stream of spiritual energy between the statue and the ball of light.

An enormous burst of energy hit Jared and surged rapidly into his body. The surge of energy was even more violent than the energy released when the gemstone shattered.

Soon, Jared's elixir field and every part of his body were filled to their brims with spiritual energy, but the energy from the ball of light did not stop gushing in.

He felt as if he was about to burst. His body expanded in size, and cracks even started appearing on his skin. "Ugh!" Jared bellowed.

He could feel countless explosions going off in his body. Meanwhile, Tigris' aura had also changed drastically, and his cultivation level was reaching the Manifestor stage.

Soon, a massive wave of energy caused Tigris' body to instantly transform. His terrifying tiger head slowly disappeared, replaced by a young man's face.

Due to that strong wave of energy, the ball of light shrunk, and Jared finally got the chance to take a break from all the energy rushing into him.

"Haha! I reached a new cultivation level!"

Tigris touched his face and bowed before the statue.

“Master, I swear to follow you my entire life and help you reincarnate!” he declared and stared greedily at the ball of light hanging in the air.

To Tigris, who had just reached Manifestor level, that immense energy could help him improve efficiently.

Jared’s face darkened considerably when he sensed the change in Tigris’ aura.

Noticing Tigris’ hungry look, Jared knew he couldn’t let Tigris suck all the spiritual energy in that ball of light.

Otherwise, no one in Encanta Island, or even the whole world, could stop Tigris.

Gritting his teeth, Jared stared intently at the ball of light filled with spiritual energy. A glint of fiery determination emerged in his eyes before he charged toward it.

I will use my body to make that ball of light explode! I must not let him get his hands on that power!

Instantly, he was swallowed by the ball of light.

Dazzling streaks of light burst forth, completely enveloping Jared’s body.

At that moment, Jared’s body was continuously twisting and contorting, as if he had entered another dimension.

He had long lost consciousness from the agonizing torture ravaging his body.

If not for his strong physique, he would have been torn into pieces already.

A vast amount of spiritual energy rushed into Jared’s body endlessly.

His body expanded as blood seeped out of his skin, coloring him scarlet.

Boom!

A loud explosion sounded, and all the light dissipated. There was not a sliver of spiritual energy left in the air.

However, Jared had also disappeared.

“What a shame.”

Tigris shook his head in disappointment, but it wasn't because he had lost the chance of obtaining all that spiritual energy, for he could always gain it from the inhabitants of Encanta Island.

Instead, he was disappointed that Jared's powerful physical body, Golden Dragon's True Form, was lost forever, for it was a rare, precious treasure.

Someone with Golden Dragon's True Form was rare even among the Draconians.

Peace was restored on Encanta Island when the light enveloping the island disappeared, and everyone returned to work.

To them, the scene just now was nothing but a marvelous spectacle.

However, Norm, who saw everything clearly, was utterly stunned.

The battle he saw completely blew his mind.

All those years in Encanta Island, he had thought that Diego's Nascent Soul level was the peak of spiritual energy cultivation.

However, Jared, also a Nascent Soul, had been turned into dust and vanished.

