

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 591-600

Chapter 591

"Mr. Larson, is this the miraculous Dr. Lennon you mentioned before?"

A middle-aged man Sean had never seen before asked with a smile.

"Miraculous Dr. Lennon?"

"No, don't talk nonsense, Mr. Dwayne."

Homer was stunned at first when he heard the words and then quickly waved his hand to refute.

Sean once told Homer not to tell anyone about his medical skills.

He did not intend to live as a doctor.

Once people knew that he had good medical skills, there must be countless people who would come to seek help from him, which would make him very troublesome.

As for Sean, to decide whether to provide treatment to people was based on fate.

It also depended on who the sick person was.

Sean would not pay attention to a villain who oppressed others like Charles Christian at all.

"Mr. Larson, don't hide it..

"When we were having dinner together before, you were very respectful when you mentioned that miraculous Dr. Lennon.

“And now we’re meeting Mr. Lennon, isn’t that so?”

Mr. Dwayne laughed and said meaningfully.

Sean glanced at Mr. Dwayne when he heard the words. Just now, Homer introduced that his name was Francis Dwayne.

Since Francis Dwayne mentioned Sean’s medical skills, so Sean focused on observing his state of health.

In just ten seconds, he already knew the answer.

“Oh, Mr. Dwayne, that’s nonsense.

“I never said that Mr. Lennon is the miraculous Dr. Lennon.”

Homer waved his hands again and again but he was still reluctant to admit it.

As he said that, he looked at Sean apologetically. Embarrassment was written all over his face.

“It’s okay.”

Sean waved his hand slightly as he was not too concerned about it.

In fact, after leaving the Quinn family, he did not need to worry as much as before when dealing with some things.

What was more, he would be able to stand up soon and he would no longer need to deliberately hide it.

“Well, okay...”

Seeing Sean’s attitude, Homer nodded helplessly.

“It really is?”

“I didn’t expect that.”

Francis was stunned when he heard those words and then looked at Sean again for a few seconds.

The other middle-aged people also looked at each other with some doubts.

After all, what Homer said about Sean before was really amazing as if there was no disease that Sean could not cure in this world.

However, after seeing Sean today, he found that Sean himself was a disabled patient.

If Sean was really as good as Homer said, why did he not cure himself first?

However, these were cunning people in the business circle. Even if they did not believe it, they would not show it on their faces.

It was just that there was still a trace of doubt flickered in Francis’s gaze.

Although Francis did not dare to underestimate Sean because Sean knew a few big shots like Homer Larson and Hayden Luke, this did not mean that he believed that Sean was really a miracle doctor.

Furthermore, he was just a young man in a wheelchair.

It was really difficult for him to relate Sean to the word “miracle doctor”.

“Since I’m fortunate enough to meet Dr. Lennon, it just so happens that I feel a little unwell.

“Would you like to help me take a look?”

Francis looked at Sean and asked as he smiled lightly.

“Mr. Dwyane, Mr. Lennon doesn’t simply treat everyone.”

Homer could not help frowning slightly when he heard this.

He deliberately invited a few friends today just to support Sean.

He originally thought about letting Sean make more new friends.

However, he found that Francis did not seem to believe Sean?

“Mr. Larson, it’s a little strange for you to say that. Since you said that Mr. Lennon is very skilled in medicine, it’s not that difficult to help me diagnose it, right?”

Francis waved his hand slightly and looked at Sean with a smile again.

There was a trace of hidden disdain in the depths of his eyes.

How dare a young man in his twenties call himself a miracle doctor?

Which of the famous medical experts in River City was not of an older age?

In the medical field, they had studied for years or even decades before they had achieved their current achievements.

Sean was only 22 or 23 years old at most. Hence, Francis felt that Homer must have been deceived by Sean.

Hayden Luke, Homer Larson, and other big shots respected Sean because of his medical skills.

As for Francis, he wanted to expose Sean’s lies now.

“What’s wrong, Mr. Lennon? Is there any problem?”

“Or, do you need any medical equipment?”

Seeing that Sean was silent, Francis immediately said with a smile. He even helped Sean to think of an excuse.

“Dragon Kingdom is famous for medical science. Do you think that we can’t cure diseases. without medical equipment?”

“A few decades ago, the doctors in Dragon Kingdom couldn’t even do a B–scan ultrasound but they could still treat diseases and save people’s lives.

“Stretch out your hand.”

Sean looked at Francis and said as he sat up slowly.

Hearing what Sean said, Francis was stunned and then subconsciously stretched out his wrist.

Sean stretched out his palm with the middle three fingers pressed against the inner side of Francis’s wrist and squinted slightly.

After less than 20 seconds, Sean retracted his palm.

“Mr. Lennon, what’s the diagnosis?”

“My health has always been good and there has been no abnormality in every physical examination.”

Francis straightened the cuffs and said with a chuckle.

“Oh? Really?”

“Then is it me who lies on the bed weakly with numbness?”

Sean took a sip from the teacup and said with a faint smile.

Swoosh!

Francis originally had a smile on his face but the smile froze instantly when he heard this.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 592

Chapter 592

Several people around also noticed the changes in Francis's expression and they could not help but be stunned.

Only when Homer shook his head slightly because he knew that Sean's action would definitely intimidate Francis and the others.

Perhaps this was better because they would not be too polite to Sean if they did not know how good Sean's medical skills were.

Francis's Adam's apple rolled twice. After hesitating for a few seconds, he asked, "Mr. Lennon, what do you mean by this?"

Sean put down the teacup, raised his eyebrows, and asked, "Mr. Dwyane, didn't you say that you've always been in good health and free from sickness?"

Hearing Sean's words, Francis coughed and replied quickly, "Mr. Lennon, I'm sick! I'm really sick!"

"C-can you tell me what happened to my body?"

Seeing Francis's reaction, the other middle-aged people all sat up straight and looked at Sean seriously.

It seemed that this young man was really capable!

He was able to diagnose Francis's illness just by checking his pulse for less than 20 seconds?

“Every night at a fixed time, half of my body will be sore and numb.

“In the second half of the night, it will turn into tingling, which makes it difficult for me to sleep.

“If you’ve really had a medical check–up, there must be one section showing abnormality. The medical term for it is called hyperviscosity syndrome.

“Of course, that’s one reason, but it’s not all.”

Sean leaned against the wheelchair slowly. His tone was full of confidence.

“Hsss!”

Francis gasped. His eyes were full of shock.

“Mr. Lennon, I’m convinced! I’m really convinced!

“So, what the hell is going on with my body?

“You must help me.”

Francis stood up directly, arched his hands, and pleaded with Sean.

He had sought countless hospitals and countless so–called renowned doctors for this strange disease of his own.

However, the symptoms were only relieved and not completely cured at all.

He was tortured every night.

As for Sean, he just took a sip from the teacup again but did not mean to speak.

How could Francis, who was as cunning as a fox, not understand what Sean meant? "Mr. Lennon, my attitude was a little offensive just now, please don't hold it against me."
"Please give me some advice, what's the cause of this disease..."

Francis's eyes were full of sincerity.

"Hyperviscosity syndrome will inevitably lead to poor blood circulation.

"It's caused by the narrowing of blood vessels. The blood isn't flowing through the system as efficiently.

"It's the blockage of blood vessels that causes these symptoms.

"As for those medical devices you're talking about, some causes are undetectable."

Sean glanced at Francis and just briefly explained his situation.

"Mr. Lennon, I don't understand any of this.

"Just tell me, can it be cured?"

Francis kept standing and looked at Sean with respect.

Homer gave Sean a wink on the side.

Although Francis was of almost the same social status as Homer, he had a relative who served in the army in his family.

If Sean could be friends with them, it would definitely be very helpful to him.

Homer wanted Sean to make friends with Francis.

"When I'm done with the work at hand, you can come to me again."

Sean saw Homer's expression and he agreed because of his trust in him.

“Well, okay!

“I will follow Mr. Lennon’s instructions!”

Although Francis was a little anxious, he did not dare to interfere with Sean’s arrangement, so he could only nod his head in agreement.

When the food and drinks were served, everyone toasted each other.

This time, Francis and the others did not dare to disrespect Sean at all.

Everyone spoke to Sean with great respect.

After the meal, Francis and the others left consciously.

“Mr. Lennon, I just want you to make more friends.

“Let the Quinn family see that you can live better without them.”

After Francis and the others left, Homer carefully explained to Sean.

“It’s all good

“Thanks for your effort.”

Sean knew that Homer really did it out of kindness.

No one would mind having a lot of connections.

Moreover, Homer himself would not gain anything from helping Sean meet more people.

It was indeed for Sean’s sake, so how could Sean blame him?

“Okay! Mr. Lennon, you’ve left the Quinn family now.

“Old Master Larson said before that whenever you go to the Larson Residence, you’ll always have a place to eat and live.

“What do you think?”

Homer asked Sean in a soft voice.

“Thanks, but I already have a place to live.

“Just care about your own thing. As for the Quinn family, you don’t need to do anything.”

Sean waved his hand slightly and rejected Homer’s offer.

“Alright!”

Homer hurriedly nodded in response.

Seeing that Sean was not in the mood to chat now, he quickly left.

Peninsula Cafe.

“Willow, a—are you crazy?”

Rachel stood up abruptly and stared at Willow with wide eyes.

“I’m not crazy...

“I just have to accept the reality.”

Willow held the coffee cup in both hands. A bit of bitterness appeared on the corners of her mouth.

The coffee in her hand radiated its heat through the cup, but it still could not warm Willow's cold hands.

"Reality? What do you think is reality?"

"The reality is... Do you know who he is?"

Rachel clenched her hands into fists, pressed them on the table, and asked through gritted teeth.

"Who he is?"

"I thought you didn't know him?"

Willow was slightly stunned when she heard the words. There was doubt in her eyes.

"Hah..."

"I don't know him?"

"Of all the millions of soldiers in the Northwest army, who doesn't know him?"

Rachel shook her head with a sneer and spoke slowly.

It was the first time, she discovered that Willow was really muddle-headed and the Quinn family was so blind.

Rachel felt that she should let Willow know Sean's background and let her know what the reality was.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 593

Chapter 593

"Rae..."

"What are you talking about?"

"Millions of soldiers know him?"

Willow did not react at all for a while.

"Did you really want to know?"

"Do you know that once I tell you some things, you'll definitely be unable to extricate yourself from regret!"

"Including the entire Quinn family will feel extremely regretful, but there is nothing you can do!"

Rachel had a dominant personality. At this time, she could not control her emotions and shouted directly.

"Rae, what are you trying to say?"

Willow frowned and asked Rachel.

"Okay! You want to know it, right? Then listen to me carefully."

"He..."

Rachel suddenly slapped the table, stared at Willow, and was about to speak.

“Hey, miss... Ahem... Please keep your voice down...”

At this moment, the waiter of the cafe came over and said with a light cough.

“We have a lot of customers here...”

Seeing Rachel looking at him, the waiter explained apologetically.

The cafe was originally a relatively quiet place.

Therefore, it was indeed inappropriate for Rachel to do so.

Rachel moved her gaze and only realized that many customers around were frowning and looking towards this side.

There were dozens of customers in the cafe, including young couples and middle-aged people, who looked all dissatisfied.

“Whew!”

“Sorry, I’ll speak softly,”

Rachel let out a long breath, then apologized and sat down slowly.

“Thanks for your cooperation.”

“If you need anything, just let me know.”

The waiter nodded slightly, then turned to leave.

Rachel and Willow both went silent after being interrupted by the waiter.

Rachel was even more regretful. She was so excited just now that she completely forgot that she was in a public place at this time!

She almost revealed Sean's identity.

If she did that, she would be sentenced to death.

Whoever dared to say half a word indiscriminately would guarantee that the whole family would be punished.

More importantly, Rachel knew something that others did not.

Although many things were just speculation, she understood that Sean really could not reveal his identity for the time being.

Otherwise, it might bring disaster to Sean.

Therefore, since Rachel came back, she never said a word to anyone no matter who it was although she recognized Sean.

Just now, she almost revealed Sean's identity in public.

If someone with bad intentions heard it, the consequences were really unimaginable.

The more Rachel thought about it, the more she could not help but be afraid.

"Rae, what were you trying to say to me just now?"

"Do you really know Sean? Both of you must be hiding something from me, right?"

Even if Willow was stupid, she could still feel that both of them were trying to hide something from her.

When Rachel heard this, she looked at Willow with eyes filled with complicated emotions for a long time, and then nodded lightly.

"Sean and I do know each other.

"We met several times in the Northwest army."

Rachel hesitated for a few seconds before telling the truth.

She would not reveal Sean's true identity, but she did not want to keep this matter a secret any longer.

"So you really know each other..."

"Then Sean used to be very powerful in the army before?"

Willow was stunned for a moment, then nodded and asked.

"It's more than powerful, he was almighty.

"He's a great talent who had really fought and killed countless enemies."

Rachel nodded heavily. Her eyes were full of seriousness.

Willow nodded again after hearing this.

When she heard this, she was actually not surprised.

It was because when Old Master Quinn, Levi Quinn, occasionally returned home to visit his family back then, he also told Willow about Sean.

Moreover, with the status of Levi Quinn in the army, his expectations must have been extremely high.

Hence, being able to make him take the initiative to talk to Sean's adoptive father about marriage was enough to prove that Sean was excellent.

Therefore, Willow was really not surprised when Rachel said that Sean was a great talent in the

army

and he had killed countless enemies on the battlefield.

"In short, his identity is beyond the Quinn family's imagination.

"Didn't you say you want to accept reality?"

"This is the reality!"

"The reality is that the Quinn family doesn't even know who is the real big shot and even drove him out!"

When Rachel said this, she could not speak for a while and she could not help but sob a little. He had guarded tens of millions of families and billions of people, but no one was willing to provide him with a place to live.

The only one was the Quinn family, but they drove him out cruelly.

How could Rachel not feel desolate in her heart?

"Rae, but the reality you're talking about is not reality."

Willow had always been humble in front of Rachel, which was also related to her personality.

However, at this moment, Willow showed a very willful attitude.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 594

Chapter 594

"You want to say that Sean was very powerful in the army before, and the Quinn family had been blind, right?"

"But is this the real reality?"

“What’s the real reality? No matter how almighty he was, now, he’s just an ordinary person.

“He has no power, no status, no warriors were following him, and even his legs are disabled, so he is no longer qualified to fight and kill the enemy!

“This is the reality!”

Willow gritted her teeth slightly, looked at Rachel, and said word by word.

“You!”

Rachel was speechless on the spot.

She simply could not refute it.

What Willow said was right.

No matter how brilliant Sean used to be, now he was just a cripple in a wheelchair.

The glory and status of the past had all gone away from him.

Even if he was given a chance to fight and kill enemy soldiers, he would not be able to stand up. and kill them.

Rachel also did not know what attitude the top brass had towards Sean after he disappeared from the army.

In other words, did they know that Sean was still alive? Were they still willing to recruit Sean again?

Even if they were willing to recruit Sean, could he shoulder such a heavy responsibility in his current state?

The more Rachel thought about it, the more chaotic her mind became.

“Rae, am I right?”

Willow put down the coffee cup, raised her head to look at Rachel, and asked.

“Willow, I didn’t expect you to be such a person.

“You’re as superficial and short-sighted as those in the Quinn family. 1

“No matter what, he was once a warrior and he shed countless blood and sweat to protect. Dragon Kingdom.

“If there are no soldiers guarding the border, how can there be peace and stability in the territory? How can the Quinn family have the opportunity to become prosperous?”

Rachel had a quick tongue. She just said whatever she thought in her mind.

“Rae, say no more.

“I understand it, but so what?

I

“Do you want me to give up the entire Quinn family for someone I’ve known for two years? “You’re not me, so you can’t really empathize.

“Can you give up your entire family for an outsider?”

Willow those few questions rapidly and this made Rachel go silent again.

She had always had a fiery personality and was sharp-tongued, but she could not find the right words to refute at this time,

“But Willow, things are not as serious as you think.

“Even if you’ve chosen Sean, the situation of the Quinn family would not decline further because of him, you...”

Rachel wanted to say something, but Willow waved her hand to interrupt her.

“Between the Quinn family and Sean, I choose the Quinn family, I choose my family.

“As for Sean, I was originally not related to him. It’s just an engagement appointed by my grandpa that brought us together.

“For two years, I took care of him wholeheartedly. Even if I had no food to eat, I would make sure that he would not be hungry and cold.

“I’ve done enough and I don’t feel sorry for him. I, Willow Quinn, have a clear conscience.

“Now, I’m tired, I just want to rest and just accept the Quinn family’s arrangement for me.

When Willow said this, a self-deprecating expression rose on the corner of her mouth. Then, she shook her head.

She was in despair and had nothing to say.

When she was with Sean, everyone around her was gossiping and mocking her.

She persisted for two years. Although sometimes she wavered, she persevered in the end.

The emergence of Reach For Will Group made her unable to hold on anymore.

Reach For Will Group was too powerful. They were so powerful that people did not even have the courage to challenge them.

It was for the sake of the Quinn family and for the sake of the family members who were related to her by blood, she could only let it go.

“So, are you going to give up Sean completely?”

Rachel frowned, looked at Willow for a few seconds, and asked.

“Mm.”

Willow nodded lightly.

This matter had already been determined.

“Then what are you going to do next?”

Rachel frowned and asked again.

“I’ll just listen to the Quinn family’s arrangement.

“After fighting against them for two years, I’m tired too.

“For the collaboration between the Quinn family and Reach For Will Group this time, Quill Zimmer has contributed greatly to it.

“Maybe my grandma wants me to be with Quill...

A self-deprecating look once again appeared at the corner of Willow’s mouth.

“Rachel, do you know? In fact, the greatest freedom in this world is not that you can do whatever you want.

“It’s that you can not do what you don’t wish to do.

“But unfortunately, I don’t have this freedom.

“So, that’s it.”

Once Willow’s voice fell, she slowly stood up and prepared to leave the cafe.

“Wait.”

Rachel stood up and looked at Willow very seriously as if she wanted to say something very important.

“Rae, say no more.”

Willow shook her head slightly to stop Rachel.

“I just want to ask you one last question. Sean Lennon, do you really want to abandon him?”

“You really gave up on him?”

“I hope you can answer me seriously.”

Rachel’s face was serious and her tone was grave.

The Guardian’s Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 595

Chapter 595

This time, Willow was silent for more than ten seconds.

“Yeah, I gave up on him completely.”

In the end, Willow still shook her head and turned to leave.

“You don’t want him, I want him!”

Rachel muttered to herself as she watched Willow leave.

9 p.m. Willow’s house.

The dinner today was made by Fion.

Moreover, Fion said that in the future, she would let Willow concentrate on her work and she could leave the laundry and cooking to her.

In this way, Willow would have more leisure time.

After dinner, Fion and Kent wanted to chat with Willow.

However, Willow was not in the mood, so she bid them goodnight and went back to her bedroom to rest.

Fion and Kent watched TV for a while and then returned to their bedroom as well.

However, after they went into the bedroom, Willow gently opened the door and tiptoed out of her bedroom.

Although the light in the living room was not turned on, Willow was still able to find Sean's bedroom door accurately and gently put her palm on the door handle.

At this moment, Willow could not help but freeze.

She could not help imagining in her mind that after she opened the door, Sean was still sitting in the bedroom as usual.

However, Willow shook her head slightly because this was impossible.

Willow opened the door, stepped in, and only turned on the light after closing the door again.

Everything in the bedroom was so familiar. Everything remained the same as it was.

When Fion came back from Old Madam Quinn's house, she wanted to clean up Sean's bedroom.

However, Willow stopped her and said that she would clean up herself.

Fion knew that Willow was in a delicate mood, so she did not dare to be too tough on her and could only agree.

Hence, everything in the bedroom remained the same as when Sean was still here.

It was just that Sean was gone.

At this moment, Willow's emotions that had been holding back for a day suddenly could no longer be restrained.

She covered her mouth with her palms. Her body slowly slipped against the door and tears poured out uncontrollably.

Sean left. This time, he left completely.

When Sean was here before, Willow still felt nothing.

It was not until Sean really left that she suddenly realized that she had long been accustomed to Sean's existence in her life.

In the past, she kept saying that she did not like Sean and that taking care of Sean was just out of responsibility.

Now, when Sean really left, she discovered that she had developed special feelings for Sean at some point.

She asked herself carefully and got the answer that she liked Sean.

She liked that Sean would not say sweet nothings but would directly take practical actions.

She liked the kind of confidence that Sean had when he said he wanted to make her happy.

She liked the sense of security that Sean brought to her when she was bullied by Simon and the others.

She liked....

She really liked him.

It was just that she lost Sean this time and he would never return.

"I've lost you, I've lost you..."

Willow got up slowly, walked to the bed where Sean had slept, and then lay down gently.

At this moment, she seemed to feel that Sean was lying beside her.

This feeling made her feel both embarrassed and reassured.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 596

Chapter 596

Meanwhile.

Golden Villa Garden.

Inside the twin villa.

Since Sean had left the Quinn family, he would live in this place.

There was only Sean in this huge villa.

Zander Young, who heard about this, originally wanted to come over to take care of Sean in person.

However, this was rejected by Sean because he wanted to be alone.

Sean was sitting in the master bedroom and the lights were dimmed a little by him.

The interior design of this villa, whether it was the decoration or furnishings could be described as magnificent.

This villa was many times better than Willow's old house.

However, Sean always felt that his heart was empty.

The rooms were spacious with high-class interior decoration.

However, the atmosphere that made Sean extremely comfortable was missing.

The plumbing and constant heating system in the villa made it very easy for Sean to wash his feet by himself.

Alas, Sean could not help but think of Willow sitting on the small bench and carefully washing his feet.

"You liked the house here so much.

"But you left me to live here alone now."

Sean slowly raised his head, looked at the high-end crystal lamps on the ceiling, and muttered.

to himself.

After a long silence, Sean slowly took out the silver needle box.

His movements were extremely skilled. Nine silver needles of different lengths were respectively inserted into the acupoints.

The extremely clear tingling sensation was clearly felt by Sean again.

The

acupuncture points in the human body were extremely mysterious, which could kill people and save people.

As for Sean, his research on human acupuncture points can be said to be extremely thorough.

It was because he was not only a doctor.

On the battlefield, he was also an executioner.

1/2

Therefore, he was really familiar with the human body.

At this time, the nine acupoints on the legs were stimulated at the same time, which caused Sean's legs to feel hot.

The two legs that were originally unable to move also gradually regained their strength.

Twenty minutes later, Sean reached out to remove the needles.

After Sean had put the silver needles back into the box, he slowly turned the wheelchair and came to the French window.

He could see the view of the villa courtyard and the starry sky from here.

Sean slowly raised his head and looked at the blinking stars in the sky.

"It's time."

Sean squinted slightly. In the next second, he placed both his feet on the ground and slowly stood up.

He did not hold the armrest of the wheelchair with both of his palms. He just stood up with the strength of his two legs.

A few seconds later, Sean had completely left the wheelchair and stood in front of the French windows without support.

Sean stretched out his arms and felt the strength of his legs and the real feeling of the soles of his feet on the ground.

"1, Sean Lennon, finally stood up."

Sean opened his eyes. Those incomparably deep eyes suddenly looked at the starry sky.

At this moment, the starry sky seemed to have lost its luster and color just because he could stand up.

At this moment, Sean's body was full of energy, just like a tiger that had been silent for a long time had completely awakened.

At this moment, the situation had changed, the world had lost its brilliance, and the aura of the former nine-star commander suddenly burst out.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 597

Chapter 597

Sean had also stood up before.

However, he would soon feel the strength of his legs sap, and then he would slump back into the wheelchair.

This time, he clearly felt that the strength on his two legs not only remained but instead became stronger.

The two legs that once supported him in the Southern and Northern wars were now supporting his body again.

After a lapse of two years, Sean was full of emotion.

When he was healthy, he never thought about what life would be like if he lost his legs one day.

Now, he finally understood the importance of his two legs.

In the past two years, he was just a cripple who had been subjected to all the warmth and coldness of the world and had been ridiculed relentlessly.

Now that he had recovered. Many things would inevitably change again.

Swoosh!

Sean lifted the soles of his feet, then slowly put them down and took two steps forward.

He was enjoying that feeling and his body was still standing very steadily.

He finally recovered completely.

“Blaze Lake, Quill Zimmer, I wonder if you are ready?”

Sean slowly raised his head. His eyes were full of coldness.

Blaze Lake used to be one of Sean’s most trusted brothers but he had been mutilated by Blaze to such a degree.

It could be said that Sean had fallen from the pinnacle of the nine–star peak to a cripple in the eyes of others.

This was all due to Blaze’s deeds!

As for Quill Zimmer, he was the one who humiliated Sean the most when Sean was down.

This act, of course, also had to be avenged.

“As for the Quinn family, I won’t touch you for the sake of Levi Quinn and Willow.

“But, I’ll use my own way to let you all come to realize the truth.”

Sean muttered to himself and then used his two legs to step onto the rooftop.

The total height of the villa had exceeded ten meters.

Sean could see far away by standing alone at this height.

The night sky was full of stars and the surrounding residential areas were brightly lit.

Sean, who was alone, was like an eagle perched silently on the edge of the world.

All the noise in the world had nothing to do with him..

It was because his path was different from these people.

Buzz buzz!

While Sean was thinking, his mobile phone suddenly vibrated.

Sean immediately put away his messy thoughts and took out his mobile phone.

At this moment, he thought the call was from Willow.

However, Sean shook his head slightly after watching it.

It was not Willow but an unfamiliar number.

Sean did not want to pick it up at first but after hesitating for two seconds, he still picked it up. unexpectedly.

“Com... Mr. Lennon, it’s me...”

On the other end of the phone, Rachel’s voice came.

“It’s you? What’s the matter?”

Sean was stunned for a moment and then responded doubtfully.

His impression of Rachel was actually quite good.”

As for those who had enlisted in the army, Sean would have a kind of kinship.

It was because when on the battlefield, it was those warriors who did not even speak to each other who depended on each other for life and death.

What was more, when Rachel was holding the post, she also made a lot of contributions to the army.

At that time, some people even wanted to introduce Rachel to Sean, but Old Master Quinn beat them to it.

Otherwise, Sean would not even remember Rachel.

“Mr. Lennon, I’m at Golden Villa Garden right now and I wish to talk to you face to face.”

Rachel hesitated for a while but still said softly.

When Sean heard the words, he fell into silence.

It was already night and both Sean and Rachel were young people, so it was really not suitable for them to meet up alone.

However, when he thought about the time when he was in the army, the prudent restrictions between males and females were not strictly enforced, so he did not think about it that much.

“Okay, I’ll tell them to let you in.”

Sean called the security guard to let Rachel in.

After hesitating on the rooftop for half a minute, Sean walked off the rooftop and returned to the living room to sit in the wheelchair.

Rachel was different from Zander Young.

Zander Young and Harry Clarke, who were Sean’s diehard loyalists, they would definitely stand on Sean’s side.

To put it bluntly, Zander Young and Harry Clarke were Sean’s people.

Even between Dragon Kingdom and Sean, they would unswervingly choose Sean.

That being said, this might not be the case for Rachel.

Therefore, Sean would definitely not trust Rachel as much as he trusted Zander Young.

Sean would not hide some things from Zander Young, but he would not let Rachel into his confidence easily.

Soon, Rachel, led by a security guard, came to the villa where Sean lived.

After entering the living room, Rachel looked at Sean for a few seconds, then stepped forward and saluted Sean.

“Rachel Summers, the former leader of the third group of the intelligence department of the Northwest Army, reporting for duty, awaiting orders!”

Rachel kept her posture and reported loudly as she looked at Sean seriously.

At this moment, although Rachel was still in the same casual clothes, her aura had quietly changed.

It gave a sense of heroism.

The Guardian’s Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 598

Chapter 598

“You don’t have to do that, I’m not a commander anymore.”

Sean waved his hand slightly and motioned Rachel to sit down.

“Commander, you are!

“You’ll always be the commander in my heart! You’ll always be the commander in the hearts of countless soldiers in the Northwest!”

Rachel said these words very seriously and then lowered her hand obediently.

Sean did not want to say more on this topic, so he shook his head and remained silent. When Rachel looked at Sean who was sitting in a wheelchair, the tip of her nose could not help but itch again.

Rachel could accept that Sean fell from the peak of glory because she knew that with Sean's ability, there would be a day when he would regain his glory.

However, the most unacceptable thing for her was that Sean had now become a cripple.

Although this did not affect Sean's talent because he could still devise strategies as long as he could use his brain.

As for a warrior who once fought on the battlefield to face the enemy in person, losing his legs meant that his whole life had lost its meaning.

At this moment, Rachel felt like she was suffocated by a layer of cotton in her heart.

"Commander, I've heard all about it."

Rachel still did not dare to sit down but stood in front of Sean and said as she wiped the tip of her nose.

"Mm."

Sean nodded slightly and did not say much.

"Commander, I feel the injustice for you.

"When you were in the army back then, you guarded the border so that the enemy would not dare to invade, and also guarded the stability of the thousands of families in Dragon Kingdom.

"There is a myriad of twinkling lights in this land because of you but nobody is willing to provide a place for you to live. I feel that it's unfair to you."

Rachel gritted her teeth slightly. This was the thought in her heart.

However, when Sean heard the words, he smiled and shook his head.

“When you’re holding the post, you should be responsible and perform your duties.

“I used to be a warrior and it was my duty to protect my family and the country. ‘Nobody owes me anything, and they’re not obligated to keep a stranger they don’t know.’ Sean was optimistic. After he regained his strength, he did not care so much about many things.

“Commander, y–you really think so?”

Rachel widened her eyes, looked at Sean, and asked.

“It matters not to me.”

Sean waved his hand slightly and replied with a casual tone.

“You don’t mind, but I do!

“Others may not know, but I know how much you’ve done for Dragon Kingdom.

“If others don’t want to take care of you, I’m willing to take care of you!

“If Commander doesn’t mind, you can treat the Summers Residence as your home!”

Rachel widened her eyes and spoke to Sean with all her courage.

Her tone was extremely serious.

When Sean heard the words, he did not expect Rachel to say such a thing at all.

If he was still a commander, let alone the Summers Residence, even if it was the richest family in River City, it would be an honor for them to have Sean visit.

Now, however, Sean was just a loser in a wheelchair in the eyes of others.

Rachel did not even despise him?

"I'm just a burden now.

"Can't you see?"

Sean pointed to both of his legs.

"Commander, you are not a burden.

"You're the legendary commander of Dragon Kingdom. You're the hero who defends the country and the world.

"You are still my savior!"

Rachel's eyes widened and she still maintained her extreme seriousness.

Em

"Back then, our third intelligence team went deep behind enemy lines to get intelligence.

"But we accidentally exposed our weaknesses, our whereabouts were discovered, and everyone wanted to abandon us.

"You were the only one who spoke out against all opinions and said to everyone that you would never give up on any warrior.

"Also, you led your troops to fight to save us.

"Without you, there would be no Rachel Summers in the world. So, no matter what others think of you, in my heart, you're definitely not a burden.

"You're my hero! You saved me!"

Rachel's eyes widened. Her eyes were a little red when she said that.

At that time, Rachel and the others were in despair. They also knew that the top command would definitely abandon them.

It was because rescuing a few dozen people might mean losing hundreds of warriors and this was definitely not a good trade.

Therefore, they were all despairing and prepared to die.

However, at that time, Sean arrived with his troops. Seeing the flag held high in the distance, Rachel and the others burst into grateful tears.

That was the moment when looking at Sean's stalwart figure, Rachel, who had always been sturdy, was completely conquered.

Since then, she had developed a special feeling for Sean.

"I did this not for you, but for the soldiers that risk their lives to gather intelligence. I'll definitely not abandon you or anyone.

"Whether it's you or someone else, if I can save them, I'll definitely do my best to save them.

"This is nothing."

Sean waved his hand slightly. He found that Rachel's state seemed a little wrong at this time.

"It's nothing to you, but it's important to me.

"So, no matter what you become, you're forever my savior.

"If Commander doesn't mind, I, Rachel Summers, am willing to take care of you for the rest of your life. Please give me a chance!"

Rachel bowed deeply to Sean.

Rachel had already expressed her feelings for Sean.

She was willing to spend the rest of her life taking care of Sean's second half of his life. Was this not obvious enough?

No matter how stupid Sean was, he could still feel something.

Rachel's feelings for him might not be limited to that kind of comrade-in-arms feeling.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 599

Chapter 599

Sean slowly raised his head and looked at Rachel for a few seconds.

"Willow has worked hard to take care of me for two years.

"I don't want to burden other people anymore.

"So, I'm grateful for your kindness."

Sean thanked Rachel for her kindness but he would not accept it.

Willow naturally was a big reason for it.

"Commander, I know you may be thinking about Willow's care for you.

"But before I came, I had already talked to Willow."

After Rachel said these words, Sean suddenly raised his head to look at Rachel. His brows furrowed tightly.

“What did you talk about?”

Sean thought that Rachel told Willow that she liked him.

With Rachel’s resolute personality, she might really be able to do such a thing.

“I asked Willow and she told me that she really wanted to leave you this time.

“In the future, she may be with Quill Zimmer.”

Rachel looked at Sean and said very seriously.

If Willow had not told Rachel seriously that she had given up on Sean.

Rachel would definitely not come to look for Sean at this time.

When Sean heard this, he fell into silence.

He had the ability to change many things but he could not change Willow’s decision.

Although Willow had a pure and good personality, she was also rather stubborn. It was hard to change things that she decided.

Hence, if Sean still did not want to give up this woman who had worked hard for him for two. years, he could only start to take action against the Quinn family.

“I know. You may go back first.”

Sean said as he nodded slightly and waved his hand.

“Commander, you...”

Rachel was stunned when she heard the words, she gritted her teeth and wanted to speak.

"You don't have to worry about me, I'm living a good life here.

"As for Willow, I have a plan too.

"Thank you

you for your kindness."

Sean said as he looked at Rachel and shook his head.

"Also, you don't need to call me Commander in the future.

"I'm not anymore. At least now I'm not."

Sean said the last word with absolute certainty. His tone was absolutely serious.

"Yes!"

Rachel gritted her teeth and nodded.

Even though Sean was no longer a nine-star commander, she still dared not disobey Sean's order.

"I'll always wait for you.

"If there is no place for you to live in this world, please come to me, the Summers family will provide you with a place to live.

"I, Rachel Summers, am willing to take care of you."

After Rachel said these words, she just waited in place.

However, Sean did not speak.

"Com... Mr. Lennon, I'll go back first."

Rachel sighed and wanted to say something more. She even wanted to hug this man who had gone through countless storms.

However, she dared not.

Sean watched Rachel's figure leave from the French window, shook his head, and sighed.

Rachel was a sturdy and resolute, tough girl.

Her figure at this time looked a little lonely and desolate, which made people feel distressed.

To be honest, Sean did think well of Rachel.

No matter what aspect, Rachel was excellent.

She had a background in the military, had meritorious deeds, and had always had a soft spot.

for Sean.

Therefore, Sean actually liked Rachel. After all, he knew Rachel earlier than Willow.

However, like was not love after all.

"I'm sorry.

"I have a very small heart and it can only hold one person.

"Now, it has been filled with Willow."

Sean muttered to himself as he watched Rachel leave.

Then, Sean stood up again and walked to the French window.

“You, Quill Zimmer, made such a good show to drive me out of the Quinn family.

“Then I’ll wait for you to finish the play, and then talk about our affairs.

“I want to see how you end this story.

A cold smile slowly emerged from the corner of Sean’s mouth.

The next day.

Old Madam Quinn and other core members of the Quinn family rushed to the Reach For Will Group headquarters with Quill Zimmer.

Willow was also sitting in the car.

Originally, she did not want to come over but she could not resist Old Madam Quinn’s order, so she followed.

Moreover, Old Madam Quinn deliberately sat Willow in Quill’s car.

Along the way, Quill kept talking while Willow just nodded politely from time to time.

Although she had accepted her fate and decided to accept Quill, she still did not want to deceive herself into doing something against her heart.

Quill glanced at Willow who was sitting in the back seat through the inner rearview mirror and a sinister look flashed in the depths of his eyes.

“You can continue to be cocky!

“After I get you, I’ll kick you away and I’ll see how you beg me!”

Quill held the steering wheel with a sneer in his heart.

As long as he facilitated this collaboration, he would be the benefactor of the Quinn family.

Not to mention marrying Willow, no matter what he requested, the Quinn family would not refuse.

Soon, everyone came to the Reach For Will Group building.

Everyone parked the car and got off together.

However, Quill could not help but look suspicious when he looked at the entrance.

Wade Yancey had already promised him in advance that he would wait for him at the entrance. and then would go to meet Mr. Clarke of Reach For Will Group together.

Why was Wade not here now?

Without the lead of the people who worked inside, it was not easy for them to enter the Reach. For Will Group building!

“Young Master Zimmer, what’s going on?”

Old Madam Quinn asked quickly. She had regarded Quill as the mainstay of saving the Quinn family at this time.

“Don’t worry, Old Madam Quinn, I promise to let the Quinn family get the agreement today.

“If I can’t get it, 1, Quill Zimmer, will not be called Zimmer from now on.

“I’ll give Mr. Yancey a call first.”

Quill immediately took out his mobile phone to find Wade’s number and dialed it.

The Guardian’s Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 600

Chapter 600

The Quinn family all looked at Quill with anticipation.

Quill frowned slightly when he heard the beep coming from the phone.

“The signal is quite bad today.”

Just as Quill muttered, the phone was picked up.

“Hey, Young Master Zimmer.”

Wade’s voice sounded from the other end of the phone.

“Mr. Yancey, what’s going on?”

“Old Madam Quinn and I are already here, why aren’t you out to greet us?”

Quill’s tone was obviously a little dissatisfied.

“Oh, you’re already here?”

“Just come in then. I just went out to do some things, I’ll be back right away.

“You guys may go in first. I’ve helped you make an appointment with Mr. Clarke.”

Wade smiled and then replied seriously.

“Uhm... Okay then, you come back quickly.”

Quill was a little dissatisfied but he did not say anything and hung up the phone.

Wade, who was on the other end of the phone, had already fled overseas. He slowly put down the phone with a sneer on his face.

"Come back sooner?"

"I'm afraid that I'll never go back in this life."

"I really want to see how you, Quill Zimmer, get beaten in the face! Hahaha!"

"Since you've put me into deep trouble, so you and the Zimmer family will fend for yourselves!"

Wade sneered again and again. Then, he directly took out the SIM card from his phone and destroyed it on the spot.

Thinking that the Quinn family, the Zimmer family, and even Sean were all played around by him, he could not help but feel gleeful for a while.

Quill put down his phone and deliberately cleared his throat first.

"How is it?"

Sure enough, the Quinn family asked worriedly.

Even Willow also glanced at Quill.

Quill's deliberate hesitation successfully attracted the attention of the Quinn family.

"Mr. Yancey has something to do at the moment, so he is not in the building now."

Quill shook his head and said to the crowd.

"Ah? What should we do then?"

Willow's eldest uncle, Samuel Quinn, immediately became a little anxious.

"But it doesn't matter, I've asked Mr. Yancey to make an appointment with Mr. Clarke."

“We can go directly to Mr. Clarke now.”

After keeping them in suspense, Quill only replied with a smile.

“Whew! That’s good, that’s good!”

“Young Master Zimmer is really capable. You can actually arrange for us to meet Mr. Clarke directly.”

“Grandma, I’ve to have a few drinks with Young Master Zimmer for tonight’s celebration party.”

The entire Quinn family kept discussing with joy.

“Willow, Young Master Zimmer really did his best for the Quinn family’s affairs.”

Old Madam Quinn turned her head slowly, looked at Willow, and spoke.

When Willow heard those words, she slowly raised her head and frowned at Quill.

“Is the Mr. Yancey you’re talking about called Wade Yancey?”

It was only at this time that Willow had just reacted.

When they had dinner with Wade last time, Willow remembered that Herbert Zael and the others seemed to say that Wade had now joined Reach For Will Group.

However, what happened later caught Willow by surprise, so there was no time for her to think deeply about these things.

At this time, they had already arrived at the entrance of the Reach For Will Group Building, so Willow suddenly thought of this.

“Willow, you know Mr. Yancey?”

Old Madam Quinn was stunned for a moment. She did not expect that Willow would mention Wade's full name.

Hearing this, Quill glanced at Willow.

He also knew a little bit about the relationship between Wade and Willow. He seemed to know that both of them knew each other.

However, he did not ask much about their specific relationship.

"Wade Yancey was my classmate."

Willow was also a little surprised at this time.

She really did not expect that Mr. Yancey, who was so valued by Old Madam Quinn and Quill, was actually Wade Yancey.

Judging from the attitude of the Quinn family and Quill, they simply regarded Wade as a real big shot!

However, they did not know that this big shot, who was regarded as a god by them, was deflated several times by Sean.

At this moment, in Willow's heart, she could not help but compare Wade with Sean again.

Wade, who was regarded as a big shot by the Quinn family and the Zimmer family, was nothing before Sean.

Did it mean that Sean's ability and status were stronger than Wade's?

"Willow, what do you mean?"

"Since Mr. Yancey is your classmate, why didn't you tell us earlier?"

Faye's words interrupted Willow's thoughts.

“Yeah, since both of you are classmates, why didn’t you help the Quinn family fight for partnership?”

“You still want to involve Young Master Zimmer with our family’s affairs? I think you just don’t care about your family, right?”

“Or maybe you have a grudge against this Mr. Yancey, so Reach For Will Group won’t collaborate with us, right?”

Several members of the Quinn family, who were usually dissatisfied with Willow’s family, seized the opportunity to start accusing Willow at this time.

Before, they said that the reason Reach For Will Group did not cooperate with the Quinn family was because of Sean.

However, now that Sean had been driven away and they had succeeded, so naturally, they would not mention Sean again.

However, if they had the opportunity to blame Willow, then they would naturally gladly do so.

Willow could not help falling into silence when she heard these words from everyone.

Was it really because of Sean that Reach For Will Group did not collaborate with the Quinn family?