

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 711-720

Chapter 711

After he came back to his senses, he suddenly raised his hand and pointed at Sean

"Sean, you loser! You have a lot of nerve!

"Do you think that because you're not a cripple anymore so you can hook up with the Quinn family?"

"I tell you, if you dare to make trouble here, you'll be dead meat!"

The middle-aged man turned to look at Bill Wallace and immediately began to complain

"Mr Wallace, this person is not a guest invited by the Quinn family, please drive him away now!"

"F*ck off!"

Bill cursed angrily and then slapped the middle-aged man hard in the face, again forcing the middle aged man to take a few steps back.

The middle-aged man thought complaining to Bill would make Bill drive Sean away

Unexpectedly, this brought up a scolding and a merciless slap in his face from Bill

Another middle-aged member of the Quinn family looked at him with a dull gaze and his head was buzzing.

Something was not right!

"Mr. Lennon!"

In the next second, Bill led a hundred brawny men in black behind him to bow and greet Sean

That stentorian greeting made the two middle-aged members of the Quinn family fall into confusion again.

“Have all the people who were supposed to be here arrived?”

Sean loosened his collar and asked lightly.

“Yes, they’re all here.”

Bill did not dare to delay a second and immediately replied.

“Ok.

“The show they were supposed to play should be over.

“I’m here to make a closing announcement.”

As soon as Sean finished speaking, he walked toward the interior of the hotel.

With a calm face and a steady pace.

The heartbeats of two members of the Quinn family accelerated throughout the whole process and they dared not look directly at Sean.

“Bring half of them to come to get the things.”

With an order from Zander, the cargo compartments of the two trucks were all opened.

50 brawny men in black lined up to get the things inside under the command of Zander.

The other 50 people followed behind Sean under Bill's instructions.

Tap! Tap!

Sean was alone in front and dozens of people followed behind him.

The crisp sound of leather shoes stepping on the floor reverberated throughout the hall

"Mr. Lennon? Mr. Lennon, please come in!"

Many of the hotel staff knew Sean and immediately greeted him respectfully

As for Sean, he strode directly to the top floor.

Meanwhile.

In the ballroom on the top floor of the hotel.

Quill Zimmer had come to the stage.

"Young Master Zimmer, are you willing to marry my granddaughter?"

Old Madam Quinn asked Quill with a smile on her face.

"Of course.

"There hasn't been a single day that I have not liked Willow"

Quill nodded lightly and admitted his feelings without hesitation

This was their plan.

They wanted to force Willow to agree to this matter in such a big scene.

"Okay! I've spoken just now.

“Whoever is willing to marry my granddaughter, I’ll definitely not stop him

“If that’s the case, then...”

Old Madam Quinn faced the audience and began to speak seriously

However, before she could finish speaking. Willow grabbed her arm.

“Grandma, these are all arranged by you.

“It’s all preplanned by you and the Zimmers, right?”

Willow stared at Old Madam Quinn with her two beautiful eyes that were swimming with extremely complicated emotions.

“What are you doing?”

Old Madam Quinn quickly turned off the microphone to prevent the sound from reaching the audience.

“I’m asking you, were these arranged by you?

“The so-called looking for a bridegroom is a show put on by you and the Zimmers for me?

“You still want me to marry Quill, don’t you?”

Willow shook her head slightly and kept questioning Old Madam Quinn.

This old lady in front of her was her elder, her grandmother, and a person she respected very much.

However, this person she respected had played such a trick and fooled her.

At this moment, Willow felt extremely disappointed.

Originally, she thought she still had some status in Old Madam Quinn's heart.

Although her status was not comparable to Faye and the others, at least she was also the granddaughter of Old Madam Quinn.

However, it was only now that Willow suddenly realized that it was all her wishful thinking.

In the eyes of Old Madam Quinn and the entire Quinn family, she was nothing but a tool.

Just like what Simon Quinn said to her personally before, that the Quinn family valued her just because they could use her to marry the Zimmer family.

If Willow could not marry the Zimmer family, how could she still have any status in the Quinn family?

Willow felt extremely sad at this moment.

"Willow, do you think you still have a choice?"

Old Madam Quinn glanced down the stage with a gloomy face and then whispered to Willow.

Hearing this, the corner of Willow's mouth looked even more bitter.

She really had no choice!

After Sean was kicked out of the Quinn family, who would still be willing to protect her without any purpose?

Everyone around her, including her mother Fion Wilson, wanted her to hook up with the rich Zimmer family.

As an ordinary woman, she could not resist her family's arrangements after all.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 712

Chapter 712

However, she was still unwilling to give it.

It was because she knew that if she agreed in front of so many River City's socialites today, then she would be completely controlled by the Zimmer family in the future.

She would never have any chance to escape from them anymore.

"Willow, believe me, I'll definitely treat you well."

"Be with me and I'll give you happiness!"

Quill looked at Willow with a very serious expression and even stretched out his palm as if to swear.

"Thank you for your love, Young Master Zimmer, but I refuse"

As soon as Willow uttered these words, Old Madam Quinn almost vomited blood on the spot in anger

"Are you trying to lose the Quinn family's dignity?"

Old Madam Quinn stomped her feet slightly and glared at Willow with gritted teeth

Everyone in the audience was also slightly stunned and then many of them showed a sneer

Jon Zimmer deliberately arranged such a scene but Willow rejected Qui outright, which was really ridiculous.

However, Quill was unbothered.

Since he dared to come here, how could he not be fully prepared?

“Willow, I didn’t want to trouble you.

“However, I see that many people dislike you and are unwilling to accept you, which makes me sad

“Others dislike you, but I don’t. Why can’t you give me a chance?”

Quill said it with a serious expression and his eyes were full of warmth

Even many girls in the audience were moved.

However, Willow remained indifferent and only shook her head slightly.

Why was she so stubborn and unwilling to be with Quill?

Perhaps it was because Sean once told her to keep away from Quill.

“D*mn, who do you think you are? Pretending to be aloof? Nobody wants you anymore and you still wanna be choosy here?”

Suddenly, a mocking voice came from the audience.

Hearing this word, many people frowned slightly and looked in the direction from which the voice came.

However, no one could be found at all.

“I think what that person said is right. The Quinn family is looking for a bridegroom for her but nobody is willing to marry her. Now that Young Master Zimmer is here, she is still pretending to be above him?”

“To put it bluntly, this is hypocrisy! It’s too hypocritical! Nobody is willing to marry you, don’t you know what this means?

“Young Master Zimmer is really magnanimous. Willow has lived with another man for two years, and he is still willing to marry her?

“Anyway, if it was me, I definitely wouldn’t want it.”

Immediately afterward, the people below erupted into discussions as if they had rehearsed their lines before.

Moreover, the voice of this discussion was so loud that Willow and others on the stage could hear it clearly.

“Please don’t say that. Since I like Willow, I can change my principles for her.”

Quill made a show and admonished the crowd below.

In fact, there was joy blooming within his heart because these people were planted here by him.

“Young Master Zimmer, we are just standing up for you. She’s too self-righteous.”

“Do you think you can do whatever you want just because you’re beautiful? That’s enough!”

“Don’t blame me for speaking a little harshly, she has been living with another man for two years, so isn’t she a loose woman?”

“Isn’t it? Still want to be choosy and reject Young Master Zimmer, I really don’t know where your courage comes from!”

The people in the audience, who were arranged by Quill, got meaner as they spoke.

Willow was trembling uncontrollably in anger when all these words reached her ears.

Since childhood, Willow attached great importance to reputation.

After entering the workforce, she rarely had contact with boys, let alone having a relationship with someone

Even after she started working, she also dutifully did her job.

Never made any oversteps.

However, at this time, when she heard that people in the audience called her a loose woman, she felt greatly distressed as if thousands of arrows pierced through her heart.

"I'm not, I didn't..."

Willow clenched her fists tightly while her tears flowed uncontrollably.

"You don't have the last word. You lived with another man for two years, didn't that man leave you as well?"

"Isn't it? Nobody is willing to marry you, you should be thankful to Young Master Zimmer."

The two young people in the audience lowered their heads again after speaking those words.

Willow was silent for more than ten seconds, then suddenly shook her head slowly.

At this moment, Willow suddenly felt that she had an urge to leave this world.

It was because there was nothing much for her to look forward to in this world.

Clap!

Clap!

At this moment, a continuous round of loud clapping suddenly rang throughout the ballroom.

As if someone was applauding.

Bang!

Immediately afterward, the door of the ballroom was pushed open by two brawny men in black.

A young man in an all-black suit walked in steadily.

As he walked, he slowly clapped his hands.

All the guests, including the Quinns, Willow, and the others on the stage, all shifted their attention in this direction.

Swoosh!

At this moment, the whole place fell into a dead silence.

No one thought that the person in front of them would appear here.

The appearance of this young man really made everyone in the scene stunned.

It was Sean Lennon!

Willow's loser fiancé, Sean Lennon!

However, the cripple in a wheelchair was walking very steadily on his feet at this moment.

He did not rely on anyone or anything to help him and just walked slowly by himself.

He was walking toward them!

Moreover, he also came to this banquet held by the Quinn family.

Tap! Tap!

The sound of footsteps sounded one after another.

Behind Sean, 50 brawny men in black followed closely in two rows.

At this moment, Willow and Old Madam Quinn were both stunned.

The Quinn family, including Kent Quinn and his wife, Simon Quinn, and the rest were also all frozen on the spot

Even Quill, who was on the stage, also slowly widened his eyes and his heartbeat continued to accelerate.

The entire ballroom fell into dead silence.

Only the footsteps of Sean and the others echoed in everyone's ears.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 713

This scene caught everyone off guard.

Who would have thought that the Quinn family would go to great lengths to drive away Sean and then throw a banquet to look for a bridegroom for Willow, but at the scene of the banquet, Sean actually steadily walked in while clapping his hands?

He was walking in!

Instead of being in a wheelchair.

Clap!

Clap!

Sean took the last two claps and then slowly put down his hands.

“Wonderful!

After Sean finished speaking, everyone only slowly came back to their senses.

“You! You!”

Willow stood on the stage and stared at Sean’s legs with eyes widened.

At this moment, she was very excited and her joy was beyond words

Sean was standing!

Quill’s expression was extremely gloomy at this moment. Of course, he knew that Sean had recovered.

However, he had been keeping that under wraps.

Just to make the Quinn family think that Sean was still a cripple.

However, Sean had now come to the scene in person and this matter could no longer be concealed

“Sean Lennon, who the hell told you to come here!”

Simon abruptly stepped forward, pointed at Sean, and cursed angrily.

After Simon shouted, some people in the scene who originally did not know Sean also reacted.

‘It turns out that this young man is Willow’s cripple fiancé!’

‘But, he is not a cripple!’

‘And looking at the aura he was exuding right now, he doesn’t look like a useless loser.’

Old Madam Quinn spoke about Sean being an insignificant cripple before, now it seemed this was not the case.

“I’m asking you, who let you in?”

“The Quinn family has already dissociated with you, I think you’re f*cking shameless!”

Seeing that Sean did not speak, Simon cursed again.

Sean turned his head slowly and glanced at Simon.

“You, shut the f*ck up”

Hearing this, Simon was taken aback.

He wanted to refute Sean, but at the moment when he looked into Sean's eyes, he subconsciously took two steps back

What kind of gaze did Sean have at this time?

It was like a sword that was three feet long with a sharp edge

As if as long as Simon dared to say another word, he would be pierced by this sharp sword

You can only speak with my permission.

"I'm not targeting one person, I'm referring to everyone present."

Sean adjusted the hem of his shirt, then quickened his pace and walked towards the stage

As for the 50 brawny men in black that he brought in, all stood on both sides of the aisle like towers

Gulp

Simon's Adam's apple rolled and he obediently kept his mouth shut

Some people in the scene were very dissatisfied with Sean's domineering attitude

However, they did not know what the situation was at this time, so they also remained silent for the time being.

"Who said that no one is willing to marry Willow?"

"Of course, you all don't dare to marry her

"Because, she's mine

"And she, can only be mine"

When Sean said these words, he looked meaningfully at Willow who was dressed up on the stage

Willow was completely stunned and her eyes became moist.

The appearance of Sean was like a ray of dawn emerging from the boundless darkness, illuminating her path forward

Old Madam Quinn told her that she had no choice.

Next to her, Quill was pressuring her very hard.

When she was most lonely and helpless and fell into despair, Sean's appearance in the scene at this moment was like her savior.

It was more like her Mr. Right.

All the socialites in River City before the stage remained silent and watched quietly.

Next should be the confrontation between the Zimmer family and Sean, right?

It was just that many people did not understand that the Zimmer family was not only rich and powerful but also backed by a big shot like Jason Yeast.

What could Sean use to fight with the Zimmer family?

Even if he was not cripple now, what he could do?

It was not just because he was a cripple that others looked down on him.

If Sean was capable and powerful, even if he was paralyzed in bed, many people would respect him.

If he had nothing, what could he do even if he was able-bodied?

There were plenty of able-bodied people on construction sites

However, those able-bodied people might never have the opportunity to enter such an occasion in their lifetime

Therefore, those River City's socialites in the audience felt that confrontation between Sean and the Zimmer family was tantamount to throwing straws against the wind

"When did you recover?"

Old Madam Quinn asked as she looked at Sean with a gloomy expression

"You, shut up too."

Sean glanced at Old Madam Quinn again His tone was still incomparably domineering

"You!"

Old Madam Quinn had never been spoken to like this before Hearing this, she was about to curse angrily on the spot.

However, Samuel Quinn stretched out his hand and pulled her

"Let's see what he wants to do first

Samuel whispered in the ear of Old Madam Quinn

"Hmph"

Old Madam Quinn snorted coldly and temporarily shut her mouth

Anyway, with Quill around, she thought that Sean would definitely not be able to do anything

Therefore, there was no need for the Quinn family to do anything

However, Quill's performance surprised Old Madam Quinn.

At this moment, Quill was standing still and frowning slightly as if he was thinking about something

Looking at his expression, it seemed that he was also going to wait to see what Sean got in his sleeve

"I said before that with me, Sean Lennon, here, no one will dare to bully and insult Willow again in River

City.

"But I heard someone insulted her just now."

Sean walked up to the stage, walked to Willow's side, and slowly glanced across the faces of the audience.

Like a god overlooking all living beings.

Many people lowered their heads subconsciously.

Just now, under Quill's arrangement, they deliberately said that nobody was willing to marry Willow and even said that she was a loose woman.

Quill assured those people that no one would trouble them, including Old Madam Quinn for saying those hurtful words

Therefore, they dared to do so.

However, who would have thought that Sean would actually come to the scene!

Although they were not afraid of Sean, no one stood up to admit it at this time.

“Mr. Lennon, those who insulted Ms. Quinn just now.

“I’ve written all their names down.”

Homer Larson stood up slowly while showing a smile.

The Guardian’s Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 714

Chapter 714

“Very good

“I’ll get even with you all about this one by one”

A tinge of ridicule flashed in Sean’s eyes when he said this Then, he slowly retracted his gaze

However, many people in the audience were a little disdainful

If Quill said something like this to them, they would definitely be afraid

However, Sean was nothing but a cripple who has just recovered and he had no background in River City

Why should they be afraid of him?

Hence, no one was afraid at all

Sean could see that these people were disdainful but he did not say anything more

The most important thing to him was Willow

“Sean, is it... is it really you?”

Willow still felt like she was dreaming until this time

“Yeah, it’s me.”

Sean turned his head and immediately smiled at Willow

It was completely different from the terrifying aura just now

Willow muttered to herself, then froze in place

“Don’t be afraid, with me here, no one can force you to do things you don’t like ”

Sean said with a firm tone as he smiled at Willow with warm eyes

“Okay!”

Willow nodded subconsciously and then leaned on Sean.

This move did not need to be explained too much.

Anyone could see that the person whom Willow liked was Sean.

If she had to choose between Sean and Quill, Quill would definitely be out

“Hah...”

However, Quill just sneered and did not care at all.

Liked?

Could people who liked each other would be able to be together?

The most important thing for the marriage of these children of the prestigious families was that both the families must be well-matched.

The Zimmer family was prestigious in River City.

Moreover, they had enormous potential.

As for Sean, what did he have?

The Quinn family would never let Willow marry a useless loser like Sean

“Sean, I think you’ve done pretending, right? Shouldn’t you get out of here now?”

Quill turned his head slowly, looked at Sean, and asked

On the stage, Sean and Quill wore black and white suits, respectively, forming a sharp contrast

It was as if they were archenemies destined to fight

“Do you really regard yourself as the protagonist today just because I didn’t take action against you?”

“If I want to take action against you, can you bear my slap?”

Sean glanced at Quill and spoke with a bantering tone

“You”

Quill was stunned for a moment, then sneered

“Before, I saw you as a cripple and didn’t want to lower myself to your level

“But now, hit me if you dare!”

Quill stretched out his hand and pointed at his chest, his face was full of disdain

Even the people in the audience showed scornful smiles

Sean was indeed a little haughty.

However, being haughty must also have a limit

The Zimmer family was not a nobody in River City, and their dignity was extremely important

Not to mention Sean, a poor guy with no identity, even the children of the prestigious families in this River City would never dare to hit Quill in front of so many River City’s socialites

Otherwise, it would become a situation of life and death

Sean shook his head slightly. A hint of helplessness appeared at the corner of his mouth

He and the Zimmer family were originally on bad terms, so why would he have any scruples?

Hence, it seemed that Quill had miscalculated.

However, in Quill’s opinion, Sean’s smile at this time must mean that he did not dare to hit him, so Sean just smiled to hide his embarrassment.

Thinking of this, Quill felt more confident.

“If you’ve got the guts, try and hit me now!”

Quill stepped forward, looked at Sean, and directly shouted.

“Try? Okay, as you wish!”

As soon as Sean's voice sounded, his arm already swung into the air.

Smack!

In the next second, an incomparably crisp slap sound resounded through the audience instantly.

Quill received a slap in the face firmly on his face.

Woah!

Many people in the audience suddenly stood up and watched this scene in disbelief

They saw that Quill was covering his face with one hand and kept retreating. If Simon had not caught him, he would have almost fallen off the stage.

"Hsss! He did it, he really did it!

"Is this Sean crazy? He actually slapped Quill in front of so many people? If the Zimmers don't make him pay the price, they'll definitely lose face!

"Sean must be dead meat now!"

There were bursts of discussion among the guests in the huge hall

"Sean, you f*cking b*stard!"

Quill did not expect that Sean actually dared to slap him in front of so many people!

At this moment, Quill felt the greatest humiliation in his life

Under such extreme anger, he did not have time to think about whether he was Sean's opponent, so he rushed toward Sean directly.

Smack!

Sean did not move an inch and gave Quill another backhanded slap

The speed was so fast that people could not even see his movements clearly

When everyone reacted, they saw that Quill was stumbling back again.

Simon stretched out his hand trying to help again but he collided with Quill's body, and then both fell off the stage.

Thump!

The height of the stage was not high, but there was a noticeable drop, which this situation was not the same if they had walked off the stage.

The two of them tumbled down the steps like meatballs. Both of them even bounced a bit.

Everyone was stunned on the spot.

One slap was not enough and hence another slap?

Was this Sean crazy or did he have strong confidence?

Swoosh!

Sean stretched out his hand and tugged at his suit. His movements and demeanor were both calm.

It was as if slapping Quill was like swatting two flies.

The two bodyguards in black that Quill brought originally wanted to fight back.

However, when both of them realized that they were fiercely stared at by the 50 brawny men in black who came with Sean, they immediately kept their heads down obediently.

They thought that they could just find another job if they were fired by Quill.

However, losing their lives for Quill was definitely not worth it.

“Oh, you’re insane!

“Sean Lennon, what are you trying to do?

“Today is the day when the Quinn family is looking for a bridegroom. What is your motive for making trouble here?

“You’re so ungrateful and want to feud with the Quinn family? Do you really think that you can do whatever you want in this River City just because you know Mr. Larson of Larson Pharmaceuticals?”

Old Madam Quinn was furious, she pointed at Sean and kept berating him.

“Ungrateful?

“I received Willow’s kindness and she took good care of me for two years.

“Now, it’s natural that I need to protect her. But what does it have to do with the Quinn family?”

Sean spoke sharply and refused to give in an inch. 1

He had endured for two years, and today, he did not want to suffer the Quinn family any longer.

The Guardian’s Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 715

Chapter 715

“You, you’re such a b*stard!

“Willow’s surname is Quinn, she is a member of the Quinn family!

“You’re taken care of by Willow, that means you’re taken care of by the Quinn family!”

Old Madam Quinn stretched out her finger and pointed at Sean to rebuke him again.

“Old Madam Quinn, why are you so agitated?”

Homer Larson stepped forward slowly and looked at Old Madam Quinn calmly.

“If I remember correctly, you said just now that the Quinns and Mr. Lennon have already cleared their grievances.

“If that’s the case, why do you still mention what happened in the past?”

“Today the Quinn family is looking for a bridegroom and Mr. Lennon came to participate, is there anything wrong?”

Hearing this, the people in the audience nodded slightly.

These words were indeed spoken by Old Madam Quinn herself.

She said that the Quinn family and Sean had dissociated with each other and the grievances between both parties had cleared.

These were her original words.

“Hmph! It’s true that the Quinn family is looking for a bridegroom, but definitely not him.

“Although the Quinn family has been in decline, that person still needs to be well-matched.

“What kind of background does he, Sean Lennon, have?”

Samuel Quinn also took a step forward and looked at Homer with a clear displeased look on his face.

“That makes sense.

“At least, I’ll definitely not marry my daughter to a poor guy.”

The patriarchs of several prestigious families in the audience nodded slightly when they heard Samuel’s words.

“Sean, I’ll make it clear to you today.

“My granddaughter, Willow, even if she remains single for the rest of her life, I’ll never marry her to you!

“You better drop the idea as soon as possible!”

The words spoken by Old Madam Quinn were filled with deep anger.

“Grandma, I choose Sean!

“I just want to choose Sean!”

Suddenly, Willow stood up straight and shouted those words in a loud voice.

Hearing this, the entire ballroom fell into silence again.

Sean raised the corner of his mouth lightly, he felt that it was enough to have these words from Willow.

As long as she was willing to be with him, Sean would take her away from the ends of the earth and save her from anything, including from this awful banquet.

“Are you crazy?

“You, you’re such an unfilial granddaughter!”

Old Madam Quinn was panting and her face was extremely red with anger

“Grandma, why are you so stubborn?”

“Young Master Zimmer is excellent, but is Sean any worse than him?”

“Before, you said that Sean was differently-abled, and you would never let me marry a cripple.

“But isn’t he recovered now?”

“Tell me, how is Sean any worse than Young Master Zimmer?”

Willow slowly took off the white crystal hairpin on her head and questioned Old Madam Quinn

Seeing this scene, Old Madam Quinn’s eyes widened even more

Whoever Willow handed this white crystal hairpin to in the scene of the banquet, it meant who she chose

This thing could never be changed!

After all, this matter was carried out under the witness of so many people

“Okay! Then I’ll tell you, what’s the difference between him and Young Master Zimmer!”

“In terms of background, the Zimmer family is local to River City. In the past two years, they’ve become a first-class family in River City.”

“In terms of connections, Mr. Zimmer has a wide range of friends from various fields, including River City’s local army garrison.”

“In terms of wealth, the Zimmer family is wealthier than the Quinn family

“Now tell me, what does Sean have?”

“Does he have a background, connections, or wealth like the Zimmer family?”

At this time, Old Madam Quinn did not care about any dignity. She would never allow Willow to choose Sean.

“Hmph! Naive.”

Quill walked to the stage again and looked at Sean with a sneer.

Besides fighting, what else did Sean know?

“Why don’t you answer me?”

“Tell me, what does he have?”

“Just being a little stronger means that he can hit anyone casually?”

“Do you believe that if I make a phone call now, the government will send someone to arrest him?” Seeing that Willow did not speak, Old Madam Quinn questioned again.

Willow held the white crystal hairpin in her hand, bit her red lips slightly, and was about to speak.

“Hmph! Willow Quinn, stop talking.”

“You’re shameless! The Quinn family feels ashamed!”

“Let’s not talk about anything else, let’s talk about wealth. In order to court you, Young Master Zimmer sent us an engagement gift of five million to the Quinn family. Do you remember?”

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 716

Chapter 716

"Could he give that much to you? This! Is the difference!"

Faye Quinn took over the conversation with a sneer on her face.

Just when Sean wanted to speak, Quill took the lead

"That five million is only half of the engagement gifts, I brought another five million today

"An engagement gift of ten million, just for you Willow!

"Willow, do you really not understand my feelings for you?"

Hearing this, many people were moved by it.

An engagement gift of ten million?

This was indeed a hefty sum of money!

Quill was really willing to spend so much money in order to marry Willow!

However, no one knew that Quill felt extremely distressed offering that much at this time

However, for the sake of their plan, ten million was nothing

Willow, did you hear that? Could he, Sean Lennon, give you an engagement gift of ten million?"

"If he can really offer that much, I'll never interfere in your affairs"

Old Madam Quinn also looked at Willow with a sneer while pointing at Sean

“In your eyes, whoever gives more money is qualified to take Willow away?”

“She is not a commodity”

Sean turned his head slowly and said as she looked at Old Madam Quinn

“Hahaha! Sure enough, the poor will find excuses for themselves the most

Simon and Faye both laughed.

“Sean, stop talking nonsense. Even if it’s a commodity, you have to have money to buy it.

“If you’ve got the ability, just take out ten million now!”

Simon sneered. Since he was asking Sean to take out ten million immediately, it meant that he would not give Sean time to raise money.

“In my heart, Willow has never been a commodity.

“But today, I did prepare a little money as an engagement gift.

Sean shifted his gaze and looked at Willow.

“Sean, you...”

Willow hesitated.

Since Sean regained consciousness, he had spent tens of millions on buying a house and a car.

How much money could he get from the pension he received in the army to let him squander like this?

Perhaps his bank card had already out of money now, right?

“Yo, can you really take out ten million?”

Seeing that Sean was so confident, Simon and others were slightly stunned

“Not ten million.”

Sean shook his head slightly, then slowly raised his palm

“Hahaha! If it’s less than ten million, don’t take it out then! Save yourself the shame!”

Simon and Quill laughed again.

Clap!

Clap!

Sean clapped twice.

Bang!

The door at the back of the ballroom was pushed open again by someone

Zander Young, who was burly and dressed in formal clothes, stepped in

“Engagement gifts from the Lennon family!”

Hearing Zander’s shout, everyone in the audience was shocked

“The Lennon family? I’ve never heard of the Lennon family?”

“When did River City has a Lennon family?”

There was a lot of discussion among the guests The Quinn family was also confused

“I, Sean Lennon, indeed have no parents.

“But who dares to say that I’ve no background?”

“I’m the Lennon family by myself!”

Sean’s incomparably calm tone left Old Madam Quinn and the others startled

However, what made them even more startled was still to come.

After Zander’s voice spoke, there were again another 50 brawny men in black lined up in two teams and walked in.

Everyone was dressed in suits and leather shoes. Tall and sturdy.

Moreover, each person was carrying a silver-white briefcase in their hands.

One briefcase in each hand.

There were 50 brawny men, which meant that there were a hundred briefcases in total.

“Don’t tell me these briefcases are all full of cash?”

“So many... So many briefcases, how much money is in them?”

When everyone thought of what Sean said before and looked at the scene at this time, their heartbeats quickened, and were constantly swallowing saliva.

If these briefcases were full of cash, there would definitely be more than ten million!

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 717

Chapter 717

Everyone was terrified

'A briefcase of this size can hold at least half a million dollars if it's full of cash

At this time, these 50 brawny men in black each had two briefcases in hand, then that's a hundred in total

"If there are hundreds of thousands of dollars in each briefcase, doesn't it mean that Sean had prepared tens of millions today?"

Everyone dared not think about it any longer

Was there not any person here today who was not a prominent figure in the entire River City?

That being said, it was definitely not easy to get them to take out tens of millions of cash at once

Even if they could, it would take a lot of time for them to transfer it out

More importantly, how could they be willing to take out tens of millions of dollars just to marry a mere Willow!

This was not realistic.

These people in the audience felt that they could never do it

As for Sean, a person with no background, how could he do it then?

Therefore, after everyone was shocked, many people felt that Sean was only keeping up appearances “Impossible, it’s absolutely impossible.

Quill shook his head again and again, no matter what, he could not believe this

As for Old Madam Quinn and the others, they did not speak and just watched all this silently

They wanted to see if Sean was only keeping up appearances or was for real

“Sean...”

When Willow came back to her senses, she called out to Sean “Don’t worry, I’m here.

“You don’t have to do anything.”

Sean responded, and then slowly clapped his hands.

Swoosh!

The 50 brawny men who came in with Sean at the beginning immediately stepped forward and received half the briefcases from the 50 brawny men in black who came in later

A total of a hundred brawny men, each with a briefcase in their hands, stood in front of the stage and were clearly seen by the audience.

Gulp!

Many people swallowed hard again.

Not to mention what was in the box, it was already extremely shocking to see hundreds of brawny men in uniforms carrying their briefcases in unison.

“Sean, stop pretending here.

“Open the briefcase and let us have a look if you dare!

“If you can really take out ten million, 1, Quill Zimmer, will write my name backward!”

Quill gritted his teeth, feeling extremely aggrieved, and roared at Sean.

However, Sean did not even look at Quill at all. Today, he wanted everyone to get to know him again

“Willow, look, this is what I’ve prepared for you.”

Sean slowly stretched out his arm and signaled at the hundred brawny men in black

Click-clack! Click-clack! Click-clack!

As soon as Sean finished speaking, the hundred brawny men in black all unlocked the lock of the briefcase.

The sounds of the briefcases opening echoed in everyone’s ears

Zander stood up as straight as an arrow, as stiff as a spear, and gave a sudden shout

“Present the engagement gifts!”

Swoosh!

A brawny man in black, who was standing on the far left, held the briefcase with his left arm and opened it with his right hand.

Swoosh!

Everyone turned their attention to this side.

Including Simon, who also stretched his neck and looked toward this side

When the briefcase was completely opened, everyone saw that each of them was filled with banknotes that were printed in green

In this society, people worked hard just to make money.

Therefore, the unique color of this banknote would instantly draw people's attention no matter where it was.

What was more, it was a briefcase full of banknotes, right in front of them?

Stacks of banknotes were neatly arranged in the briefcase.

Looking at the number of banknotes in this briefcase, there should really be an amount of five hundred thousand.

Immediately afterward, a young man next to the brawny man in black also opened the briefcase in the hands of this brawny man.

Click-clack!

Briefcases were opened one by one from left to right.

Each briefcase revealed an eye-catching green when opened.

Every time a sea of green was shown, a chorus of exclamations of amazement rang out from the guests.

“Woah! Half a million, another half a million, again, another half a million...”

“Let’s just count the briefcases since each briefcase holds half a million!”

Countless people in the audience sat up straight, stretched their necks, and looked intently

Every time a briefcase was opened, their exclamations rang out.

A briefcase that held half a million cash was nothing.

These River City’s socialites who were present today, even the poorest among them could easily take out half a million dollars.

That being said, what about five million?

Or even a 50 million?

Perhaps even a big group like the Zimmer family would not be able to take out such a hefty sum of money, right?

The more everyone looked at it, the more shocked they became and the more they dared not to disrespect Sean.

This was strength.

These were Sean’s financial resources.

Even those socialites in River City dared not to underestimate the financial resources that Sean had.

However, unlike everyone off the stage, Quill and the Quinn family on the stage had different expressions.

Every time one of the briefcases that were full of banknotes was opened, Quill's face became paler. Hence, his face gradually turned fully white after seeing every briefcase being opened one by one.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 718

Chapter 718

The Quinn family and others, including Old Madam Quinn, all widened their eyes that were full of shock

Especially Fion Wilson, who covered her mouth with one hand and looked like she had seen a ghost.

Even Kent Quinn, who had always been not materialistic, and Willow were stunned at this time.

'He is so rich?

'Usually, people count the money ten thousand by ten thousand, but for the money that Sean brought, they're counting it briefcase by briefcase?

'This is no longer as simple as being rich!

'He is wealthy! A billionaire!'

"Oh my goodness! Pinch me, Kent, hurry up!

"Am I dreaming? This Sean, what kind of deity is here in our family?"

Fion's legs were trembling, she tried to steady herself by holding Kent's arm

"I... This... Uhm..."

Kent was also dumbstruck as he had never seen so much money in his life.

"Mr. Lennon, the monetary gifts are all here!"

Zander took a step forward and reported to Sean respectfully.

At this time, a hundred brawny men in black stood in front of the stage in unison.

Every man held the bottom of the briefcase with one hand and the lid with the other.

Inside the briefcase were neatly stacked green banknotes.

More than a hundred briefcases of banknotes gathered together just like an ocean of green.

Astonishing and eye-catching.

"Sean Lennon of the Lennon family has been in love with Willow Quinn for a long time.

"Today, I especially prepared an engagement gift of fifty million dollars to express my feelings for her " Hearing this, everyone in the audience was again stunned.

50 million!

It was indeed 50 million!

However, Sean actually said that this 50 million was just for expressing his feelings for Willow?

If it was not only for expressing his feelings, how much would he give?

No one dared to imagine it at all.

It was because people who could easily take out fifty million were definitely not an ordinary existence and there was no point to brag in front of them.

With such a terrifying existence, who would dare to try to figure out his thoughts?

A bodyguard that followed Quill in swallowed, then looked at Quill and asked in a soft voice.

Young Master Zimmer, wh-what should we do then?"

However, Quill remained silent, he was unable to utter a word.

If Sean was able to take out ten million today, he would still be indifferent

It was because the Zimmer family was not only rich but also had strong connections and power in this River City.

Hence, even if Sean took out the same amount as Quill today, which was ten million, Quill would still have an advantage over Sean.

However, what Sean took out was not ten million, but 50 million!

It was five times as much as what Quill could give to the Quinn family!

How else could this be compared?

He wanted to take out more money to suppress Sean.

Alas, even if their family could take out so much money, there was no way they could produce that much instantly!

Therefore, he was defeated today!

Once again, he was defeated by Sean publicly.

Now it was up to Old Madam Quinn and the Quinn family to decide!

“Sean, I think you’ve used a lot of connections to borrow so much money from the bank, right?”

Simon frowned and was silent for a few seconds, then said with a cold snort

“Why don’t you try taking a loan of twenty million.”

Sean’s merciless words directly left Simon speechless.

The River City’s socialites in the audience also nodded silently.

Even if the money was borrowed from the bank, it was also a testament to Sean’s ability to get them to lend him that much.

It was because not anyone could borrow an amount as large as 50 million at will!

Therefore, it was useless for Simon to slander Sean in this way.

“Old Madam Quinn, I don’t know if this money is enough?”

Sean turned his head slowly and glanced at Old Madam Quinn.

As for Old Madam Quinn, her mouth moved but no words came out.

50 million!

In cash!

This was really shocking!

“Is this money for real?”

Faye frowned and said with a cold snort.

The words from Faye also reminded Old Madam Quinn.

What if the money Sean took out was not real?

It was because 50 million was indeed a hefty sum of money.

It was so much that made people feel unrealistic.

Therefore, it was normal to have doubts.

“You’re welcome to appraise it.”

Zander immediately stretched out his arm and pointed at the hundred brawny men in black.

Under the watchful eyes of the public, the Quinn family got someone to examine the notes.

After the examination, the middle-aged man said with a trembling voice, “Th-they are all real!”

50 million in cash, all of which were real notes.

No one dared to say anything else this time.

Faye also kept her mouth shut obediently.

Including the Quinn family, they did not speak, waiting for the decision of Old Madam Quinn.

However, Old Madam Quinn could not think of any reason to reject Sean!

She personally said before that if Sean could take out ten million dollars, she would never bar Willow from being with him again.

Now that Sean took out 50 million, how could she go against her words declared in public?

“Willow, if you nod your head, all of this will be yours.”

Sean did not look at Old Madam Quinn at all but asked Willow with a smile.

At this moment, Willow’s body was a little stiff and stood still with her palms constantly twisting on her lower abdomen.

She had been working in the Quinn Corporation’s branch office for more than two years and she had recently taken the position of general manager

Therefore, originally, she would never have stage fright and nervousness.

At this moment, however, she was really overwhelmed by what Sean had done

The Guardian’s Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 719

Chapter 719

“You haven’t recovered, you’re so stupid, you’re still the vegetable you used to be.”

Willow’s eyes were wet, she suddenly said such words without any reason.

As for Sean, he was just smiling indifferently.

“You don’t have to do this.

“I’ve personally kicked you out of the Quinn family. You’ve got money and also you’ve recovered. You can live a good life.

“Why do you want to come back? If you’re not a vegetable, then what are you?”

As Willow spoke, her tears began to flow.

She was moved, guilty, aggrieved...

Mixed feelings

“Then are you willing to be with a vegetable?”

Sean turned around slowly and met Willow’s eyes.

Willow was silent for a few seconds, then slowly raised her head and looked at Sean very seriously.

“I do!”

Her tone was firm and full of determination.

Swoosh!

Sean stretched out his arm and embraced Willow into his arms.

At this moment, Willow only felt that the world was spinning and she was totally dazed

This was the first time she hugged Sean who was standing

She felt Sean’s strong arm, which was something called a sense of security slowly rose in her heart.

‘B*tch’ F*cking b*tch’

'You're f*cking shameless'

Quill gritted his teeth and cursed angrily in his heart

He could not stay in this place any longer, so he turned around and walked out from the back

As for the Quinn family, they also had different expressions and they did not know what to do at all.

Clap!

Clap!

Suddenly, some people in the audience stretched out their palms and clapped

Immediately afterward, more and more people stretched out their palms and applauded continuously

They congratulated the two who were hugging each other

They were deeply moved by the relationship between Sean and Willow

There was thunderous applause from the audience

All eyes were fixed on the two of them.

They were like a pair of star-crossed lovers, after experiencing countless hardships, they finally got to be together under the witness of so many people

Samuel wanted to say something but was stopped by Old Madam Quinn

At this point, Quill had already left the scene, indicating that he had conceded defeat

If the Quinn family was still ungrateful and wanted to argue with Sean, it would only be the Quinn family who would be embarrassed.

Therefore, they could only accept the result at this moment.

Sean and Willow did not care about any outside voices.

At this moment, they only had each other in their hearts and only each other in their arms

Willow was gorgeously dressed, while Sean was dressed in a custom black suit

Both of them were just like a match made in heaven. Very well matched

Zander applauded silently in the audience and sighed in his heart

Sighing at the changes Sean made for Willow

When Sean put on the Nine-star Armor, he was an undefeated god of war on the battlefield.

When he was dressed in a suit, he was the big boss behind Reach For Will Group and also a billionaire in River City's business circle.

However, he just wanted to be Willow's man at this moment

As for Zander, of course, he sincerely blessed them

The matter of the Quinn family searching for a bridegroom had come to an end

All the guests also left the ballroom one after another.

Zander personally manned the entrance to see off those guests.

Moreover, he also said something to them as they left.

As for what was said, only Zander and those people knew.

All of these River City's socialites who were present today were having mixed feelings in their hearts.

Today, they were re-acquainted with the famous fiancé of the Quinn family.

The cripple vegetable two years ago had transformed into such a powerful big shot.

With a wave of his hand, he took out tens of millions in cash.

What an enormous financial resource was this?

They did not need to know how Sean had amassed such a large amount of wealth in a short period of time.

All they need to know was that the current Sean was no longer the loser Sean of the past.

No one dared to mock him again.

On the contrary, many people were thinking about making a connection with Sean instead.

After all, no matter in any place and in any field, powerful people draw respect like a magnet draws metal.

In business circles, the standard for measuring strength was the scale of business.

To put it bluntly, it was money.

Sean's ability to take out tens of millions in cash had already been recognized by them and this was even enough to be respected by them.

People who could run their own companies and be the boss were not fools.

There were already many people who were looking for opportunities to befriend Sean.

However, some people were extremely worried.

They had been instructed by Quill and publicly called Willow a loose woman.

Quill did not lie to them because Old Madam Quinn indeed did not blame them at all.

However, who would have thought that Sean would come to the scene?!

Furthermore, Sean had already spoken out in public that he would get even with them one by one.

Originally, they did not care that much. After all, they still knew a little about how useless Sean was.

That being said, Sean's appearance today made them change their minds.

With a waved his hand, fifty million in cash was immediately taken out by him without blinking an eye.

Could this be done by ordinary people?

They could ignore the threat of an ordinary person.

However, an existence that could take out 50 million at will was someone they could not afford to offend!

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 720

Chapter 720

“This time, the Zimmer family has totally screwed us up!”

Those people who followed Quill’s instructions gathered together to discuss and then rushed directly to the Zimmer Corporation.

This matter must be resolved by Quill for them.

Around the hotel at this time, the various news media in River City had been waiting for a long time.

The media like them made a living by reporting news, so the matter of the Quinn family in search of a bridegroom that attracted much attention from the people, naturally, was to be followed.

However, the Quinn family barred all reporters from the hotel, so they could not get in at all.

That being said, although they failed to enter the hotel, these people still did not leave but stayed around.

Just to wait for the banquet to end so that they could find out the result.

However, those River City’s socialites who came out of the hotel did not even look at these people, they just returned to their cars and then quickly left.

Those River City’s socialites did not give them any chance to interview them at all.

However, there was still a boss of a certain group surrounded by several reporters.

Immediately afterward, a series of questions were thrown over.

However, the middle-aged man frowned slightly and kept walking toward the car.

Just now when Zander personally manned the entrance to see off the guests, he said something to them.

Even if Zander did not say it, they would never reveal anything about what happened today

If those prominent guests made it to the position where they were now, it meant that they were not fools.

They were very clear about what could be said and what could not be said.

Moreover, the matter regarding Sean today also involved the Zimmer family.

Or did they want them to tell these reporters that Quill Zimmer, the son of the Zimmer family, had lost to Sean Lennon?

If they said that, would that not be a slap to the Zimmer family's face?

Therefore, no one would say anything to the outside world.

"Get out of the way! Get out of the way!"

The middle-aged man's bodyguards in black pushed the reporters away forcibly and then escorted their boss to get into the car

The other bosses did the same, each hurried to cars and left

Until the end, the reporters who were guarding outside still did not get the slightest bit of news.

Everyone was dumbfounded at this time.

Things seemed to be out of place!

The matter of the Quinn family in search of a bridegroom could be regarded as a happy event

If a bridegroom was successfully selected, then would not every guest be rushing to congratulate them?

After all, the Quinn family was still respected in River City

At this moment, however, why was no one willing to talk about such a happy event?

Looking at the expression of those River City's socialites, it seemed that they were deliberately avoiding it

This situation really surprised these reporters.

"Could it be that something unexpected happened?"

"Some people we don't know came here today, maybe something really happened"

"That means the Quinn family failed to get a bridegroom?"

"No way, Willow Quinn is so gorgeous, there are definitely many people vying for her!"

Countless people gathered together and speculated about the situation

However, these were just their speculations after all and they did not get the slightest bit of useful information at all.

With incomparable doubts, these reporters continued to wait.

It was because the Quinn family had not come out yet

They were going to wait for the Quinn family to come out before going up to interview them

After all, the Quinn family was the central party involved in the matter today and they would be unable to avoid it.

Meanwhile, inside the Reach For Will Lakeside Hotel.

Only the Quinn family and Sean were left in the entire ballroom

However, everyone fell into silence, no one spoke at all.

“Willow, I’ll take you home.”

Sean said gently as he held Willow’s palm.

“Okay!”

Willow nodded lightly. She had been completely conquered by Sean at this moment.

There was a saying that you only knew how to cherish things when you lost them.

Willow now had a deep understanding of this saying.

During the period when Sean was kicked out of the Quinn family, she was restless all day long and had lost all desire to eat and drink.

Now that Sean had come back for her, the life in her eyes returned once more.

Moreover, she would cherish it even more.

Before leaving, Willow shifted her gaze and glanced across the entire Quinn family.

Although she did not speak, she had already made up her mind.

From now on, she would no longer live for the Quinn family, she wanted to live for Sean and live for herself.

Today, Sean's position in her heart had replaced the Quinn family.

Willow was not a fool.

The entire Quinn family just regarded her as a bargaining chip that they could use.

Only Sean was kind to her without any ulterior motives.

How could she not change where her heart lay?

"Grandma, we're leaving.

"You guys should go back to rest early, too.

"For the banquet today, you all must have done a lot and also must be exhausted."

Obviously, there were some hidden meanings in Willow's words and this made Old Madam Quinn and the others blush instantly.

"Let's go."

Sean took Willow's hand and directly walked outside.

As for the hundred brawny men in black, they immediately closed their briefcases and followed behind Sean and Willow.

"Hey! Hey! Isn't that... Isn't that an engagement gift?"

Samuel cleared his throat and then stepped forward to stop them.

The rest of the Quinn family also kept nodding their heads. They did not want to watch these fifty million dollars fly away in front of them.

"Uncle, what does my engagement gift have to do with you?"

Without waiting for Sean to speak, Willow slowly turned around, looked at Samuel, and asked.
