

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 741-750

Chapter 741

"Haha, we don't know where the fifty million dollars came from yet"

Faye took over the conversation and turned to look at Old Madam Quinn

"Grandma, didn't you tell us yesterday to find out where Sean got his money?"

"I couldn't find out where, but something else came up

Old Madam Quinn turned to look at Faye in puzzlement when she said that

"Grandma, Golden Villa Garden has one area with only two villas, known as twin villa

"One of them was bought by Willow.

"It was said that a one twin villa cost tens of millions of dollars Where did the money come from?"

Old Madam Quinn instantly frowned when Faye said that

The rest of the Quinn family immediately looked at Willow to hear her explanation

Golden Villa Garden's twin villa was a renowned premium mansion

It was ranked among the top three in River City

Did Willow buy a property there?

It did seem wrong.

“Grandma, Sean gave me that viđa

“He paid for it and put it under my name

Willow explained again, shaking her head slightly.

“Sean again?

“Why do you keep using Sean as an excuse?

“Okay then, tell me where Sean got all that money?

“Don’t talk to me it’s some disability compensation What army gives tens of millions of dollars for compensation?

“If that were true, I’d join the army and break a leg to get tens of millions of dollars too.”

Simon snorted coldly and looked at Willow aggressively.

“The money they spend is from the company”

Faye added with a sneer..

All the core members of the Quinn family looked straight at Willow.

Looking at these questioning eyes, Willow suddenly felt emotionally exhausted. She was so emotionally exhausted that she did not even want to explain.

Anyone with a mind to beat others up would easily find a stick!

Simon and the rest were trying to drive her to death!

“Willow, do you have anything to say?”

Old Madam Quinn looked at Willow and asked with a frown.

“Grandma, you could find out where the money went.

“You could also check all my recent spending records.

“I really didn’t take any money from the company.”

Willow let out a long breath and supported herself on the table with both hands as she explained again

“Haha, you must have prepared everything if you dare to say so.

“So what’s the point?”

Faye sneered and asked again.

Old Madam Quinn was still frowning as she watched Willow say nothing.

Willow looked around the meeting room. Except for Callie, the rest were members of the Quinn family.

All of these people had the same blood as her.

However, these people looked like beasts to Willow, wanting to tear her apart and push her into the abyss.

Therefore, Willow suddenly felt as if there was no point when Faye asked her what was the point.

Looking around, everyone’s eyes were indifferent. No one believed her.

No one believed her, even if she made a big deal out of it.

Even if she could produce enough evidence to prove her innocence, what could she do?

She suddenly remembered something Sean had said—Some people were not worth the effort.

It was because they did not understand, and they did not want to understand.

“Uncle Sam, you arranged all this, didn’t you?”

Willow slowly looked up at Samuel.

“B*stard!

“I’m your uncle and your elder!

“How dare you speak to me like that?”

Samuel hit the table and got up with his face full of fury.

“Willow, don’t lose your temper. Uncle Sam runs the headquarters and is the current chairman of Quinn Corporation.

“What does he have against you?”

Simon also banged on the table and roared as he pointed his hand at Willow.

The Guardian’s Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 742

Chapter 742

The rest nodded.

Willow smiled.

This smile had bitterness, grievance, and deep disappointment.

If the Quinn family looking for a bridegroom made her increasingly alienated from them, members of the Quinn family pushed her further away again today.

'Sean, maybe I should have listened to you.'

The idea came to Willow as she remembered Sean telling her that the Quinn family was not worth it.

Sean also said he wanted to start a company for her so she could distance herself from the Quinn family.

However, Willow was unwilling to go along at the time.

Today, Willow regretted that she did not listen to Sean.

"Willow, why won't you explain?"

Old Madam Quinn frowned as she stared at Willow.

The look in her eyes seemed like she was interrogating a criminal.

It made Willow's heart sink again.

However, it did not sink completely.

After all, without the Quinn family, there would be no Willow.

"Grandma, I have nothing to explain.

"But I just want to ask you one thing..."

"Do you believe her or me?"

Willow slowly reached out her hand and pointed to Callie

Old Madam Quinn paused and turned to look at Callie

“Old Madam, I have a clear conscience.

“I can cooperate with the government and be investigated later.”

Callie’s expression remained unfazed, looking very magnanimous

Old Madam Quinn nodded slightly before looking at Willow again.

“I hope you could give me something to believe you.”

Old Madam Quinn said, and Willow smiled again.

“I have no proof!”

Willow’s remark made everyone frown

“I have no proof.

“But I’d like to ask Grandma and all the members here...

Would you rather trust an outsider than me?”

Willow’s eyes moved slowly across everyone’s faces.

“Yes! I don’t believe you.”

Faye was the first to answer with a sneer on her face.

The others did not speak.

Not speaking also represented acquiescence.

Willow’s eyes moved around before settling on Old Madam Quinn’s face.

Old Madam Quinn said nothing but frowned as she looked at Willow.

Willow understood Old Madam Quinn's answer.

"Okay! Okay!"

Willow chuckled again, her last hope shattered.

Her heart sank to the core.

The Quinn family did not give her any affection or warmth.

Her memory was full of pain and cynicism.

Willow's passion and family affection was wearing thin.

She had no more affection for the Quinn family anymore.

"I, Willow Quinn, was born in the Quinn family and grew up in the Quinn family.

"I love this big family. I loved everyone in this family."

Willow stood up straight with an expression on her stubborn face that moved others.

It was a resolution that no one could stop.

"I've been with the company for more than two years and have worked hard to get along with the Quinn family. I did my best for the family.

"I can say that my conscience is clear with the Quinn family, the company, and the world.
?"

"With that said, from this moment onward, I, Willow Quinn, am no longer a member of the Quinn family!"

Her voice was firm and confident!

It echoed like a land mine in the meeting room. 4

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 743

Chapter 743

The entire meeting room was dead silent

Old Madam Quinn widened her eyes while Samuel and the rest were sneering.

Only Willow looked as determined as ever.

"Willow, I'm holding you accountable for the company, not kicking you out of the Quinn family."

Old Madam Quinn clenched her teeth slightly as she spoke up to keep her

However, Willow slowly shook her head anyway.

For the past two years, she had put up with everyone in the Quinn family because of Sean.

However, tolerance did not mean weakness, nor did it mean lack of temper

After all, there was a limit to everyone's tolerance.

Willow now knew who cared about her—Sean or the Quinn family.

Therefore, between the Quinn family and Sean, she chose Sean.

“Willow, if there’s a problem, fix it.

“Do you have any idea what you’re doing?”

Old Madam Quinn’s face darkened, her tone sullen.

“Grandma, stop it.

“I’m... disappointed!”

Willow’s eyes reddened as she tried to hold back her tears. Then she turned to leave.

Old Madam Quinn did not say she was kicking her out of the Quinn family.

However, no one in the Quinn family believed her.

They would rather trust a stranger than her.

Then what was the point of her staying in the Quinn family?

Besides, Willow knew she was getting fired after what had happened.

She would lose the power she had now and would not even have the right to have a say in the Quinn family.

Samuel, Simon, and the rest were going to taunt her even harder.

Therefore, leaving the Quinn family was now the smartest thing to do.

“Stop!

“Wanna leave? It’s not that easy!”

Simon shouted as he banged the table and stepped forward.

“Willow, you can’t leave!”

Samuel also stepped forward and yelled at Willow.

“Isn’t this what you wanted?”

Willow sneered. She did not even call him Uncle Sam

“Hmph! What about the company’s losses after you leave?”

“You can leave, but you have to repay the company’s losses.”

Simon banged the table again as he spoke righteously.

“Yes! She embezzled so much of the company’s money How could she just leave after we found out?”

“Who will bear the loss after she left?”

“Wouldn’t it be great if we just embezzle some money and leave the Quinn family like her?”

Members of the Quinn family spoke out in support of Simon’s idea

Old Madam Quinn frowned slightly at this

She was a little caught off guard by what happened today

It was supposed to be a normal fundraiser, and Samuel came up with the idea

However, they found out that Willow was embezzling money from the company

Her first reaction was that Willow would never do something like this

However, Callie presented evidence that convinced her.

Besides that, Willow's luxury villa made her look even more suspicious

However, she wanted to keep Willow in the Quinn family no matter what

Firstly, as an aristocratic family in River City, the Quinn family still had to save some respect by watching after their behavior

Secondly, she hoped that Willow would get a good husband to help the Quinn family

Therefore, Old Madam Quinn did not want Willow to go.

However, she had no chance of interrupting now

"I didn't take any money from the Quinn family

"How am I supposed to take it out for you?"

Willow turned her head slightly, her disappointed heart already smashing into pieces.

Members of the Quinn family not only want to kick her out but also drive her to her death!

"Sam, we're not sure if Willow took the money yet. You..."

Old Madam Quinn hesitated slightly, wanting to stop them.

However, Samuel did not care about respecting Old Madam Quinn.

How could he give up when he was so close to achieving his goal?

"Mom, how could we not be sure?"

"All payment records, including manager approval, are here.

"There's so much evidence. Could the money have gone missing by itself?"

Samuel gave Faye a look once he finished.

Faye took the hint, walked up to Old Madam Quinn, and tugged at her sleeve.

"Grandma, say nothing first. Let Uncle Sam take care of it.

"There must be an explanation, and you'll be satisfied."

Faye whispered in Old Madam Quinn's ear.

"How could Willow have enough money to pay us?"

There was compassion in Old Madam Quinn after all.

"Grandma, didn't Sean give her fifty million dollars? Would she not have any money?"

Old Madam Quinn fell silent at hearing Faye's statement. She eventually nodded and stayed out of the matter.

"Willow, don't say another word.

"Even if you didn't use the money, but as the head of the branch, shouldn't you bear the responsibility now the money is gone?"

Simon's words left Willow speechless.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 744

Chapter 744

As the head of the company, she could not shirk responsibility

"You have to pay

Simon picked up the documents and asked the person next to him to calculate them

"Young Master Quinn, no need for calculation

"Ms. Quinn made me transfer twelve million dollars in total I remember it all

Callie immediately reported

"Okay! Twelve million dollars

"Willow, how are you going to pay me?"

Simon nodded and looked at Willow with a sneer

"I have no money."

Willow shook her head slowly as she looked at the crowd before her

"No money? Where are the fifty million dollars Sean gave you?"

Willow finally understood when Simon said that

It turned out they were not just using the incident to get Willow out of the Quinn family
They also wanted to steal part of the engagement gift that Sean gave her.

"Don't even think about that money.

"It's his money, and it's not his responsibility to pay my debts!"

Willow took a deep breath and tried hard to calm herself down.

"Hmph! We don't care, but you have to repay the company

"Anyway, whether you borrowed or embezzled it, you must pay the full amount of twelve million dollars*

The more Simon spoke, the smugger he became, even unable to hide his smile.

"If you don't pay us, we'll ask Sean for it."

Faye said with a sneer.

"I'll pay it!"

Willow agreed while clenching her teeth.

She did not want to trouble Sean because of her issue with the Quinn family.

Besides, she knew Sean must have borrowed the money. How could she spend it randomly?

On top of that, she and Sean were not married yet.

How could she, who was always eager to win, let Sean pay for her?

"Here, write an IOU!

"With the IOU, the Quinn family will stay out of your business from then on.

"It doesn't matter to us whether you sell your house, car, or kidneys.

"As long as you pay back the money, everything will be fine."

Simon stepped forward, took out the paper and pen he had prepared, and placed them in front of Willow

Willow's eyes glazed over as she gave Old Madam Quinn one last glance

Old Madam Quinn looked into Willow's eyes for two seconds before lowering her head.

She was not getting involved in this.

"Alright! I'll write."

Willow shook her head slightly as she picked up a pen and paper and wrote down an IOU for tens of millions of dollars under the pressure of the Quinn family.

"Sign and stamp your fingerprint on it!"

Simon prepared everything he needed. He took out the ink pad and asked Willow to stamp her fingerprint on it.

"Whew!"

Simon picked up the IOU and blew it before carefully looking at it again.

The more he looked at it, the prouder he felt

They not only drove away the threat, Willow but also brought twelve million dollars of net income to the Quinn family.

It was a bargain!

"Could I go now?"

Willow did not want to stay for another second.

The atmosphere was so oppressive that she could not breathe.

Looking at the cold expressions of Old Madam Quinn and others made her heart ache so much that it was hard to breathe.

There was a saying: "A tall tree never forgets its roots."

However, what could she do if the root forced her to leave?

"Remember to pay us as soon as possible.

"Otherwise, wait and see."

Simon took the IOU with a sneer on his face.

"Willow, mark your words. You're not a member of the Quinn family anymore.

"Don't cheat others with the Quinn family's name."

Faye also said with a curl of her lip as she stood nearby.

"Got it.

"I'll leave now."

Willow turned and headed for the entrance without stopping.

"Leave? Who asked you to leave?"

Just then, another voice rang.

"What else do you want?"

Willow gritted her teeth and looked in the direction of the voice.

She suddenly froze on the spot after looking.

The meeting room door opened at some point.

A young man in casual clothes stood in the doorway, his eyes a little dark.

He was the one who said that.

“Sean...”

Willow looked blankly for a few seconds before letting out a cry and bursting into tears.

Willow repeatedly fought back her tears when she was confronted with the Quinn family’s misunderstanding, framing, and indifference.

She did not want to appear vulnerable to members of the Quinn family.

Therefore, she tried to endure it and pretended to be strong. She would silently swallow it after breaking her teeth to pieces.

The moment she saw Sean. All the fortitude she had before fell apart, and she could not hold back her tears any longer.

Anyone facing people who cared about them would let go of their guard and fortitude.

Willow was no exception.

It was because she knew that her tears would only lead to more ridicule in front of the Quinn family.

Only Sean’s heart would ache.

Sure enough, Sean slowly walked into the meeting room when he saw Willow in tears.

He held out his hand and wiped away Willow’s tears as if no one was around.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 745

Chapter 745

"Your eyes are puffy from all the crying Little kitty. I got you

Sean reached out and rubbed Willow's nose

He ignored members of the Quinn family in the meeting room

"Okay! Okay!"

Willow stopped crying and slowly let Sean go.

She suddenly realized that she was not alone now She now had someone to rely on

Sean!

The cripple she had taken care of for two years could now protect her like a huge mountain

She was content.

"Sean! Who the f*ck let you in?"

"Why stay here when you should leave?"

Simon was annoyed and shouted as he pointed at Sean

"Leave?"

"Your business is settled.

"Mine hasn't."

Sean adjusted his clothes and stepped toward the crowd

Sean's eyes turned cold as he walked.

As he expected, the Quinn family would never learn after all

There would never be peace as long as Willow stayed

He was here to take Willow away from the Quinn family house.

"What... what do you want?"

Seeing Sean approaching, Simon took two steps back.

Without even glancing at him, Sean slowly picked up the various materials on the desk.

He casually looked through it before slowly putting it down.

"What are you holding?"

Sean looked at Simon and asked indifferently.

"Hmph! Willow embezzled company funds and owed twelve million dollars!

"This is an IOU!"

Simon chuckled and said, "What's the matter? Do you want to pay for her?"

'Aren't you rich? Come on, hit me with your money!"

Sean took the IOU.

Then he just tore it in half without looking.

Rip! Rip!

With the sound of tearing, Sean tore the IOUS into countless pieces.

Swoosh!

Sean opened his hand, and the paper scraps fell to the ground like snow.

“Are you out of your f*cking mind?”

“What the f*ck are you doing?”

“Do you think you can get away from paying by doing this?”

Simon flew into a rage and shouted as he pointed at Sean’s nose.

Slap!

Just then, Sean raised his arm and slapped him mercilessly.

Simon received a solid slap and fell backward, slamming into the table

“What’s with the shouting?”

“I’ll pay you back.

“Ask me for the money if you dare.”

Sean adjusted his clothes, looking calm.

The faces of the members of the Quinn family, including Old Madam Quinn, darkened suddenly

“Sean, how dare you act so arrogantly?”

“Guards! Get in here!”

Samuel yelled at the door

Soon there was a rumbling sound of footsteps outside.

Willow’s eyes flickered with concern.

The security guards at Quinn Corporation’s headquarters were all formally trained employees of a security company.

They all had great skills.

Sean might not be able to beat them.

However, Sean’s expression remained unfazed. He was as calm as ever.

“You should be honored that I hit you myself.”

Sean glanced playfully at Simon.

“What do you mean?”

Simon’s Adam’s apple rolled as he asked.

Soon, members of the Quinn family found out what Sean meant.

Just as those security guards were about to burst into the room, a burly and towering man stood behind him with his back facing members of the Quinn family.

The valiant general Zander Young!

He had gone through fire and water with Sean for nearly a decade. He had made himself tough with all those experiences

He was almost peerless

“Take one more step, and I’ll break your leg.”

Zander stood alone in the doorway, his body as straight as a gun

The powerful aura he honed on the battlefield burst instantly

The group of security guards was scared, but they still gritted their teeth and rushed over

Bang! Thump!

“Ah!”

“Hsss! He knows martial arts”

Bang! Smack!

In less than two minutes, more than twenty professional security guards lay on the ground screaming

Zander stayed in the doorway the whole time without moving

How strong!

He was so strong that it was shocking!

They finally figured out what Sean had said earlier

It turned out he had such a powerful martial artist beside him

"Mr. Lennon, the place is clear"

Zander turned around and reported to Sean with a nod

Sean nodded and looked at members of the Quinn family

Samuel and the rest looked away, looking scared

"Go on and get anyone else you have "

Sean spoke softly, his tone dismissive.

"Sean, is that all you got?

"Do you think you can ride roughshod in this society because you have a strong bodyguard?

"We're not the old days anymore.

"You barged into Quinn Corporation and injured my employees.

"Does the law exist to you?"

Old Madam Quinn narrowed her eyes slightly, her tone threatening.

"Law?

"Mr. Lennon is the law in River City!"

Zander answered indifferently. The words sounded like thunder to his ear.

"You're arrogant! How arrogant!"

Samuel picked up the phone and made a call.

“Hello, Mr. Zigger. I need some help here.”

Samuel called Gordon, who Sean had come across with before.

As district government chief, he was powerful.

However, before Samuel could finish his sentence, a hand reached over to grab the phone.

“Do you have a death wish, loser? I’m talking to Mr. Zigger!”

Samuel got angrier and smacked his hand on the table.

However, Sean took his time, pressed the speaker button, and said hello into the phone.

“Who are you? How dare you cause trouble to the Quinn family?”

Gordon’s voice sounded imposing.

“Why don’t I cause trouble at your office then?”

Sean remained unfazed as he spoke calmly.

Members of the Quinn family froze slightly before sneering at Sean’s statement.

Sean would be in so much trouble for saying that to Gordon!.

However, something that none of them had expected happened.

“Mr... Mr. Lennon?”

Gordon’s voice sounded nervous.

“Mr. Lennon, I didn’t know it was you!

“Well... well... well... Mr. Lennon, please continue. I won’t disturb you!”

Gordon spoke quickly and hung up the phone as if running for his life.

The expression of the Quinn family froze instantly.

Smack!

There was a crisp noise as the phone was put on the table.

“Show me anything else you can do.

“I, Sean Lennon, will take it all.”

Sean had one hand on the table as he looked at the Quinn family without any expression.

The Guardian’s Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 746

Chapter 746

There was dead silence

Members of the Quinn family, including Willow, widened their eyes as they looked at Sean.

They wondered if there was something wrong with their ears.

It was Mr. Gordon Zigger on the other side of the line!

Any big shots would be respectful to him for being in charge of such a big district.

However, a big shot like that spoke so humbly in front of Sean.

Was this a joke?

Samuel hesitated for two seconds before slowly reaching for the phone

He wondered if he had dialed the wrong number.

However, looking at the call records, it was indeed Gordon..

"It's... it's really Mr. Zigger..."

The crowd froze again as soon as Samuel said that.

What... what was going on with Sean?

In their impression, Sean seemed to know Mr. Hayden Luke because of Homer

Even if Sean knew Hayden, how did he make Gordon so respectful of him?

Listening to Gordon's attitude that seemed to be talking to his boss, what was Sean's status in the CIA?

Did he have connections in politics?

"Sean, are... are you putting on a show again?"

Simon gritted his teeth slightly, feeling reluctant.

"Stop the nonsense.

"If that's all the Quinn family is capable of, I'm disappointed.

"Willow and I gotta go if there's nothing else."

With that said, Sean took Willow's hand and prepared to leave the meeting room.

"Sean, you're a loser!

"I'm telling you. You and Willow are losers!"

Simon yelled at Sean like a mad dog.

"I guess you're tired of living."

Zander's face darkened as he immediately stepped into the meeting room.

The security guards outside lay on the ground obediently, not daring to stop him.

Though the Quinn family hired them, it was not worth risking their lives for money.

"Hmph! Am I wrong?"

'Sean, no matter how much you fake it, I don't believe you can change your fate!

"Even if you changed your fate, you're still a loser and can never get anywhere

'That includes you, Willow. Do you have the nerve to leave the Quinn family and distance yourself from us?"

Simon looked crazy. No one could stop him from yelling at Sean and Willow

"Yes! Willow's coming with me."

Sean took over the conversation by answering the question for Willow

"Hahaha! How naive.

“So what if you have connections, Sean?”

“You’re just putting on a show for us.

“I’m telling you, you’re incompetent and inexperienced

“Only Quinn Corporation would help you. You’ll starve to death if you leave Quinn Corporation!”

“What company would hire you with what little skills you have?”

Simon looked happier as he spoke, his face scornful.

Many people nodded their heads slightly in approval at Simon’s speech

Except for a few people, all the core members of the Quinn family thought Willow was incompetent

She would have a hard time finding work after leaving Quinn Corporation.

“Willow, Simon’s right

“Where could you go after leaving Quinn Corporation?”

Old Madam Quinn glanced at Sean first before turning to ask Willow

“You don’t have to worry about this.

“Mr. Lennon has his arrangements.”

Zander glanced at the crowd calmly and spoke.

“Haha! Arrangements!

“Alright, I’ll see the arrangements you made.

“Don’t let us see Willow washing dishes when we go for dinner one day.”

Simon laughed. However, a girl suddenly ran up to the door just as he was saying this.

The girl was a receptionist at Quinn Corporation’s headquarters.

“Mr. Quinn, there are a lot of cars and a lot of people outside...”

The girl was out of breath from running. There was also a huge shock on her face.

It was as if she had seen something unbelievable.

“What car? What people?”

Members of the Quinn family froze. Then Samuel asked again.

“Well... There are a lot of fancy cars and company owners...”

H

The receptionist bit her red lip as she pointed to the floor-to-ceiling window with glazed eyes.

Samuel touched his forehead. Then he walked quickly to the floor-to-ceiling window and looked down. Old Madam Quinn and the others looked at each other and walked up to the floor-to-ceiling window.

Even Willow took Sean with her to the window out of curiosity.

They were standing on the third floor, and they could not help freezing when they saw what was going on downstairs.

To be precise, everyone except Sean and Zander froze immediately.

Many luxury cars had arrived under Quinn Corporation’s headquarters at some point.

Each car cost millions of dollars.

Samuel could even recognize who the cars belonged to by their license plate number.

“What happened?”

“What are Mr. Suntor and the rest doing here all of a sudden? Samuel looked at the dozens of cars downstairs, confused.

These luxury cars were the owners of a dozen of companies! What were they doing gathering at Quinn Corporation?

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 747

Chapter 747

Many people came to the third-floor window

The cars downstairs also opened their doors One after another middle-aged men in suits slowly stepped out

‘Mr. Suntor, Mr Clarke, what are you...’

Samuel frowned slightly. He thought about going down to receive them as he spoke

However, the company owners Samuel knew did not even look at him.

“Ms. Quinn, I’m Clarence Suntor of Canon Corporation

“I heard you’ve resigned from Quinn Corporation and have come to invite you to join our company

The company owner called Clarence made members of the Quinn family, including Willow, widen their eyes as soon as he spoke

Samuel stopped dead in his tracks and looked downstairs in shock.

Simon even looked like he had seen a ghost. He just said Willow could not even get a job after leaving Quinn Corporation

Then the owner of Canon Corporation came and asked Willow to join his company

Simon did not expect to eat his words so soon!

“...”

Willow looked at Sean hesitantly

However, Sean seemed calm. He did not seem surprised or different

“Ms. Quinn, we at Feather Furnitures also invite you to work with us.

“We’ll pay you more than five hundred thousand dollars a year.”

Another middle-aged company owner immediately added.

“Five hundred thousand dollars? Ms. Quinn, join us, and you get to decide your salary!”

A bespectacled company owner nearby made another offer, unwilling to be outdone.

“An annual salary of five hundred thousand dollars?”

Members of the Quinn family froze again.

Willow only made a few thousand dollars a month at Quinn Corporation, which was tens of thousands of dollars a year.

However, they were offering five hundred thousand dollars.

Was this the incompetent Willow they thought would never get hired?

“We’ll offer you eight hundred thousand dollars!”

“Ms. Quinn, we’ll pay you one million dollars a year and another 10% performance shares.”

“Say yes, and we can sign the employment contract immediately!”

More than a dozen company owners looked up at Willow and asked her warmly.

Willow froze. Members of the Quinn family’s eyes glazed over, their hearts racing.

Willow, who was ousted from the Quinn Corporation by the Quinn family, was offered jobs by nearly twenty other companies.

One nod from Willow, and she would be on her way to being a senior executive with a million-dollar annual salary

She would earn more than Samuel in Quinn Corporation.

What was going on here?

“Sean, well...”

Willow turned her head slightly to look at Sean.

She thought it might have something to do with Sean.

Otherwise, how could these companies be so well informed?

Even if they knew Willow was leaving Quinn Corporation, there was no way they would offer Willow a million-dollar annual salary, right?

It was as if someone instructed them what to do.

Willow could not think of anyone else who would do that.

Before Sean could speak, a multimillion-dollar Bentley rolled up in the distance.

The car stopped, and Homer stepped out.

"Ms Quinn, Larson Pharmaceuticals sincerely invites you to join us.

"We're in the same industry as Quinn Corporation, and you would find yourself in a familiar environment immediately."

Homer also offered a job to Willow.

Members of the Quinn family were dumbfounded again.

Was Willow, who they did everything they could to kick out of the company, was someone everyone was after?

Were there so many companies trying to get Willow?

Was Willow capable, or did someone instruct them to do so?

Old Madam Quinn and the rest were confused for a while

"Look, Willow will be fine without the Quinn family.

"She won't starve to death because gold will shine wherever it is."

Sean gently took Willow's hand and headed straight out of the meeting room.

"Willow!

"Stop!"

Old Madam Quinn shouted to stop Willow. She was not thinking straight.

However, she did not think it was the best time to let Willow go either way.

“Grandma, I’ve made up my mind.”

Willow had reached the door and said with her back against Old Madam Quinn.

“You unfilial granddaughter!

“Let me just ask you one question. Are you really cutting ties with the Quinn family?

“Are you really going to disown the Quinn family for Sean?”

Old Madam Quinn asked, and all eyes turned to Willow.

Willow also fell silent.

Sean slowly turned his head and looked at Willow calmly.

Whatever Willow decided, he chose to respect it.

“I want to get engaged to Sean.”

The next sentence Willow said made Old Madam Quinn and the rest, including Sean, freeze.

“I know who I like.

“If the Quinn family is willing to accept Sean, I’ll stay.”

Willow’s speech was resolute and confident.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 748

Chapter 748

"You! Don't even think about it

"The Quinn family would never accept a loser like that!"

Simon was the first to answer as he yelled at Willow

"Yes! There's no way we'll let him join the Quinn family

"Willow, forget about it!"

Faye took over the conversation, her tone cold

Old Madam Quinn narrowed her eyes slightly. She did not believe Willow would give up the Quinn family for Sean.

She knew how filial Willow was. How could she want to disown the Quinn family for an outsider?

"The Quinn family doesn't want him, but I do

"The Quinn family won't accept him, so I'll leave with him!

Willow said, stepping over the threshold and out the door

"You!"

Old Madam Quinn almost fainted on the spot

Samuel's face even darkened as his eyes filled with endless hate

"You can even abandon the Quinn family that gave birth to you and raised you

"You better not regret it"

Samuel snorted coldly as he looked at Willow's back and roared

"Mr. Quinn, the Quinn family's the one who abandoned me!

Also, I won't regret it."

1

Willow stood outside the door as she slowly turned to look at members of the Quinn Family.

"Great! I'll see how long Sean can protect you!

"I'd like to see if Sean or the Quinn family is more capable in River City!"

Simon never took Sean seriously.

Even if Sean had displayed his wealth and connections, he refused to acknowledge Sean's power.

Sean, who had not spoken for a long time, slowly looked at Simon.

"Where does the Quinn family get their confidence?

"If it's from the Zimmer family, keep your eyes wide open.

"I will destroy the Zimmer family first before seeing if you, Simon Quinn, still have such confidence."

Members of the Quinn family froze again once Sean spoke.

Was he going to destroy the Zimmer family?

Sean had no intention of explaining to them, so he grabbed Willow's hand and walked away after finishing.

Members of the Quinn family were so mad that they were shaking.

At the same time, someone wondered if Sean was not bragging and would really destroy the Zimmer family

Was he capable of that?

After all, the Zimmer family had a wide network of contacts and knew someone in the army How could others influence them easily?

Even Reach For Will Group dared not attack the Zimmer family

How dare Sean say that?

Therefore, everyone thought Sean was only bragging

Vroom vroom vroom!

The roars of car engines came from below

Homer and the others' luxury cars soon disappeared from the crowd's sight, escorting Sean and Willow's car

The situation was the same as the day Sean was kicked out of the Quinn family

He was also escorted by luxury cars and big shots.

"Sean must have set this up!

“Sean must have paid them!”

Simon was reluctant as he kept mumbling

However, there were few people on his side this time.

Many people wondered about Sean’s background

Sean did not have time to figure out what was on the Quinn family’s mind

Today was his deadline for the Zimmer family.

He would mercilessly go against the Zimmer family in a few days.

Then he would see if the Quinn family could count on the Zimmer family to turn their fates around

Now that Willow was kicked out of the Quinn family, he no longer had any worry or psychological burden

He wanted to destroy the Zimmer family.

He wanted to destroy the Quinn family too..

“Sean, we...”

Willow was still a little uncomfortable sitting with Sean.

“Don’t ask. I’ll take care of everything”

Sean took Willow in his arms and spoke gently.

“Okay!”

Willow could not resist Sean’s gentleness.

Sean slowly raised his head and looked ahead.

He would take care of everything with the Quinn family today

After today, it was time to face the Zimmer family of River City.

At this time.

Willow's home.

Fion sat outside the gate chatting with seven or eight middle-aged women.

They were chatting and also comparing each other's children.

"By the way, Fion, didn't you say you bought a unit in Golden Villa Garden the other day?"

"Yes, I heard it's a villa."

"How come I haven't seen you move? You're not fooling us, are you?"

The middle-aged women looked at Fion meaningfully as they ate almonds

"Of course, it's true.

"My son-in-law said we're moving in a couple of days."

Fion froze before saying solemnly.

"Really?"

"Why haven't we seen your cripple son-in-law these days?"

"I heard your son-in-law has been kicked out. Is it true?"

They laughed at Fion like she was a clown.

“Nonsense.

“I used to be wary of him, but he’s different now.”

Fion blushed as if she had been caught in a lie.

“Hahaha!”

The crowd roared with laughter again as they grew suspicious that the Willow family had not bought a house after all.

Honk honk!

Just then, there was the sound of cars honking in the distance.

Everyone looked back to see nearly 20 luxury cars heading their way.

There were two large vans at the rear of the convoy with the name XX Moving Company stamped on them.

“Well...”

Everyone could not help staring.

Swoosh swoosh swoosh!

Dozens of cars drove right up to Willow’s gate.

With everyone watching, Sean slowly got out of the car with Willow.

Then people started getting out of every car.

“Sean? What are you...”

Fion was the first to get up and asked in confusion.

“We’re moving.”

Sean was very concise as he uttered two words softly.

“What?”

Fion paused.

The neighbors’ eyes widened too.

Then ten men and women dressed in Golden Villa Garden Real Estate Company uniforms walked up carrying confetti cannons and smiling.

“Congratulations to Mr. Lennon on moving into his new home!”

With that said, they pulled open the confetti cannons. Colorful confetti shot into the air before falling slowly.

Fion and the neighbors froze instantly.

Then countless people began to look at them in envy.

The Guardian’s Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 749

Chapter 749

Moving to a new house was indeed a big deal!

However, who could buy houses and let the real estate company send people over to congratulate them?

Aside from Willow's family, the neighbors had probably never heard of anyone receiving such treatment

The confetti flew, and Fion's expression changed

From embarrassment to showing a smile and then pride in the end.

It was respect!

Women like Fion were no longer in pursuit of material things like young people.

The only thing they liked was comparing themselves with each other. The most talked-about topic was whose children were promising what gifts and whose daughters had married well.

They also could not help but talk about who bought a car or a house.

Today, Fion's future son-in-law drove a luxury car to take the whole family to move into Golden Villa Garden's twin villa, which their neighbors envied.

It was a highly impressive move.

Soon, middle-aged men in suits and ties came down from nearly 20 luxury cars.

These middle-aged men were dressed like successful men made their neighbors dumbfounded again.

They did not have access to River City's business circle, so they did not know who these middle-aged men are.

However, some of them made them widen their eyes slowly.

“Isn’t that... isn’t that man Mr Suntor from the picture on my cabinet?”

“I think it’s him... He’s in the furniture business. He’s a successful businessman”

“And the guy next to him. My husband watches River City’s finance channel and often sees him sharing business advice on TV.”

“Whoa, these people are big shots and successful businessmen.

“Boy, are they here to help Sean move too?”

The crowd froze again, feeling all the more envious.

Sure enough, Mr. Suntor and the rest declared their stand in the crowd’s envious gaze.

Mr. Lennon was moving into a new house. They gifted him an entire set of furniture—all high-end and custom-made.

Some sent rare calligraphy and painting, while some sent precious porcelain...

Homer of Larson Pharmaceuticals even sent two genuine centuries-old ginseng.

Everything they gave was the best in quality and condition.

The lowest market price was at least seven figures.

The envy of the neighbors grew even greater.

Fion was smiling from ear to ear.

Any resentments and any prejudices she had against Sean went away today

She finally saw how capable her future son-in-law was

She used to refuse to acknowledge and accept him.

However, she now acknowledged and accepted how powerful Sean was, whether in connections or finance.

The moving company employees began working lively

There was nothing much to move.

The villa had been fully equipped with furniture and appliances.

They were only moving some valuables and memorable things over.

Therefore, the whole process was quick, and the motorcade headed to Golden Villa Garden twin villa again with the things.

“Crack! Bang! Crackle!”

The long firecrackers were set off. The neighbors watched Sean and the rest leave with firecrackers ringing in their wake.

“Tsk, look at her son-in-law. Now that’s somebody!”

“Tell me, he was a cripple and a vegetable. How did he stop being a vegetable and a cripple and become so tough suddenly?”

“I wonder about that too. Do you think his money is illegal?”

“Don’t bother if it’s legal. Whether it’s a black or white cat, any cat is a good cat if it can catch mice. He’s simply rich.”

The more they said, the more they envied, and the more they felt the almonds in their hands did not taste

well.

Golden Villa Garden’s twin villa area

Homer and the rest did not stay too long and left the villa right away after helping out.

It was already an honor to do some things for Sean.

They dared not let Sean buy them dinner.

“Nice. Nice!”

Fion walked around the villa, getting increasingly satisfied as she looked around.

It was a huge, bright, and clean villa that was a thousand times better than their old house.

Besides that, it had a large artificial swimming pool, lush gardens, and an open yard.

It would be an absolute pleasure to live here.

“Sean, I still want to talk to you.”

Willow watched Fion walk up the stairs before turning to look at Sean.

“Now isn’t the time.”

However, Sean’s response left Willow stunned.

“What do you mean?”

Willow looked at Sean in confusion.

Sean slowly reached out and wrapped his arm around Willow.

Willow paused slightly before quietly pressing one side of her face against Sean’s chest.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 750

Chapter 750

"Willow, give me some time

"Don't ask so many questions, okay?"

Sean narrowed his eyes as he looked at the greenery in the villa yard

He said now was not the time because he had not destroyed the Zimmer family.

Therefore, there were many things that he could not be fully honest about with Willow

Once he destroyed the Zimmer family, no one in River City could stop him

Then he could tell Willow everything.

"Then promise me you won't do anything bad"

Willow was silent for two seconds before looking up at Sean

"Okay! I promise."

Sean nodded gently and smiled at Willow

"Sean, are you really going after the Zimmer family?"

Willow thought for a moment before asking the question again

"Yes."

Sean nodded gently

He was going after the Zimmer family of River City

It was not just because Sean and Quill already had bad blood

More importantly, Sean had to use the Zimmer family as a stepping stone if he wanted to get ahead in River City.

The reason was that the Zimmer family was backed by Jason, a member of the River City army.

In the entire River City, Jason undoubtedly had the highest status

Therefore, Sean was actually taking on the person with the highest status in River City by taking on the Zimmer family.

If he lost, the Zimmer family's status would rise in River City, and Sean's previous plans would be in vain.

If he won, it meant that even Jason, who had the highest status in River City, had been defeated by Sean.

Then no one else could stop him in River City.

Therefore, a confrontation with the Zimmer family was inevitable.

"The Zimmer family has a strong background. I'm scared you'll..."

Willow clenched her hands, worried.

"The worst two years didn't break me.

"Why would I be afraid of a mere Zimmer family?"

Sean shook his head slightly, his voice full of confidence.

Willow glanced furtively at Sean and nodded silently.

It was hard to argue with Sean's resolute profile and confidence that radiated throughout him.

Soon, Sean had someone pick up Kent and send him to the villa.

Before Fion finished her tour of the villa, Willow called her downstairs.

The three members of Willow's family, including Sean, totaling four people, sat in the spacious and bright living room.

Zander stood outside the door like an iron tower, giving people a great sense of security.

"Nice. The couch feels good."

Fion sat on the couch, caressing its leather and admiring again.

Kent also looked around with a pleased look in his eyes.

He had feelings for the old house he had lived in for decades.

Honestly speaking, the environment and furnishing here were more suitable for living.

"Mom and Dad, I'll give you a tour later.

"Now, let's get down to business."

Willow glanced at Sean first before looking at Kent and his wife

"Sure, go on."

Fion nodded and sat up slightly.

Willow did not hesitate to tell Kent and his wife what had happened.

Without any exaggeration, she simply described the Quinn family's behavior truthfully.

"Those damn fools!"

Fion clenched her hands into fists and swore after hearing that

"What are you talking about? Why are you so rude?"

Kent frowned and chastised Fion

"I'm rude? I'm rude when someone else is driving your daughter to death?"

"Kent, you can be weak but not cowardly!"

"Look at what your siblings did. Is that humane?"

Fion jerked up and pointed at Kent's nose as she swore.

Sean thought Fion's nasty side was so right for the first time.

Kent was too filial and cared too much about family.

However, he did not know that some so-called relatives were worse than a stranger.

"When someone is angry, their words don't count

"I don't think they meant it."

Kent was silent for two seconds before defending members of the Quinn family.

"You're a coward!"

"Haven't you seen how they treated us all these years?"

“Sam gets to buy houses and cars. What do we have? They get year–end bonuses. Have we ever had one?”

“We’re also members of the Quinn family. What benefit did we get?”

Fion persisted and became increasingly angry as she spoke.

Seeing how cowardly Kent was, she got even more upset.

Sean said nothing but watched quietly.

Sean usually respected Kent more.

However, he sided with Fion this time.

There would only be chaos when you did not act when you should.

It was time to solve the Quinn family once and for all.