

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 981 - 990

Chapter 981

Everyone was deep in thought.

It seemed Quill was the one trying to be someone he was not!

Sean was rich but low-key!

"I'll admit defeat! It turns out he did it on purpose.

"The best way to show off is to be low-key.

"I can only dream about a diamond necklace costing two million dollars."

The people around them spoke again.

You needed a certain level of wealth to patronize a jewelry store.

However, Sean

Still blew people away by spending two million dollars.

The necklace was worth twice as much as the other jewelry Quill had bought.

"I'll pay with my credit card."

Sean turned away from the necklace and looked at the store manager.

"Okay, Mr. Lennon. Just a moment."

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette
Chapter

The store manager nodded respectfully and left to process it for Sean.

“Stop!”

However, the reluctant Quill called out to the store manager again.

“This necklace can only be mine.”

Quill’s next remark made the store manager look troubled.

He knew the rich heir Quill was trouble.

However, Sean ordered it after all, and his boss promised Sean would get it.

It meant Sean was a big deal.

He was only a mere store manager. He dared not offend these two big shots!

“Call your boss now.

“Say that I, Quill Zimmer, want the necklace. Let’s see who he gives it to.

“Unless you want to make yourself an enemy of the Zimmer family and Jen-Bond Holdings!

Quill could not afford that kind of money then, so he started calling his connections again.

The Zimmer family of River City was nothing to be afraid of.

“Give me the necklace, and everything will be fine.

“I’ll shut you down immediately if he takes it!”

Quill slammed on the glass counter and spoke in an arrogant tone.

The store manager was shocked as he immediately shivered.

“Who’s talking so arrogantly about shutting down my store?”

Just then, a voice came from the store entrance.

Hearing this, the crowd turned to look behind them.

They only saw a middle-aged man about the same age as Fion slowly stepping into the store.

He was followed by two bodyguards wearing shades.

The middle-aged man was handsome and solemn-looking.

His pace was slow and steady, exuding the aura of a successful person.

“Mr. Summers?”

“Mr. Summers, what brings you here?”

“You’re just in time. There’s something I can’t sort out.”

The jewelry store manager greeted him immediately.

Quill knew who it was at once.

The Summers family’s current patriarch-Chadwick Summers.

Rachel’s father.

Quill and Rachel did not know each other.

However, they were from affluent families in River City, so they knew each other.

According to their seniority, Quill had to call Chadwick uncle.

He did not expect the jewelry store owner to be the Summers family.

“Uncle Chadwick, what brings you here?”

“Is... Is this your store?”

Quill immediately stepped forward and greeted Chadwick.

The Guardian’s Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 982

Chapter 982

“Quill, you’re here too.”

Chadwick nodded gently before striding toward the counter.

When Fion saw that Quill and Chadwick knew each other and seemed to know each other well, she became more confident.

Did that not make it more likely that Quill was taking the necklace?

It seemed to be a done deal.

“Sean.”

Willow did not know what to do and called out to Sean again. 1

"It's okay.

"I told you, no one can take away, things you like.

"Even if he owns the jewelry store."

Sean narrowed his eyes slightly as he looked at Chadwick.

He knew Chadwick was Rachel's father.

Therefore, Reach For Will Group and Lennon Group did not crack down on the Summers family's business when they launched their plans.

It was a favor to Rachel.

However, Sean had never spoken with Chadwick before.

Therefore, Chadwick would surely side with Quill today.

Not only Sean thought so, but also everyone in the store.

"Young Master Zimmer knows the owner of the jewelry store, so it looks like he's taking the necklace.

"Tsk. You need background in this society. Money alone won't do.

"Young Master Zimmer was stronger in the end!"

Chadwick walked slowly up to the counter amid the chatter.

"What's the matter?"

"I heard someone talking about closing my store."

Chadwick asked, and Quill immediately laughed drily.

“Uncle Chadwick, I didn’t know the Summers family owned it.

”

“I wouldn’t have said it otherwise.”

Quill admitted it without hesitation and fear.

After the Zimmer family and Jen-Bond Holdings joined forces, even the Summers family was nothing in front of the Zimmer family.

Therefore, he was confident.

Chadwick glanced at Quill before withdrawing his gaze.

“What’s the matter?”

Chadwick asked quietly, looking at the store manager.

The store manager dared not disobey and quickly reported the whole thing.

Quill casually picked his nails.

The Summers family was no fool.

They would never offend the Zimmer family for Sean.

Sure enough, Chadwick’s brow furrowed as soon as he heard it.

“What are you doing?”

“Do you need to ask me about such a petty thing?”

"Don't you know what to do?"

Chadwick yelled, prompting the store manager to nod and say yes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Summers. I wasn't thinking.

"I'm giving the necklace to Young Master Zimmer."

The store manager apologized before picking up the necklace and handling the procedures with Quill.

Quill became smugger as he looked at Sean insolently.

"Stop.

"First come, first served. Don't you get it?"

Just then, Chadwick turned to the store manager and spoke again.

"Huh?"

The store manager froze and stood still.

The smile on Quill's triumphant face gradually froze.

The surrounding customers even widened their eyes instantly.

'Mr. Lennon ordered it. What's so confusing about that?

"The necklace belongs to Mr. Lennon, of course."

Chadwick reached out his hand and tapped on the table. The crowd was stunned as soon as he said that.

Quill's eyes widened as he could not believe his ears.

'Is Chadwick out of his mind?

'How dare he offend Quill for a loser like Sean?

'Does Chadwick know what's going on in River City?'

In partnership with Jen-Bond Holdings, the Zimmer family would soon become the number one force in River City.

If the Summers family dared to go against the Zimmer family, that meant they did not take Jen-Bond Holdings seriously.

Was it going to pay off for them?

"Mr. Summers, what... did you say?"

The store manager was still dumbfounded.

Chadwick only turned to look at Sean.

"Mr. Lennon, I'm sorry to have given you a bad customer experience.

"It's our fault, so I'm giving you 20% off this necklace."

Chadwick's words made the crowd even more confused.

Willow and Sean glanced at Chadwick in surprise.

"Uncle Chadwick, are you not going to give the Zimmer family any face?"

Quill gritted his teeth and looked at Chadwick with a cold snort.

The rest of the customers speculated.

It seemed that Sean's identity was not simple!

*The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette*
*Chapter*

Otherwise, would Chadwick have sided with Sean and risked offending the Zimmer family and Jen-Bond Holdings?

"This necklace belongs to Mr. Lennon.

"I can give you something else if you like the others."

Chadwick shook his head slightly, his tone lukewarm.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 983

Chapter 983

"You!

"Great! Great! How great!"

The look in Quill's eyes was gloomy and cold.

In his mind, he had already blacklisted the Summers family.

Once the Zimmer family and Jen-Bond Holdings' plan were complete, he would destroy everyone friendly with Sean, including the Summers family!

Quill snorted coldly before turning away.

Fion glanced at Sean suspiciously.

'Is there something about Sean I don't know about?'

With that in mind, Fion took the cheap jewelry Quill had bought.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette
Chapter

"You... You're only pissing me off."

Fion pointed to Willow before walking away.

Willow and the other customers had mixed feelings as Quill and the others left in despair.

The result was unexpected.

"Thanks, Mr. Summers."

Sean paid the money and said after looking at Chadwick.

"Mr. Lennon, you're too kind.

"Why don't we have a meal together?"

Chadwick asked, shaking his head slightly.

"How about some other time?"

Sean waved his hand and rejected it because he was thinking about the wine party later at night.

"Okay."

Chadwick nodded and walked Sean and Willow to the door.

Once Sean drove away, Chadwick stood there with mixed feelings in his eyes.

He did not want to offend the Zimmer family, much less Jen-Bond Holdings.

However, his daughter, Rachel, told him to be on Sean's side.

Chadwick could not even stay neutral.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette
Chapter

He believed in Rachel and finally agreed.

However, his heart was full of worry.

He had now offended the Zimmer family and Jen-Bond Holdings.

It would be fine if Sean won. If he lost, the Summers family would go down with him.

It was why Chadwick was struggling.

"I hope you win.

"But I don't know how you're going to win."

Chadwick shook his head slightly before turning and walking into the store.

On the way back, Willow held the necklace box in her arms and looked at it carefully.

There were joy and some sadness in her eyes.

Chadwick gave Sean a discount, but the necklace still cost more than 1.5 million dollars.

Willow only thought she was holding a gold brick.

"Do you like it?"

Sean asked with a smile as he drove.

"Yeah... I love it!"

Willow nodded, feeling happy.

She said she did not like it earlier because she did not want to spend so much money.

Now that he had bought it, she would not say anything against her better judgment.

“Great.”

Sean nodded gently. He was willing to do anything that would make Willow happy.

“But Sean, how could you spend money like this? Later...”

Willow gently put down the necklace box, her eyes full of worry.

She believed what the Quinn family said now.

Sean got all his money from Reach For Will Group.

He was no longer useful, and Reach For Will Group Will would not give Sean any more money.

They would even take away Sean’s house and cars.

When that happened, what was Sean going to do?

“You don’t have to worry about these things.

“I’ll arrange everything.”

Sean reached over and touched Willow’s hair as he answered with a smile.

“Okay...”

Willow was silent for two seconds before nodding obediently.

“By the way, I didn’t expect Rachel’s father to have such integrity.

“Is he not afraid of offending the Zimmer Family?”

Willow remembered Chadwick's attitude.

Sean also shook his head gently.

No one else knew who he was, but Rachel did.

Rachel must have told Chadwick something for him to make such a decision.

After all, Sean had never spoken with Chadwick.

However, despite great pressure, the Summers family showed great courage in siding with

Sean.

Rachel had an agenda.

However, Sean did not care about these petty problems.

At the very least, he saw Rachel's sincerity so he would take care of the Summers family in the future.

At the same time.

Jon and James sat together plotting.

The wine party tonight was held to destroy Sean.

As long as the plan succeeded, not only would Sean be driven out of River City, but Reach For Will Group would also be ruined.

When that happened, Jen-Bond Holdings would be unrivaled.

Anyone going against them would be wiped out.

James and Jon glanced at each other before laughing.

How could they not feel good when they were about to be the best in River City?

Just then, Quill came in angrily.

“Mr. Thomson and Dad, Chadwick Summers is with Sean.”

Quill was furious as he told what had happened immediately.

“It’s okay.

“After tonight, Jen-Bond Holdings River City branch will be the ruler of River City business. circle!

“And it’s all thanks to you. With Jen-Bond Holdings backing you, you have no one to be afraid of.

“We can destroy whoever we want.”

James laughed nonchalantly.

The Summers family, the Zimmer family, and the Quinn family could do nothing when Jen- Bond Holdings struck!

“Okay!”

Quill nodded, pleased with himself.

River City would be in for a huge change after tonight’s party with an agenda.

Time went by.

It was evening in the blink of an eye.

Many upper-class members in River City canceled all their previous social engagements to attend the wine party.

After all, no one dared refuse Jen-Bond Holdings.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 984

Chapter 984

Hill Hotel, River City.

Although the hotel was no match for Riverleaf Lakeside, it was classy too.

If Riverleaf Lakeside Hotel was number one in River City, Hill Hotel was definitely number two.

James knew Riverleaf Lakeside Hotel already belonged to Reach For Will Group.

Therefore, there was no way he would hold his wine party there.

James had booked the entire Hill Hotel tonight.

Therefore, the only people eligible to enter the hotel today were people with invitations.

The wine party started at 8 p.m.

However, people were already arriving before 7 p.m.

After all, many people wanted to suck up to Jen-bond Holdings.

Therefore, many came early.

Many luxury cars arrived at the open parking lot in front of the hotel.

It was crowded and bustling by the time the wine party was about to start.

Many successful-looking middle-aged men and women appeared.

Many of them were influential in River City.

There were not only affluent families and heads of large corporations but also government officials.

Those affected by the Zimmer family's fundraising scandal attended the wine party too.

This wine party was going to be a blast.

Many people knew that tonight was the night Sean would be destroyed.

Lennon Group and Reach For Will Group were no match for Jen-Bond Holdings.

Many were waiting to see Sean make a fool of himself.

Some were worried about Sean, but only a few.

More and more people gathered there.

There were kids and elderly, middle-aged men and women, and youths who followed their parents to make connections.

That included the Quinn family.

Quill and Jon stood at the door and greeted visitors.

Greeting guests seemed to be for the lowly.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette
Chapter

However, that depended on what kind of guests they were greeting.

Most of River City's big shots were here today.

Standing here receiving guests was a chance to show face.

Ordinary people were not qualified to greet those guests even if they wanted to.

Jon and Quill were beaming.

They knew the Zimmer family's reputation in River City would skyrocket after tonight.

Following Jen-Bond Holdings was promising.

Even if Jen-Bond Holdings took most of the profit, and the Zimmer family could only take a small part, it would still be a lot!

"Hey, is Old Madam Quinn here?"

"Quick, quick! Come in, please!"

Jon smiled as he greeted the Quinn family.

Core members of the Quinn family-Old Madam Quinn, Simon, Faye, Willow's uncle Samuel, Fion, and Kent, were there.

Fion and Kent had no chance to attend a wine party like this if it were before.

However, things were different now.

The Zimmer family had sucked up to Jen-Bond Holdings, so they were guaranteed a promising future and were about to be included among the best in River City.

The only thing the Quinn family had left as a bargaining chip to suck up to the Zimmer family was Willow.

How would Fion help them persuade Willow if they did not treat her better?

The Quinn family also rushed over to greet Jon and Quill.

“Mr. Zimmer, Young Master Zimmer, you’re too kind.”

Old Madam Quinn laughed and was then helped into the hotel by Faye.

“Old Madam, is Willow not coming?”

Jon coughed and asked deliberately.

“Well...”

Old Lady Quinn froze immediately.

The Quinn family was now no match for the Zimmer family.

Therefore, she dared not be arrogant in front of Jon.

However, Willow would rather fight with her mother than leave Sean.

There was nothing she could do.

“Mr. Zimmer, Willow should be here with Sean later.”

Fion went up to explain as she gave Quill a look.

After all, Quill was aware of Willow’s attitude.

However, Quill seemed not to have seen Fion as he smiled faintly.

Fion thought Quill was on her side, but it was only what she thought.

“What’s the matter?”

“It seems the Quinn family doesn’t approve of Willow being with Quill?”

Jon frowned slightly with a hint of annoyance on his face.

“Mr. Zimmer, there’s no such thing. It’s a misunderstanding.

“It’s just that youngsters have their own ideas.

“We’re trying to persuade Willow too.”

Old Madam Quinn explained humbly as she waved her hands.

She knew Jon was only trying to intimidate the Quinn family.

However, what could she do?

The Zimmer family could now easily crush the Quinn family.

The Guardian’s Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 985

Chapter 985

It was for the Quinn family’s survival to be able to suck up to them!

If it were not for the Zimmer family, they had no right to attend the wine party tonight.

“Old Madam Quinn, I gotta get this off my chest.

The Guardian’s Sword By Talking Cigarette
Chapter

“Many families want to marry into the Zimmer family these days. We have so many proposals these days.

“If the Quinn family continues to delay, then...”

Jon deliberately paused for a moment.

The Quinn family, including Fion, felt a thump in their hearts.

They bought it.

The Zimmer family had become a first-rate family in River City.

Countless people wanted to be friends with them.

If the Quinn family did not take this opportunity, they would not have another opportunity in the future!

“Mr. Zimmer, it will be settled soon.

“Willow is just being foolish. I’ll talk to her.”

Old Madam Quinn spoke in a rather humble manner.

According to their age, Jon was Old Madam Quinn’s junior.

However, status was not defined by age.

The Zimmer family had the power to make the Quinn family bow to them.

“Forget about the marriage. Don’t you think Willow and Quill should spend more time together?”

“What’s the matter? Can’t she even meet him?”

Jon was smug but pretended to look upset.

Quill’s heart was even triumphant.

He was once at Old Madam Quinn’s beck and call when he went to the Quinn family house.

Now, the situation had been reversed.

“Dad, we’ve got another guest.”

Just then, Quill saw a car coming and warned.

“Yes, Old Madam Quinn, I didn’t mean anything.

“You can’t put things off forever.”

Jon nodded and got ready to greet the new arrival.

It was Jon’s chance to show himself tonight. He was going to seize it, of course.

“Ooh, a Rolls Royce!

Someone let out a cry of surprise suddenly.

Sure enough, the golden statuette logo on the front of the car was eye-catching when it approached.

The car paint glistened even more in Hill Hotel’s exterior lights.

The people coming to Hill Hotel today were wealthy and successful.

They were millionaires at the very least.

The Guardian’s Sword By Talking Cigarette
Chapter

However, not everyone could afford a luxurious car like Rolls-Royce.

The selling price for one with the lowest specs costs more than five million dollars.

The on-the-road price for one with premium specs would probably cost up to ten million dollars.

No one could afford to drive a car like this if they did not worth hundreds of millions of dollars.

The Quinn family slowly stopped.

Fion frowned slightly. She suddenly found something familiar about the car.

She soon recognized that the car was Sean's.

"Quill, come with me to greet them!"

Jon clapped his hands and went up with a smile on his face.

The guest in a Rolls Royce was definitely a VIP!

Even if the Zimmer family was on good terms with Jen-Bond Holdings, they dared not neglect other rich people.

"Alright."

Quill also nodded and went up.

However, Jon stopped dead in his tracks when the person in the car got out.

'Zander Young!

'Isn't that Sean's bodyguard?

*The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette*
*Chapter*

'Is this Zander's car?'

Sure enough, Zander bent to open the door, and Sean stepped out slowly, dressed in a suit.

The well-cut sharp suit seemed to fit him well.

"That loser!"

Quill saw Sean and immediately snorted coldly.

Sean did not even glance at them. He just turned around, walked to the car's side, and opened the door.

Thud!

After a short pause, a foot in high heels slowly stepped out of the car.

The heels glimmered with crystal and diamonds, making the exposed calf seem fairer.

Just the sight of it made many men's hearts beat faster.

Everyone in front of the hotel was instantly stunned when Willow got out of the car.

You could not find the slightest fault in the dark blue gown's workmanship, tailoring, and design.

Of course, you still needed to consider who wore them.

Willow's figure was perfect for the gown.

The combination of the gown and Willow's beauty was stunning.

The heart-shaped diamond necklace on her fair neck was glimmering beautifully.

It was the Crystal Love necklace worth nearly two million dollars.

Already fair and tender, Willow's face seemed to be blushing, making her irresistible.

The beauty of the perfect figure and beautiful face and the expensive gown and high-end jewelry was beyond words.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 986

Chapter 986

Even the Quinn family had never seen Willow look so beautiful, let alone anyone else.

Willow was looking embarrassed under the spotlight.

However, Sean was there, so she was not that nervous.

Jon, Quill, and the Quinn family gawked, including the dumbfounded guests around them.

Even the hotel's security guards and other staff froze.

She was beyond the word "beautiful".

"She's ten times more beautiful than Angelina Julie!

"She deserves to be the most beautiful woman in River City..."

Willow's beauty overshadowed every woman in the room.

Every man present could not help but feel starstruck.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette
Chapter

However, they knew such a beautiful woman did not belong to them.

She belonged to the unremarkable man next to her.

“Sean, they’re all looking at me.”

Willow felt embarrassed as she had nowhere to put her hand.

“My woman deserves the attention.”

Sean chuckled and tugged at the hem of Willow’s dress before holding out his arm.

Willow smiled and obediently took Sean’s arm as they walked toward the hotel entrance.

Thump!

Quill’s Adam’s apple kept rolling.

He changed his mind again.

H

He had already given up on Willow when he knew Willow and Sean had slept together.

However, he changed his mind again when he saw Willow looking so beautiful. He was going to get this woman no matter what!

Even Jon’s heart skipped a beat.

He even felt the urge to steal Willow from his son.

Willow was so beautiful that people had no idea how to describe her.

Any normal man would be unable to control himself in front of a woman like this.

Willow and Sean walk straight to the hotel without looking away.

The two looked like a good match walking together.

Needless to say, Willow was beautiful.

Sean had been in the army for several years, so both his walking and sitting posture was sturdy.

In conclusion, everyone only thought of a phrase when Sean and Willow walked together.

A match made in heaven!

However, the men were deeply jealous of Sean.

Anyone would want such a beautiful woman to hold their arm too.

However, they could not enjoy such a thing after all.

"Watch your step, Miss."

Several security guards warned in a whisper when Sean and Willow walked over.

Anyone would bring out their best attitude to treat such a beautiful woman.

"Thank you."

Willow responded politely and continued walking.

The security guard was so flattered that he almost thought it was a dream.

All the other beautiful women were not worth mentioning in front of Willow.

Zander was three paces behind Sean and Willow.

“Dad, let’s...”

Quill slowly turned to look at Jon.

According to their plan, they were going to intimidate and embarrass Sean when they entered.

However, Quill instantly changed his mind when he saw Willow.

He could not wait for the wine party to start and throw Sean into the abyss.

That way, Quill would get Willow.

“Stop them.”

Jon came to his senses and immediately stopped in front of Sean.

“Wait a minute.”

Jon’s appearance made Sean frown slightly.

‘What’s the matter? Shouldn’t they be happy that I’m here?’

After all, the wine party was held for Sean and Reach For Will Group.

Why did they stop him now?

“Mr. Thomson booked Hill Hotel today.

“Anyone entering the hotel will have to show an invitation.”

Jon cleared his throat and said solemnly.

Sean reached into his jacket and pulled out the invitation.

Hmph!

Quill grabbed it and pretended to look at it.

“Sean, remember this.

“You can’t fight me and will always be under me.”

Quill took the invitation and slowly moved closer to Sean’s ear, his tone harsh.

“Didn’t your father teach you it’s impolite to speak too close to people?”

Sean said indifferently without budging an inch.

“Why do you care what he teaches me?”

Jon also sneered. Did Sean not know he was doomed tonight?

Slap!

The next second, Sean suddenly reached out and slapped Quill.

“If you don’t educate him, society will educate him for you.”

Sean withdrew his hand and spoke calmly.

Everyone was dumbfounded.

Everyone spoke elegantly and courteously in such a place where influential people gathered.

No one expected Sean to go ahead and strike someone without showing any respect.

“You’re looking for trouble!

“Sean, you’re looking for trouble!

“What’s so tough about you? Look at River City, full of people who are friends with the Zimmer family and Jen-Bond Holdings!

“How are you going to fight me?

“Who else is going to help you, Sean? No one!”

Quill trembled with anger. He wanted to fight back but dared not.

“Who says he has no one?”

Before Sean spoke, a voice rang behind him.

Vroom vroom vroom!

Then came the roars of car engines.

By the sound of it, there were a lot of cars.

The Guardian’s Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 987

Chapter 987

The crowd turned to look.

The Guardian’s Sword By Talking Cigarette
Chapter

At least five cars were heading for the hotel entrance.

Each was a million-dollar luxury car; all painted black and gleaming in the light.

Screech!

Jon and others frowned slightly as the cars stopped.

The crowd spoke when they saw inside the first car.

Many people recognized who came through the opened car window.

"Isn't that Bill?"

"Yes, it's Mr. Bill Wallace!"

"He's a real big shot. They say he is Boss Flint's right-hand man."

Many people around recognized the comer.

Bill Wallace was one of the biggest names in the River City underworld.

They did not expect him to attend the wine party.

Bill had always had a dark reputation in River City.

Later, Flint rose to the top of the underworld with the help of some unknown force.

Therefore, his men and Bill's status rose with Flint.

Bill had quite a reputation in River City nowadays.

The crowd continued speaking.

“Who says Mr. Lennon has no one to help him?”

“What’s the matter? Do you want to challenge Soaring Wyvern?”

Bill stepped out of the car and greeted Sean before looking at Quill.

“It’s you, Mr. Wallace!”

“Even Boss Flint knows what’s good for him. What are you doing here?”

Jon took up the conversation with a sneer on his face.

He knew Flint was related to Sean.

However, that was before.

Did Flint’s background in the government not help him rise to power?

The entire River City high society was now on good terms with Jen-Bond Holdings.

Flint would know which side to take if he was not stupid.

Unless he did not want to stay in River City anymore.

“What’s the matter? You don’t want me to be here, Mr. Zimmer?”

“Break my leg then!”

Bill curled his lip. A rough guy like him would not talk to Jon with manners or reason.

“How ridiculous.”

Jon shook his head slightly. He did not need to argue with Bill.

"Is this why you're so confident, Sean?"

"They're only a bunch of thugs. What does it matter?"

"Can't you see what the occasion today is?"

Jon glared at Sean with disdain in his eyes.

Other people were afraid of Bill, but the Zimmer family was not afraid of him at all.

He was a mere member of the underworld mafia, and Jen-Bond Holdings could kill him. with a snap of a finger.

"What's the occasion?"

The two cars behind opened their doors.

Chadwick from the Summers family strode over with several bodyguards.

"Chadwick, I suppose you're getting more confused with age."

Jon sneered after taking a good look at Chadwick.

He already learned about Chadwick's attitude toward Sean through Quill.

The Summers family also took Sean's side.

He had no idea why Chadwick would do this.

However, the Summers family was throwing straws against the wind by doing this.

"You don't have to tell the Summers family what to do, Mr. Zimmer.

"Mr. Lennon, the Summers family will stand with you too, if you don't mind."

Chadwick slowly turned his head to look at Sean, his tone polite.

The Summers family had made their point once and for all.

“Hmm?”

Old Madam Quinn froze.

The Summers family was also prominent in River City.

‘What’s going on? Judging from Chadwick’s attitude, is he taking Sean’s side?’

‘What’s so good about this loser Sean that the Summers family values him so much?’

Old Lady Quinn was confused while the rest of the crowd sneered.

Many people thought Chadwick was a fool to the core.

“How big a splash can a third-rate family make?”

Jon snorted coldly, his face still full of disdain.

It was true.

It was true that the Summers family was prominent, but they did not rank among the first-rate families.

They were nothing compared to the Zimmer family.

“What ranking does the Zimmer family have?”

A playful voice came from behind the crowd.

“Well...

“What a crowd!”

Puzzled, the crowd turned and looked in the direction of the voice.

Was this wine party a competition among Sean, the Zimmer family, and Jen-Bond Holdings?

Was it a competition of their backgrounds?

In that case, the wine party would be interesting.

Thud! Thud!

The sound of leather shoes clicking on the floor was clear.

A line of middle-aged men and women walked steadily toward the entrance.

The leader was Homer, the chairman of River City Larson Pharmaceuticals.

He was accompanied by five or six middle-aged men and women from companies that worked closely with Larson Pharmaceuticals.

Besides that, they were personally close to Homer.

The Guardian’s Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 988

Chapter 988

The Larson family was not a big deal in River City.

The Guardian’s Sword By Talking Cigarette
Chapter

However, Larson Pharmaceuticals was the biggest player in River City's pharmaceutical industry.

They had their own complete set of industrial chains.

They had channels from raw material procurement, production, packaging, and final product sales.

Most importantly, Larson Pharmaceuticals had long been known for its safety and efficacy. Major hospitals and pharmacies in surrounding cities had contracts with them.

Therefore, Homer held a high status in River City.

"Homer, you're not changing your mind, are you?"

Jon felt increasingly upset.

Back when the Zimmer family was raising money, Larson Pharmaceuticals did nothing.

Then Jon realized that Sean must have tipped Homer off, which was why Larson Pharmaceuticals did not invest.

Jon thought Larson Pharmaceuticals and Sean were only friends.

It turned out their relationship was much deeper than Jon thought.

After all, everyone in River City knew Jen-Bond Holdings was going after Sean.

Whoever chose to stand by Sean's side at this time was loyal.

However, in Jon's opinion, loyalty was nothing more than being foolish.

"Mr. Zimmer, are you sure you're on the right track?"

Homer glanced at Jon and spoke calmly.

"Haha, we'll see."

Jon sneered, his eyes growing grimmer.

"Mr. Lennon, Old Master says hello."

Homer ignored Jon and politely spoke to Sean with a smile.

"I'll visit him again some other day."

Sean nodded as he replied.

Homer's attitude once again made those around him think differently.

Everyone in the Quinn family knew Homer and Sean knew each other from before.

They did not expect Larson Pharmaceuticals to stand by Sean when he was about to be kicked out of River City.

Were they being foolish or crazy?

However, could Larson Pharmaceuticals become such a behemoth if they were foolish?

Old Madam Quinn was unsure for a moment.

She always thought the Quinn family had made the right decision and that they were the smart ones.

However, now that more and more "fools surrounded Sean", Old Madam Quinn was starting to feel a bit unsure.

Even Willow was looking at Sean with mixed feelings.

She realized she did not fully understand Sean even after she knew some things.

*The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette*

*Chapter*

Sean must have done a lot of things that she could not see.

Why else would he have Bill, Homer, and Chadwick's support?

None of these forces combined was as powerful as Jen-Bond Holdings.

However, at least Sean was no longer alone.

"Mr. Lennon, let's go inside. It's chilly outside."

Homer extended his arm and gestured in front of him.

"Okay."

Sean nodded and was ready to lead them into the hotel.

"Birds of a feather flock together.

"Losers are surrounded by losers too."

Quill grumbled with a sneer.

His speech was loud enough that Sean and the others heard it.

"Are you looking for trouble?"

Zander and Bill glared at Quill coldly.

"What's the matter? How dare low-lives like you lay a hand on my son?"

"Believe it or not, all of you, including Homer and Chadwick, are getting banished from River City."

Jon stepped forward and shouted as he pointed at Bill and the others' noses.

"I don't believe it."

Just then, there was a sneer.

Swoosh!

Everyone turned their heads in unison.

Another seven or eight more people walked over slowly.

The leading man in his thirties was quite a celebrity in River City.

He was the general manager and acting director of Reach For Will Group-Harry Clarke!

Reach For Will Group was unstoppable not long ago.

At least, Reach For Will Group was the ruler of the business circle before Jen-Bond Holdings came to River City.

Many people could only look up to Harry's position.

In the beginning, both the Quinn family and the Zimmer family wanted to sign a partnership deal with Reach For Will Group.

However, they were rejected.

"Mr. Clarke?"

"Here comes Mr. Clarke!"

"Mr. Clarke!"

Many of the surrounding guests said hello to Harry.

After all, Reach For Will Group's status went without saying.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette
Chapter

Companies of all sizes had signed partnerships with Reach For Will Group.

Therefore, they had to be polite to Harry.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 989

Chapter 989

"Mr. Clarke!"

Homer, Chadwick, and others greeted Harry.

No one dared to ignore him.

Sean was looking playfully at Harry with a smile on his lips.

Harry had gotten used to the general manager position after a long time.

His pace, attitude, and tone were befitting the head of a company.

"Come. Show me how you're kicking them out with one word."

Harry asked indifferently as he walked up to Jon.

Hmph!

Jon gritted his teeth, snorted coldly, and said nothing.

James and the rest planned to crush Sean and Reach For Will Group for good this time.

However, until they did that, Reach For Will Group still remains a major company in River City's business circle.

Jen-Bond Holdings was number one in River City's business circle, while Reach For Will Group was number two.

They were still influential.

Therefore, Jon had no choice but to give in temporarily.

The surrounding people figured it out.

Reach For Will Group's Harry was also closely related to Sean.

"Who the h*ll is Sean?"

"I don't know. I've only heard of him recently."

"Isn't he the Quinn family's cripple future son-in-law? I heard he's a matriloal son-in-law, but now it doesn't seem as simple as the rumors say!"

The surrounding guests whispered.

Many people had no idea who Sean was.

They had only heard of Sean when he brought down Zimmer Corporation and took over it.

However, Jen-Bond Holdings came to River City and started helping the Zimmer family fight back.

People thought Sean would not be able to withstand Jen-Bond Holdings' power.

However, now it seemed Sean had done a lot of preparation!

"I suppose it's okay if we don't go in since we're not welcome here."

Sean said as he turned to leave.

As soon as Jon heard this, he panicked.

Sean and the rest were the stars of the wine party tonight.

What was the point of the wine party if he did not go in?

James would probably have a bone to pick with him.

"Ahem, welcome. Come on in."

Jon coughed and said as he waved his hand.

"I didn't catch what you said."

Sean asked intentionally, glancing at Jon.

"Welcome to the wine party. Come on in!"

Jon gritted his teeth slightly but said again.

Sean finally withdrew his gaze and entered the hotel with Willow.

Homer, Chadwick, and the others behind them froze.

Among these people, Harry obviously held the highest status.

How dare Sean go first?

However, they were surprised to find that Harry was calm as if it were a matter of course.

He even waited for Sean's bodyguard, Zander, to come up to him before following them inside.

Chadwick and Homer looked at each other and were moved.

They were not idiots. How could they not see it?

"I always thought Mr. Lennon got to where he is today with Reach For Will Group's help...
"Now it looks like it isn't as simple as I thought."

It was unclear if Homer was speaking to Chadwick or himself.

"Come on. Let's go in."

Chadwick paused for two seconds and followed.

Sean and Willow led the way while Zander, Harry, Chadwick, Homer, and Bill followed.

Including the people they brought over, there were more than 20 people.

They formed an intimidating retinue.

Sean and Willow paused as they walked past the Quinn family.

The Quinn family was also looking at Sean.

"I put up with the Quinn family because of Willow's kindness.

"However, the Quinn family is a backstabbing, opportunistic, and fickle family.

"Remembering Old Master Quinn's service to the Dragon Kingdom, I'd like to ask the Quinn family one thing.

"Are you refusing to come to your senses until the last moment?"

Sean slowly turned to look at Old Madam Quinn.

He gave the Quinn family one last chance after all.

Old Madam Quinn, including Fion and the rest, had mixed feelings.

“Sean, stop pretending.

“Do you know you’re going to be crushed? Hmm?”

Simon stepped forward with a sneer on his face.

Without a glance at Simon, Sean only stared at Old Madam Quinn.

Old Madam Quinn did nothing to stop Simon.

It also represented the Quinn family’s choice.

“Congratulations.

“I’m never giving you a chance again.”

Sean said as he walked into the hotel.

Some members of the Quinn family were silent, while some sneered disdainfully.

“Grandma, don’t let him fool you. He’s dead meat tonight!”

Simon quickly spoke to Old Madam Quinn, fearing Sean had swayed old Madam Quinn.

“Go on in.”

Old Madam Quinn waved her hand and led the others into the hotel.

Hill Hotel.

A huge conference hall on the top floor.

The lavish decorations were dazzling.

Everything exuded utter luxury.

The crystal chandeliers, expensive black velvet carpet, and even the curtains had gold hems.

There were many people in the wine party venue.

Each held a glass of wine in his hand, gently mulled.

Everyone spoke elegantly, and their demeanor was impeccable.

After all, they were members of high society.

As soon as Sean led the crowd to the venue entrance, his phone in his pocket rang.

Sean picked up his phone and looked through the messages he had just received.

After a few seconds, a smile gradually spread across Sean's face.

James and Jon thought they were going to crush Sean tonight.

However, they had no idea why Sean could sit there and do nothing.

They had prepared many things for Sean, while Sean had also prepared a lot of "gifts" for them.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 990

Chapter 990

No one knew if this wine party had another agenda or was an opportunity.

Whether this opportunity would make any party famous in River City was still unknown.

Willow was a little nervous as she got closer to the entrance.

She had never attended such an upscale party.

Even when she was in charge of Quinn Corporation's branch, she had no right to attend such events.

Besides, those present were River City's aristocrats with special status.

River City businessmen, heirs, heiresses, listed company owners, affluent families...

Willow did not want to be nervous, but her heart rate was out of control.

"Don't worry. I've got you."

Sean sensed something wrong with Willow. He reached out to take Willow's palm and said with a faint smile.

"Okay..."

Willow nodded, her face blushing.

Having Sean hold her hand relieved her nervousness.

“Mr. Lennon, please!”

Zander stepped forward, bent over, and reached out his hand.

Sean did not feel nervous at all. He instantly led Willow into the wine party.

He was not faking his calm.

There were a few hundred people at the wine party.

When he was in the army, hundreds of thousands of soldiers stood in line waiting for him. to speak.

He kept his cool when controlling millions of troops.

The wine party was nothing.

Homer, Harry, Chadwick, and the others followed.

Dozens of people came in together, attracting the attention of everyone at the wine party venue.

Swoosh!

The crowd looked over.

They saw Sean first. Some had a mocking look in their eyes, while others looked worried.

There were people also who looked nonchalant.

Sean also saw some familiar faces in the group.

The wine party venue was divided into several circles.

Business people got together with business people, while government officials sat with government officials.

It was a public space, and they distanced themselves from each other so as not to attract unnecessary gossip.

Sean also saw some government members he had contacted before, including Gordon. However, Gordon only glanced at Sean and withdrew his gaze.

He was on good terms with Sean.

However, that was due to the CIA director Damian.

Even Damian was subdued now. Gordon befriended Jen-Bond Holdings, so he would no longer be on Sean's side.

All

eyes slowly moved from Sean to Willow behind him.

Crack!

Splash!

Then the red wine glass that a young man was holding suddenly fell to the ground.

Even though the floor was carpeted, the fragile wine glass shattered on the spot.

Red wine spilled all over the floor.

However, no one noticed him at all.

The eyes of all men and women of all ages were on Willow.

What kind of beauty was that?

*The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette*
*Chapter*

The luxurious evening dress set off her graceful figure.

The million-dollar diamond necklace improved Willow's image again.

She was stunning.

The heirs and even their fathers are all suddenly short of breath and agitated.

The heirs and their elders were short of breath while their heads spun.

The beautiful heiresses were filled with deep jealousy.

Before Willow came along, the heiresses competed with each other, who usually spent a lot of money on maintaining themselves.

Willow instantly took the top spot when she showed up.

All the women were overshadowed by her beauty.

She was like the moon in the sky, overshadowing all the stars whenever she appeared.

They could do nothing but feel jealous.

Willow's looks were blessed.

"Hsss! She's indeed the most beautiful woman in River City!"

"I regret it now!"

"At first... At first..."

Heirs and sons of affluent families whispered.

The Quinn family had publicly searched for a husband for Willow.

Willow dressed up that day too. However, it was nothing compared to how she looked today.

Willow wore what Sean chose and bought for her.

The result was stunning as she instantly overwhelmed everyone.

“The time the Quinn family was searching for a groom for her was the closest we’ve ever been to her!

“I should have fought for myself even when Quill threatened me!

“I regret it. I regret it too now!

“What’s the use of regretting? Willow only likes Sean, who’s next to her!”

All the young men present sighed in regret.

They were deeply jealous of Sean at the same time.