

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 1311 - 1320

Chapter 1311

"A billion dollars?"

Jeffrey's eyes suddenly widened as he exclaimed.

A billion dollars was just too big of an amount for him.

However, Jeffrey quickly came to himself after being surprised for only a few seconds.

After all, he had been with Sean for years.

Money meant nothing to a nine-star commander.

Sean said he could come up with ten billion dollars, and Jeffrey believed it.

"Commander, is a billion dollars enough?"

Zander pondered for two seconds before asking quietly.

He had set up a company with Ray's help in these two days. He knew more about Joules Town than Sean.

"We can add more if it's not enough. There's no limit.

"I'm taking over this land."

Sean shook his head slightly. He had the land in the bag.

If the bidding price for the land exceeded the value of the land itself tomorrow, Sean would not hesitate to get it.

He was taking over the land not to make money but to create a living area for May that would combine the orphanage, a school, and a health care system.

You could not put a price on the significance of this.

"If you put it that way, I understand."

Zander nodded and replied immediately.

It was silent all night.

The next day, Sean and Zander woke up early.

Today was the auction for the land.

Ray also contacted Sean last night and informed him of this matter.

Instead of asking Ray to pick him up, Sean planned to drive there with Zander.

After all, Ray was a member of the government, and his status was somewhat sensitive.

More importantly, Sean was not in the best condition to be in the public eye.

He was also saving Ray as his trump card.

Therefore, he would not expose Ray easily.

Sean and Zander had started their journey by 7.30 a.m.

The auction would start at 9 a.m., and they must be there in advance, so they could do some preparation.

However, shortly after Sean and Zander had driven off, Caitlyn called.

"Come over to the orphanage, Brother.

“Something happened here.”

Caitlyn sounded angry on the phone.

“I’ll be right there.”

Sean looked at the time, frowned a little, and said yes.

The auction was important.

However, there was another reason he was bidding on the land besides trying to secure Patrick’s grave, and that was for the orphanage.

Something happened at the orphanage, so he had to check it out.

“Go to the orphanage.”

Sean put down his phone and said to Zander.

Zander looked at Sean in the rearview mirror and turned around without asking much.

Queen Children’s Orphanage.

Caitlyn, two orphanage helpers, and May looked a little pale.

There was something wrong with the atmosphere.

In the dining area, the orphanage children obediently put their little hands behind their backs and looked in appeal at Caitlyn and the rest.

“Aunt May, what happened?”

Caitlyn pointed to a room not far away.

The door to the room was now wide open.

This room used to house supplies from Sean.

There were daily necessities, school supplies, washing machines, water purifiers, and living facilities.

The total value was over 150,000, if not 200,000 dollars.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 1312

Chapter 1312

However, the room was now empty.

None of the supplies Sean sent were left. Not even a bed.

"Well..."

May gritted her teeth slightly as if she had something to say.

"Aunt May, what are you not telling me?"

Caitlyn was aggrieved as she spoke.

When she took the children to breakfast this morning, she was going to bring out the milk and give each child a bottle.

However, she opened the door to find it empty with all the supplies gone.

When she asked May, May stammered and did not say anything.

It made Caitlyn uncomfortable.

“Madam Randall, you didn’t secretly sell these things, did you?”

One of the caretakers asked, frowning.

The two caretakers were employees of the orphanage.

However, they did not see May as their boss because they were volunteers and did not receive a penny for their work.

They sincerely wanted to do something for the orphanage.

They felt uncomfortable when they saw it.

“I didn’t.”

May whispered back, shaking her head.

“I believe Aunt May won’t do such a thing.

“If she wanted to do that, she wouldn’t have to wait until now.”

Caitlyn frowned slightly and said as she looked at the two caretakers.

She did not know where the supplies went.

However, she would never suspect May of selling them for money.

“Where on earth did they go?”

“Although the orphanage doesn’t belong to us, we have an obligation as volunteers to supervise everything here.”

“The supplies Mr. Lennon sent over belong to no one but the orphanage.”

The two caretakers looked at Caitlyn as they spoke gravely.

“Aunt May, tell us where they went.

“You were alone in the orphanage yesterday. Don’t you know where they’ve gone?”

Caitlyn asked helplessly, looking at May.

They did not think a thief came along and stolen the supplies,

What place was this? It was an orphanage!

Those supplies were sent by charitable people.

Even people with the hardest lives would not steal the orphanage’s supplies if they had any conscience.

Therefore, they knew well that May must know the truth.

May must have known exactly where the supplies were going.

“Stop asking.

“We can survive without them.”

May was silent for a moment before letting out a long sigh. She waved her hand and prepared to enter the building.

Honk honk!

Just then, two car horns rang outside.

Caitlyn and her friends’ heads turned at once to look outside the door.

They only saw Sean and Zander pull up, get out of the car, and hurry toward the orphanage.

“Catie, Aunt May, what’s happened?”

Sean frowned slightly, a little nervous.

However, seeing Caitlyn and May safe and sound was a big relief for Sean.

“Brother Sean, the supplies are gone.”

Caitlyn was silent for two seconds before pointing to the empty warehouse after all.

“The supplies are gone? What do you mean?”

Sean was confused for a second.

“Mr. Lennon, the supplies you sent over have all disappeared.

“We asked Madam Randall, and she said she didn’t know why.”

One of the caretakers looked at May with a frown, speaking in an accusatory tone.

The Guardian’s Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 1313

Chapter 1313

Sean became more puzzled and slowly turned to look at May.

May’s face was full of struggle, shame, and grievance.

Sean could tell May must have something she had trouble telling.

The two caretakers probably suspected May of misappropriating the goods.

"I thought something bad happened.

"It's gone, so what?"

Sean stepped forward slowly and helped May fix her washed-out clothes.

The action made May feel at ease instantly.

"What?"

The two caretakers froze at Sean's comment.

Even May looked up at Sean in shock.

She had expected Sean to question her about the supplies as the two caretakers did.

"said, so what if it's gone?"

"What's the big deal?"

"And why accuse Aunt May when the supplies are gone?"

Sean frowned slightly. His eyes were a little impatient as he even glared at Caitlyn.

"Brother... I didn't mean to accuse Aunt May.

"It's just that Aunt May won't tell me anything. I thought Aunt May would tell you if you came."

Caitlyn waved her hand and explained.

She did not ask Sean over to criticize May.

After all these years of living with May, how could she not know her character and personality?

No matter how difficult it is, there was no way May would keep the goods donated by charitable people as her own.

“Mr. Lennon, these supplies are for the orphanage, after all, so we have the right...”

The caretaker also wanted to say something.

However, they were interrupted by Sean with a wave of his hand when they had just started speaking.

“Listen, you have no right.

“I gave those things to my Aunt May.

“She can use them for the orphanage if she wants.

“She can use them for herself. How she uses them and what she uses them for are nobody else’s business.

“Do you understand me now?”

Sean’s calm speech left the two caretakers speechless.

He knew the caretakers might have meant well.

However, May was like a mother to him.

How could he let May suffer any grievances?

He would not allow others to point fingers at May even if she had done something wrong.

“Seanie...”

May was touched.

Sean slowly turned his head and met May’s eyes.

“Aunt May, tell me who took the things?”

Sean looked at May and spoke softly without questioning.

“No... No...”

May was silent for a few seconds before shaking her head again.

“Did someone threaten you?”

Sean asked again, looking at May.

May’s eyes flickered twice at Sean’s speech.

With Sean’s keen observation, how could he not discover it?

His speculation seemed to be correct.

“It must be Albert.”

Sean was silent for two seconds before saying suddenly.

Swoosh!

May subconsciously looked up and locked eyes with Sean in surprise for a few seconds.

However, she shook her head again when she came to herself.

“No, no.”

May shook her head in denial, but how could Sean not see the signs?

“Aunt May, you taught us not to lie when we were children.”

When Sean said this, May blushed instantly.

It confirmed Sean’s speculation when he saw this.

“Phone.”

The Guardian’s Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 1314

Chapter 1314

Sean said, and Zander immediately handed him the phone.

Besides that, he sensibly called Albert on the phone.

“Hello, who is it?”

Albert’s languid voice soon came over the line.

“Seanie, don’t...”

May grabbed Sean’s arm and shook her head gently.

She did not want Sean to go against Albert and get involved with the orphanage’s trouble.

However, Sean only gave May a look of determination and held his phone to his ear.

“I’m Sean Lennon.”

Sean exposed his identity on the phone.

“Yo, it’s you.

“Why are you calling me?”

Albert sounded dismissive.

However, Sean could hear a hint of tension in his voice.

“Meet me at the orphanage in ten minutes.”

Sean’s statement was simple and direct.

“Who the f*ck do you think you are?”

“I have to go because you tell me to?”

Albert froze before yelling into the phone.

“I’ll only wait for you for ten minutes.

“I’ll go after you myself if you’re not here in time.”

Sean said and hung up.

He was already giving Albert a chance.

If he did not appreciate it, the result would be different when Sean came to see him in person.

Sean needed to keep a low profile these days.

However, letting a scum disappear would not affect him too much.

The thug named Tyga was a prime example.

"Aunt May, was it Albert?"

"Did he take these supplies by force?"

"Was that what you meant to tell me when you called me yesterday?"

Caitlyn waited for Sean to finish the call before looking over to May and asking.

"Oh..."

May was silent for a while before letting out a long sigh.

After all, they were at an orphanage, and there were dozens and dozens of children there.

She did not want to fight with Albert because it would only scare the orphanage's children.

Besides that, May did not want to make a big deal out of it.

Firstly, it might have some negative effects on the orphanage. Secondly, she raised Albert after all.

How could she have the heart to send Albert to prison unless she had to?

Albert went even further by taking advantage of that.

This time, he took all the supplies Sean had sent over and kept them for himself.

"Aunt May, I told you.

"It doesn't matter what your life was like or how many people have bullied you.

"Now that I'm back, everything will change.

"I'll teach Albert a lesson."

Sean looked at May and spoke seriously.

"But... I don't want you to go up against him.

"He's been out in the world and knows a lot of rich and powerful people.

"You're no match for him!"

May shook her head slightly, feeling helpless.

"He's nothing to me."

Sean felt a little helpless when he heard that.

Little did May know that Sean was trying to kill Albert as easily as he could crush an ant.

"Even if you can go against him, he's my child too!

"You're both important to me. Do you want me to watch you fight each other?"

May said, slowly looking up at Sean.

She raised both Sean and Albert.

When both parties fought, she felt bad no matter which one was hurt.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 1315

'Albert doesn't deserve to be my brother's brother!

"He's no match for my brother!"

Caitlyn gritted her teeth. In her opinion, Albert was not even a match for Sean's hair.

Sean looked at May, angry and frustrated,

Albert was selfish and of the worst character.

Sean did not know why May even considered her relationship with Albert. It was stupid.

However, on second thought, May watched Albert grow up after all.

She considered Albert her own child.

Parents all over the world could not turn their backs on their children even if they killed someone.

Parents love for their children was unconditional. It was love without any return.

Therefore, he could understand May's feelings.

"Aunt May, do you know what is the greatest difference between man and animals?"

"Animals will always be animals, and some people are worse than animals.

"Albert isn't worth it."

Sean looked at May, his tone meaningful.

May was silent for a long time after hearing Sean's speech.

Caitlyn had told her a lot of the same things.

However, she refused to listen when Caitlyn spoke.

Instead, she was willing to listen to the same thing from Sean.

“Aunt May, Brother is right. You must stop indulging Albert like this!

“He’ll destroy our orphanage!”

Caitlyn also supported Sean.

This time, May fell into deep silence.

“What am I supposed to do then?”

May looked up again after a long pause.

“You don’t have to do anything.

“Leave everything to me.”

Sean said and waited silently.

The orphanage children were still looking this way, waiting for Caitlyn to bring them milk.

Zander picked up the phone and asked for a batch of milk to be delivered without Sean having to instruct him.

Time ticked by.

Ten minutes had passed in the blink of an eye.

“Mr. Lennon.”

Zander checked the time and looked up at Sean.

“Seize him.”

Sean whispered.

Zander nodded in acknowledgment, pulled out his phone, and made the arrangements.

Honk honk honk! Honk honk!

Just then, an extremely shrill horn rang outside.

The driver did not seem to care where they were at, honking their car horn continuously.

A brand–new carbon black BMW X3 came to a screeching halt outside the door.

There was no license plate, just a temporary number plate on the windshield.

It looked like a new car.

Bang!

The car door opened and was slammed shut.

Several untidy–looking young men stepped out of the car.

Zander glanced at a few people and slowly put down his phone.

One of the five young men was Albert.

The four young men behind him had colorful hair and tattoos all over their arms and neck.

The five held cigarettes as they walked in, ignoring the no–smoking sign at the gate.

“Sean, what the f*ck do you want with me?”

"I'm here. Come, come, come. Tell me what you want?"

Leading the four young men, Albert pointed at Sean, sounding arrogant.

"Where are the things?"

Sean stared at Albert and cut to the chase.

Sean did not even look at the people behind Albert.

"Things? What things?"

Albert asked, pretending to be confused as he took a drag on his cigarette.

The five smoked together, so the smoke wafted through the wind. The pungent smoke made Caitlyn and the rest cough.

Zander frowned slightly. He wanted to get his hands on Albert and his group.

However, he hesitated for two seconds and stood still.

"Snub them."

Sean said indifferently, glancing at Albert's cigarette.

"Yo, you're so f*cking tough!"

"You care too much. Who even f*cking cares if I smoke."

"What will you do to me if I smoke? Not only am I going to smoke, but I'm also going to ask dozens of my brothers over to smoke. Do you believe me?"

Albert froze slightly before laughing.

His face was full of disdain.

May moved her mouth to say something, but Caitlyn stopped her.

Caitlyn was obedient since Sean said he would not let them get involved today.

"I don't want to repeat myself."

Sean said as he folded his cuffs.

"Hey, what a coincidence.

"I f*cking want to smoke a second cigarette."

Albert immediately took out another cigarette and lit the new one with the old end.

"Hsss!

"Whew!

Albert took a puff. Then he took a deep breath and blew it all in Sean's face. The secondhand smoke that had passed through his lungs hit Sean in the face.

It did not hurt much but was insulting.

"I smoked. So what?"

Albert's face was triumphant.

Slap!

The next moment, Sean reached out and slapped hard.

Albert's face was slapped hard. 1

Albert had a cigarette dangling from his mouth and was slapped onto the ground.

He took several steps back, and his face swelled as fast as the naked eye could see.

“What the f*ck?”

The four young men behind Albert were instantly stunned.

“You f*cking...”

Albert only felt his head buzz as his nose warmed up, and blood spurted out.

He did not expect Sean to do that to himself!

“Get him!”

“Hit him!”

Albert yelled as he wiped his nosebleed before reaching out and pointing at Sean.

“Go!”

The four young men shouted before rushing toward Sean.

“Seanie...”

May’s heart was full of worry.

Even though Sean was a soldier, could these four young strong men not knock down Sean instantly?

Caitlyn’s heart clenched.

However, what happened next made them widen their eyes.

Sean stood still, his right arm raising and dropping sharply.

Then it raised and dropped again!

Slap!

Slap!

Slap!

Slap!

Four loud slaps were heard.

There were four people on the other side, and Sean slapped exactly four times. Thump, thump, thump, thump!

All four covered their faces at the same time, stepping back several times.

“What... What the h*ll?”

The four young men covered their faces with one hand, their eyes widening in confusion.

They were slapped before they knew it.

The cigarettes in their mouths were knocked onto the ground too.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette Chapter 1316

Chapter 1316

“So you made me snub them for you.”

Sean slowly withdrew his hand, his tone calm.

It was as if dealing with Albert and his friends were as simple as eating and drinking.

Everyone else froze instantly.

May and the rest knew that Sean was an ex-soldier.

However, they did not expect Sean to be so good.

Four young men struck together, but they could not even get close to Sean.

Five men, including Albert, were taken care of with five slaps from Sean.

Were ex-soldiers such good fighters?

"Tell me.

"Did you take the things?"

Sean asked, turning slowly to look at Albert.

"So what if I took it?"

Albert glared at May before replying coldly.

"How dare you touch my things?"

"Do you have a death wish?"

Sean frowned slightly. Now that Albert had admitted it, it would be easy.

"Try... Try touching me!"

Albert pretended to look tough, still challenging Sean.

*Try? Let's give it a try."

A sneer appeared on Sean's lips.

Bang!

Almost as soon as Sean finished speaking, a punch came crashing down on Albert's face.

The punch came from Zander.

Albert had been focusing on Sean.

Therefore, he did not see Zander's move at all.

Before he knew it, it was already too late.

Smash!

The punch hit the side of Albert's face hard and mercilessly.

It was no exaggeration to say that Albert's entire face was deformed by the punch.

Albert's figure was not thin and was even strong.

However, he could not resist Zander's punch.

Thump!

Albert's body was knocked to the ground by Zander's punch.

After sitting on the ground, Albert spat out two teeth on the spot.

"F*ck..."

Caitlyn was once again shocked.

In her impression, Zander who was beside Sean seemed like an honest man with few words.

However, she did not expect Zander to be so tough and ruthless.

Someone like him worked for Sean loyally.

How tough would Sean be?

“Come on. Let me see who can fight the best.”

Zander knocked Albert down with a punch before turning to look at the four young men.

“What the f*ck!

The four young men widened their eyes before turning around and running without hesitation. Seeing Zander and Sean were tougher than the other, they dared not fight!

Unless they wanted Zander to break their teeth with one punch like Albert. “Run!”

The four young men turned and ran.

Any sense of brotherhood was left behind.

The four were gone in a blink of an eye, and Sean did not let Zander stop them.

After all, Albert was the problem.

If it were not for Albert, these people would not appear at the orphanage.

“F*ck you!”

Watching the men run away, Albert almost spat blood out of anger.

Sean looked at Albert with a sneer.

Albert was all alone now. Sean did not believe he could keep up his tough act.

Albert did chicken out a lot.

He thought Sean would not do anything to him when he brought several men over.

However, he never expected Sean and Zander to be so tough.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 1317

Chapter 1317

"Aunt May, look at him. He slapped me!"

Albert's eyes moved before pointing to his bleeding mouth and playing the family card on May.

May was already feeling sorry.

She thought of Albert as her own child. No matter how much he had done wrong, she could not bear to see him get slapped!

Therefore, May was pained to see Zander knock out two of Albert's teeth with one punch.

She was even a little mad with Zander.

However, Caitlyn kept pulling at her, preventing her from interfering.

"Seanie..."

May could not help but speak in the end.

"You treat him as your own child. Does he treat you as his parent?"

A rhetorical question from Sean left May speechless.

"Don't worry about it, Aunt May. My brother will take care of it."

Caitlyn persuaded again from the side.

"Oh!"

May let out a long sigh, gritted her teeth, and nodded.

Seeing May ignore him, hatred appeared in Albert's eyes.

"Where are the things?"

Sean asked indifferently, looking at Albert.

don't know."

Albert stared at Sean as he replied through clenched teeth.

"I'm going to ask you one last time.

"Where are the things?"

Sean walked slowly forward and looked condescendingly at Albert.

Albert crouched down and immediately shook his head.

However, Sean interrupted by waving his hand.

"You needn't rush to answer.

"I'll break your legs if I don't like your answer."

Sean looked down at Albert, his calm voice unquestionably powerful.

Albert met Sean's eyes for a few seconds but dared not say he had no idea.

"I sold them!"

Albert replied after a moment, gritting his teeth.

"Where did you sell them?"

Sean frowned a little.

"I sold them to someone else for 150 thousand dollars."

Albert was silent for a few seconds before saying again.

"I paid nearly 300 thousand dollars for them, yet you sold them for 150 thousand dollars?"

Zander's heart burned with anger when he heard this.

Caitlyn, May, and the rest widened their eyes.

They were expecting the things Sean sent over to be worth 100 to 200 thousand dollars at most.

They did not expect it to be close to 300 thousand dollars.

Albert took nearly 300 thousand dollars worth of supplies and traded them for 150 thousand dollars, losing half their value.

"Where's the money?"

Sean looked at Albert and asked again.

Instead of answering, Albert subconsciously turned his head to look at the BMW at the entrance.

Sean also slowly turned his head and looked at the new car with the temporary number plate.

It seemed Albert had used the money to buy the car.

The car was worth about 500 thousand dollars, and a few hundred thousand dollars would only be enough for a down payment.

“Okay, you know how to enjoy yourself.

“They were enough food and supplies for dozens of children.

“You sold it off at a loss and bought yourself a car.”

Sean slowly pointed to the BMW at the entrance. He had no idea Albert would grow up to be this way.

“Didn’t you say you have a friend who was chronically ill and needed money urgently?”

May also widened her eyes as she looked at Albert and asked.

Albert asked May to lend him some money yesterday, but how could May have the money to lend him?

He told May his friend was seriously ill and urgently needed money for an operation.

Seeing that May could not afford the money, Albert set his sights on Sean’s supplies. May refused sternly, but Albert had someone forcibly take everything away.

May thought saving a life was considered a good thing even though the supplies were gone.

However, she had no idea that Albert would use the money to buy a car.

May could not help feeling disappointed.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 1318

Chapter 1318

"Everyone else has it. Why can't I?"

"That's because you have no money for me. Also, why did you disagree when I asked Catie to work with Sophie?"

Instead of apologizing, Albert blamed May for not giving him a better life.

"Is that even a proper job?"

"How can I possibly let Catie earn money without conscience?"

May spoke louder as she felt aggrieved.

"Don't blame me for taking the things then.

"I made a deal with them that a virg..."

Albert immediately shut up and looked at Sean.

He dared to say some things in front of May but not Sean!

Sean understood what Albert meant.

He wanted to send Caitlyn to the rich in exchange for a huge reward.

After all, innocent girls like Caitlyn were very popular with the rich.

“You... You b*stard!”

May’s eyes widened as soon as she heard this, and she was even more disappointed.

She had thought that Albert had just made a mistake and got on the wrong track and that he could correct his ways later.

However, she had no idea that Albert had become so selfish that he would do anything for money.

“You’re worse than a leech!

*You will only destroy us for yourself!”

Her face red with anger, Caitlyn pointed at Albert and yelled.

“It’s every man for himself.”

Albert snorted coldly before retorting again.

Sean slowly turned around when he heard this.

If Albert could still be saved, he could consider their childhood affections and help him.

However, Sean could see that Albert was hopeless.

Therefore, Sean had no interest in talking to him now.

Zander checked the time and called out to Sean.

They had work to do today and could not waste too much time here.

“I’ll give you one last chance.

“Bring everything back by tomorrow at the latest.

“And if you have funny ideas for Catie again, I’ll kill you!”

Sean considered May’s feelings, so he did not kill Albert.

Albert moved his mouth but said nothing.

“Get the f*ck out.”

Sean pointed outside the door.

Albert covered his face, got up, and quickly walked outside.

“Sean, just wait and see!”

When Albert got into the car, he rolled down the window and swore at Sean.

“Commander, shall I...”

Zander frowned slightly before lowering his voice and asking Sean.

One word from Sean, and Albert would never see the light of day again.

“Not yet.”

Sean waved his hand slightly, and Zander nodded in response.

“Aunt May, Catie, I have some business to attend to, so I gotta go first.

“Call me as soon as anything happens.”

Sean checked the time and hurriedly said goodbye.

The auction had already started, and Sean could not afford to delay any longer.

Joules Town.

Warren Five-Star Hotel.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 1319

Chapter 1319

There were usually not many customers in such a high-end place.

However, people were coming and going today, and the parking lot was full of luxury cars.

The reason was there was an auction led by the Joules Town government and jointly held by Joules Town's top real estate companies.

This time, the elites of Joules Town's real estate industry were not the only ones invited.

Many business elites outside the real estate industry were also invited, so Warren Hotel was busy today.

A hall that could accommodate up to 500 people on the top floor of the hotel.

It was already full and lively.

The auction had been going on for half an hour.

Besides that, a few lots had been sold earlier.

Jeffrey sat in the corner and could not help worrying.

Sean had arranged for Ray to meet up with him, and he sent him here first.

He did not know what Sean was handling.

However, he had never seen anything like this!

All he knew was that the land Sean wanted was up for auction, but Sean was still on the road.

The chairman of Billion Trees Real Estate, Jimmy Lidell, who sat in the front row, and Weston next to him were already eager to bid.

Panicked, Jeffrey quickly turned his body sideways and called Sean again.

“Mr. Lidell, it looks like the land is ours.”

Sitting next to Jimmy, Weston said with a chuckle.

Weston still had his arm in a cast attached to his neck with a bandage.

The injury Sean gave him would take more than a few days to heal.

“Of course, no one can win the land when my dad’s going to fire his shot.”

A girl on Jimmy’s left curled her lip as they spoke confidently.

Willow’s best friend Jane was also Jimmy’s daughter.

Jimmy smiled and said nothing, but his face was full of confidence.

Billion Trees Real Estate was considered a leader in Joules Town’s real estate industry.

Besides that, it was wealthy.

Besides, he was on good terms with many people in the government and had plenty of money prepared in advance...

Therefore, the land had basically been decided internally.

“That Sean or whatever even threatened to take over this land.

“I haven’t even seen him yet.”

Weston looked at the time with disdain on his face.

“Ha, Sean’s a loser!

“I’ve heard my friend say he was a vegetable in a wheelchair a while ago.”

Jane’s eyes were full of disdain as she mentioned Sean.

Sean had humiliated her back in River City.

However, they were now in Joules Town. Sean was a nobody, so what if Sean knew many big shots in River City?

Joules Town was their territory, and Sean had no right to compete with Billion Trees Real Estate.

“It’s the wisest thing for him not to come.

“If he comes, I will show him how useful money is.”

Jimmy snorted coldly. He was also annoyed at the mention of Sean.

“Next item, the land in Campbell District’s town area.”

A beautiful long-legged woman on stage clicked the remote control in her hand and began explaining the advantages of the site while facing the big screen.

Jimmy and the rest perked up immediately.

They had waited a long time for this land!

11

Besides Jimmy, other real estate companies were also interested in the land.

After all, Jimmy was not the only one who had connections, and he was not the only one who took the long view.

The value of the land was not immediately apparent.

However, it would be worth a lot of money in the future.

Therefore, many property companies were eager and ready to bid for it.

The Guardian's Sword By Talking Cigarette

Chapter 1320

Chapter 1320

"The initial bidding price for Camp Port City's township site is tentatively set at 100 million dollars.

"Every markup can't be less than 10 million dollars. The auction starts now!"

The atmosphere was hyped up as soon as the beautiful woman in a gown finished speaking.

"200 million dollars!"

"260 million dollars!"

“300 million dollars!”

The venue was filled with the yelling of increasing bidding prices.

Otherwise, today’s auction would not have brought together the elites of Joules Town’s real estate industry.

The bidding amount of hundreds of millions of dollars seemed nothing to them.

In less than a minute, the price went up to 450 million dollars!

Many people understood it was not the ultimate price.

Because even at today’s market price, the land was worth much more than that.

However, as prices continued to soar, some real estate company owners put down their bidding paddles.

No matter how good things were, you must have enough money to pay for them.

Every time the bidding price went up a notch, the bidding lessened.

By the time they hit 600 million dollars, there were less than 10 bidders left.

“800 million!”

Just then, Weston raised the bidding paddle with his uninjured arm.

Swoosh!

All eyes looked over.

“Billion Trees Real Estate?”

“They’re bidding too. I guess we don’t have a chance!”

Once the crowd saw that it was Jimmy, several people gave up on the spot.

Billion Trees Real Estate was not exactly the best in Joules Town's real estate industry.

However, their wealth could not be underestimated.

Top real estate companies would not go after the land at all.

4

Therefore, Jimmy's Billion Trees Real Estate had become the top in the second tier of real estate companies.

"820 million dollars!"

A bald middle-aged man raised the bidding paddle to raise the price.

"850 million dollars!"

Weston immediately added another 30 million.

The bald middle-aged man pondered for two seconds before putting down the bidding paddle in his hand.

"900 million!"

Suddenly, someone yelled another price increase.

It was a woman who was dressed in an expensive dress and was also a boss lady in Joules Town's real estate industry.

However, Jimmy came prepared today. He would not give in to anyone.

"One billion!"

Jimmy raised the bidding paddle, increasing the price.

The bidding price had reached the billions!

The woman also waved and gave up.

Jimmy's expression was unchanged, but he was particularly smug.

He was well prepared a month before the auction.

Besides that, Weston had already arranged for someone to tamper things before the auction began.

After so much effort, everything he had done earlier would be in vain if he failed to get the land.

One billion going once. One billion going twice..."

The beautiful woman in a gown on stage smiled as she slowly raised her gavel.

"1.01 billion!"

Just then, there was a sudden bid in the corner at the back.

"Hmm?"

Everyone froze slightly before turning around to look.

Someone was prepared to compete with Billion Trees Real Estate?

Besides that, it was someone sitting in the corner at the back.

The wealthier and more capable you were, the closer your seat was to the front.

Sitting at the back meant their abilities were at the bottom. Could they come up with a billion dollars?

However, the voice came from the last row.

"It's him?"

Weston frowned slightly after taking a good look at the bidder.

He vaguely remembered that he was Sean's man.

Jeffrey was nervous as he raised his bidding paddle.

Sean just upped the bid on the phone.

He did not know how much he should bid, so he added 10 million.

Jeffrey was uncomfortable seeing so many people looking at him.

"No matter what, keep bidding."

Jimmy snorted coldly, not caring about it.

*1.05 million!"

Weston nodded and raised the price again.

"1.06 million."

Jeffrey was silent for a few seconds before upping the price again.

"Haha, interesting.

"1.1 billion!"

Jimmy shook his head slightly and raised the price again by 40 million.

“Well...”

Jeffrey was stunned.

He had never seen 100 million dollars in his life.

The bidding price was now over one billion dollars, could he not panic?

Besides that, he remembered that Sean had told them to prepare a billion yesterday.

The $1.1 billion bid was already way over Sean’s budget.

If he kept bidding, would they not be in trouble if Sean could not afford that much?

Therefore, Jeffrey gritted his teeth slightly and fell silent.

“Billion Trees Real Estate offered 1.1 billion. Is there any higher offer?”

“If not... 1.1 billion going once. 1.1 billion going twice. 1.1 billion...”

“1.5 billion!”

As the gavel of the beautiful woman in a gown was about to fall, there was suddenly another bid from the back of the crowd.

Besides that, they added 400 million dollars to Jimmy’s bid.

The crowd was instantly dumbstruck.

Who was that wealthy?

Swoosh!

The venue door was pushed open by Zander.

“Mr. Lennon offers 1.5 billion!”

Zander said indifferently, looking around the venue.

Everyone froze when they heard that.

‘Mr. Lennon?’

‘Where did Mr. Lennon come from?’

Then Zander moved aside, and a young man in his twenties slowly stepped in.

“Hsss!”

The crowd was dumbfounded to see this.

No one expected Mr. Lennon to be so young.

Besides that, spending 1.5 billion dollars at such a young age?

“He’s really here!”

Jimmy and Weston’s faces darkened instantly.

They thought Sean was only saying it and was in fact incapable.

However, Sean came to the auction.

Besides that, he asked Zander to increase 400 million dollars as soon as he showed up.

Thud! Thud!

The venue was quiet, and everyone could hear Sean’s footsteps.

His footsteps were steady and strong.

The sound struck everyone's hearts like a drum.