

Chapter 593 Sergio's Anger

Liam had been away for many years. Seeing him now filled Sergio with happiness.

"It's quite a rare occasion. How did you manage to find time to return to Invone and pay me a visit today? I've heard that Kingland Group is thriving more and more. Its market value has soared to nearly a hundred billion, right? Looks like you're on track to outperform me! It puts me at ease to know that you'll carry on the Hoffman family legacy."

Although he was the head of the Hoffman family, Sergio acted like just a simple old man before his grandson.

The young man seated beside Liam eagerly came close to him and greeted, "Liam, it's great to see you! I've been so bored at home while you've been away. I

The young man seated beside Liam eagerly came close to him and greeted, "Liam, it's great to see you! I've been so bored at home while you've been away. I actually wanted to join you in Salem for some fun, but Grandpa wouldn't permit me."

However, with a serious demeanor, Liam just responded indifferently.

His trembling arm betrayed his emotions.

Having watched Liam grow, Sergio understood him deeply. In this moment, he could tell that something must have happened. And it was something big.

He composed himself, straightened his posture, and said in a solemn tone, "Your return must be tied to something important."

Sergio accurately picked up on Liam's thoughts.

In the past days, Liam had been caring for Julie. The frail and pale appearance of his beloved stirred anger within him.

Now, as his grandfather noticed something was wrong with him, the anger that he had kept under control surged back with a vengeance.

Liam lowered his head. His voice turned hoarse as he said, "I've returned to destroy the Norris family in Invone!"

When Sergio heard this, his expression froze.

As the current head of the Hoffman family, the wealth of the Norris family meant nothing to him. In fact, before the recent conflicts arose, the Norris family which was a force in Invone, had been disregarded by the Hoffman family entirely.

However, after the conflicts, all indications pointed towards the Norris family having been subordinate to the Sandoval family, one of the four prominent clans.

Of course, this didn't imply that the Hoffman family would suddenly regard the Norris family with heightened seriousness.

But destroying a clan, especially one that had been in allegiance to one of the four great clans, and had assets worth hundreds of billions of dollars, might not be so easy.

With gravity in his voice, Sergio stated, "Dealing with them might be simple, but I'm interested in understanding your motive."

Liam lifted his head and his eyes were red. "Fuller Norris murdered my unborn child!"

What?!

Upon hearing this revelation, Sergio was not only astonished but felt a wave of dizziness. He rose abruptly and stumbled a few steps backwards.

For so long, he had held hopes for a great-grandchild. And now, Liam had succeeded in conceiving a descendant, only to have the child ruthlessly killed?

The audacity of the Norris family to take the life of an heir of the Hoffman family left Sergio enraged.

Vengeance against them became an undeniable obligation. Sergio would die with regret if he didn't!

Even if it had been one of the four great clans who murdered his great-grandchild, Sergio would seek retribution without hesitation, let alone a small clan like the Norris family.

Like a furious lion, Sergio's voice thundered, "Send a party to the Norris
