

Chapter 20

His dominance is turning me the fuck on. I am soaking wet and he is hard as hell. He grinds against me and I moan his name.

"Damion."

What am I doing?

"I said, is that clear?" He asks again, but this time in a lower more seductive voice.

I am about to tell him hell to the no, but then the door opens and we both turn to see who it is while still holding each other.

Damion's POV:

Class was boring, except for when Lee talked, I liked that part. She is so smart. I don't even know what Coach asked, but I know she got it right. I'm not surprised because history is her favorite subject. She really likes to learn about ancient civilizations, specially Greece. When were were in fourth grade she discovered the Percy Jackson series and fell in love with it. I read it after I found out because it made me feel closer to her. She said her favorite character is Annabeth because she is smart and strong. As I read the books, I remember thinking that she reminded me of Annabeth.

The bell rings and we all pack up and go to our lockers. That is when Jared comes up to Lee. Blake, Max, Warren, and I all notice. We listen to their conversation and he asks if her and Blake are together. Blake freezes and looks at me. I asked him yesterday if he liked Lee and he said no, meaning he got to live.

"... I was wondering if you wanted to hang out sometime?" That is what makes me lose my shit.

This motherfucker.

I was going to talk to the guys and spread the word that Lee is off limits, but apparently I should have done that earlier. I figured I would have at least a couple of days before anyone hit on her. Guess not. So, I do the only logical thing, I punch him in the face.

He hits me back and I run at him. I keep throwing punches because every time I look at him I see him and her together. I lost her once, I can not lose her again. Next thing I know, I am being pulled off him.

"LEE IS OFF LIMITS! EVERYONE GOT THAT?" Apparently nobody can keep their grubby hands off her, so now I have to let the whole fucking school know that I am implementing a O.L.L.

O.L.L stands for Off Limits Law. It is a thing at our school that the guys have, when someone has a girlfriend, boyfriend, or they just really like someone, he can declare off limits law and we all have to respect that. Basically, no guys can flirt with her, go out wth her, sleep with her, or do anything none platonic.

It started out as just a pack thing since there are a lot of wolves that go here, but it slowly spread to all guys. Max has the O.L.L on Kasey. Tommy Jensen, who is in my grade, has one on his mate, Ashley who is a freshman. He doesn't want to act on the whole mate thing until she's older because that would be weird. The point is, all the guys know that Kasey and Ashley are off limits. Some others have the O.L.L in place for their girlfriends, but that's it. Now, Lee is off limits. So, Jared can go fuck himself. He knows the rules, nobody can go after a girl that's off limits or shit goes down.

"Come on, Cruz. Really?" He asks.

I am about to tell him, yes really, so disrespectfully he needs to have at least ten feet between him and Lee at all times, but before I can Mr. T comes out and asks what's going on. I tell him it was just a misunderstanding and he tells us to go to the nurse and then the office. He wants someone to go with us, so we don't fight again. He knows me well. If I get even close to Jared again, I will rip is fucking head off.

All of a sudden Kasey says, "I will go with Jared, Lee will go with Damion." Now I am liking Kasey a whole lot more. I thought she was nice before, but now I wouldn't mind being friends with her. That might help me get to Lee too.

"WHAT?" Lee says.

Ouch.

Kasey tells her to go help me and she looks over to me. Her face softens a little and she walks over to me. Then, Max says he will go with Kasey. He just doesn't want her alone with Jared, understandably so.

I am staring holes into Jared's head when Lee tells Kasey to take Jared to the nurse and we will go to Coach's office. I would be lying if I said I wasn't nervous, but also excited to be alone with her. I know nothing will happen but this is my chance to talk to her.

I watch as they turn around and start walking to the nurses office. My eyes are trained on Jared, still when I see him I see him on top of her and they are... a small hand is on my arm and there is a spark. She flinches back a little, but doesn't let go of my arm. Then, she tells me to go with her and her hand slides down my arm. Just before she can let go, I slip my hand into hers. I didn't mean to, it was just a reflex. She doesn't seem to care, but I think I am making her nervous. Her body is relaxed, but her heart is racing.

♡ (87)

💬 (2)