

Bogus Billionaire By Shining Riviera Chapter 790 - 800

Bogus Billionaire By Shining Riviera Chapter 790-The concern in Eddy's eyes tugged at Caroline's heartstrings, and she said, "I'm fine. Let's go." "Okay." Eddy reached out to hold her hand, but she dodged him as if it came naturally to her.

"About the old lady just now ..." she stared.

"Oh. I waited for you for some time outside, but you didn't come out," he explained.

"So I asked her to go in and check on you. What's wrong?" "Nothing. She told me lots of nice things about you, so much so that I thought you had paid her to do it." The smile on Eddy's face faltered. Stunned, he stared at Caroline until she turned around to face him, puzzled.

Only then did he snap out of his daze and hasten his footsteps to catch up with her.

"What did she say?" "Nothing much." Caroline didn't feel like bringing up the topic. "I'm tired, Eddy." "Okay. We'll talk about the details of the wedding tomorrow then.

"The wedding? So soon?" Caroline stopped abruptly in her tracks. She had thought that the wedding would happen only after a month or so.

"Is it too soon?" Eddy looked at her with a soft smile.

"I don't think it's happening soon enough. I wish we could just get married tomorrow." Caroline forced a smile. She didn't reply.

They both were silent on the way back home. When they reached, Caroline headed straight to her room.

Eddy's eyes darkened as he watched her enter the room. Although his marriage proposal had been a success, he couldn't help but feel anxious about it.

The only thing that could ease his mind now was registering their marriage so that things could be set in stone.

It was fortunate enough that Kirk had used a fake identity when he had married Caroline back then. So it wouldn't be much of a problem for Eddy to get rid of the false information in the marriage registry.

1/3 When this thought occurred to him, Eddy wasted no time asking Simon to have someone get rid of Caroline and Kirk's marriage records.

Caroline took her phone out once she got back to her room. The first thing she wanted to do was to call Mr. Y.

Since her efforts to get back her memories from Gwen's side failed, Caroline thought she could give it a try from Mr. Y's side.

Her gut told her that he would satisfy her request.

Unfortunately, he didn't answer her call. Overwhelmed with anxiety, she could only grip her phone and crawl under her blankets for some sense of comfort.

She called him again and again, yet all her calls went unanswered.

The reason behind this was simple. Kirk was locked in a boxing match with Jack in the latter's gym.

Jack was reluctant to give it his all, of course. After all, Kirk was his employer.

Despite this, Jack had to do his best because he would suffer a horrible fate if he didn't.

"Just let him vent," Sean told Jack.

"If he doesn't get his fill of fighting, he would run off to somewhere else to vent anyway." Jack blocked Kirk's strike as he said, "But, Sean, I can't be the only one bearing the brunt of it." Sean smirked. "I would've gone against Kirk if I knew how to fight." He had barely finished his sentence when Kirk stopped attacking and tossed him a pair of boxing gloves.

"You," said Kirk between breaths.

"Come up here." Sean stared wide-eyed at the pair of gloves on the ground.

He trembled ever so slightly when he said, "N-No way. I know nothing about boxing." Jack chuckled now that he could finally take a breather. "I'll leave it to you then, Dr. Yates." He leaped off the boxing ring right after that.

Sean then turned to stare at Jack, horror-stricken. “Jack, I really can’t-” However, Jack seized that chance to repeat Sean’s words earlier, “Just let him vent. If he doesn’t get his fill of fighting, he would just run off somewhere else to vent.” 2/3 Sean was speechless. Just then, Kirk, his eyes bloodshot, raised a fist and aimed it right at Sean’s face.

Sean paled instantly. His eyes closed instinctively as he yelled, “My face!”

Bogus Billionaire By Shining Riviera Chapter 791-At the last moment, Kirk still held back his punch, so his fist only grazed Sean’s nose.

Having dodged a bullet, Sean patted his chest. He looked at Kirk incredulously.

“Kirk, are you—” Kirk looked coldly at Sean, silencing him immediately. He threw away his boxing gloves, jumped out of the boxing ring, and headed for the changing room.

As Jack watched Kirk leave, he couldn’t help but move closer to Sean and whisper, “Dr. Yates, what should we do now? Are we just going to let him spiral even further?” “What else can we do? Do you have any better ideas?” Sean asked helplessly.

Jack sighed, “I never thought sir would be hurt in a relationship.”- “He’s also a human, you know.” Just as Sean sighed, he spotted Kirk, who had already changed his clothes and walked out of the changing room.

Sean quickly approached him. “Are you going home now?” Kirk didn’t answer him. He simply walked toward the door. Sean and Jack were worried about him and followed him into the car.

Fortunately, it was already late at night, and there weren’t many cars on the road. Otherwise, Kirk would have caused an accident from how recklessly he drove.

Half an hour later, they arrived at a bar. Before Sean and Jack could figure out what was happening, Kirk had already gotten out of the car and walked into the bar.

After entering the bar, he strode toward the private room. It was evident that he was a regular there.

When the bar owner saw Kirk arrive, he greeted him with a smile. "Sir, do you want the usual?" Kirk said, "Give me twice as much." The owner's eyes lit up at his words. "All right! The guests in room 107 will get twice the booze!" At first, neither Sean nor Jack knew what that entailed.

Then, the waiters placed bottle after bottle of alcohol on the table, piling them up and soon spreading them as far as the floor.

Only then did they understand why the owner had looked so excited, as if he had seen a gold mine.

After selling so many drinks, they probably didn't have to worry about their sales this year.

1/2 Sean grabbed one of the waiters. "Does he come here often?" The waiter was a woman. She blushed and didn't dare to look at Sean at all.

"Yes." Sean's expression shifted at her words, and he turned to look at Kirk. Kirk had already opened a bottle of alcohol and started drinking.

Sean was so angry that he walked up to his friend and grabbed the bottle.

Upon seeing this, Jack hurriedly drove the waiters out and closed the door.

"Kirk, we know that you feel terrible. That's why we don't say anything when you go nuts. Not just that but we also indulged you. But I've realized that it won't do you any good if I keep doing that." Kirk was still holding the air where the bottle used to be. His voice turned cold as he ordered, "Give it to me!" Sean shivered at his tone, but he still held the bottle tightly. "I know you're devastated, and there's nothing I can say to soothe your pain. But if you hurt yourself like this, don't you think the Caroline who didn't lose her memories would feel distressed to see you like this?" "I think the madam would feel distressed even if she has lost her memory," Jack said weakly.

All of a sudden, both Sean and Kirk's eyes landed on him.

Seeing this, Jack couldn't be bothered about his place as a subordinate anymore.

He said earnestly, "She has forgotten about you, but there's no way she'll forget the emotions seated deeply in her heart.

"One day, she'll definitely follow her heart and remember you again. If you give up on yourself, how will you face her in the future?" Jack's words rendered the two men speechless.

After a long while, Kirk's hoarse voice echoed in the private room. "Will she really remember me?"

Bogus Billionaire By Shining Riviera Chapter 792-Jack and Sean looked at each other. Finally, Sean said, "She will." "As in, she'll marry Eddy soon?" asked Kirk, looking up at the two men.

Just like that, the room fell into silence.

"I know she has forgotten the past, and she doesn't remember me at all. Right now, she only remembers the person she wants to marry www "I'm also aware that I can't blame her for all this because I made the choice to let her forget me. I know that very well." Kirk's tone became heavier, and the other two men were speechless.

He asked, "I just want to lose myself in the moment, even for a second, so that I don't think of her. Can't you fulfill this wish of mine?" Sean and Jack looked at each other silently. Then, they sat next to Kirk.

"Since you want to drink yourself silly, we'll keep you company." Sean picked up a bottle of alcohol. "I don't know how to help you get over your sorrow, so I can only be there for you as a friend." Jack also opened the bottle, saying proudly, "Sir... you don't have to say anything else. We'll drink with you.

"As he said that, the three of them raised their heads, downing their drink in a gulp., At this moment, Sean's phone rang. He picked it up and saw that it was Gwen calling.

"Shh, it's Gwen," Sean shushed them and walked to the corner before answering Gwen's call.

"What's wrong, Gwen?" "I can't sleep. Can you come over and keep me company?" Sean was overjoyed to hear her words, but then, he saw Kirk, who was still drinking, out of the corner of his eye. “I-” “If you can’t come over, then forget it.” Gwen sounded very down, making him feel distressed.

his words the moment he said them. But he couldn’t take it back.

“Wait for me at home. I’ll head over there immediately.” Sean hung up the phone and approached Kirk. He kept mumbling, unable to say anything.

Kirk looked up at him. “Do you have to go?” “Yeah, Gwen-” “Go ahead.” Kirk took a sip of his drink. “Don’t worry, I have Jack with me.” Sean glanced at Jack worriedly.

Jack patted his chest and said reassuringly, “Dr. Yates, you can leave if you have something on. I’ll be here to take care of sir.” Sean relaxed slightly at his words. “Then, I’m leaving. Call me if you need anything.” “All right, get going.” After seeing Sean off, Jack’s phone also rang. It was a call from Cheryl. He hesitated to answer the phone.

“Go ahead and answer it.” Kirk glanced at him and continued drinking.

Jack said with a smile, “Oh, forget it. It shouldn’t be anything important.” “Just answer it. What if it’s important?” His words struck a chord in Jack’s heart. After a moment’s thought, he answered the phone.

He heard Cheryl’s timid voice. “Jack, I made a midnight snack, but I made a little too much. Can you come over and help me finish it?”

Bogus Billionaire By Shining Riviera Chapter 793-Jack quickly glanced at Kirk. He said hesitantly, “I-” “She asked you to come over, right?” Kirk said.

Jack remained silent.

“Go ahead. I’ll be safe here.” Kirk took another sip of his drink.

Judging by his current state, safety wasn’t exactly the issue at the moment.

“Are you outside?” Jack heard Cheryl’s voice again.

“Since you’re busy, I won’t disrupt your plans.” “No!” Jack blurted out. He scratched his head. He was in a difficult position.

“Go ahead,” Kirk said again.

“1 “There are so many people here. Nothing will happen if I’m here.” Jack frowned. He hesitated and momentarily struggled with his decision, but he still chose to see Cheryl.

All right, sir. Make sure not to wander around. If anything happens to you, Dr.

Yates will never let me hear the end of it.” “Just go. It’s not like I’m a toddler or something.” After seeing that Kirk was still in the mood to joke, Jack finally left with peace of mind.

With Jack gone, Kirk was the only one left in the private room. He could finally stop feigning composure and let out all his emotions.

He downed all the alcohol in the bottle and then threw the bottle away. After that, he could no longer stay upright and collapsed to the ground./ Immediately afterward, the image of Caroline appeared before his eyes.

Perhaps he was drunk or there was dust in his eyes, but his eyes quickly teared up. His tears muddled Caroline’s visage.

His breath hitched. He felt millions of creatures gnawing at his chest.

He pressed his hand on his heart, but it hurt even more. He tried sitting up, but his heart still hurt. As a last resort, he sat down, but his heart was still in pain.

1/2 No matter what he did, his heart constantly ached, showing no signs of stopping at all.

He didn’t even dare to think about Eddy and Caroline’s marriage.

If he thought about it, he would feel his heart getting squeezed, like a large boulder was crushing it. It was so agonizing that he had to be careful when he breathed.

He had never been in so much pain before. What was worse was that he couldn’t do anything about it.

If he recklessly showed up before Caroline, it would aggravate her condition.

Kirk raised a fist and punched the wall. Only by letting off steam could he relieve the pain and agony he felt. However, doing so was met with little success.

At the moment, there was only one way to get rid of his pain.

Kirk turned his head and looked at the bottle lying on the ground. Under the light, it looked like a tempting art object, radiating a glow.

Kirk reached over and grabbed the bottle. The coldness of the bottle brought clarity to his muddled mind.

He held up the bottle and smashed it to pieces.

Pieces of glass flew everywhere, and the bottle in his hand had become a sharp weapon. He just needed to jab the bottle into his throat, and all his pain would be gone.

He just needed to ... With red eyes, Kirk slowly moved the jagged end of the bottle to his neck. Even when the glass touched his skin, he didn't feel anything.

The smell of blood had already spread in the private room. He even felt the glass on his arteries through his skin.

He just needed to apply some pressure and ... Bang!

Bogus Billionaire By Shining Riviera Chapter 794-The door was pushed open with a loud bang. Kirk raised his head and looked at the door.

When he saw who had arrived, he was momentarily stunned. Then, he shoved the glass bottle at his neck.

Seeing this, the newcomer barged into the room and kicked the bottle out of his hand.

However, Kirk didn't give up. He picked up another piece of broken glass and tried to stab it into his neck.

"Fine, do it if you want. If you're dead, I'll have one less rival." The man's voice made Kirk stop. He looked up at the newcomer, who was none hand.

He looked down and noticed the wounds on Kirk's hands. Kirk's skin had gotten cuts from the glass.

He wordlessly took a towel from his bag and tossed it at Kirk.

Kirk glanced at him, but he didn't accept the towel.

big balls, don't you? If you don't treat that wound, it'll get infected.

"When that happens, you won't be able to survive anyway. Well, that's good.

Without you as my rival, maybe Caroline will be with me." Kirk silently picked up the towel and covered his hand with it. Then, he struggled to sit up from the ground.

After a long while, he asked, "Why are you back here?" t "Do you think I could stay away after hearing that something had happened to Caroline?" returning to Easton, but now ... "How do you know about that?" Kirk said coldly, "Seems like you were paying a lot of attention to her despite being in Macldo." "But I didn't find out that something happened to her because I was focused on her." He had been confused when he had seen the news of Caroline and Eddy's engagement.

However, he hadn't rushed back to Easton because of the engagement. He had returned because Quentin 1/3 That was when he had realized that something had happened to Caroline. So he had bought a plane ticket back to Easton..

Unexpectedly, he had seen the news of Caroline and Eddy's engagement the moment he had returned.

That made him more certain that something had happened to her.

"All right, tell me what's going on. Why did Caroline agree to get engaged to Eddy out of the blue?" had changed a lot.

He was less jovial than before. Instead, he was more gloomy. However, he was also calmer.

Kirk looked away. "She lost her memory." to him calmly. He had to admit that fate could make even the strangest things happen.

“How could this be? Then ... haven't you ever thought about helping her get her memories back?” “Get them back, you say?” Kirk smiled, but that smile was filled with sorrow.

“I can't even be around her.” “Why?” “The doctor said that our bond is too deep. My presence will affect her.” “No way.” Kirk looked up at him.

this before?” Kirk opened a bottle of wine and said despondently, “Yeah.” “Is it serious?” “Yeah.” “So her condition is bad enough when she doesn't see you. But it'll be worse if sympathized with Kirk's dilemma.

“Then, what are you going to do? Are you planning not to see her for the rest of your life?” 2/3 +15 BONUS “Not unless she can remember me herself. Otherwise, there's no way ...” Kirk glanced at him and quipped, “You're awful at comforting people.” Caroline? Are you just going to let her marry that bastard?”

Bogus Billionaire By Shining Riviera Chapter 795-“What other choice do i have?” Kirk took a deep breath and said self-deprecatingly, “I can't just storm the wedding, let her see me, and cause her immeasurable harm.” He frowned in thought and then said, “I do have an idea, but I have no idea if you would-” “Tell me!” Kirk gripped the wine bottle.

“It's simple. You just need to take Caroline away.” He can do whatever he wants here.

“But that isn't the case abroad. If you take Caroline out of the country, she can start a new life there.” Kirk stopped fiddling with the wine bottle.

“You also think it's a good idea, right?” problem now is how to take Caroline abroad without Eddy finding out. Of course, we'll have an easier time if we can get Caroline to cooperate.” He continued, “But since she has lost her memory, it may be difficult for us to do so. However, I believe in making things happen.

“As long as we take action, we can get her out of the country.” interests alone?” Caroline away from that bastard, Eddy, I intend to get close to her while I'm at it.

“Although I empathize with your/plight, I haven't forgotten that we are rivals.” Kirk sneered, but he said nothing in response.

moving his legs.

However, Kirk still didn't say anything.

1/2 "I have an idea to get Carrie to leave the country with you." hearing. "What did you say?" "I said..." you." "You don't have to ask. You just need to get her out of Easton safely." "Are you really willing to let me take Caroline abroad?" "Do you have any better ideas?" Kirk took a sip of wine, its bitter taste making him cringe.

it to sacrifice everything for her sake?" "If you were in my position, you wouldn't ask yourself this question, would you?" Kirk asked in return.

Since he already loved Caroline, he would never ask such a stupid question.

When it came to that, he and Kirk were the same. It was also for this reason that they could sit here and calmly discuss how to take Caroline away.

want to die now?" Kirk said, "What do you think?" and left.

After he disappeared, Kirk dragged his body and slowly sat on the couch.

The lights hanging from the ceiling were dazzling. However, Kirk found it distasteful. He definitely wouldn't feel that way if Caroline were here.

Bogus Billionaire By Shining Riviera Chapter 796-Kirk slowly curled up his body, and just like that, he spent the night in the private room.

He woke up from the cold several times, but he continued to sleep in there anyway. He even kicked away the blanket the bar owner brought for him.

He was torturing himself to ease his suffering. Eventually, the sun rose amidst his self-torture, and he groggily dragged himself up.

Next, he had to face his suffering with a sober mind. When he took out his phone and saw several missed calls from Caroline, his heart skipped a beat. He immediately dialed Caroline's number.

At that time, Caroline was absentmindedly discussing the marriage with Eddy.

She had tried to call Mr. Y yesterday, but no one had answered. So she had sat on the balcony alone, thinking about Gwen's words.

She was sure that she didn't want to marry Eddy anymore. She didn't know why, but a voice in her head repeatedly told her she couldn't marry him.

"... Mr. Eddy, when the time comes, the hotel will be at ..." The burden weighing down on Caroline's heart made it hard for her to breathe.

She stood up abruptly.

"You guys can keep discussing this. I'm going to get some fresh air." Eddy also stood up. "What's wrong, Caroline? Why have you been moody since the morning?" "Maybe I didn't sleep well last night." Caroline forced a smile. "I'm fine. Maybe I'll feel better after getting some fresh air." Eddy pondered momentarily and then nodded and said, "All right. Go ahead." Caroline walked toward the yard.

As Simon watched Caroline leave, he couldn't resist saying, "Mr. Eddy, is Ms. Evans-" "Get someone to watch her. We must make sure the wedding goes smoothly." "Yes, sir." Simon picked up his phone and made the necessary arrangements.

Meanwhile, Caroline felt better after walking out of the room. She had regained some sense of freedom.

She stretched her waist and breathed in the fresh air in the yard.

1/2 At this moment, her phone in her pocket vibrated. As if feeling an intuition, the first thought that came to Caroline's mind was that the caller was Mr. Y.

When she looked at the caller ID, it was indeed him. Caroline's eyebrows quirked at the sight.

She looked around and quickly picked up the phone after making sure no one was around.

As soon as the call was connected, she couldn't resist raising her voice. "Mr. Y, is that you? I called you several times yesterday, but you didn't answer. Were you very busy?" Caroline said a lot of things in one breath. After she did, she realized that she had said too much.

However, she had an attachment to him for some inexplicable reason.

“No.” Kirk’s heart ached when he heard her voice.

He said, “Congratulations, you’re getting married.” “So you do know me.” Caroline said, “Mr. Y ...” Her voice trailed off.

“What’s wrong?” Kirk also lowered his voice, but he sounded as if he was coaxing a child.

“Do you think I should marry him?” She had initially thought Mr. Y would ask her to think about it like Gwen.

However, she didn’t expect to hear a decisive answer when she finished asking her question.

“No!”

Bogus Billionaire By Shining Riviera Chapter 797-Kirk’s tone was resolute, as if answering a math equation.

Caroline was startled by his answer, but then, she smiled slightly. “Why?” “He doesn’t deserve you.” Caroline chuckled, feeling her bad mood disappear. “In that case, who do you think deserves me?” There was silence on the other end of the line.

After not getting a reply, Caroline lowered her head and said, “I think I’ve asked a stupid question.” “No.” Kirk looked up at the bright sun. “I can’t answer this question.” Caroline blinked in confusion. “Why?” “I truly don’t know who deserves to be with a wonderful woman like you.” Caroline’s heart trembled slightly at his words. “I-I’m not that wonderful.” As she spoke, her cheeks unknowingly turned red.

“In my heart, you’ll always be the most wonderful.” After blurting out his feelings, Kirk realized something. He quickly asked, “Do you want to marry Eddy?” Caroline touched her warm cheeks. “No.” “Then, why don’t I take you away?” “You want to see me?” Caroline was overjoyed.

Kirk couldn't bring himself to dampen her spirits. "Yeah. So why don't you leave with me?" Caroline didn't seem to hesitate, nor did she ask where he wanted to take her.

"All right." When Kirk heard her direct answer, it miraculously healed his heart, which had been in pain the entire night.

"All right. When is the wedding?" "The day after tomorrow." "Wow, he's really impatient." 1/2 Caroline thought so as well.

"Then, I'll come get you the day after tomorrow." "What do you need me to do?" Caroline asked.

Kirk cocked his head slightly. After pondering for a moment, he let out a chuckle.

His voice was low and alluring. At this moment, his chuckle evoked strange emotions in Caroline's heart.

"You don't have to do anything. You just need to be there and stay put."
"Okay, I will." Caroline asked hopefully, "Mr. Y, you'll definitely come and take me away.

Right?" Kirk nodded. "Yeah, you can trust me." "Okay," Caroline agreed. She didn't know why she trusted this man so much, but she did.

Moreover, his words finally brought hope to Caroline. She no longer felt like her future was gloomy. She couldn't help but smile..

Eddy just so happened to witness this, and a terrifying glint appeared in his eyes.

He had never seen Caroline smile that brightly. Could the person on the other end of the line be Kirk?

This idea made his icy gaze even colder, seeming as if it could freeze anyone in its range.

Caroline didn't participate in the following wedding discussions. Instead, she left everything to Simon and Eddy.

"You can choose whatever you like. I'm not picky." Her half-hearted attitude might as well be written on her face.

Simon waited for Caroline to leave before turning to look at Eddy. He said, "Mr.

Eddy..." Eddy lost his mood to care. "I'll leave the wedding to you. Remember, it has to be grand. You have to invite tons of people. I want everyone to witness my marriage to Caroline." "Yes, sir." "Also ..." Eddy said with gritted teeth, "On the wedding day, keep an eye on every guest who attends."

Bogus Billionaire By Shining Riviera Chapter 798-Are you worried that Mr. Kirk will come and take her away?" "I'm sure he'll show up on that day." "I understand. I'll ask all the bodyguards to guard the entrance heavily. We won't let Mr. Kirk take a step into the venue." "No." Eddy said, wearing a malicious smile, "I want you to let him in." "Mr. Eddy-" Eddy raised his hand to stop Simon from talking. "Just do as I say, Mr. Zellen.

"I want him to see Caroline marry me with his own eyes. She was mine in the first place. Since he took her away from me, I'm taking her back." Simon still tried to persuade Eddy otherwise. "But Mr. Eddy, you can't underestimate Mr. Kirk. If you let him into the wedding, he may disrupt it." "That's why I'm asking you to watch him." Eddy said coldly, "Remember. We're in Easton. This is my territory!" Simon agreed, "Yes, sir." After waking in Gwen's room in the morning, the first thing Sean did was call Jack. When he learned that Jack had also left the bar, his expression shifted.

"How could you leave? Didn't you say you would be there to watch him?" Jack said, "Sir asked me to leave/He said he would be fine." "I can't believe you would trust the words of a heartbroken man," Sean rebuked, "Forget it." After saying that, he hung up and called Kirk.

While waiting for the call to connect, Sean kept praying that his friend was okay.

God probably heard his prayers because he heard Kirk's voice on the phone a few minutes later.

1/3 "Is there a problem?" Kirk sounded very languid. He didn't seem like someone who was overwhelmed with grief from his broken heart.

"Oh, thank goodness you're fine..." Sean sighed in relief.

“What did you expect would happen?” Kirk rolled over on the bed. Since he hadn’t drawn the blinds, large swaths of sunlight shone on hi .

The sunlight didn’t warm his body. But his limbs were less cold than before.

“Are you really okay now?” Having been friends with Kirk for so long, Sean thought he knew him very well.

Right now, Kirk didn’t sound like someone who was in trouble.

“Yeah.” Sean hung up the phone in confusion. His actions had woken Gwen up.

“What happened?” Gwen ruffled her messy hair.

“Kirk ... seems to be fine now...” Gwen stopped what she was doing when she heard what Sean said. “What did you say?” “Yesterday, he was totally depressed after finding out that Caroline had gotten engaged to Eddy. But he sounded normal when I called him just now. No...” Sean picked up his coat. “I’m going to see him.” Gwen stopped him. “Hang on. I’ll go with you.” “You want to come along?” “Yeah.” Seeing this, Sean said nothing else and left the house with Gwen. When they reached the elevator, Sean got a call from Jack.

“Dr. Yates, is Mr. Kirk all right?” “It’s hard to say.” Sean pinched the bridge of his nose.

“I’m on my way to see him.” Jack felt incredibly guilty. “Where is he? I’ll go, too.” “He should be at his and Caroline’s home.” “All right. I’ll head over there immediately.” “Sure.” After hanging up the phone, Sean told Gwen that Jack was coming too.

Then, they got in the car and drove to Kirk and Caroline’s place

Bogus Billionaire By Shining Riviera Chapter 799-When Sean and Gwen reached there, Jack and Cheryl were also there.

After Sean greeted them, he ran to the door and frantically banged on it. “Kirk!

Open the door! Right now!” Then, they heard the sound of footsteps from inside the door. All four of them sighed in relief at the same time.

The next second, Kirk opened the door.

This was Cheryl's first time meeting Kirk after knowing his true identity. He had messy hair and was squinting his eyes, but he still exuded a decadent vibe.

She really couldn't believe that Kirk and SY Group's president were one and the same.

"What are you all doing here?" Kirk asked, making way for them.

When Sean walked in, he noticed that all the furnishings in his friend's home were exactly the same as before Caroline had left.

He couldn't help but look back at the others. Everyone else noticed this as well.

"We're here to see you," Sean replied.

"Are you okay?" "Why wouldn't I be okay?" Kirk poured himself a glass of water. Apart from looking a little messy, he didn't look like he was suffering.

However, the more he acted this way, the more frightened Sean was. After all, Kirk had been completely lost yesterday.

1 "Why are you just standing there? Aren't you tired?" Kirk finished drinking his water and said, "Have a seat." When he said this, everyone looked at him even more strangely.

Sean advised, "Kirk, if you're upset, you have to tell us. Don't keep your feelings to yourself." Kirk looked at Sean strangely. "Why would I be upset?" Sean was dumbfounded. "Kirk, what on earth is going on with you? You... Don't scare me like this. If you feel any grief, you have to let out your emotions." 1/2 Kirk looked over at Sean. "You're pretty strange. Now that I'm not suffering, you want me to suffer again?" "No. How are you not suffering right now? That's not my intention..." Sean was somewhat incoherent at this point.

Kirk looked at him, smiling for the first time in forever. "I've made up my mind to take Carrie out of the country." His words shocked the four of them.

Gwen said, "You want to take Carol abroad? Didn't Dr. Caldwell say that you can't be around her?" They found it hard to believe the love rivals were working together now Sean said incredulously, "He likes her, you know!" "Do you have any better ideas?" At that moment, Sean couldn't find a comeback for that. That was also the case for everyone else.

After a moment of silence, Sean asked, "Then... are you planning to take her away on her wedding day?" Kirk nodded.

"Do you need us to do anything?" This time, Jack was the one who asked.

Cheryl echoed, "Yeah, M-Mr. Kirk. Is there anything we can do?" Kirk looked at Jack and said thoughtfully, "I could use help on the wedding day.

So I'm leaving it to you." His words were directed at Jack.

Jack nodded immediately. "Yes, sir, I'll handle it right away." With that said, he turned around and left. Seeing this, Cheryl quickly said, "I'll go with him." When she was done talking, she quickly went after Jack.

□

Bogus Billionaire By Shining Riviera Chapter 800-Sean asked Kirk, "What about me? What can I do?" Kirk looked at Sean with a frown, remaining silent.

When Sean impatiently asked his question for the second time, Kirk spoke up, "If I ask you to return home to help me take care of Carrie, would you do it?" Sean was silent for a moment. He looked at Gwen.

Gwen said, "Don't look at me. If you insist on getting my opinion, of ... of course, I hope you can go home and take care of Caroline.

"After all, Kirk can't be around her right now. He would feel more at ease if someone was there to take care of her." Sean stared at Gwen, a hint of pain swirling in his gaze, "Then ... will you go with me?" Gwen looked at the floor uncertainly. "Why should I go with you? It's your home, not mine." "So you're saying that you want me to go home and leave you here?" "I ... Can we not talk about this right now..." Sean looked at Gwen, displeased. "So you don't want to leave with me, right?" "Please stop forcing me." Gwen looked at Sean pleadingly.

“Right now, Carol needs you more than I do...”<sup>11</sup> “If you don’t want to go, I won’t force you.” Kirk spoke up in the nick of time, interrupting them.

“I’ll get someone else to take care of Carrie.” “No, I’ll do it,” Sean said with a hint of anger.

In the past, Kirk would have agreed with Sean immediately.

However, he had begun learning to think differently, probably because he had experienced the pain of being in a relationship.

“You guys should properly discuss this. Don’t act impulsively. Otherwise, you’ll end up like me and Carrie.” After saying that, Kirk went to his bedroom.

When Sean and Gwen saw how forlorn Kirk was, they both calmed down a great deal.

1/2 “I’m sorry. I shouldn’t have snapped just now,” Sean took the initiative to apologize to Gwen.

Gwen also apologized, “Me too.” Then, they fell silent. No one initiated a conversation.

After a moment, Gwen said tentatively, “I know it’s selfish of me to ask you to take care of Carol. But she’s my best friend. She’ll be in an unfamiliar place. I’ll feel more at ease if you’re there to take care of her.” “But after I leave, I won’t be able to see you again.” “I understand what you want. You want me to follow you. But remember, Sean, we’ve agreed that we’re just friends. Friends don’t leave the country and return to their home together.” “So after all this time, I’m still just a friend to you.” Gwen couldn’t say anything in response.

Sean took a deep breath and smiled gently. “Forget it. I don’t want to end our last conversation with a fight.” When Gwen heard his words, she felt both happy and sad. “Thank you.” Sean glanced at Gwen, but he didn’t say anything in response. “I’ll go check up on Kirk.” “Okay.” Meanwhile, Cheryl and Jack were also silent in the car.

After a moment, Cheryl said, “Jack, we’ll never see each other again, right?” Since Caroline was leaving Easton, Jack would definitely go with her. This may be the last time Cheryl and Jack got to spend time together.

Her words stunned Jack, and he almost hit the car in front of him.

“Not necessarily. After I leave, I can still come back to see... to see you.”
“Really?” Cheryl asked expectantly.

When Jack saw her large, tearful eyes, he felt his heart pounding in his chest.

Then, he heard himself say, “M-Maybe you can come with us...”