Chapter 88

"I told him not to contact you ever again. Also, I was quite mean to him. I wonder what he was thinking back then."

"Good job. I won't let a filthy bastard like him into my life ever again. After all, I'm the beloved sister of the KS Group's president."

"Of course. All the men in the KS Group worship the very ground you walk on." Jonah smiled lovingly while patting his younger sister.

"Jonah, give me your phone," Alyssa said.

Jonah handed his phone over to her. He looked confused. "Your birthday's the passcode.

"Got it.

Alyssa tapped on the contact list and blocked Jasper's phone number.

"How brutal." A small smile appeared on Jonah's face.

"I gotta end things once and for all with him. That bastard won't learn his lesson if I don't take the extreme approach."

Alyssa's gaze grew icy the moment she brought up her ex-husband

It was safe to say that Jasper could barely eat or sleep over the past few days. All because of his ex-wife's disappearance.

Ever since Alice went missing, Newton started calling Jasper on the phone frequently. Jasper then realized his grandfather was a lot harder to handle than before.

"Mr. Beckett, why don't we call the police?" Xavier did his best to come up with ideas.

"Let's lodge a missing person's report. You and Madam Alice have yet to finalize the divorce procedures. You two are still married. It's normal for a husband to look for his missing wife. Madam Alice might show up after we make the report."

"Are you dumb?" Jasper shot Xavier a glare.

"Then what should we do? It's as if Madam Alice has vanished into thin air! She doesn't have her phone. She has no friends, either. The only person who's in contact with her refuses to talk to you as well."

Jasper narrowed his eyes dangerously at Xavier. He wanted nothing more than to kick that idiot out of his office.

Last night, he tried to call Jonah's number again, only to realize that he was blocked.

It was Jasper's first time getting blocked by someone. He could only sit there while looking quite stunned. His mind even went blank at that time. In the end, he spent over ten minutes trying to recover from the shock.

Jasper felt as though Jonah had trampled all over his pride and ego before spitting in his face. It was very humiliating.

At that moment, he rose to his feet before putting on his suit jacket. Then, he headed toward the door.

"Get the car ready. We're going to KS World Hotel."

Alyssa was quick to start working as soon as she returned from Belbanks.

Sean was the one who had been hosting meetings with the senior management during the past few days. He was finally reassured when he saw Alyssa looking very spirited and cheerful.

The recent check-in rate of KS World Hotel had a 20% increase. The result might not be outstanding, but it was still a nice improvement.

Besides, Alyssa made new menus for the buffet and the fancy restaurants in the hotel. There was even a week of events dedicated to the cuisines served in the hotel.

The number of patrons who came to the hotel just to dine there had increased by a huge margin. Every day, the hotel's profits from its F&B section were quite lucrative.

But Alyssa would never be satisfied with the current results.

She was Winston Taylor's daughter, so it was natural for her to be ambitious. Alyssa wanted to make KS World Hotel one of the most famous hotels in the world. She needed her hotel to surpass the hotel managed by the Beckett Group.

Alyssa was a complete loser in her marriage with Jasper.

So, she refused to lose to him in the business industry.

"I heard that someone checked into the presidential suite of our hotel. It used to be unoccupied for two years straight."

Alyssa decided to chat with Sean while reading the finance news.

"Guess who the guest is." Sean circled around Alyssa. He started massaging her shoulders gently and skillfully

"Don't tell me it was Landon Harper."

was Betty Beckett'

Alyssa raised an eyebrow in response. "Oh? Why did she check into such a big room?"

"I heard from the employees in the housekeeping department that Betty checked into the presidential suite with three of her friends. They threw a party there throughout the night."

Sean continued, "Two tall and muscular models even slipped into the suite in the middle of the night. They definitely had an orgy that lasted the whole night. It's a good thing this hotel has amazing soundproofing.

"Those models left the suite around 5 am. Maybe they didn't want to attract anyone's attention."

"I did hear that Betty was a slut. Then again, I can't imagine three women sharing two men. Can those women even satiate their lust?"

Alyssa clicked her tongue while sounding disgusted. "Once they check out, tell the housekeepers to sanitize the suite thoroughly. Make sure to discard the bedsheets and blankets as well. I don't want other guests to get infected by the germs on those things."

Sean's phone rang at that moment. It was a phone call from one of the senior managers.

He picked it up and listened to the explanation for a short while. Then, his expression darkened immediately

"What's wrong?" Alyssa quickly sensed that something had happened.

"Ms. Alyssa, Betty is causing a ruckus in the lobby. She claimed that one of our housekeepers had stolen something from her. She demands that we deal with this situation immediately."
