Chapter 876

Not long after he spoke, a graceful figure walked in.

Kate carried a box of silver needles of various shapes and sizes. She made preparations while asking curiously, "Andrius, my granddad's acupuncture skills are unparalleled in the Medicine Sect and are far superior to mine. Why did you specifically request me to perform the acupuncture?"

Kate did not believe what Andrius said about serving medicinal tea. She felt that there must be a reason behind it.

Andrius looked straight at her and smiled. "It's because, among everyone in the Medicine Sect, I only find you trustworthy. The others won't do."

"Huh..." Kate did not expect that answer. After a brief moment of surprise, she instinctively asked, "Why do you feel that way?"

"Intuition!" Andrius replied without any reason.

Then, they exchanged smiles.

"You may use my silver needles."

Andrius nodded toward the silver needles placed on the pillow next to him.

Kate silently put away her own needles.

"Thanks for your trouble," Andrius said, then proceeded to take off his clothes with some difficulty.

Even at her age, Kate was sheltered and had never seen an adult man's body before. She felt a bit shy.

However, since they were already in this situation, she had to suppress her embarrassment. She followed Andrius' instructions and inserted the silver needles one by one into his acupoints.

Five minutes later, dozens of silver needles formed a mysterious pattern on Andrius' body. Regardless of the angle from which one looked, it seemed to convey a sense of artistic beauty.

Kate could not help but be amazed.

Andrius' acupuncture skills were not much worse than her grandfather's.

He instructed, "Next, inject a little bit of your inner energy into the silver needles according to the sequence of the meridians when the energy flows..."

"Alright."

Kate did not hesitate and followed Andrius' instructions.

Then, something magical happened.

As she circulated her inner energy, Andrius' meridians slowly recovered, and the depleted energy in his body showed signs of revival.

This was...

The medicine sect was renowned as the best in medicine. As the Maiden of the Medicine Sect, Kate had never heard of an acupuncture technique that could repair meridians. It was truly a miraculous technique.

She could not help but steal another glance at Andrius.

She was curious about how her distant cousin managed to become a martial realm expert outside of the ancient martial families. What kind of experiences had granted him such extraordinary acupuncture skills?

"Pheh..."

After a long time of precise inner energy control and continuously injecting it into the silver needles, Kate began to feel exhausted. Her inner energy was depleted, and she felt physically and mentally fatigued. Her complexion grew pale.

In contrast, Andrius' face had regained color, and he felt rejuvenated.

Most importantly, his meridians had recovered, and his inner energy was restored.

After finishing the acupuncture, Kate could not help but ask, "Andrius, I've never heard of acupuncture that can repair meridians. Where did you learn this?"

Since Andrius chose to trust her, he had no reason to hide it.

He explained, "I learned this acupuncture technique from an ancient book called 'Hades' Axiom'.

"Ordinary acupuncture is limited to healing and treating people, expelling toxins, and restoring vitality. However, with this technique, as long as you input inner energy, it can actually repair meridians. It's truly miraculous.

"Now, I've passed on this acupuncture technique to you. I only have one small request."

He was actually willing to pass on such a miraculous acupuncture technique to her?

Kate stared into Andrius' eyes and asked, "What is it?"

"Keep it a secret and don't tell anyone about this."

Kate thought that it would be something more significant, and she readily agreed, "Rest assured, I won't reveal it."

They both rested for a while and soon, daylight arrived.

Before long, a servant knocked on the door. "Maiden, Mr. Moonshade, the Sect Master told me to invite you to the guest hall. He said that someone from outside the Medicine Sect has come to find Mr. Moonshade."

It must be the Black Hawk.

Without delay, Andrius got out of bed and headed to the guest hall.

Chapter 877

The Black Hawk was waiting in the hall.

As a martial grandmaster, he noticed with a glance that there was something wrong with Andrius' body. He immediately stood up and asked in shock, "Wolf King, what's wrong with you?"

"Don't worry about it." Andrius shook his head and did not dwell on this issue.

He took out the portion of the missing treasure map that Wade had given him the previous day. "This is the missing part of the treasure map. You can put it together to get an accurate location."

The Black Hawk trusted him and immediately took out the map, aligning the two pieces.

Whoosh...

As the two maps joined, a mysterious scene unfolded.

The two maps, made of different materials, either due to the different material layers or some other reason, began to melt at the connecting point.

Then, they formed an entirely new map.

Seeing this, the Black Hawk could not help but be stunned. Then, he took the completed map and started pinpointing the treasure's precise location.

After trying various methods, he finally managed to use the reflection of the sunlight to determine the exact location of the treasure.

"Amazing." The Black Hawk held the treasure map with trembling hands and could not help but exclaim, "I never expected this change at the end. It's no wonder I couldn't find the correct map no matter how hard I tried."

Wade witnessed this scene and immediately signaled one of the attendants, who notified the heads of the four major families.

Before long, the heads of the four major families arrived at the Medicine Sect with groups of martial experts.

The Black Hawk looked at the imposing strangers. They all carried an overwhelming aura that made him feel as if a mountain was pressing on his chest. He could not help but look at Andrius in confusion.

“Wolf King, these people seem to be far stronger than you and me.” The Black Hawk asked in a low voice, “What exactly is going on? Why are there suddenly so many people involved?” “Don’t think too much about it.” Andrius said calmly, “When the time comes, you just need to lead them to the exact location of the Klein family’s treasure.”

The Black Hawk did not say anything more.

“Is this the complete map of the Klein family’s treasure?” Norvin looked at the map on the table, his deep eyes filled with endless greed.

“The Klein family’s treasure...”

“After twenty years, it’s finally found.”

“I never expected the Klein family’s treasure to be hidden in this place.”

Damian, Ronald, and Tyrell also gathered around. The expressions on their faces and the gleam in their eyes were similar to Norvin’s. They had all coveted the Klein family’s treasure for many years.

Now, it was right in front of them.

How could they not be excited and thrilled?

Wade maintained his calm demeanor as he looked at the several family heads. He slowly said, “Now that the location of the treasure has been found, I suggest that you all go back and rest well. Tomorrow morning, we’ll set out together!”

The four family heads nodded in agreement. "It's settled then."

"Tomorrow morning, we'll head to the location."

"We'll claim the Klein family's treasure!"

"This matter will finally come to an end."

After the four family heads left in satisfaction, only Wade, Kate, Andrius, and the Black Hawk remained in the hall.

Andrius instructed, "Black Hawk, stay at the Medicine Sect tonight. We'll go treasure hunting tomorrow morning."

"Yes!"

The Black Hawk nodded and was led away by a disciple of the Medicine Sect.

Night fell.

Chapter 878

The bright moon rose, hanging high in the sky, pure and captivating.

Inside the room, Andrius was once again lying on the bed, completely undressed.

After the previous session, Kate was not as shy this time. Instead, she was quite eager about this miraculous acupuncture technique that could repair meridians.

Whoosh...

As the needles were inserted, Kate continuously infused her inner energy through the silver needles into Andrius. His meridians were repaired by more than half.

The depleted inner energy in his body also transformed from a trickle into a tide.

"Pfft..."

Suddenly, Andrius covered his chest and spat out a mouthful of black blood.

Kate rushed forward to support him, and in the process, she happened to grab his wrist, which left her greatly astonished.

“You... Andrius, did you completely remove all the toxins in your body?”

Kate was naturally shocked.

Even her grandfather would have found it quite troublesome to fully cleanse the poison that Norvin, the head of the Swallow family, had administered, yet Andrius had guided her to accomplish this feat.

“It’s just a little trick.” Andrius looked at Kate and smiled mysteriously. “This acupuncture technique is far more complex than you might imagine. If you continue to explore it, you’ll discover unexpected benefits.”

Kate could not help but feel stunned. She had a feeling.

It was as if the inner energy she had infused into Andrius had refined her own inner energy, making it more condensed and purer.

Even the bottleneck she had been stuck in for several years seemed to be on the verge of breaking through.

At that thought, Kate could not contain herself. She spoke to Andrius and left the room to find Wade and explain the situation.

Kate’s expression was extremely strange, showing surprise, confusion, and a hint of disbelief “Grandpa, it seems I’m about to break through after administering acupuncture to Andrius twice!”

“What?”

Wade was immediately shocked by her words and stepped forward to grab Kate’s wrist, injecting his inner energy to check the situation.

Sure enough, Kate’s meridians were filled with surging energy, showing clear signs of a breakthrough!

“How...”

Wade fell into deep thought.

Although Kate possessed extraordinary talent and cultivated inner energy at a young age, becoming a Martial Lord, she had been stuck in the late stage of Martial Lord for several years.

According to Wade’s estimation, it would take at least three to five years of accumulation for her to break through to the Martial King realm.

However, she was on the verge of breaking through after just administering acupuncture to Andrius twice...

It was simply inconceivable.

“Grandpa!” Kate asked eagerly, “Do you know what’s going on?”

“According to the legends...” Wade gazed out of the window with narrowed eyes, looking into the distance. “In the Murrfield cordillera, there’s said to be a lost temple. In that temple is a tome that brings various unexpected benefits when cultivated. Your situation is one of them!”

A tome!

Kate remembered the ‘Hades’ Axiom’ that Andrius mentioned.

She instinctively asked, “Grandpa, didn’t you say that the temple had long since fallen into ruins, and that even the people of Murrfield don’t know its location?”

Wade withdrew his gaze and looked at Kate.

“That’s indeed what the legends say.”

Chapter 879

“Twenty years ago, the temple was deep within the cordillera. However, when the Klein family was annihilated by the four major families, the temple vanished overnight.

“Nevertheless, there’s no doubt there’s still a successor inside the temple.”

Kate was struck by a realization.

That made sense.

There was news that Andrius visited the cordillera before. He also mentioned the 'Hades' Axiom', indicating that he had received guidance from the temple's successors.

However, Kate promised Andrius not to reveal the 'Hades' Axiom' or the extraordinary acupuncture technique.

After Wade spoke, he fell into deep thought. He contemplated for a moment before suddenly saying, "Kate, I'm sure of one thing. Andrius must have discovered something from the Murrfield temple.

"Since he trusts you, stay by his side. I have a feeling that Andrius is the key to the Klein family's treasure."

Kate could not help but be shocked.

Just yesterday, her grandpa had strongly disapproved of Andrius and even blamed him for involving the Medicine Sect in this turmoil.

Now, he was actively supporting her to get closer to Andrius.

Wade continued with a hint of disdain, "Also, the four major families only know that the Klein family's treasure holds the secret to immortality. They don't know that the Kleins possess another treasure of equal importance."

As a member of the Kleins, Wade knew far more secrets than the four great families.

Kate was curious and asked, "What is this other treasure, Grandpa?"

"A mural." Wade said in a low voice, "According to legend, this mural has been passed down for countless years and hides incredibly deep secrets."

Kate's eyes widened. It was the first time in twenty years she had heard her grandfather mention these family secrets.

She immediately started asking a series of questions.

Wade seemed to turn into a different person and answered each question thoroughly.

The grandfather and granddaughter talked until very late into the night, only ending their conversation when the moonlight grew faded, and dawn approached.

The next day, the four family heads arrived early in the morning with their people. Kate went straight to Andrius' room.

“Andrius, the people from the four families are here.”

Kate entered the room after knocking on it and was shocked when she saw the scene inside the Andrius was sitting cross-legged on the bed with his eyes closed tightly. Above his head, strands of green smoke were billowing out, and his upper body was covered in a layer of dark scaly skin like a shedding snake.

“Andrius!”

Kate was shocked for a moment and rushed forward. She reached out to grab Andrius's wrist. Whoosh...

At that moment, Andrius's body trembled, and the dark skin began to fall off one by one. A boundless inner energy radiated from him, spreading in all directions.

Feeling this unstoppable force, Kate instinctively gathered her inner energy to resist it. Boom...

The next moment, the energy struck her and pushed her back five steps before she could steady herself.

“Martial King realm!” Kate stabilized herself and spoke with a hoarse voice. She stared at Andrius, completely overwhelmed by the shock.

“Pheh...”

Andrius let out a long breath and relaxed his posture.

In response to Kate's astonishment, he just smiled slightly without making any special remarks.

"It's truly unimaginable."

During this period, Kate had talked with Andrius a lot and knew that he had entered the martial realm less than a month ago. She could not help but be amazed. "Even though you're independent and don't belong to any martial forces, you've reached a height that ordinary people can hardly achieve in their lifetimes.

"In less than a month, you've progressed from Martial Lord to Martial King...

"Your speed of improvement is simply astonishing and unprecedented. Even geniuses from history might not have progressed as rapidly as you."

He was a genius in every sense of the word!

Kate's face filled with admiration. Her cousin's achievements were truly deserving of praise!

"It's not that easy." Andrius shook his head with a wry smile. "I only briefly broke through the cultivation barrier by borrowing your inner energy. I haven't truly entered this realm.

"The unrepaired meridians in my body can't perfectly store the inner energy that doesn't originally belong to me. It's just an illusion."

An illusion...

Kate did not believe his mother's words and pointed out, "When you eventually repair your meridians, you should at least stabilize at the Martial King realm. It will undoubtedly be astonishing."

Andrius did not lose himself in Kate's praises. He only smiled casually and said, "Let's go and discuss the treasure hunt first."

His strength had not fully recovered for this journey, and the Black Hawk could not provide much help.

However, they were about to face the four cunning and ruthless families. They were truly in a perilous situation.

“Let’s go.”

Kate nodded and led the way out.

Andrius followed her.

The Medicine Sect Master, Wade, Damian of the Sheppards, Tyrell of the Anders, Ronald of the Fullers, and Norvin of the Swallows had all gathered in the hall.

Besides them were various elders who came along with them.

It was a grand scene!
