Chapter 230

Smiling, Jonah handed Alyssa a leather envelope.

This. She puzzledly accepted the envelope and checked the documents within. Soon, she was energized

“The Beckett Group won the bid for the Verdane Valley project. Javier Beckett handed the project to Sophia.

“Look, this is a multi-billion-dollar project with huge profits and lots of opportunities for abuse of power. Not only that, it is a good chance to widen her web of connections in Solana City.

“More importantly, Sophia would advance her influence in the Beckett Group using the project and rise to power against Jasper. She might have been an actress, but she is ambitious in business. She dreams of having full control of the Beckett Group, especially when she has Javier’s affection.”

“Full control? Haha, she is delusional. She does not have the capability to do so.” Alyssa checked the documents with a spark in her eyes.

She added, “Even if Jasper runs Grandpa’s business empire to the ground, she has no say in anything.”

“Take a good look at the documents I gave you. At 1:00 pm the day after tomorrow, Javier and Sophia Beckett will meet with the mayor, Orlander Hodgson, at the Becketts’ golf club at Verdane Valley. I think they will discuss the Verdane Valley project collaboration.”

He held her shoulder with a serious look, as though he was relaying an important mission. “I will count on you to avenge me.”

“Pfft, forget about it. I know what’s in your mind, dear brother.” She tilted her head and rested on his broad shoulder.

She continued, “You know I’m stubborn and vindictive. You know that I will make a move on them. So, you laid everything out like a children’s game for me to take my revenge.”

“Lyse, don’t call me out. Be nice to me.” He pinched her cheek.

“I’m a 24-year-old, Jonah. I am even a divorcee now.” She turned around with a straight face. “All my brothers have sacrificed too much for me. It’s my turn to protect all of you while you live the After suffering the humiliation earlier in the day, Liana went home and called Sophia to cry and vent.

“You deserved it!” Sophia berated her, “I told you to stay calm and stay away from him because he’s still upset. But you did not listen! Now that you’re snubbed, you have no one else to blame but yourself. What good is crying?”

“But Aunt Sophia, Alyssa’s back! Jasper brought her to Seaview Manor!” Liana’s face was a mess of tears and snot. “She’s walking all over me. How could I sit back and do nothing?”

“You have to! I picked up the meaning behind Jasper’s words that day. Why haven’t you? You have to be gracious if you want to be his woman! You’re only ruining the image I crafted for you with all the jealousy, the crying, and the drama!”

Sophia added snarkily, “Your goal is to become the wife of the Beckett Group president. You’re not leading a romantic play with Jasper! Even if Alyssa spits on you, you must endure it if it helps you achieve your goal!”

“But, Aunt Sophia...”

“Enough! I’ll make some arrangements for you. I’m busy with the board of directors. Don’t bother me for now.”

With that, Sophia hung up on Liana coldly.

Liana slumped onto her bed with such resentment that she almost crushed her phone in her grip.

At that moment, she received a call from an unknown number. She wiped away her tears and picked up grumpily, “Who is this?”

“Ashley, it’s been a while. How are you doing in Solana City?”

She heard a man speaking Grunslanish with a Mosgravian accent mixed with a sneer.

“I–Is that you?” asked Liana tentatively. Her face paled.

Ashley was the name she adopted when she was studying in Mosgravia. After reuniting with Jasper, she cut off her ties to her social circles in Mosgravia.

She also deleted her old Instagram account and got herself a new email and phone number, all in To her dismay, the man from her past had tracked her down!

“I missed you so much. Let’s meet up. Shall I go to you, or you come to me? Darling?” He sounded threatening.

Her silk dress was drenched in sweat. She struggled to breathe. “Where are you? I’ll go meet you!”
