Life at the Top Chapter 2016 - 2017

Somerland A-shares were vital to domestic finance.

The reason why the United States sniped Harbor Stocks this time was to force Jasper to make a choice. However, Soros forgot something. He never thought that the government intervention of Somerland would be so quick. In other words, his obsession with devouring Harbor Stocks missed this factor.

Lord Alvarado frowned as he thought about what Jasper said.

“According to what you said, it’s fine as long as you keep the A-shares from falling, right? And Soros will just give up just like that?”

Jasper smiled meaningfully and said, “Of course, Soros is just a marionette. The real trader is still in hiding, and he just needs to report back after the completion of his mission.”

After he said that, everything made sense.

The huge turmoil in Harbor Stocks this time allowed the people of Somerland to witness a historic moment.

“Jasper, I admire you very much. 160 billion to protect Harbor Stocks, huh... Are you not scared that Soros will make have unreasonable reactions while flustered because he didn’t achieve his goals?”

The little prince pinched his chin, calculating the pros and cons of this matter. Then, he shifted his gaze to Jasper.

Jasper smiled wantonly, spreading his hands in disapproval.

“This attack on Harbor Stocks made almost all of the listed companies in Harbor City their burial offerings. Isn’t it already beyond common sense?”

“As for the game, it is only natural that you return politeness with politeness.”

Jasper's eyes were calm, but the seed of revenge in his heart had already taken root. He would use any practical action to tell the other party that Somerland was not a place that any irrelevant people can put their hands on.

If 160 billion of funds suddenly poured into Harbor Stocks, Soros would be incredibly confused, causing a huge impact. In any case, it was indeed a method worth trying.

"Jasper, I'm starting to admire you more and more. You're the only one who can play with Soros like this!" The little prince smiled and stopped talking.

Jasper tapped the table with his fingers, making a crisp sound. "Okay, shall we proceed or not?"

"The decision to save Harbor Stocks is in your hands." As soon as he finished speaking, Lord Alvarado picked up the teacup beside him emotionally.

He raised it high and smashed it down to the ground. With a smash, it shattered into pieces.

"F*ck it, let's do it!"

"I'm used to only mingling in the country, I haven't beaten these foreigners so lavishly before! This time, I want to be awe-inspiring no matter what. Let the people in Swallow Capital take a good look at this!" Lord Alvarado said excitedly.

Jasper frowned slightly as he looked at the shattered teacup on the ground and felt sorrowful. This was the enamel cup from his collection.

"I also agree. Since we can't avoid fighting them, we should do something big." The little prince said with a firm gaze.

Jasper was very satisfied when he saw the attitude of the two men.

"If that's the case, we'll wait for the next trading day to start."

Although they could not snipe the United States stock market right now, they could make Soros very troubled. After all, Soros only acted because of the higher-ups. If they wanted to stir up havoc in Somerland, they needed to be able to withstand huge waves. The worst thing that could happen was the United States government taking action after Soros failed, which would make everything even more exciting.

In fact, after thinking about it carefully, Jasper was sure that the United States had already made a move. Although they had always been acting behind the scenes, the person behind this had already covered the entire market.

When Harbor Stocks was hit by calamity, Jasper suspected that Soros must have only acted because he received an order. These actions were too cautious, and although they seemed to be out of order, every step was precise and methodical. This happened on both Harbor Stocks and Somerland A-shares. The United States absolutely wanted a piece of the pie, and that was why they reached out to the splendid beauty of Somerland.

It was a pity that Somerland had Jasper!

“Okay, let’s wait for tomorrow’s trading day then.” Jasper’s tone was extremely heavy, and a glimmer of light flickered in his deep eyes...

On the other side of the Earth, at midnight.

Soros walked out of the office building with a pale face. The image of being reprimanded just now flashed in his mind.

Was he naive to think that?

He originally thought that everything was going well, and he was sure that a newly emerging country would not be so capable, but he did not expect that after a large amount of money was injected into the stock market, Jasper actually brought the stock market back to life.

For that alone, he truly admired Jasper. He also admired Jasper’s methods.

“Oh Jasper, how many surprises can you still offer me?”

He had never ever seen someone as scary as Jasper. Jasper was like a Matryoshka doll of unsolved mysteries. Every time you took one layer away, there would be some completely different sight inside.

No wonder the Somerland government valued him so much. He had something special about him indeed.

Late at night, Jasper, Lord Alvarado, and the little prince were talking about what was going to happen the next day in the conference room.

Jake knocked on the door outside.

“Come in.”

He pushed open the door and walked towards Jasper with the document in his hand.

“Mr. Laine, this is the plan made by the trading team, please take a look.”

After he said that, he placed it in Jasper’s hands. Jasper flipped through the pages carefully and the corners of his lips rose.

“Good, it’s very detailed. I’ll give everyone a long break after two more days of hard work.”

Jake was overjoyed, but he was more concerned about Jasper’s body. As the backbone of JW Foundation, Jasper had been working very hard throughout the financial war.

Every time Jake saw him, his eyeballs would be bloodshot. If he kept overloading his body like this, something would go wrong sooner or later. Fortunately, there would be a short respite after tomorrow’s battle.

Lord Alvarado stretched his neck and glanced at the concise and powerful plan in Jasper’s hand. He was particularly envious about this.

“Jasper, everything you have is amazing. You have a team of traders that seem to be running on cheat codes who can save you from so much trouble.”

The little prince nodded in agreement.

Jasper disagreed.

These were the elites he had carefully selected, and they had gone through battles big and small with him. Moreover, everyone was responsible for an important task.

Jasper put the document on the table. Then, he raised his hand and touched his eyebrows.

Soros in the United States was just a minor problem, the real big problem had yet to show up. This time, he was going to test the water to see who else was lurking under there.

"I'm not leaving tonight, I'll be right here."

"I have to see how big a splash this 160 billion can make no matter what!" Lord Alvarado lay down on the sofa and closed his eyes.

The little prince smiled but did not move. His intentions were obvious too.

"It's not like we don't have a guest room. Why do you want to sleep here? Go sleep in the guest room..."

Jasper smiled and asked them to leave...

Life at the Top Chapter 2017

Far to the west of the ocean and in the United States. Bella was filing her nails while feeling bored to death. At the same time, she was teasing the Gyrfalcon nonchalantly. It had been a while since she came back. When she thought of that mysterious man from the east, she would always be overcome with a feeling that she could not understand.

One had to admit that he did have a unique talent in finance.

"How's it going in Somerland?"

"There have been no major changes for the time being."

Bella raised her eyebrows slightly after hearing this, she knew that Jasper would not be content with his lot.

“How interesting. Anyway, Soros has caused a huge blow to the Harbor City stock market. If he can still sit still, he won’t be called Jasper Laine anymore.”

Jasper’s calm and collected face appeared in front of Bella. From the first time she saw him, she could sense that this man always had a murderous look in his eyes.

Paulson recalled the latest news.

“No action was taken, but it does not mean that they didn’t do anything in the dark.”

Bella understood immediately after he said that.

There was a time difference between the two continents, and it was not a trading period right now. There was not much time left until the next trading day. She could feel that Jasper was definitely not a person who only defended. He would not be Jasper if he did not eventually launch a fierce attack.

“Keep an eye on Somerland and Mimu in Sunrise Land.”

Paulson was stunned. “Mimu? Mimu Financial Group?”

Bella nodded. “That’s right.”

“Before this, I asked someone to get into contact with them, but they were just beating about the bush and they didn’t give me a clear direction on the collaboration.”

“But the Mimu Financial Group in Sunrise Land is a little tricky. Just like us, their ancestors had wealth that was accumulated for centuries. Their internal business spread across the mainland and they’re even in the United States. So, we must keep a close eye on them.”

Paulson nodded after hearing this, and he could not help but glance at Bella. He felt as if Bella had changed a little since she came back from meeting Jasper.

‘It seems like she’s not as willful as before.’

As soon as this thought came out, he shook his head. Even if she was willful, the wealth of the Rothschild family was enough for her to spend lavishly for the rest of her life.

At this moment, a man in ordinary clothes came to report to Bella.

“Noe Morgan wants to see you.”

This piqued Bella’s interest.

“Noe? Interesting, let him in.”

As soon as Noe walked in, he saw Bella sitting leisurely beside the high-quality silk bed whilst doing her nails. The Gyrfalcon was also next to the bed, but it was trapped in the cage looking listless. It was such a pity to put such a good bird in a cage, but after thinking about it, he also did the same. Thus, he smiled and walked forward.

“It’s so rare to see you here. Why do you have the time to come to see me?”

Bella did not even lift her head. She continued to do her nails with peace of mind while lying down.

“I’m just here to visit you. After all, the previous matter was only resolved after you went to the East.”

When Bella heard this, she raised her head to look at Noe and raised her brows.

“We’re all from the United States, so it’s nothing. After all, if the upper class is in chaos, it will affect the entire financial world too.”

This was true, most of the world’s top consortiums were in the United States. If Jasper had not caused this storm, they would not have emerged one after another.

Jasper was a threat to them. However, if they could turn this threat into a friend, they might have another close friend. However, this was a very difficult road to take.

“Have you heard about Soros?” Noe asked.

“Of course, are you here because of that?”

Bella immediately understood the other party’s intention and looked at him.

Noe shook his head. "Yes and no, Soros is just a person at the front of the stage. It is the interests and relationships behind him that are important."

Bella knew this as well.

"What's so strange about this? As a member of the Morgan family, you should have known about the network of interests. Have you become a coward after the battle with Jasper?"

Bella was very direct, but she had always been like this and Noe did not care.

However, Jasper, a man from the East, indeed concerned him.
