Returning from the Dead: His Secret Lover

Chapter 1497

Chapter 1497 Sudden Change

The person continued, "In the afternoon, there were a few thugs who tried to mess around with him. But right before we had the chance to intervene, the kid had already finished all of them on his own. His moves were quite impressive."

What? Solomon stopped in his tracks. Counterattack? Did I just hear that a ten-year-old finished some thugs? But, surely, it wasn't a serious fight.

As Solomon was already arriving at his house, he hung up the phone and entered the house.

"Darling, you're back?" Ichika was already done preparing spaghetti and happily waiting for Solomon's arrival.

"Yes." Solomon smiled and handed over his notebook and jacket to Ichika.

Shortly after, they were both seated at the dining table.

"Darling, who was it you were on the phone with just now? You seemed intrigued while on the phone," Ichika asked curiously.

Solomon took a few sips of his soup. "It was from the people over at Vivi's."

"Huh?" Upon hearing that, Ichika stopped eating abruptly, and her eyes widened. Worried, she continued, "Did something happen? Is Vivi okay?"

“Yes, she’s fine. It was about a little boy named Kurt. He’s the one I told you about before. A distinctive child that the people at Oceanic Estate sent over to study with Vivi,” Solomon briefly explained.

Ichika’s curiosity grew upon hearing that. “Yeah? What about him?”

“I was told that he has amazing fighting skills. So I was thinking, perhaps he’s not even a distinctive child, but instead, he’s someone Sebastian specifically sent over to protect Vivi.”

“What?” Ichika was shocked. “Such a young boy?”

Solomon nodded. “That’s not unusual. Back then, all of the members of SteelFort were recruited when they were around Kurt’s age. After their training, they’d go on and become elite assassins for the Hayes family.”

“So, you suspect that Kurt could be from SteelFort?” Ichika was indeed a sharp-witted woman as she understood Solomon right away.

Surely, he’s only ten and yet, possesses such skills. That must be it. Solomon didn’t investigate the matter further. Because if Kurt was sent by that man at Oceanic Estate, there was no reason for him to speculate.

He then told those two subordinates of his from SteelFort over at Yartran to act as though nothing had happened. He also instructed them to pull out from there. Not too shabby, compared to my men.

However, a piece of bad news arrived at Oceanic Estate three days later.

It was Edmund who went to find Sebastian personally. “Sebastian, something happened at the school. There was a girl, Elaine, she died. Did you guys hear about it?”

“What?” Sebastian was stunned. Sasha was flabbergasted too. Coincidentally, Jonathan was nearby taking a stroll in the garden. He heard about it as well.

“How did it happen?” Sebastian asked.

“There was an accident at an event. And the person who caused the accident was Kurt!” Edmund then showed them a series of texts he received from a friend over at Yartran. Besides that, he also disclosed an investigation report done by the police on the accident.

Kurt? How could it be Kurt? Sasha was shocked. “How could it be? Kurt is only a young boy. What sort of an accident could he have caused? This is absurd!”

Jonathan couldn’t believe it as well. “Are they stupid?”

Both Edmund and Sebastian remained calm and silent.

A moment later, Edmund calmly suggested that they should find out more from the people at Yartran about what happened.

He then sent a text to his friend. Not less than ten minutes later, he received a phone call from Yartran. It was Vivian.

“Daddy...” Vivian was crying uncontrollably.

Sebastian’s heart ached upon hearing that. “All right now, Daddy’s here. Everything will be fine, Vivi.”

“Okay, I’ll stop crying now. I knew Daddy would come and rescue Kurt. D-Daddy, you have to come here fast. I can’t let them keep Kurt away. He had nothing to do with what happened to Elaine.” Although Vivian was still sobbing, she toughened herself up and begged Sebastian.

Vivian then added, “Kurt didn’t cause the accident to happen. That night during the Halloween event, everything was going fine as Kurt and I got all dressed up and went over to the event. But once we arrived, Elaine and Helena showed up out of nowhere and confronted us. That was when the scrimmage happened. How could they blame Kurt for that?” Vivian kept wiping her tears as she was trying to explain.

At that moment, Sasha took over the phone. She couldn’t bear to hear her daughter cry. Furthermore, Vivian had always been the most well-protected in the family. “Vivi, it’s Mommy. Don’t worry. Mommy and Daddy will get this settled, okay?”

“Okay.” Vivian was relieved.

Returning from the Dead: His Secret Lover Chapter 1498

Chapter 1498 Growth Curve

They hung up the phone after that and started figuring out the way they should handle the situation.

“According to my friend over there, there was this Halloween event which was held three days ago. During the event, a conflict happened between Helena and Vivian. That was when the scrimmage ensued. In the midst of it all, Elaine fell onto the ground, and she got trampled on.” Edmund gave the others a brief summary.

“Helena?” Suddenly, Sasha voiced out as she felt something suspicious. “Who is Helena? Why was there a conflict between her and Vivi?”

Edmund continued, “She’s the daughter of a local duke. Apparently, they are funding the school as well. In fact, earlier on, a conflict had already happened between them during Vivian’s first school test. It was Solomon who went over to deal with it that time. Didn’t you guys hear about it?”

Just like that, Solomon’s name was, again, brought up under such circumstances. Sasha was stunned.

“When did that happen?” Sebastian snapped around to look at Edmund.

In the end, Sasha dug out some information from Solomon before they left for Yartran. The latter told her about everything that had happened at the school, including the fight between Kurt and the thugs.

However, Solomon left out the fact that Kurt had defeated all of them on his own. He only mentioned that he did station his own men there.

Sasha couldn't help but tremble in anger as she was crying upon hearing that. "What sort of a rubbish place is that? If only we had known, we wouldn't have sent Vivi there. Even a school is so chaotic."

Sebastian's face was gloomy when he comforted her, "Don't worry. We'll find out more when we get there."

That evening, they arrived at Yartran on their private jet. Edmund's friend was there to fetch them at the airport. "Greetings, Mr. Hayes and Mrs. Hayes. Would you like to go to the hotel first or the school?"

"What's the situation like at the school?" Sebastian asked with a gloomy expression.

Edmund's friend then told him truthfully, "The situation there is okay now because we've informed the school of your identity. Hence, they wouldn't act rashly on Kurt. However, the Goldin family is not letting this slide."

"What a joke! We have nothing to do with Elaine. Why are they concerned?" Sasha snapped back.

"Actually, there was another student who was injured. He's one of Helena's people. Hence, the family is now involved as well," Edmund's friend responded awkwardly.

He then added, "Besides, I've heard from the other students that Elaine had been following Helena around as though she had cut ties with Vivian." After that, the friend took out his smartphone to show them the photos and information he had gathered at the school.

The whole time, Sebastian remained calm and composed.

Sasha, on the other hand, went berserk when she heard that Elaine had cut ties with Vivian. "How ungrateful! Just like her mother. At first, she had gotten close to Vivi just so that she could enroll in the school. Ever since then, she had been taking advantage of Vivi. After she had gotten in, she burned the bridge and ended up sucking up to Helena just because they're richer than us?"

"Mrs. Hayes..." Edmund's friend tried to explain.

Sasha cut him off almost instantly, "Haha. Very well. Let's wait and see." Sasha coldly chuckled as she was filled with pure rage.

Considering how infuriated Sasha was, Sebastian still remained silent. However, everyone knew that the less he talked, the outcome of the whole situation would be even more catastrophic.

The two of them soon arrived at the school. They then split up and handled both sides of the situation respectively. Sasha would go find Vivian and Kurt, while Sebastian would confront the school so that he could put his status to good use.

"Mommy..." Vivian sobbed and ran toward Sasha when she saw the latter approaching. She had waited by the door of the dorm for three days.

Kurt had been kept alone inside the dorm all along. When Sasha arrived, he, too, walked toward the window and looked at her anxiously.

Sasha hugged Vivian tightly as she was heartbroken thinking about what her daughter had gone through.

But at the same, she was impressed by Vivian. Since Vivian was little, everyone had been taking care of her needs around the clock. However, throughout the three days that she had been waiting for her parents, she held on unfalteringly just to protect her friend.

Because of that, Sasha was grateful for how Vivian had turned out. Oh, Vivi, you've grown up.

"Hush now, sweetie. Your Daddy is here now, and he's dealing with your teachers as we speak. Don't you worry anymore, okay?" Sasha comforted.

While still sobbing, Vivian nodded. "Okay, sure."

Sasha then looked toward Kurt through the glass window.
