

That Can Be Arranged Chapter 201

Chapter 201

Kieran initially wanted to obtain confirmation from Nicholas. After waiting for a while, he saw that Nicholas didn't even bother to look in his direction once. He became bored of waiting and bluntly asked, "How are things going between you and Tessa recently?"

The relationship between those two had always been a puzzle. He had long wanted to know what was going on. It was just that he was constantly blocked from the truth. The feeling of not knowing the full story drove him crazy.

Having observed them all night today, Kieran couldn't shake the feeling that the relationship between them was becoming stranger by the minute.

He didn't believe there wasn't anything going on between them because he clearly saw how his brother had quietly cleared all the obstacles in her way without her knowing and even obtained a ticket for her just because it was one of her interests.

But, if he were to say that there was something going on between them... Aside from speaking a few words to each other at the beginning, they had not said another word between them for the entire night. They didn't even look at each other.

Isn't the story between Nicholas and Tessa a little too complicated? Or, is their relationship concealed so deeply in order to deliberately mislead others? This was the first time in his life where Kieran could not get the true story behind the juicy gossip. Therefore, this piece of gossip that had no conclusion made him feel very depressed.

He had asked this question at the risk of being kicked out of his brother's car. Even so, he received neither the ruthless command to get lost nor an answer to his question. Feeling puzzled, he lifted his head and glanced at Nicholas only to see the latter staring at the rearview mirror with narrowed eyes. There was a dangerous look in those eyes.

Putting away the complaints in his heart, Kieran glanced at the rearview mirror as his expression immediately changed drastically. That was because there was a car following behind them. No matter how they changed lanes, the car was always following behind them at a constant speed!

Inside the Sawyer Residence, Remus brewed a pot of tea in the living room after dinner.

He serenely used the wooden spoon made out of redwood to scoop out the tea leaves and placed them in the teapot. Next, he drenched the leaves in boiling water from a kettle by the side. The steam immediately rose into the air, along with the fragrance of tea. Ever since he retired from the industry, his mental state had gradually calmed down. At this moment, his figure wrapped in the steam made his leisurely atmosphere stand out even more.

He carefully took his tea cup with three fingers in a refined manner and took a small sip. Only then did he look at the person who came to visit him and quietly asked, "What happened?"

One should not be fooled by his serene appearance, seemingly unconcerned with worldly affairs. He was the highly revered Remus Sawyer. Even if he no longer managed the business, nobody would dare to take his words lightly, much less disrespect him.

Andrew bowed slightly and responded respectfully, "Timothy Reinhart's documents have been approved today. According to the report from the men shadowing Master Nicholas, Master Nicholas, Master Kieran, and Young Master Gregory have just finished having dinner with the siblings. As there was no way to enter the private room, we do not have any information on the specifics of their conversation for the time being. Judging by the speed the documents are being released, I'm afraid Master Nicholas is aware that you are secretly intervening in this matter. The organization probably believes that it was done under your orders. That's why they allowed Timothy's documents to pass through so easily. After all, nobody else is capable of doing this aside from the Sawyer Group."

Remus was not surprised by what he heard. Calmly continuing to sip his tea, he gently said, "Since he already knows, then there is no need to be so secretive. Let it be known that any company that dares to do business with Timothy Reinhart will be making enemies of the Sawyer Group."

That Can Be Arranged Chapter 202

Chapter 202

"Alright, Old Master Sawyer." Andrew accepted the order and thought to himself, Looks like Old Master Sawyer is seriously planning to make a move now. I'm afraid there won't be a place for those siblings in Brentwood City.

"Tess, I'm off to work now!"

Ever since Timothy's company registration documents were completed, he became energetic and spirited. All his depression had been tossed aside without a second thought. He was filled with confidence and quickly threw himself into the various establishment and organizational works.

At this moment, his entire mind was filled with work, work, and more work! Even if he was so busy that his eyes were spinning, he was extremely happy. He left with a smile on his face and returned with a smile on his face, every single day.

Tessa couldn't help curling her lips into a smile upon seeing him like this. "You're just like a child. It's okay to work, but don't overwork yourself."

"I'm fine, Tess. I'm doing just fine." He smiled brightly, then energetically added, "I've been recruiting people and building my team for the past two days. It won't be long before my team is ready to go. Once we create and launch 'Celestial Eye, our name will begin to spread everywhere. In the future, we will never need to worry about sourcing capital again."

"I know you can do it, considering how talented you are." She looked at his thin but extremely lively face and couldn't help reaching out a hand to stroke his head.

"I'll get going. Henry is waiting for me."

"Go on."

Soon, Timothy left home to begin a brand new but hectic day.

Not long after he left, Tessa decided to go to the hospital for a check-up. Before she could leave, she heard the doorbell ringing.

She opened the door to see two figures standing at the door—one large and one small. The large one was Nicholas and the small one was Gregory. Thus, she couldn't help being taken aback for a moment. Why are these two here?

The soft and cuddly Gregory was very happy to see her and immediately hugged her leg. He shouted in a sweet voice, “Miss Tessa!”

She came back to her senses and asked somewhat suspiciously, “Why are you here?”

“Miss Tessa, didn’t you say you wanted to go for a check-up? Mr. Timothy is so busy, so I was certain you wouldn’t allow him to accompany you. But, I was worried about you and couldn’t help coming here to accompany you to the hospital.”

He looked at her joyously with an expression that seemed to be begging for compliments. I’m already here; there’s no way Miss Tessa can chase me away! I can stay with her all day long again today. I’m so happy!

What surprised him the most was his father’s reaction. I was afraid Daddy would reprimand me when I told him about my plan this morning. Unexpectedly, not only did Daddy not scold me, but he also agreed to come along with me!

Gregory’s words hit the nail right on the head. Timothy had indeed offered to accompany Tessa to the hospital only for her to reject his offer.

Tessa looked at Gregory’s flushed face and sweet smile, feeling rather complicated inside. She thought she would never see this little guy again. However, it was not just a child who was going to be accompanying her. An extremely busy big boss would also be coming along as well. This line-up seemed a little overwhelming.

Seeing that she was taking very long to respond, Nicholas said, “You were injured because of Greg, so it’s only natural for us to accompany you for your check-up.”

Upon hearing those words, she didn't say anything else. She simply nodded lightly. picked up the bag she had prepared earlier, and followed the father-and-son pair out of the apartment.

When the three of them arrived at the hospital, they went straight to the attending physician who treated Tessa previously.

As it was only a check-up, it was a much simpler procedure compared to the previous examination when Tessa was first injured. It didn't take long before the doctor returned with her radiograph.

He pointed at a spot on the radiograph where her original bone fracture was located and said, "The wound is healing very well. It's very surprising to see that the wound has not worsened when you went home to recuperate this time."

Tessa said nothing and only lowered her head in embarrassment when she heard those words. The last time she went home for recuperation, it was not long before she was sent back to the hospital again. Therefore, she couldn't help feeling extremely embarrassed when the doctor brought up the past again.

Chapter 203

"Keep this up and you will recover soon," the doctor laughingly said when he saw

Tessa's reaction.

"Then, can I—" Tessa spoke up impatiently. She wanted to ask about playing the violin. Unfortunately, the doctor interrupted her before she could even finish her question.

The doctor said, "Don't think that you can start playing the violin again just because you're much better now. As they say, broken bones take a hundred days to heal. You should also take more care when it comes to a bone fracture like yours. You will need to recuperate quietly for at least a month or so before you can touch that precious violin of yours.”

Upon hearing those words, the light in her eyes vanished instantly. A month... I can afford to wait, but the orchestra can't... There're only a few more days left before the orchestra leaves to perform abroad, yet there's no way I can go on stage in my current condition. In the end, will I just end up as a spectator again?

The look on her face did not escape Nicholas' notice. He was well-aware of her unfulfilled wishes. Nevertheless, what could he do even if he knew? There were many things he could help her with, the only exception being matters involving her body. Unfortunately, there was no other method to solve this problem aside from slowly recuperating from her injuries.

Compared to her health, everything else was not as important. He did not wish for her to destroy herself for the sake of the performance this time. That was why he didn't encourage her to return to the orchestra and the stage where she belonged.

Likewise, Gregory noticed the changes in her mood and quickly comforted her. “Miss Tessa, it will be okay. You are so talented. There will be many, many more opportunities in the future.”

Knowing that Gregory was worried about her, she forced her lips to curve into a smile. “I know.”

It was almost lunch time by the time Tessa was done with her check-up. Since these two had come along to accompany her for her check-up, she could not just leave without doing anything in return. Hence, she suggested, “President Sawyer, Greg, why don't I treat the two of you to lunch as a thank you for accompanying me for my check-up?”

Naturally, Gregory was elated to hear those words and immediately nodded in agreement. “Sure!”

It was probably thanks to Tessa’s company that his lunch tasted especially delicious today. He ate quickly without needing anybody to persuade him to eat, let alone worry about him.

She was thinking about going home after lunch. The words were on the tip of her tongue, but she was interrupted by the urgent ringing of a phone before she could say anything

Nicholas answered the call and frowned deeply while listening to the report from Edward.

She could tell that he seemed to be having an emergency when he finally ended the call. Thus, she asked, “Is everything okay, President Sawyer?”

His expression was gloomy. “A problem came up with the project in the neighboring city, and I need to go there and solve this issue immediately. I might not be able to send Greg back in time.”

Gregory’s eyes immediately lit up at those words. He quickly piped up before she could even utter a word. “It’s okay. Daddy, you can go. I’ll just stay with Miss Tessa. You can come and pick me up from her house once you’re done with work tonight.”

Although he had made the decision to stay with her on his own, she didn’t mind at all. It was a rare opportunity for them to be together alone, so naturally, she would not refuse.

She nodded. “Leave Greg to me. You don’t need to worry, President Sawyer.”

“Thanks.” Nicholas nodded gratefully. Afterward, he got into his car and left the restaurant.

Once Nicholas was gone, Tessa looked at Gregory. “What should we do now? Do you have a place you want to go? I will bring you there.”

“Anywhere?” He blinked in delight.

She nodded. “Yeah. Where do you want to go?”

“The aquarium!” he replied happily.

It was rare for him to have somewhere that he particularly wanted to go. Besides, it was not a dangerous place. Hence, she immediately nodded to indicate her agreement to his suggestion. “Sure. Let’s head for the aquarium immediately.”

“Miss Tessa, you’re the best!” He kissed her on the cheek, leaving a saliva mark on her face.

After buying the tickets online, Tessa brought Gregory to the aquarium. It was a working day today. For that reason, not many people were at the aquarium, and they could enter the aquarium without needing to wait.

“Wow! Miss Tessa, it looks so cool inside!” Gregory was greeted by the sight of a water tank that arched over their heads as soon as they entered the aquarium. Moreover, there was a school of fish swimming playfully above their heads. He couldn’t help but exclaim in excitement.

That Can Be Arranged Chapter 203

Chapter 203

“Keep this up and you will recover soon,” the doctor laughingly said when he saw

Tessa’s reaction.

“Then, can I—” Tessa spoke up impatiently. She wanted to ask about playing the violin. Unfortunately, the doctor interrupted her before she could even finish her question.

The doctor said, “Don’t think that you can start playing the violin again just because you’re much better now. As they say, broken bones take a hundred days to heal. You should also take more care when it comes to a bone fracture like yours. You will need to recuperate quietly for at least a month or so before you can touch that precious violin of yours.”

Upon hearing those words, the light in her eyes vanished instantly. A month... I can afford to wait, but the orchestra can’t... There’re only a few more days left before the orchestra leaves to perform abroad, yet there’s no way I can go on stage in my current condition. In the end, will I just end up as a spectator again?

The look on her face did not escape Nicholas’ notice. He was well-aware of her unfulfilled wishes. Nevertheless, what could he do even if he knew? There were many things he could help her with, the only exception being matters involving her body. Unfortunately, there was no other method to solve this problem aside from slowly recuperating from her injuries.

Compared to her health, everything else was not as important. He did not wish for her to destroy herself for the sake of the performance this time. That was why he didn’t encourage her to return to the orchestra and the stage where she belonged.

Likewise, Gregory noticed the changes in her mood and quickly comforted her. “Miss Tessa, it will be okay. You are so talented. There will be many, many more opportunities in the future.”

Knowing that Gregory was worried about her, she forced her lips to curve into a smile. “I know.”

It was almost lunch time by the time Tessa was done with her check-up. Since these two had come along to accompany her for her check-up, she could not just leave without doing anything in return. Hence, she suggested, “President Sawyer, Greg, why don’t I treat the two of you to lunch as a thank you for accompanying me for my check-up?”

Naturally, Gregory was elated to hear those words and immediately nodded in agreement. “Sure!”

It was probably thanks to Tessa’s company that his lunch tasted especially delicious today. He ate quickly without needing anybody to persuade him to eat, let alone worry about him.

She was thinking about going home after lunch. The words were on the tip of her tongue, but she was interrupted by the urgent ringing of a phone before she could say anything

Nicholas answered the call and frowned deeply while listening to the report from Edward.

She could tell that he seemed to be having an emergency when he finally ended the call. Thus, she asked, “Is everything okay, President Sawyer?”

His expression was gloomy. “A problem came up with the project in the neighboring city, and I need to go there and solve this issue immediately. I might not be able to send Greg back in time.”

Gregory's eyes immediately lit up at those words. He quickly piped up before she could even utter a word. "It's okay. Daddy, you can go. I'll just stay with Miss Tessa. You can come and pick me up from her house once you're done with work tonight."

Although he had made the decision to stay with her on his own, she didn't mind at all. It was a rare opportunity for them to be together alone, so naturally, she would not refuse.

She nodded. "Leave Greg to me. You don't need to worry, President Sawyer."

"Thanks." Nicholas nodded gratefully. Afterward, he got into his car and left the restaurant.

Once Nicholas was gone, Tessa looked at Gregory. "What should we do now? Do you have a place you want to go? I will bring you there."

"Anywhere?" He blinked in delight.

She nodded. "Yeah. Where do you want to go?"

"The aquarium!" he replied happily.

It was rare for him to have somewhere that he particularly wanted to go. Besides, it was not a dangerous place. Hence, she immediately nodded to indicate her agreement to his suggestion. "Sure. Let's head for the aquarium immediately."

"Miss Tessa, you're the best!" He kissed her on the cheek, leaving a saliva mark on her face.

After buying the tickets online, Tessa brought Gregory to the aquarium. It was a working day today. For that reason, not many people were at the aquarium, and they could enter the aquarium without needing to wait.

“Wow! Miss Tessa, it looks so cool inside!” Gregory was greeted by the sight of a water tank that arched over their heads as soon as they entered the aquarium. Moreover, there was a school of fish swimming playfully above their heads. He couldn’t help but exclaim in excitement.

That Can Be Arranged Chapter 204

Chapter 204

Similarly, Tessa nodded at the novelty of the sight. This place is really beautiful.

Gregory tugged at the corner of her clothes lightly. When she leaned down, he whispered in a hush voice, “Miss Tessa, this is the first time I’ve been somewhere like this.”

Upon hearing those words, she couldn’t help feeling astonished. However, it made sense when she thought about his family background. Nicholas was such a busy man. He had never even gone to the movie theaters before, what more bringing Gregory out to play at these kinds of places? Thus, she couldn’t help feeling a little sad for the little boy.

She smiled. “What a coincidence. It’s also my first time here.”

When Gregory heard those words, his eyes brightened, and a tinge of red climbed up his ears. He pursed his lips and smiled. “In that case, Miss Tessa, we have to let loose and play to our hearts’ content today!”

She nodded and walked through the ocean tunnel with him. The aquarium was very large and could even be said to have everything. Be it deep-sea fish or coastal fish, anything they could think of could be found here.

He was stunned when he saw a bloom of glowing jellyfish. Pressing himself against the glass, he stared at them curiously. “Miss Tessa, I heard that these kinds of jellyfish are poisonous.”

She nodded. “Little guy, you sure do know a lot.”

Hearing the compliment made him blush in slight embarrassment. “I learned about them while reading my picture books. They were also mentioned in the encyclopedia on the animal world. These jellyfish are really beautiful. The books claim that the more beautiful something is, the more dangerous it is. However, I don’t believe that. That’s because you are so beautiful, Miss Tessa. But, you’re not dangerous at all.”

It was her first time being complimented by a child, so she couldn’t help blushing furiously at those words. Despite being so young, he is already so honey-tongued, not to mention how good looking he is. I’m sure he will be a master at seducing thousands of girls when he grows up.

“Wow! That’s a coral!” His attention was instantly drawn by another display, and he ran over excitedly.

She laughed and followed him while taking a lot of pictures of the child at the same time.

Gregory looked very similar to Nicholas in appearance. They both had very delicate features. It was just that this little guy had yet to grow up, so he was much more delicate than his father. For that reason, his gentle appearance made him even more adorable and charming.

Many people had been sneaking glances at him from the moment he entered the aquarium. They secretly complimented on his good looks and couldn't help being tempted to kidnap him home for themselves.

"Miss Tessa, this place is beautiful. Let's take a photo here together!" he suggested with a smile.

Tessa had long wanted to take a photo together with him but was too embarrassed to mention it herself. Now that he brought it up himself, she no longer hesitated and immediately nodded in agreement.

There was a click of a shutter, and their picture was taken. The smile on their faces conveyed their overflowing joy that almost spilled out from the screen on the phone.

He was very satisfied. "Miss Tessa, don't forget to send the photos to me later!"

All of a sudden, an announcement rang out across the aquarium. "Dear guests, the beluga whale performance this afternoon is about to begin. All guests who wish to watch the show are welcomed to enter the venue."

The little guy looked at her expectantly. "Miss Tessa, can we go?"

"Of course." She smiled and took his hand, then she headed directly toward the venue of the beluga whale performance.

The beluga whale performance was very entertaining and exciting. By the time the show was over, Gregory's hands were red from clapping too hard.

The host on the stage smilingly announced, "Did you think the show's over? We are going to have an interactive session next! We now invite the guest sitting at seat No. 118 to come up to the stage!"

Tessa glanced at Gregory's seat number, which happened to be the lucky No. 118!

Gregory was elated to see that he had been chosen. Thus, he immediately stood up and walked toward the stage excitedly.

Worried that something might happen to him, she got up and accompanied him for the interactive session.

"Miss Tessa, he is so cold! It's so nice to touch!" He was very bold and immediately reached out to stroke the beluga whale's head gently.

Seeming to sense that he had no malicious intentions, the beluga whale affectionately rubbed itself against his palm and even kissed him.

This action immediately made him laugh out loud, and he looked at the beluga whale with crinkled eyes.